LEARN DRESSMAKING IN TWO WEEKS

We teach you everything from the plainest Shirt Waist to the most elaborate Toilette that can be found in the fashion books. We show you how to put together not only the lining, but all the outer goods in Coats, Skirts, Waists, Wrappers, Sleeves, Collars, Children's Dresses, etc. Why spend months at a Dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely no more how of a gear than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, as there is nothing to be paid in advance, you certainly would not lose anything by trying.

We have taught over 2,000 this way within the past 6 years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect-fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw or pull out of skirt when raising arm.

An evening class will also be taught. In this class we will teach Shirt Waists, Sleeves and Sacques. This course will be $4.00, and hours from 7 to 9.

We will teach in Peterboro from April 8th to April 20th—Hours for Day Class 9 to 5. All wishing to learn be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, on Saturday, April 6th, between 10 and 5 o'clock. This is positively the last class we will teach at Peterboro this year.

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

A Box In Which Boots Can Be Kept.

HOW IT IS TO BE MADE.

Exact Measurements Are Given, Which if Followed Carefully Will Bring About Very Satisfactory Results For the Amateur Carpenter.

"What shall we do with our boots?" occasionally becomes a question of almost tragic importance in a large family, and even the owners of bachelor establishments, be they male or female, sometimes find their footwear too much with them.

Here is a suggestion for the making of a box in which boots can conveniently be kept and in which they will be preserved far better than in the dark, nearly inaccessible cupboard bottom, which is their usual resting place.

Suppose that six pairs of boots have to be provided for. Then the inside measurement of the back of the box should be twenty-seven inches by twenty-seven inches, and it should be about nine inches deep.

Besides the box itself you will require fifty-four inches of wooden rod three-fourths of an inch square, twenty-four thin wire nails one inch long and a few one inch screws.

The square wooden rod should be in twenty-seven inch lengths to fit the back of the box.

One corner of the whole length of this rod must be slightly rounded, so that its section is like that shown in Fig. 1.

When this has been done, the rod must be measured off into four and one-half lengths, leaving two and one-fourth inches at either end. Halve the four and one-half inch lengths with your pencil, and at a distance of one-half inch each side of these pencil marks drive a nail so that its sharp end protrudes a fourth of an inch from the top of the rod, as shown in Fig. 1.

When you have treated both your rods in this manner, they will each contain six pair of nails and will look like Fig. 2. The rods must now be screwed on to the back of the box four and one-half inches from the top and the other ten and one-half inches from the bottom.

Now stand the box up and place the heels of the boots you wish to store over the nails. You will find that they hang quite securely and are easily put in position or removed.

A good finish is given if the box is painted inside and out with some serviceable color and curtain ringed to slide on a rod hung in front (Fig. 3) shows it thus completed. But if your skill at carpentry will admit, the curtains might be replaced by a a pair of doors.

NAIL PROJECTING FROM TOP.

If you are not able to make this most useful article yourself, a carpenter would make one for a few dollars, and the outlay would soon be covered by the lengthened wear of the properly cared for boots.

Harmony In Dress at Capital Levees.

Mrs. Roosevelt and her social aids may not discuss affairs of gravity at the boudoir cabinet meetings, but they talk over their gowns, with the result that never did the mistress of the White House and the women in line at the official levees present a more harmonious appearance.

If Mrs. Roosevelt elects to wear white, she likes all her assistants to select the same or some very pale color. The result makes for artistic blending and adds to the beauty of the scene. It used to be that an unfortunate cabinet hostess would spend weary hours and many dollars getting up a fine costume, and perhaps the woman next her would have on something which literally spoiled the effect.

Mrs. Roosevelt disapproves of strong contrasts in the receiving line, and she makes but few requests of this nature, so her wishes are always faithfully followed. Certainly the guests at the reception enjoy a spectacle got up with a view to harmony rather than the haphazard greens, reds and blacks of former days.

Friendly Advice.

Coal Dealer—I want to insure my stock of coal. How much will I have to pay yearly on 150,000 francs' worth? Insurance Agent—Is it the same as you sent me the other day? Coal Dealer—Exactly. I. A.—Then take my advice and do not insure at all. Nothing could possibly make that coal burn.—Caricaturista.

ATTRACTIVE TRIFLES.

Carefully Select Veils—New Wrinkle In Boots—Trimmings.

Black veils must not be worn with very light hats or gowns unless there is a touch of black somewhere about the costume. Match the hat in the veil whenever it is possible, but don't make a fright of yourself in doing it. For instance, a blue veil will make a woman with bright coloring look purple, especially if the mesh is small.

A feature of the new boots is the wooden Cuban heel. This makes the shoe much lighter for walking than when the heel was built of leather.

Rosettes of velvet, taffeta and chenille play no small part among trimming novelties.

There is a plaid dimity in all white with a highly chiffoned surface that is smart for tailored shirt waists. It is selling at 35 cents a yard.

Wash chiffon voiles are lovely in coloring and texture and bid fair to make some of the daintiest of summer dresses.

Velvet and silk applique worked in with braid is a new notion. Laces will be braided and run through with gold and silver thread.

Chiffon broadcloth in light colors is making some of the prettiest indoor costumes. The gown pictured is in reseda green, trimmed with braid and lace. JUDIC CHOLLET.

In Dutch Effect.

Dutch rooms are a good deal the fashion now, and the fortunate possessor of an old cottage or farmhouse might do very much worse than adopt this style, with all the charm of its quaint homeliness. The fireplace decoration seen in the illustration is effective in the living room of a modernized Dutch cottage.

Letting Soap Dry Out.

The pet economy of a woman who is a splendid manager in every respect is getting soap by the box and spreading it out upon clean papers on the storeroom floor to dry out thoroughly. Some way the bars last a good deal longer.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Rough Cloths and Mixtures Smarter Than Plain Goods.

JACKETS LONG AND SHORT.

A Noticeable Return to Favor of the Long Sleeve on Many Elaborate Wraps—Walking Suits Show Plaited Skirts—Braid and Strap Trimmings.

As Easter is so unusually early this year, there is not the same necessity of starting on the spring outfit the very day that Lent commences as when that season drags on well toward the end of April. Nevertheless it is advisable to get the entire spring and possibly the summer outfit under way during the six weeks which are more or less free from social engagements. A spring suit, a hat and a smart afternoon dress for weddings and luncheons will of course necessarily be on hand by the beginning of Easter week, and incidentally the coming months will be found infinitely more enjoyable if the clothes problem has not to be grappled with.

The tailors are showing all the new models that are to be worn in a few weeks. Rough cloths rather than the plain finished goods are stylish, and mixtures, whether in stripes, plaids or checks, are already in decided favor. Both long and short jackets will be used—that is to say, the three-quarter coats that come just a few inches below the hips or halfway to the knees. This style of coat is the favorite for a traveling or walking costume, while the short coats are somewhat elaborate and intended for rather dressier wear. In silks or veiling, for example, short jackets will be in the majority, and the serges, cheviots and homespuns will be seen in the swell tailor made coats. There is a noticeable return to favor of the long sleeves, and many of the most elaborate wraps will have regular coat sleeves, while all morning costumes will possess the same sensible long models.

There is as yet nothing noticeably new about suit skirts. All, saving the most elaborate, are walking lengths, and, as plaited patterns are so much more becoming than plain, this style predominates. No fullness is allowed over the hips, and if the material is to be laid in tucks or box plaits these must all be cut away underneath. Below the knees, however, a short skirt must have a decided flare, and this, of course, depends largely upon the fit and hang of the petticoat. With the new frocks it is still found advisable to have the skirt lining separate from the dress, for it is always easier to have a silk skirt fitted with a plain yoke than it is to have a new lining made each time that the old one gives out. A single cloth skirt will outwear many a silk one.

Happiness For Children.

If you make children happy now, you will make them happy twenty years hence by the memory of it—Sydney Smith.

Australia's Defence.

At a recent lecture on "Military Formation in Australia" before an audience composed exclusively of military men, Mr. Long-Innes gave several interesting statistics regarding the Commonwealth, and drew up an array of figures, regarding export, which was stupendous, considering that the population averages but one individual per square mile. Dropping into the military affairs of his country, he maintained a free and impartial spirit, with one or two exceptions, throughout the lecture. "The present war footing in Australia," he said, "is 40,000, but—a very big but—the condition of arms is pretty shaky, and in view of the fact that the permanent force is so small that there are only 34 permanent officers, the land defence is wholly inadequate, and inefficient." He also grieved: "It is a matter of regret we have no military college. An officer's examination is of a purely educational character, and nothing even remotely approaches a military examination." There is no arms factory in Australia, according to Mr. Long-Innes. "Also," he said, "there are no pensions for retired officers, who, after a life's work in the army, are turned out empty-handed to start life anew."

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Dog Must Match Gown—Braiding a Feature of Spring Suit.

To be ultra smart the dog must match the gown or the gown the dog. Brown is therefore one of the most fashionable shades, as the most beautiful browns may be obtained in dogs, especially in ruby spaniels. But one dog alone would never suit the requirements of the women of today, and every up to date establishment now includes a kennel of assorted dogs as a necessary adjunct to its mistress' wardrobe.

The fad for wearing jewelry representing animals is steadily increasing, and bracelets that clasp with carved heads of sheep, oxen, goats, dogs and even snakes are frequently to be seen.

Foulard silks are to be worn next summer, and some of the new designs in blue and white are very attractive.

There is a new material for summer dresses called spider cloth. It is somewhat on the order of organdie, with an underweave of a fainter color than the upper and bolder design. Braiding will be a feature of the early spring suits, and the sack coat bids fair to supersede the bolero if this useful and becoming garment can be wholly put out of commission.

There is a great distinction made between the morning and afternoon shirt waist. Well dressed women do not wear their lingerie blouses with morning tailor mades, but prefer a waist of thin material, striped or plaid muslin or batiste made in strictly tailored fashion.

The waist pictured is a new model, and the yoke is one of the latest features. This model is suitable alike for wash and other thin fabrics.

Ruskin and Chrysanthemums.

Mr. Ruskin was asked if he did not admire chrysanthemums. Now, he liked nothing abnormal or artificial, and he regarded the production of chrysanthemums as an unhallowed attempt to grow flowers at a season when nature meant that there should be no flowers, and so the startling answer came, "I hate chrysanthemums."—Westminster Gazette.

Here's the Cure for Sick Kidneys

TEST THEM FREE

Perhaps you are skeptical about GIN PILLS. So was Mr. Brown. He had tried so many things for his kidneys, without getting any better, that he had just about made up his mind that he couldn't get well.

When he first read about GIN PILLS he laughed. The second time, he thought. The third time, he said "he would write for a sample just to see if there was any chance of getting well."

He was pretty nearly tickled to death over that box of GIN PILLS. They did him so much good that he would have paid $5 a box for the second, if necessary. The dizziness, headaches and backaches stopped. Those shooting pains in hips and legs died away. Urine lost its high color. He slept through the night without being disturbed by bladder trouble. His appetite began to pick up and he felt better than he had been for years.

34 John St., Hamilton, Ont.

Being a sufferer from my Kidneys and Dizziness in the Head, and could get nothing to help me, I saw in the papers what good Gin Pills were doing. I got a sample box, and they did me so much good, I bought three boxes and am taking them. They have worked wonders for me. I can recommend them to any similar sufferer. GEO. A. BROWN.

Don't be prejudiced. Give Gin Pills a fair trial and they will cure you just as they cured Mr. Brown. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man.

Thus there is no longer any serious divergence. Mr. O'Brien explains, between himself and the party. It is understood further that Mr. O'Brien and his friends have decided to drop all pending litigation with the followers of John E. Redmond.

Laurier Sails April 5.

Ottawa, March 25.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated yesterday that he fully intends to sail for England on April 5.

The Opposition will do nothing to delay his departure, and should the Bourassa resolution regarding "women, wine and graft," on Tuesday prove too troublesome Parliament will be prorogued for forty days.

This will give the Premier time enough to go and return from London.

R. L. Borden is suffering from a throat affection that threatens him temporarily with loss of voice, but he expects to be fully recovered by Tuesday.

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes: "In November, 1905, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I let the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

FRENCH DOCTOR WAS KILLED BY MOB

French Missionaries Attacked In Morocco City.

EUROPEANS ARE BESIEGED

British Consular Agent Fires on the Mob and Kills Two Persons—Two French Warships Sent to Tangier —Residants In Danger—Shut Up In Their Houses — Cabinet to Consider the Situation.

Tangier, March 25.—Despatches from Morocco City say that the killing by a mob of Dr. Mauchamp, who was connected with the French Geodotic Mission, was followed by a general attack upon the Europeans besieged in their houses, and that the British consular agent was forced to fire and killed two persons.

The pasha finally sent troops to drive off the mob. The troops are still guarding the houses, although comparative calm has been restored.

French Warships For Tangier.

Toulon, March 25.—The armored cruiser Jeane d'Arc, and the third-class cruiser La Lande, sailed yesterday for Tangier.

French Cabinet Called.

Paris, March 25.—Premier Clemenceau, Minister of Foreign Affairs Pichon and Minister of War Picquart conferred yesterday concerning the Morocco situation and it was decided to summon an extraordinary meeting of the Cabinet for to-day.

Public opinion is greatly exercised over the assassination of Dr. Mauchamp, which, it is argued, should be the signal for a complete change in the French policy in North Africa.

MURDER FOLLOWS CRITICISM.

Man Slain For Commenting on Child's Nervousness at School.

Carmi, Ill., March 25.—Rehearsal of closing exercises at a country school house near here Friday ended in a tragedy and the arrest of a farmer for the murder of a man who had been his friend and neighbor for years.

George Nicholson and John Kurd were seated together, listening to and criticizing the recitations given by the children. Both had little daughters taking part in the program, and there was no hint of trouble until Nicholson's little girl started to say her piece.

Kurd made a remark on her nervousness, which Nicholson resented, and in a moment both men were quarrelling. Nicholson drew a revolver, and, pressing it against Kurd's side, fired. Kurd died instantly.

Provincial Appointments.

Toronto, March 25.—The following license commissioners have been appointed:

Prescott—Robert Rown McEvoy, Francois Xavier Cadieux, Octave Martin.

East Middlesex—James Crockett, R. Ambrose Powell, Frank R. Shore.

West Nipissing—J. F. Templeton, David Laporte, Adrien Deslauriers.

Jonathan Hall Shields succeeds William Hixon Young, resigned, as police magistrate of Halton County.

Robert Edwin Stevenson, Bradford, succeeds W. R. Strong, resigned, as clerk of the second division court of Simcoe County.

Weddings of Years Illegal.

London, March 25.—It has just been discovered by an official in the Registrar General's office in London that marriages which have taken place in the Chapel-at-ease, at Brownstown, near Modbury, Devonshire, during the past thirty years are illegal.

The official found that the building had never been licensed for the solemnization of marriages, and that, consequently, all those which have taken place are irregular.

The matter has been laid before the Home Secretary, and a bill is to be introduced into Parliament during the present session to give validity to the marriages.

DEFENDS SUNDAY GAMES.

Bishop of Carlisle Speaks of Artificial Sins.

London, March 25.—The Bishop of Carlisle declared himself in favor of Sunday games in the course of a speech which he delivered at Carlisle, at a meeting in support of the National Sunday Observance movement.

"I am distinctly in favor of opening museums and picture galleries on Sunday, but I would have people of leisure act as custodians and guides to visitors to these places," he said.

"It is the same with Sunday games. Recreation is not a sin. We have enough sins in the world, without going about manufacturing artificial sins."

Lid On At Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 25.—The new Lord's Day Alliance law was strictly enforced yesterday at Niagara Falls.

Not a souvenir, ice cream or tobacco and cigar stand was open yesterday, nor an American paper sold in the city.

Many of the residents wended their way to the American city and spent the day and their money there, and the Canadian city was as quiet as a churchyard at midnight.

Rev. T. Albert Moore, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, was here last week.

Ontario Girls to Beware.

Hamilton, March 25.—The Hamilton police have been asked by the American immigration authorities at the Falls to investigate reports of girls being taken from Hamilton, Toronto, and Brantford, and other places in Ontario, to Buffalo for questionable purposes.

The traffic in young girls between here and Buffalo is said to be astounding, according to information furnished the police.

Kingston, March 25.—Soon after two o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in McKelvey & Birch's store on Brock street. The fire brigade kept the flames in the hardware and stove departments but the three floors were entirely gutted. The plumbing department and workshops were un touched.

The loss is $30,000 on stock and building, with a fair amount of insurance. The fire started from a defective electric wire.

SNOW KILLS FOUR MEN.

Eight Men Buried Eleven Feet Deep At Logging Camp.

Vancouver, March 25.—Eight men, four of whom were killed, were buried under 11 feet of snow at a logging camp at Howe Sound Saturday.

The snow fall had been so heavy that the foreman decided not to attempt to do any work. The eight men had stayed in the donkey-engine-house when the others went to their boarding-house.

A great pile of snow gave way and crashed down on the engine-house, and, when the men were dug out, only four were found to be alive.

BAD TRAIN SMASH.

Plunges 25 Feet to Bottom — Three Employes Killed.

Portsmouth, Ohio, March 25.—A Norfolk & Western freight train plunged through a 25-foot trestle yesterday near Lucasville. The trestle was undermined by the flood. The train fell to the bottom. Fireman D. S. Hutton was crushed to death and Engineer J. T. Houser was fatally injured. The brakeman was caught in the wreck and his body cannot be found.

"Resolute" Victim Found.

Toronto, March 25.—What is supposed to be the body of Thomas Topping of Deseronto, the second engineer of the ill-fated barge Resolute, which went down at the eastern gap last November, was picked up in Toronto Bay by Capt. Kingston of the tug Roy Mack, Saturday afternoon.

The captain noticed the corpse imbedded in the ice, and telephoned for the ambulance. The corpse was taken to the morgue.

Although the features are scarcely discernable, Michael Haney, the mate of the Resolute, is satisfied that the corpse is that of Topping, as is also Thomas Barrett of Toronto Junction.

West Kent Picks Candidate.

Chatham, March 25.—The annual convention of the West Kent Liberal Association was held here Saturday.

MYSTERY REVIVED.

Application to Have Murder of Hamilton Policeman Re-Investigated.

Toronto, March 25.—J. Bidwell Mills, of Hamilton, has applied to the Attorney-General to have the Barron murder investigation opened up again. The complaint is made that the case was not properly handled by the local authorities. Policeman Barron was shot by two unknown men one dark night near the Mills residence, whom he attempted to arrest.

A provincial officer may be put on the case if it is decided to open it up again. A convict, who escaped from the London jail some time after the murder and who is now serving a term of seven years in Kingston, is suspected of being connected with the deed.

About the time of the Barron murder two men were in Hamilton, and while there were in company with two girls, whom it is said the police have located. Statements made while the man suspected was in jail in London are regarded by the police as sufficient warrant to have the case opened up again.

HON. J. W. ST. JOHN ILL.

Speaker of Ontario Legislature Operated Upon For Appendicitis.

Toronto, March 25.—Hon. J. W. St. John was operated on at the General Hospital last night for appendicitis. The operation was successful, but there will be considerable anxiety for 48 hours until the patient passes the crisis.

It appears that Mr. St. John was only taken ill at 10 o'clock on Saturday night. Local applications were used, but at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon Mr. St. John was so much worse that the doctors held a consultation and appendicitis being diagnosed an immediate operation was decided upon. The patient reached the hospital at 10.45 in an ambulance, and by midnight the operation was over.

Niagara Falls, Ont., March 25.—With his right hand and arm burned black, his face and left foot scorched, and his whole nervous system a wreck, William Reid lies in the General Hospital, a puzzle to physicians and electricians, who cannot understand how he remains alive. Saturday while on duty he got his hand in contact with the copper part of a switch, and received a shock of twelve thousand volts. His home is in Hamilton.

WM. HARSTONE, Manager

Up-Town Offices—387 Water St

Of the Twentieth Century.

By Otho B. Senga.

Copyright, 1907, by May McKeon.

As Dr. Blyth stood in the hall a young girl stepped from an adjoining room, inquiring anxiously, "How do you find my father, Dr. Blyth?"

"His condition is serious," he admitted, "but with good care"—

She cut short the conventional platitudes.

"When will he be able to go out again?"

"Not for weeks," emphatically.

Her look of anxiety deepened.

"What is your father's business, Miss Hall?"

"He is manager of the local telephone system and attends personally to repairing and keeping up the line."

"That means a great deal of hard work?" sympathetically.

"Yes, particularly in the winter. The circuit comprises nearly 300 phones, and the line extends out into the country in all directions."

"Discontinue it in the winter," unthinkingly.

"The subscribers need it more then," gravely. "Nearly all of them are farmers and depend upon their telephones for communication with the village and with each other."

"If possible, keep from your father all anxiety concerning the business. I fear nervous prostration in his case."

During his round of calls Dr. Blyth thought often of the beautiful girl with the sweet, grave voice. He was a stranger in Lindsey and was taking up his uncle's practice.

"Fred Hall sick? That's too bad!" was his uncle's comment. "But they'll manage all right," with a country doctor's knowledge of his patient's affairs. "Mrs. Hall is strong and a good nurse. Fidelia understands the business thoroughly. Too bad she isn't a boy. It will take about all the manager's salary to hire a man to come here from the city to do the outside work."

Dr. Blyth was disappointed when several calls were made upon the sick manager without seeing Fidelia. She was constantly in his thoughts, and her lovely face seemed always before his eyes.

By chance his next call was in the evening. Fidelia met him in the hall as he was leaving.

"Do you feel encouraged, Dr. Blyth?"

"Yes," kindly, "but his nervous condition is serious. Is he worrying about the business?"

"I think not," hopefully. "I hold his position as manager, and that encourages him. He has all confidence in my ability."

"You are a brave girl," enthusiastically. "You have some one for the outside work?"

She hesitated, coloring rosily.

"I—I have the services of a very competent lineman."

"Where is your 'central?'"

"Here," indicating the room adjoining. "I've always been father's hello girl," smiling brightly.

On several succeeding calls the physician saw no one outside the sickroom but Edith Hall, a girl about thirteen, sharp of eye and of tongue, wholly unlike Fidelia, he thought.

"I'm hello girl now," she cried importantly. "Fidelia's out looking after the line—the lineman."

He recalled his uncle's remarks regarding Fidelia's knowledge of the business.

"The brave little girl," he murmured, with a tenderness wholly unaccountable. "She will wish to supervise the lineman's work for awhile. I'd like to be the lineman if it means a daily drive with the little Fidelia."

On the following evening he saw Fidelia in her office. He reported hopefully of her father and rejoiced in her words of praise for his professional care.

"I've often thought," she observed earnestly, "that I'd like to be a doctor."

Dr. Blyth smiled somewhat satirically.

"You forget, Miss Hall," rather loftily, "your physical inability to cope with the hardships incident to a country doctor's life. He must brave any storm or cold. A delicate girl like you couldn't endure it."

A little flickering smile lurked for an instant at the corners of the pretty mouth.

"Don't you approve of women being physicians?"

"Frankly, Miss Hall, I do not."

"Aren't you somewhat old fashioned, doctor, not to say antiquated, in your ideas?" quizzically.

"Perhaps," stiffly, "but there are so many occupations for which a woman is wholly fitted that it seems regrettable she should enter upon one entirely unsuited to her."

"And may I ask," demurely, "what are some that you consider suitable for women?"

"Well," hesitatingly, "first, homemaking. A woman should be—er—a wife and—and mother, of course."

"Those privileges," quietly, "are denied some women. Go on."

"Schoolteaching," triumphantly. "millinery, dressmaking."

"Not at all up to date," smilingly. "Anything else?"

"Well—er," lamely—"I don't recall anything at the moment."

"You wouldn't approve, then, of a woman being a steamboat captain or an engineer or a house painter or a mason?"

"Certainly not. The last two are utterly impossible anyway."

"Oh, I don't know," lightly, "I can Charlotte hastily returned the ring to her pocket.

"It's my own," she declared. "It was given to me by a dear old lady who has just died."

"Stuff and nonsense!" broke in the man roughly. "It's the diamond some one stole from the missus. I heard all about it through the stove pipe. The detective is looking for it now. He's going to search the house."

"But it's mine, I say"—

"Ah, your game is up, my girl. Give me the ring and I won't tell. Say you'll marry me. I can sell the diamond"—

"Let me go. You hurt me. Help! Let me go."

"Perhaps you'll be good enough to oblige the lady," said Mortimer, striding down to Evans and giving him a twist on the collar. "Be off with you!"

Evans withdrew to one side angrily. "I'm going to tell the detective!" he cried roughly. "Then we'll see whose turn it will be."

The man rushed out of the kitchen angrily. Charlotte flushed red. "What is he going to tell the detective?" asked Mortimer.

"He—he—thinks I have stolen this diamond," she answered, showing the ring.

"My God! Where did you get that ring?" cried Mortimer. "And he says you stole it? Quick—give it to me before the detective comes. I'll say I took it."

"But it's mine—really"—

"Then what does he mean? Ah, I know you wouldn't steal a ring, Miss Charlotte—you wouldn't steal anything more than you've already stolen, my heart—but if I can help you only say the word."

Evans entered a few minutes later at an unfortunate moment. He was decidedly gloomy.

"Fine joke, you people may call this, making game of a man," he muttered, crossing to the cellar door.

"The detective—you told him?" eagerly asked Mortimer.

"Yes, I told him. I goes upstairs and tells the missus and the detective just as he is about to leave that her maid says as how she stole the diamond ring and is waiting in the kitchen to be arrested. At that the detective and the missus commence to laugh, and the deteck he says: 'Guilty conscience, my lady. Watch that maid. Some day she'll steal preserves.' And he goes out laughing. And then the missus turns to me and says, 'Evans, the detective found my ring under the hall rug, where it had fallen.' 'All right, ma'am,' says I, backing out, for I saw something was wrong.

"'While on the subject, Evans,' continued the missus, 'perhaps you will explain just how you learned I had lost a diamond ring. I never told you!' And so I was caught, and the best I could do was to say that one of the furnace pipes was loose and that I happened to be in the cellar by accident. Now the missus has given me orders to fix that furnace pipe."

And he gloomily plunged into the cellar.

"So you really believed I had stolen the ring?" said Charlotte.

"Not once. I was prepared to swear I had stolen it, because I love you."

A terrific crash from the cellar interrupted them again at a critical moment.

"What's that?" cried Charlotte.

"I think the furnace pipe must have fallen on Evans," answered Mortimer cheerily, taking her in his arms.

"Poor Evans," murmured Charlotte. "And we'll use my diamond ring as an engagement ring. We must save money now, you know."

Equal to the Occasion.

"A Chicagoan named Littledale played with me in amateur theatricals in my early youth," said a well known actor.

"Littledale in one of our shows had to leap into a river in order to escape from a wild beast.

"The stage was so arranged that the river was invisible. Littledale was to leap and disappear, striking a soft mattress in the wings, and at the same time a rock was to be dropped in a tub of water to create a splash.

"But, though the leap worked all right in rehearsal, on the night of actual performance it went wrong. There was neither mattress nor tub there. When poor Littledale jumped he fell eight feet and landed on an oaken floor with a crash loud enough to wake the dead, and there was no splashing water to drown the crash by Jove.

"The audience, expecting to hear a splash and hearing instead the thunderous impact of Littledale's bones on the oak, set up a titter. But the heroic Littledale, equal to the occasion, silenced them.

"'Heavens,' he shouted from below, 'the water's frozen!'"—Home Magazine.

MAKE THE FEET FLAT.

A Chiropodist Says Injury Is Often Done by Low Heels.

"This talk about high heels breaking the arch of the foot is all nonsense," said a chiropodist who made a specialty of the "broken arch" difficulty. "It is the spring heel and very low heel that cause the trouble. Mothers should never be guilty of putting spring heel shoes on their children, for it means a flat and ugly foot in later years. Just as soon as a child can toddle around it should be provided with a soft, pliable shoe which has the tiniest bit of a heel. This tends to throw the weight of the body forward on the ball of the foot, where it is most easily supported, and relieves the strain on the arch.

"You have often seen small children who have just learned to walk run over the heels of their shoes, haven't you? It is not because they are unsteady on their feet, which is the popular opinion, but because their weight is resting on the arch or where the bone of the lower leg meets the bone of the foot. The flat foot may begin at this very time, so great care should be taken as to just what shoes the little toddlers wear. In some of the European countries little ones wear one-quarter inch heels on their shoes, but American mothers seem to think that spring heels are smarter and more healthful.

"For adults the moderately high Cuban heel is the most comfortable and sensible for ordinary wear. The flat heels and the common sense heel should both be tabooed. Even the French heel is not particularly injurious if it is only worn occasionally and when the woman will not walk much, but of course it is ridiculous for a walking boot. But, whatever you do, avoid the low heel."—New York Press

ARTISTIC PILLOW.

A Stylish, Quickly Worked and Easily Washed Cover.

A charming pillow may be made of the heavy fish net that can be bought in the upholstery department of most large department stores.

Cut from paper a pattern of conventionalized four leaved clover about six inches across. Put this on the net and trace around the edge with a soft lead pepcil. Diagonally back of it set another clover blossom of which part of two petals is hidden. Dot two flowers so grouped at equal intervals over the surface of the net.

Outline the design in duchess lace braid and fill in each petal with a darning stitch in pink rope silk. Use a darker pink for the under flower. Run the lace around the centers. Extending about an inch on the outside of each group of flowers darn in an irregular background of a still darker shade of pink. For this the stitches should go directly across the mesh of the net, not up and down.

Made up over a nile green taffeta pillow, this makes a stylish and quickly worked cover, which has the added advantage that it may be easily washed.—Philadelphia Press.

LAUNDRY LINES.

Stockings and socks should be turned wrongside out before they are put into the tub.

Do not waste time and strength ironing knit underwear. If folded down smoothly when taken from the line, these garments will need no ironing.

An ordinary telegraph wire makes a better line to hang clothes on to dry than the hempen one generally used. The wire does not sag, rot or break. It is easily made clean.

Soap should never be used when washing silk stockings. Add four tablespoonfuls of bran to a quart of water used for this purpose, rinse in several clear waters, pressing the water out, and dry in the sun.

In sorting clothes to send to the laundry look carefully over each article, taking care to remove every pin, which may seriously injure the laundress, and seeing that no studs, shields or cuff buttons are left in the blouses and shirts.

There is no better way to make a selfish, spoiled husband out of a perfectly good man than by always being unselfish and doing a thousand and one things for him that he has always been accustomed to do for himself. It is a recognized truth that we all care more for the person who is dependent upon us than for the one we depend upon.—Anon.

WAS MADE SPEAKER FOR ONE DAY

Mr. J. S. Duff Takes Hon. J. W. St. John's Place.

THE OCCASION WAS UNIQUE

Leaders Eulogize Speaker St. John and Express Wishes For His Speedy Recovery — Mr. Thomas Crawford May Rule For Balance of Session—Incorperation of Cobalt —Prosecutions at Arnprior.

Toronto, March 26.—The session of the Legislature yesterday, though not protracted, presented several features of interest. For the first time since Confederation the House found itself face to face with the problem of electing a temporary Speaker for the balance of the session. On one previous occasion a Speaker had been replaced during his absence from the House for one day. The unfortunate circumstances on this occasion, however, make it apparent that the temporary occupancy will be of longer duration. The procedure followed was that Mr. J. S. Duff, West Simcoe, was, on resolution, chosen Speaker for the day. A similar proceeding will be followed to-day, and after forty-eight hours a Speaker will be selected for the balance of the session. It is understood that the Government have asked Mr. Thomas Crawford, M. P. P. for West Toronto, to act as Speaker during the absence of Hon. J. W. St. John. Mr. Crawford himself is ill with la grippe [illegible] will now be out of the House for a day or two. If he should be present to-day or to-morrow he will be elected and will act as Speaker until prorogation. The acting Speaker reported that he had received the official return for the bye-election in Carleton, announcing the election of Mr. E. H. McElroy, who succeeds the late G. N. Kidd. Hon. G. P. Graham secured information from the Provincial Secretary concerning the administration of the license law in Arnprior, showing a remarkable decrease in the number of prosecutions and fines imposed. It developed during the afternoon that the proclamation incorporating the town of Cobalt took in a great amount of territory by mistake, and the Premier seeks to rectify this by the introduction of a bill which was given its first reading. Among the visitors to the House were Deputy Attorney-General Wood of Alberta and Hon. Senator P. Roy of Edmonton.

Mr. Duff took the chair, read the prayers, and the House proceeded to business.

Completed Legislation.

The following bills were read a third time:

Respecting the town of Seaforth—Mr. Eilber.

Respecting the Huntsville & Lake of Bays Railway Co.—Mr. Mahaffy.

To incorporate the Current River Power Co.—Mr. Smyth.

Confirming tax sales in the township of Etobicoke.

Respecting fines, penalties and forfeitures.

Bill Respecting University.

A bill of purely formal character respecting the University of Toronto was introduced by the Premier. It provides for the appointment of an arbitrator or arbitrators to replace the official arbitrator, who in this case is an interested party.

Too Much to Cobalt.

The Premier asked that the rules be suspended to introduce a bill respecting the town of Cobalt. By some mistake, he explained, a large amount of territory had been taken into the town of Cobalt which was not intended, as a result of some mistakes in the filing of plans which were subsequently included in the proclamation in connection with the incorporation of the town.

Hon. Mr. Monteith's bill to amend the agricultural societies act was read a second time.

To Extend Good Roads.

On the suggestion of Hon. Dr. Resume, Mr. Lennox withdrew his bill to amend the act for the improvement of highways by extending its provisions to towns and villages. At present only townships are eligible. The Minister stated that the Government had this matter under consideration, and the idea might be found embodied in the consideration of the act which was now in progress.

Prosecutions Decreased.

In reply to Mr. Graham the Provincial Secretary said that between March 1, 1904 and 1905, there were 18 prosecutions instituted by the License Inspector of South Renfrew against the hotelkeepers of Arnprior. There were sixteen convictions, and the fines imposed were $310. For the corresponding period of 1905-06 there were seven prosecutions and six convictions, the fines amounting to $170. For the corresponding period of 1906-07 there were three prosecutions and two convictions, the fines imposed being $20.

Mr. McNaught introduced a bill amending the act respecting investments by trustees by widening their powers somewhat as to deposits with loan companies.

The Speaker's Condition.

Toronto, March 26.—At an early hour this morning Hon. Mr. Speaker St. John lay very critically ill.

Perfectly conscious, but hardly noticing anything around him, the Speaker lay fighting a grim life and death struggle at close quarters with the inevitable dark angel.

Not before 7 a.m. will the physicians, who are gravely watching the case, be able to even prognosticate the result.

"Very critical, but not hopeless," is the utmost the doctors can say.

Dr. Bruce said immediately after the operation that a man of Speaker St. John's physique would be in a very critical state for 48 hours, but it is hoped that Mr. St. John's regular life and habits will help him through the ordeal.

England to Get Red Hat.

Rome, March 26.—In addition to the consistory to be held April 15, at which seven cardinals are to be created, the Pope will hold another consistory at the end of the year to appoint foreign cardinals.

England having been without a representative in the Sacred College since the death of Cardinal Vaughan, will have one cardinal, the candidates being Archbishop Bourne of Westminster and Bishop Hedley of Newport, England, and the Right Rev. Francis Aiden Gasquet, abbot president of the English Benedictines.

Strong claims are being made on behalf of the United States for two more cardinals, one in the east and the other in the west, but nothing has been decided on this subject.

Douma Fights Court-Martial.

St. Petersburg, March 26.—The question of drumhead courts-martial, the institution of which forms the bitterest grievance of the Liberals against the Stolypin Ministry, was raised in the Lower House of Parliament yesterday on a motion of the Constitutional Democrats for the appointment of a committee to draft and submit immediately a bill providing for the abolition of this summary procedure.

Several Opposition orators narrated the heroic deaths of various persons condemned by drumhead court-martial and a Cossack deputy demanded that the army "be no longer used for hangmen's work."

A Fagin At Stratford.

Stratford, March 26.—Benjamin Bearnbaum, a Jewish pedlar, who was found guilty of receiving stolen goods yesterday, is said to have encouraged boys to steal by buying the proceeds of their thefts.

A manufacturer accused a boy of shoplifting a few days ago and the case was traced to Bearnbaum.

It was brought out in the evidence that he had paid boys a few cents for small articles of brass and lead, among other things.

Judge Barron reserved judgment until to-day (Wednesday).

SITUATION IN MOROCCO.

Troops to Occupy Oudja Until Reparation is Made.

Paris, March 26.—The Moroccan situation, which has been forced into the background for a year past by acute internal problems, has been brought to the front by the assassination in Morocco City of Dr. Mauchamp.

Members of the chamber from the department of Saone et Loire, where Dr. Mauchamp lived, will interpellate the Government to-day. M. Fernand Rubiet, Radical Socialist, will read a number of letters from the doctor, in which he complains bitterly of his abandonment by the French authorities, giving instances of their slackness and inactivity.

Furthermore, the Socialists are able to seize this opportunity to attack the Government in retaliation for their recent defeat in the matter of the strike by the electricians of Paris.

The ministry is fully alive to the importance of the situation and is ready to offer a full explanation to the chamber.

The decision of the Cabinet yesterday to send French troops to occupy Oudja, in Morocco, was unanimous. The occupation of this point will be continued until full satisfaction has been accorded.

The French demands include the punishment of the murderer of Dr. Mauchamp, indemnity for the family of the victim and the appropriation of a large sum for the foundation of a charitable institution in Morocco in memory of Dr. Mauchamp.

KILLS HER MASTER'S CHILD.

Confesses Over the Casket That She Poisoned the Child.

New York, March 26.—Jennie Burch, a quarterbred Mohawk, who in September last poisoned the infant son of Herbert Winship, a wealthy farmer, of Cowles' Corners, Putnam County, was placed on trial yesterday for her life at Carmel, N.Y. It is her fifteenth birthday anniversary.

On the day of the baby's burial she flung herself upon the child's casket and sobbed out a confession of how she had fed the infant a poisoned peach. She said she had loved her little charge, and because of her great love had killed it.

Medical men and other men of science who have examined and studied the girl differ as to her sanity.

Jennie Burch was a waif, and was given a home by the Winship family four years ago. The farmer and his family treated the girl as one of their own.

The girl is to be tried before Supreme Court Justice Mills, who has appointed two lawyers to defend her. It is believed they will attempt to prove insanity at the time of the murder.

Famous Surgeon Dead.

Wiesbaden, Germany, March 26.—Prof. Von Bergmann, the famous surgeon, died here yesterday. He was operated upon Sunday for appendicitis. He presided at a special meeting of the Berlin Medical Association last July to discuss the treatment of that ailment. He served in the Austrian-Prussian War of 1866, the Franco-Prussian War, and the Turko-Russian War, and last year attended the Sultan of Turkey and his daughter. Early this year he treated the late Shah of Persia, and received a fee of $22,000. He had charge of the surgical clinic at Berlin.

COVERED WITH BOILS!

How Bilcans Purify the Blood.

Spring pimples, boils, skin rashes and eruptions are just now rampant. The most scientific corrective and blood purifier is Bilcans, the herbal remedy. Mr. Thos. Hasselwood, an employee of the Consumers' Gas Co., Toronto, says: "Bilcans are the best blood purifier and liver corrective I have ever met with. Pimples and boils broke out all over my neck. My blood seemed absolutely filled with impurities and poisons. My liver was disordered, too, and I was dull, weak and ailing. Bilcans purified my blood and cured the boils and pimples; they also toned up my system—gave me vim and energy, and filled me with life and vigor!"

Reader, Bilcans can do the same for you! All druggists and stores sell them at 50 cents a box, or from Bilcan Co., Toronto, for price. Six boxes for $2.50. Send one cent stamp for sample box.

REVERSE FOR TROOPS.

Peasants In Roumania Outnumbered Them In Fight.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 26.—There have been several serious conflicts between peasants and troops, notably at Baceas, where 2,000 armed peasants attacked a company of soldiers. The troops fired several volleys, killing 40 peasants and wounding large numbers, but the soldiers were so greatly outnumbered that they finally were obliged to retreat.

At Teleoraman, Wachia, peasants sacked the synagogue and burned 40 houses. The rioters also demolished and pillaged Zimnicea.

The army reserve men are fraternizing with the maraunders and participating in the plunder.

Thousands of peasants surround Bosieri De Vede, with the intention of looting if a favorable opportunity arises. The troops there are few.

The total number of troops now in Moldavia is 32,610, but large reinforcements are still required.

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY MARCH 26 1907

DYING MAN'S BRAINS FELL FROM FRACTURED SKULL TO THE GROUND

Horrible Spectacle Which Met the Passengers Gaze at the Disastrous Wreck at Myrtle Yesterday Morning—The Other Man Scalded to Death.

DETAILS BY A TRAVELLER.

The horrible spectacle of a dead man poised in the air, with his brains oozing out and dripping over his face to the ground, was what met the gaze of the east bound passengers yesterday morning when their train pulled alongside the battered wreck this side of Myrtle station. A number of those who were delayed on account of the disastrous wreck were to-day at the city hotels, and an Examiner representative in conversation with Mr. John L. Anderson, a commercial man from Toronto, learned some details of the wreck. Mr. Anderson was present soon after the collision, and was able to give a very graphic description of the condition of affairs which met his gaze.

A Horrible Sight

Two men were killed outright, one probably instantly, and the other after a few minutes during which time he called in vain for assistance and met his death by scalding. The former was the fireman on the east-bound freight, who was pinned fast between the tender and the engine. For a few minutes he was unnoticed by the anxious searchers among the ruins as he hung in mid-air between strong pieces of iron. His body poised aloft, was a sight never to be forgotten by those who saw it. It was terribly mutilated, with the head so badly cut and the skull fractured so that the brains dripped down upon the ground. For several hours the rescuing crew worked with auxiliaries from Havelock and Toronto before the remains of the unfortunate man could be extricated from their awful prominence.

The tender of this train was standing almost upright in the air on top of four or five cars, one of which was filled with pig iron. The two engines were locked together and it was for this reason that the delay to the east-bound express was so great.

Scalded to Death

The other unfortunate man, a brakeman on the train travelling west, met a hard death, said Mr. Anderson. He was nailed to the ground by a quantity of coal, and although he repeatedly called for help it was simply impossible to get near him, and he died like a lion in a trap beneath the constant pour of scalding water.

The remarkable part of the wreck, said Mr. Anderson, was that none of the cars were derailed into the ditch. The wreck occurred on a hill and although half a dozen cars were so badly disfigured that they had to be burned, none fell down the steep bank.

The express stayed at Myrtle from 10.30 in the morning until 9.30 last night when the wreckage was cleared sufficiently to allow the train to pass. The passengers were fed during the day by the C. P. R. in the dining car of the express, and made as comfortable as possible.

MR. D. HUGHES CHARLES,
Who has been President of the Peterborough Board of Trade for the last four years. The annual meeting of the Board will be held to-night.

A MYSTERY

John Williams Disappearance Still Unsolved.

IS IT A CASE OF SUICIDE?

Statement That He Once Remarked to Citizen That He Had Attempted to Take His Life.

The whereabouts of William Williams, who mysteriously disappeared from his boarding house on Dalhousie street over a week ago, is still a mystery. Inquiry made to-day if any word or trace had been received from him at the place where he boarded, elicited a negative answer. He left on Sunday night, not giving the slightest idea as to his intentions, and that was the last time that any Peterborough people had heard of him. On Saturday, previous to the date of his disappearance, he settled with the landlady for his week's board as usual, and showed no indications of an unsettled mind.

It is very much doubted by those who knew him that he is still alive. Some time ago he related his troubles to a sympathizing friend in the city, which may throw some light on his disappearance. He told him of some family affairs upon which he continually had his mind. His wife, he had stated, was not contented to reside in Peterborough, and had spent a great deal of her time in Toronto and Montreal.

Had Attempted Suicide

Williams had also told his friend that at one time he had been so demented and so disgusted with life that he had attempted suicide. These statements of the missing man seem to indicate that he was dissatisfied with life. His wife left the city, it is learned, about four weeks ago, and went to Montreal to live. His heavy expenses were probably weighing him down considerably, but the result of his actions is yet a mystery and may remain such.

HEAT PROSTRATIONS; KIDS SWIMMING

Pittsburg, March 25.—Two victims of the heat, and a dozen kids, just kids, arrested for swimming in the river, was the sum up of March 23, the hottest 23rd of March in the history of the weather bureau. Eighty-one degrees read the official indicator, and it was so hot that a bunch of youngsters, with nothing to do, decided to take a dip in the muddy brine of the Allegheny.

HOTEL 'BUS PASSED OVER THE BOY

Miraculous Escape From Severe Injury of Freddy Brooks, Dalhousie Street.

Freddie Brooks, son of Mr. J. M. Brooks, Dalhousie street, miraculously escaped from severe injury in an accident at the corner of George and Dalhousie streets about noon to-day. The little fellow was wheeling a small wagon along Dalhousie street toward George street, and ran directly in front of one of the 'buses going from the hotel to the train. The horses knocked him down, and one of the wheels of the big vehicle passed over his leg.

Dr. McClennan happened to be near the scene of the accident and took charge of the injured boy. He found that he had received a couple of injuries, one on the head and the other on the shoulder blade, but still remained conscious.

From outward appearances he was not badly injured, but how he escaped further injury seems nothing less than a miracle.

SHABBY REWARD FOR LONG-STANDING PARTY FIDELITY; MR. T. GUERIN TURNED DOWN

This afternoon the Examiner received the following letter, which explains itself, and is evidence of the fact that the spoils system of the Ontario Government is a two-edged sword — it works both ways — it not only decapitates Liberals who make way for Conservatives, but also beheads good Conservatives, who do not regard the supposed rights of other Conservatives. The letter is as follows:

To the Editor of the Examiner and the Public:

I would like to know why I have been turned down by the Conservative party of West Peterborough. Last year, after having spent a lifetime in the service of the Conservative party, I was given a job as fishery inspector, with, as I supposed, instructions to do my duty in that capacity. I worked two months at it, and can conscientiously say that I filled the duties of the office to the best of my ability, without fear or favour. It happened that I found a man who was a Conservative, breaking the law, and fined him $40. I am now told by a member of the Young Conservative Club that because I fined a Conservative I am no longer to be given my position.

Not only that, but I had to wait nine months before I could get pay for the work I did last year, and then only after I had threatened to sue for it. When I decided to take this action Mr. Bradburn gave me a cheque signed by himself, and when I asked him if I were to be given the position again this year he informed me that he had nothing to do with fishery matters this year.

T. GUERIN.

This Year's Military Camp Will Be Taken To Kingston

The annual report of the Militia Council has the following reference to the annual camp of No. 3 district, which was held last year at Cobourg:—The troops of Military District No. 3, who had not previously had a chance of carrying out rifle practice since 1901, trained at Cobourg in order to take advantage of the rifle range there, the municipality being good enough to place a camp site at the disposal of the department. The site was good though confined. So soon, however, as the rifle range now being acquired at Kingston has been completed, a proper water supply installed, and the camp site better drained, it will probably be desirable to locate again the camp at Kingston.

Rev. J. A. Sterling Resigns From The Buckhorn Charge

Rev. J. A. G. Stirling, who has been pastor of the Presbyterian charge with churches at Lakehurst, Buckhorn and Rockcroft, will preach his farewell sermons to those congregations on Sunday next. Rev. Mr. Stirling, during the time that he has had charge of these churches, has done splendid work, and as a result the membership has increased materially. It will, therefore, be with regret that news of his departure will be learned.

As to his successor, there is nothing known, but it is considered probable that a student will be placed in charge for the summer months, at least.

The themes of the sermons on Sunday will be appropriate to the Easter day.

A Site Is Selected For The New Church Edifice At Buckhorn

The amount raised so far for the erection of the new Presbyterian church at Buckhorn is $580, and Rev. J. A. G. Stirling, who has had the matter in hand, is confident that sufficient will be subscribed to build a church which will meet the demands of the congregation worshipping there.

The present intention is to build a church to cost about $1500, including the sheds, which, of course, need not be expensive. A suitable and commanding site for the proposed church has been selected and will soon be purchased, and as soon as possible, work on the erection of the building will be commenced.

Canoe Workers Claim The Hours Worked Are Too Long

The Examiner is informed that there is some little unrest among the employees in one of the canoe factories in the city, and, if the information furnished is correct, a strike may take place. There is no union among the canoe makers, so that it is not expected that the trouble will be experienced in more than one factory.

It appears that the very prosperity of the canoe-making industry is responsible for the present trouble. The men in this factory have had to work longer hours than they care for, and it is stated that it is on this account that they are raising the objection.

It is probable that the little differences will be overcome in the near future, and a strike, which, at this time of the year, at the opening of the season, would be the last thing desired by any of the manufacturers, averted.

Havelock's Day's Rest Demoralized The Traffic

This is the Statement Made by the Train-Master at Toronto Junction—Rev. J. G. Shearer on the New Lord's Day Act.

ITS EFFECT ON RAILWAYS

The work done by the railways on Sunday since the coming into force of the new Lord's Day Act was the subject of an article in the Toronto Globe yesterday, and Rev. J. G. Shearer discussed the situation so far as Havelock was concerned.

The work at Havelock, Mr. Shearer said, had been materially diminished on Sunday a week ago (the 10th) as compared with that done the previous Sunday; this was probably due, he thought, to the fact that the attention of the management of the C.P.R. had been drawn to the matter by the Lord's Day Alliance. Last Sunday, however, the 17th inst., there had been much more work done, and when the officials were spoken to about it they made the plea of congestion of traffic. It was also said that there were perishable goods in trains moved.

A Toronto trainmaster, referring to the fact that during one Sunday no work was done at Havelock, said: "Havelock is a divisional point, and they did shut down there two weeks ago. Our yard here had to be relieved, and they could not let all the trains in there. These trains came back to us in a bunch. Yesterday was the first time we got straightened out; two weeks' tangle because of one day's law at Havelock."

HULL MAIDENS WANT THOSE BACHELORS TAXED WHO WILL NOT MARRY

Ottawa, March 25.—A petition has been received by the city clerk asking that a tax be imposed upon the bachelors of the city. The petition comes from the young ladies of Hull, who have no aversion to matrimony and state that such a law would be of great benefit to the citizens in general, as they say that single men are merely fashion plates which stand on the corners, and that it would be much better if they were compelled to get married. It would also prove a boon to the parents of such young men, who, in many cases, spend all their wages in clothes or amusement. The petition suggests a tax of $5 for each bachelor over 21 years. The matter will come up at the next meeting of the City Council.

Head-On Collision Near Myrtle Results In Two Men's Death

PETERBOROUGH CITIZENS DO NOT LIKE TO MISS TORONTO PAPERS

Not in a number of years has Peterborough experienced such a dearth of mail and Toronto papers as occurred yesterday, occasioned by the delay in both the noon express, and evening local, the former coming in eleven hours behind schedule, and the latter nearly four.

Until the supply of papers is cut off, or withheld, one does not appreciate to what extent the receipt of the daily papers enters into our lives, and their value is not fully appreciated until they do not come. There were a good many uneasy men yesterday, and the bookstores and news stands were besieged with inquiries as to when the trains would be in.

In the first place the noon train was reported "one hour or more" late; then it became three, four, six, and finally ten, while, as a matter of fact, it was just one hour less than half the circuit of the day behind time in reaching the station.

Two Freight Trains Come Together in a Fog and Impact Threw One Whole Train Off the Track.

TRAFFIC BLOCKED 11 HOURS

Two Toronto Men Killed and Two Others Injured—Worst Wreck in Number of Years.

The information given out at the C. P. R. station yesterday that a freight train jumping the track at a switch east of Myrtle, was responsible for the delay in the noon train, which, as a matter of fact did not arrive until 10.35 last night, did not describe the whole situation. Later in the day the intelligence was received that the line was blocked, not because of one train off the track, but the delay was caused by a head-on collision between two freights, and not only was the line blocked for several hours, but two lives were lost and two men seriously injured.

The blockade to the line was the most serious that has occurred in a number of years — the noon train was delayed eleven hours, and the local three hours and a half.

Only the most meagre information concerning the details of the wreck are available, the C. P. R. officials stating that beyond the fact that there had been a wreck, they were not in possession of any further details.

The Toronto News of last night, however, gave the following story of the wreck:

"Two men killed, two seriously injured, and two freight trains wrecked, form the casualty list of a head-on collision which occurred on the C. P. R., about two miles east of Myrtle station at half past ten this morning.

"The dead men, Fireman C. Jones and Brakeman H. Howes, were removed from the wreck about two hours after the collision.

"The trains came together in a dense fog. The eastbound freight was hauled by engine No. 750, and and it was to this engine that Fireman Jones belonged. Engineer Kyle escaped with slight injury. Brakeman Howes, who was in the cab of engine No. 1488, was scalded to death.

"The westbound freight was hauled by engine No. 1488. Engineer S. Binns sustained injuries to his arms and shoulders, while his fireman C. Heise, was injured about the legs, shoulders and arms.

"The trains were going at the rate of about thirty miles an hour. In the westbound freight there were 18 cars, all of which were reported to have been derailed. In the eastbound freight there were between 25 and 30 cars. Five cars were completely demolished.

"The eastbound freight was in charge of Conductor Cook, while W. Davis was conductor of the westbound train. Both men belonged to Toronto Junction.

"The wreck is said to have been the result of a mistake in orders by Conductor Cook, of the eastbound train. The trains, it is reported, should have crossed at Myrtle.

"Wrecking trains arrived on the about an hour afterwards, and the men directed their efforts toward the recovery, of the bodies from engine 750. The engines are little better than a heap of scrap iron, and the bodies when recovered were so badly burned, bruised and scalded as to be almost unrecognizable. The fire that started immediately after the collision, was extinguished before it had made great progress.

"Immediately after the wreck some of the train hands who escaped hastened to Myrtle station and obtained medical succor for the wounded, besides communicating the circumstances to the head officials in Toronto. Farmers residing in the vicinity gave what relief was possible.

"Charles Jones, fireman, lived at 30 Victoria street, Toronto Junction; Henry Howes, trainman, 35 May street, Toronto Junction; Stanley Binns, engineer, 21 Quebec avenue, Toronto Junction; Clifford Heise, engineer, 264 Major street, Toronto.

"Binns has been in the employ of the C.P.R. about three years. Jones has been in the employ of the C.P.R. for seven years.

"Howes has been in the employ of the C.P.R. for over ten years.

Nothing For The Press

"Inquiry was made by The News at the office of the Superintendent of the second C.P.R. division for some details of the accident. "There is nothing as yet that we can give to the press," was the reply.

"A report from Myrtle at two o'clock this afternoon stated that the dead men had not yet been removed from the wreck. Owing to a hot box the east-bound train was running very slowly at the time of the collision."

Resigned Pastorate Of St. Paul's Church

At Meeting of Peterboroug Presbytery This Morning in St. Andrew's Church Rev. Dr. Torrance Presented His Resignation.

THE CONGREGATION CITED

Matter to be Dealt With in Special Session of Presbytery to be Held April 11th—Other Business Transacted.

The resignation of the Rev. Dr. Torrance, as pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, was presented at a meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery, held behind closed doors in St. Andrew's Hall this morning. The resignation was, however, not accepted by the Presbytery and was laid on the table to await a special meeting of the Presbytery on April 11, when the congregation of St. Paul's will be summoned to appear in their interests. On the same date, the induction of the Rev. Henry J. Keith to the Presbytery will take place.

Those present this morning were: Reverends J. G. Potter, Peterborough; G. A. McClennan, Norwood; J. F. MacFarlane, Warkworth; Dr. Torrance, Peterborough; Jas. Ross Peterborough; Wm. Johnston, Millbrook; H. Peckover, Omemee; S. S Burns, Lakefield; H. C. Reeves, Campbellford; J. G. Wright, Peterborough; D. A. Thompson and Elder Wm. Cuthbertson, Norwood; and Elders Wm. Fowler, G. M. Roger, Wm. Shea, Robt. Harrison, Wm. Madill, Sheriff Hall and J. Coyle Brown, Peterborough.

The chair was occupied by Rev. E. A. Camp, Moderator, of Havelock.

On motion, it was decided to hold the meeting behind closed doors.

Reverends Reeves and McClennan were appointed to support Rev. Peter Dunnan's claim before the General Assembly Committee to be placed on the Aged and Infirm Ministers' Fund list.

Rev. G. A. McClennan reported with regard to the union of Mill Street and St. Paul's Churches, Port Hope. The committee appointed to look after this had conferred with both churches separately, but found it impossible to bring about the proposed union.

Rev. J. F. MacFarlane reported on behalf of the committee appointed to confer with the officials of St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, anent the relations existing between pastor and people. The report was received, fully discussed, and its recommendations considered seriatim. It was finally agreed that it be laid on the table for further reference.

Resignation Tendered

Rev. Dr. Torrance tendered his resignation as pastor of St. Paul's Church, and, on motion of Rev. McClennan, the doctor's resignation was laid on the table, and the congregation will be cited to appear in their interests at a meeting of the Presbytery to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, on April 11, at 9.30 o'clock.

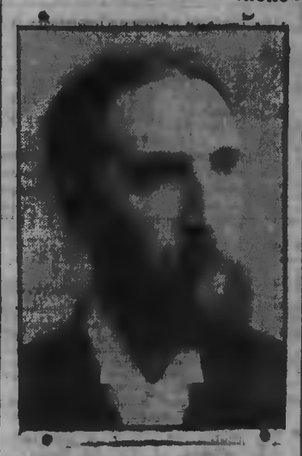
The call in favour of Rev. H. J. Keith, of Smith's Falls, from Knox Church was sustained. Messrs. Shea and J. Smith appeared before Presbytery and were heard in support of the call. Arrangements were made for the induction of Rev. Mr. Keith, to take place on Thursday, April 11, at 8 p.m.; Rev. Mr. Peckover to preach, Rev. Dr. Torrance to preside, Rev. J. G. Potter to address the minister, and Rev. Dr. Marsh to address the people.

The next general meeting will be held on July 2, in St. Paul's Church, Port Hope.

The Examiner is informed from a member of Presbytery that the resignation of Rev. Dr. Torrance from the pastorate of St. Paul's church was accompanied by a rider to the effect that it was to take effect conditional upon the congregation granting him a substantial retiring allowance.

The report of the meeting, as furnished by the clerk of the Presbytery, did not state this condition to the resignation, but the Examiner is informed by another member who was present that this was the case.

REVGNED PASTORATE AFTER THIRTY YEARS IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH



REV. E. F. TORRANCE, D.D.,
who this morning resigned his pastorate of St. Paul's Church; his resignation being presented to regular meeting of the Presbytery.

MEN'S GUILD WERE ENTERTAINED

Members of St. Luke's Guild Enjoyed Social Evening at the Residence of J. J. Turner, Jr., Last Night

The Young Men's Guild of St. Luke's church held its fortnightly meeting last night, at the residence of Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., Water street.

A large number of the members were present, and the affairs of the Guild were interestingly discussed. It was decided by the members to assist the finances of the church by furthering the envelope system among the young people. It was also decided that some of the members should act as ushers at the series of lectures to be given by Dr. Symonds at the Y.M.C.A. from April 8th to 13th. A pleasant time was then spent in social intercourse, and refreshments were served.

After expressing thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Turner for the hospitality extended the Guild, the meeting dispersed.

William J. Savidge, an actor, and a son of the late William Savidge, the old-time actor, was locked up in Brooklyn on Saturday night, charged with having shot Miss Roselyn D Wilbert, a trained nurse. The latter is believed to have been fatally wounded.

AN EXPLODED LIBEL

The Montreal Star some time ago showed questionable enterprise in placing a watch upon the movements of Hon. Mr. Hyman at a California health resort. The Star's correspondent described Mr. Hyman's routine, which was clearly that of a person who was studying his health not his pleasure, but the Star chose to misrepresent the testimony of its reporter by insinuating that Mr. Hyman had been shamming illness, and by publishing a bogus sketch of him. The same newspaper prints a more recent letter from the same correspondent, in which these passages appear:

"When he (Mr. Hyman) arrived he had been practically a month without sleep, and he had reached the conclusion that life was impossible unless the blessing of sleep could come to him in some manner. Coronado is on The days are clear and warm. The surroundings are exquisite. These conditions worked wonders with the Canadian Cabinet Minister. From an hour's restless sleep out of 24, he began to sleep, four, six, eight, and finally ten and twelve hours. The beneficial change of atmosphere made him drowsy, even in the middle of the day. He took short swims in the peaceful waters of the Pacific in the morning.

"This routine Mr. Hyman maintained until about six days ago. Then for some perhaps unaccountable reason insomnia returned to rack his nerves again. For the past few days he has obtained some sleep, but not enough.

"Unquestionably Mr. Hyman has been an exceedingly sick man. His nerves were worn out and his whole nervous system stretched to a hazardous point. But it is just as certain that he is now on the sure road to recovery, if he continues to gain as he has done during his stay here. His cheek is deeply tanned and his complexion is aglow. His eyes are clear, his manner alert, and his voice firm, with the exception of a slight nervousness of speech, which still lingers."

Mr. Hyman's friends in the city, says the London Advertiser, who saw him just before his departure for the south, know that he was in a serious condition, and have been indignant at the unfeeling and unfounded assertions by some of his political opponents that the plea of illness was a pretence. The evidence of the correspondent of the Montreal Star, a Conservative journal, should put an end to the discussion on this point. Equally unjust was the suggestion that the informality of Mr. Hyman's resignation was intentional. The Privileges and Election Committee strangled it with red tape, but the matter will be rectified by Mr. Hyman when he is able to return himself.

ALBERTA'S NEW LICENSE LAW

The first bill for the regulation of the liquor traffic has been introduced in the Alberta Legislature, and it may be interesting to readers to know how the new Province purposes dealing with the problem. The license system which was in operation in the Northwest Territories is continued under provincial jurisdiction, but with important modifications. One very advanced provision is that which prohibits a license in any place with less than two hundred inhabitants. The object is to prevent the existence of "road houses," which are not needed for public accommodation, but thrive on the proceeds of the bar, and often by harbouring people of dubious character. In fact, no licenses will be issued outside of cities, towns and incorporated villages.

The licenses in Alberta must keep hotel. In cities, every hotel must have at least 45 bedrooms; in towns, 35, and in villages, 15. Only one license will be allowed for the first 500 people in a municipality; one for the second 500, and one for each additional 1000 of population. The Ontario law allows one license for the first 250 people; three for the first 1000, and one for each 600 over the first 1000. Another clause of the Alberta Act provides that sheeks cannot be cashed in a hotel. It is believed that this will assist the wage-earners to resist the temptation of going into bars on pay-day, and will send them first to the grocery and dry goods stores. The Act sets up a standard of sanitation to which the licenses must conform.

On the whole, the license law of the new Province is more restrictive than Ontario, which has been the most advanced in the Dominion. — London Advertiser.

THE AARON COX HOMESTEAD is being sold by the Executors of the estate. This is a splendid property, a whole block, having on it one of the finest double houses in the city, with good stables, etc. It is in the finest residential part of the city and has a large frontage on Rubidge Street available for new houses.

ANOTHER WARNING

If punishment is any deterrent to the criminally inclined, the addition of Joseph Phillips, president of the York Loan Company to the colony of frenzied financiers at Kingston Penitentiary should operate as another warning. It is being discovered that making free with other people's money is a dangerous game. But will the practice stop? Perhaps not. No doubt most of those now undergoing hard labour sentences in Kingston hadn't the least idea of landing there when they began. Each one doubtless thought he could and would escape detection, or following out the gambling impulse inherent in us all, he "took chances." When men in the stock market and in other speculative enterprises exist from day to day in the atmosphere of chances, the transition from "legitimate" chances to forbidden ones is ever easy. So long as the break-neck race for wealth furnishes as large a "field" of entries there is sure to be an odd one among the many that will "come a cropper."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the past ten years twenty-four millions have been expended in improving the canal system of Canada.

The Laurier Government has spent upon the Trent Valley Canal, since it took office, a total of $3,760,000, including the cost of the two lift locks at Peterborough and Kirkfield. Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, estimates that it will require, to complete the canal from Lake Ontario to Georgian Bay—practically from Port Arthur to Montreal—four and a half millions —$1,500,000 for the section from Lake Simcoe to Georgian Bay, and $3,000,000 from Healeys Falls to Trenton.

"Men Wanted" is the cry from the great West which becomes daily more insistent. Reports indicate that there will be sixty thousand men wanted this season in connection with construction work. Where will they come from? Thousands of immigrants are going in but a majority of these are intent on construction work for themselves—building farmsteads and homes. Shall we have to fall back upon the "heathen Chinee?" Railway building means increased activity in all lines of industrial and commercial, and it cannot be allowed to drag.

The Canadian "White Elephant" has turned the normal elephantine blue—the Intercolonial is ceasing to be a deficit-maker. In 1905 the Intercolonial earned the handsome deficit of $1,700,000. Last year Mr. Emmerson turned the tide, and a surplus of $95,000 was recorded. This year the surplus of earnings, over expenses, promises to be about three-quarters of a million. For the first six months of the current year the surplus was $370,000. We may expect the future of the railway to be brighter. The Liberal Government extended it to Montreal, the deficit disappeared, and a wholesome surplus succeeded. Mr. Emmerson said in Parliament recently that the next step forward would be to extend the Intercolonial to Toronto, and it may possibly reach Peterborough.

Another railway accident so close at home that it appeals especially to our interest. Two men killed, and possibly two families left without the breadwinners. The cause is attributed to "mistaken orders." Why can't some means be devised to provide against the possibility of orders being mistaken. At sea an officer says to the wheelman "Port" and the answer is "Port it is Sir," Thus assurance is given that the order is understood, and will be obeyed. The fine science to which railroading has been brought could certainly devise some means of insuring that the orders, upon whose carrying out the life of hundreds depend, are understood, with the certainty that they will be obeyed. Nine-tenths of the accidents that happen in the world are due to carelessness or criminal neglect.

OWNERSHIP'S RAPACITY

The Galt Reporter wants us to give an instance of dissatisfaction with municipal ownership and operation of lighting plants. There are many of them. That good Conservative organ, the Kingston News, of date of March 20th, says:

The taking over of the lighting plant by the city has been a disappointment to the users of electricity. They expected that the cost of light and power would be greatly reduced by civic control. And when they found that the rates under company management kept on, they naturally asked, where is the advantage of the change? The dissatisfaction does not attach to a small percentage of the light and power patrons. If it were so, it might be put off with the remark that "there are always those who grumble." But it embraces the most substantial and fair-minded of our citizens, men, too, who were enthusiastic about the change from private ownership to public ownership.

Nor is this large class placated by a recommendation of reduction by the committee of management to begin in July, and the presentation of a surplus at the end of the year's operations. For they know that the reduction from 14 to 12 cents per kilowatt brought no decrease in the amount of their bills..... Unless something is done soon along the line of decreased cost a number of light consumers will follow those who having had experience of the expense, had the light taken out. For at present it is a luxury to all whose incomes do not exceed $1500 a year.

"TRUTH" AND OBSERVANCE OF GOOD FRIDAY

In regard to a letter, signed "Truth," in another column, it may be said that our correspondent is right in claiming a due degree of respect for the sacred anniversary mentioned (Good Friday), but he cannot altogether hold the clergy responsible. It seems that the latter are doing their duty when they do their best to inculcate, as a basis of action, the principles of reverence for sacred things and righteousness in deed. It does not appear that it is their duty, or would be their wisdom, to attempt to lay down specific rules that should guide their flocks and practically take the place of an enlightened conscience, and convert religion into a mechanical observance of clerical orders, when the will, but not the heart, consents.

Cobourg' Car Ferry

A rumour is in circulation to the effect that the sum of $65,00 0will be placed int he supplementary estimates for the Cobourg harbour. This is another indication that the car ferry is coming to Cobourg.—Cobourg Post.

Hard on Women

The statement was made in a Lindsay pulpit recently that as a general rule, the lives of women, as a sex, are more ungodly than those of the male sex—that for every 5,000 secular living men there were 10,000 women whose lives were ungodly. The work accomplished by the godly women is counterbalanced to a great extent by the ungodly.

DoctorsTried for 8 Years to Cure Me
BUT I AM WELL NOW AND BELIEVE I OWE MY LIFE TO
DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

There is a remarkable cure described in this letter which should prove of vital interest to anyone suffering from derangement of the kidneys.

Mrs. Dave W. McCalf, Lombardy, Leeds Co., Ont., writes: I desire to acknowledge the benefits I have received from Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I was troubled with kidney disease for eight years and doctored with several doctors to no avail until my husband got me Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I began using them. Altogether I used ten boxes, and can truthfully say I would have been dead long ago only for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Words cannot express my praise for them, for I believe there is no medicine so good for kidney and liver disorders."

In the treatment of Bright's disease or inflammation of the kidneys, the first consideration is rest for these filtering organs and this can only be obtained by quickening the action of the liver and bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where mere kidney medicines fail because they act promptly and directly on the liver, take the work off the kidneys, and then by their invigorating action on the kidneys restore them to health and vigor.

Because of the intimate and sympathetic relation of the liver and kidneys it is useless to treat them independently of one another. This fact was in the mind of Dr. Chase when he prepared the formula of his celebrated Kidney-Liver Pills and the phenomenal success of this great medicine has proven his wisdom.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills positively cure liver complaint, biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his medicine.

FAKE HAIR PREPARATIONS

o Hair No Good, But Often Cause It To Fall Out.

Many hair preparations are "fakes" because they are merely scalp irritants. They often cause a dryness, making the hair brittle, and, finally, lifeless. Dandruff is the cause of all trouble with hair. It is a germ disease. The germ makes cuticle scales as it digs to the root of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing it to fall out. To cure dandruff, the germ must be killed. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ, thereby leaving the hair to grow luxuriantly. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

C. P. R. Recovered Ten Points From Yesterday's Low—Other Features of a Wall Street Rally.

Special to J. R. Heintz & Co.

New York, March 26.—There was a smart recovery in stock values today. The opening was practically unchanged from last night's closing, although in a few instances there was some improvement. Shortly after, a fierce drive at Copper broke that issue to 78 1-2, but the loss was quickly covered and, with this improvement, the whole list grew strong and sharp advances were made throughout.

Union Pac. gained 9 points, Smelters, 10; St. Paul, 8; Reading, 8 and so on. Shorts covered freely, this buying being the main reason for the day's gains. C.P.R. rose ten points from yesterday's low, the price being marked up on small sales.

At the higher level profit-takers were in evidence and the advance was not held, prices selling off again rather easily after 2.15. Berlin was reported an early seller, but a late cable says the monthly settlement there passed off smoothly and there are no signs of financial trouble anywhere. London sent over buying orders to this side. The market closed firm on a rally.

OBITUARY

ELLEN COLLINS

A very sad death occurred this morning when Ellen Collins, the wife of Mr. William A. Levoise, died at the age of 37 years. The deceased had been ill but a short time and her death was most untimely. She was born in Ops township and has lived in this city for the past six years. Her husband is the proprietor of the Club Knitting Works and was just beginning to make the business bring in good returns.

Besides her husband she leaves two boys and one girl to mourn her loss. They are Laurence, Wilfrid and Helen. One brother, Mr. Patrick Collins, lives in Ops and two sisters, Mrs. Lawler, and Mrs. Johnn in Rochester.

The funeral will be held to-morrow morning at 6.30 a.m., from the family residence, 354 Water street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the G.T.R. station. The remains will be conveyed to Lindsay, and thence to the residence of Mr. R. Collins, Ops, where the body will remain until Thursday. On Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the funeral will be held to St. Luke's cemetery, Downeyville.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

To the Editor Post Card Column:

Sir, — At the end of your excellent report of the mass meeting on Sunday appears a paragraph, stating that the opera house was given free of charge. Most people who gave the collection (taken, by the way, in a most insolent manner by Mr. Turner's own staff) imagined that the cash was to pay the expenses of the gathering and help along the missionary work of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew. I heard Mr. Turner say that he was "taking up the collection to defray his own expenses of light, heat and orchestra," and he turned down the men who were officially appointed by the local assembly to take up the collection. What amount was collected is known to Mr. Turner only, for he consented to pay the expenses of the gathering and did not state the total receipts. My own opinion is that the was well paid and the hot air talk about generosity in this connection very much out of place.

I am, dear sir, yours truly,
ANTI-HUMBUG.

LATEST TICKS FROM THE WIRES

Some time ago, John Pendleton, of Parsons, W. Va., was killed by a railway train while, it was alleged, intoxicated from the effects of liquor. Pendleton's wife had warned the saloon-keeper not to sell her husband liquor, and after the latter's death sued the publican for damages. On Saturday a jury awarded her $5,000.

For a memorial tablet to the famous seventeenth-century navigator, William Dampier, which it is proposed to erect in the parish church of East Coker, Eng., near Yeovil, his birthplace, a sum of from 20 to 25 pounds is wanted by the vicar, Rev. Chas. Powell, in addition to the amount already received.

The work of the Interstate Commerce Commission has grown so heavy that it has been decided to discontinue the hearings which have been conducted by the members outside of Washington. Hereafter, when it is found necessary to conduct investigations in other cities, special agents will take the testimony and report to the Commission.

After a search of over a month, the wreck of the steamship Larefmont, which foundered off Rhode Island, with terrible loss of life, has been found by Captain James Puddington, a fisherman. The sunken vessel lies one-quarter mile south of Watch Hill Light, and within half a mile of where the vessel's main mast was picked up shortly after the collision with the schooner Harry Knowlton.

The greatest display ever seen in Peterborough—and thats no exaggeration. It is fitting, too, that the crowds have been the greatest ever seen by the oldest members of the Department. The pre-eminence of Hall's Millinery was never more established without a doubt and practical approval was shown by the heavy purchases. Our experts know color blending like a book and they're up, too, in the way of just how much or how little is required to catch that "just so" effect. CITY ENGINEER'S REPORT TO BE GIVEN

Board of Works Committee Will Meet To-morrow Night.

The Board of Works will meet to-morrow night, when the most important business to be taken up will be the presentation of the annual report of City Engineer T. A. S. Hay. The report is a lengthy one, and Mr. Hay has spent much work upon it. At the meeting the work for the year will be outlined, and the session will undoubtedly be a busy one.

By the way, the aldermen are not being given much chance to rest this week. The Property Committee held the Boards last night, the Fire, Water and Light Committee is scheduled to meet to-night, and to-morrow night there will be the meeting of the Board of Works.

Dairymen Gather For Their Annual Meeting

Cheese and Butter Association Met This Morning in County Council Chamber and Received Reports of Past Year and Elected Officers---Addresses Were Given by Dairymen.

The annual meeting of the Cheese and Butter Association of the Peterborough section was held this morning in the city council chamber, when there was a representative and enthusiastic attendance of those interested in the dairy industry in this district. The president, Mr. A. H. Campbell, was in the chair, and the meeting was an interesting and a very profitable one. Instructive addresses were given by Mr. R. A. Ward, Dairy Instructor, J. A. Kerr, Alex. Hume, of Menie, and G. G. Publow, chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read, and on motion, adopted. The president, Mr. A. H. Campbell, said that the Cheese and Butter Makers' Association, should be stronger financially than it is. Therefore the officers look for an increased membership fee.

Election Of Officers

The election of officers then took place, the officers of last year be. unanimously re-elected. They are:

Pres.—Mr. A. H. Campbell.
Secretary—Mr. H. J. Crowe.

Mr. Ward,s Address

The president then called upon Mr. R. A Ward, instructor and sanitary inspector for Peterborough, to address the meeting. Mr. Ward expressed his pleasure at being present with the members of the Association. He had travelled throughout the country in the interest of manufacturing a better class of cheese and stated that the general conditions among the farmers and at the factories was becoming very much better. He considered a weakness he had noticed was that the milk was not properly cured and colled before being taken to the factory. He also stated that in some parts of this district turnips are still fed to the cattle, and this is a fault that must be guarded against. This was particularly noticeable in the east of this section.

Mr. Kerr's Remarks

The next speaker was Mr. J. A. Kerr, who stated that he was interested in Peterborough cheese; he was sorry to see a growing tendency to use turnips by some. In May and June of last year the cheese here, he said, was excellent; during the next two months the summer heat was a drawback, but the cheese notwithstanding was good. In the latter months the turnips were begun to be fed, and their flavour was noticed in the cheese. This was a very undesirable condition and he hoped to see it checked this year. The Peterborough cooling room was a good one and the quality likewise.

The president also made a few remarks regarding the growing use of turnips for feed, and he said that the cheesemakers should reject all milk flavoured with turnips, and a cent a pound was not too much to to diminish the value of the cheese if turnips had been used for feed.

Feeding of Turnips

Mr. Hume was the next speaker. A reference had been made to the Campbellford factory regarding turnip feeding, and this he wished to refute. There were a few farmers in his section that fed turnips, but the belief in his town was that Peterborough was a place where turnips were fed. The farmers there are doing their best to eradicate the evil. There is no necessity, he said, to feed turnips to a dairy cow. He thought that there should be a better feeling between the makers and producers, and he thought that one was as much to blame as the other. However there should be no hard feelings, and he hoped to see what little there was removed.

Chief Dairy Instructor

Mr. G. G. Publow then addressed the meeting. He said that he had seen some of the cheese classed as "turnipy." He thought some of the cheese was tainted with mustard; it was a very serious mistake to feed cows with turnips. A few factories in a section may condemn the whole section, and a reputation for a turnip flavour will stick to a section. Peterborough had always had a good reputation, and he hoped to see it maintained.

Assessors May Look After Issuing Of Building Permits

Council Recommended by Property Committee to Add This Clause to By-law---Permits Must be Issued for Changes Costing Over $100---Interesting Session Last Night.

The Property Committee last night reconsidered the Building Permit Bylaw, which was referred back to them from the last meeting of the council and made a number of changes and some additions.

The bylaw will be re-modelled, and will again come up before the Committee of the Whole next Monday night for its approval or disapproval.

The important changes embrace a clause recommending that all buildings, alterations, or additions, costing $100 or more, must necessitate the obtaining of a permit by the owner. Another recommendation advanced by Ald. Elliott was that the city assessors countersign the permits taken out for all parts of the city. After considerable discussion a vote was taken with two in favour and two opposed to the motion, and only five members present. It was up to Chairman McIntyre to decide and he did his casting vote in favour of the motion.

With the above alterations, and a few others, the original bylaw will again go to the committee of the whole, when it is expected, the matter will be thoroughly threshed out.

Those present were chairman McIntyre, Ald. Stevenson, Elliot, Morgan, Bradburn and the Mayor.

The chairman first read the bylaw as originally drawn up, which was followed by considerable discussion. The Mayor pointed out that the bylaw as read only required that permits be taken out before a building was begun, but did not specify as to buildings inside the fire limits.

At the last meeting of the council Ald. Bradburn suggested that permits be only taken out on buildings or improvements costing $200 or over. The majority of the Committee of the Whole thought that $100 or over was sufficient. The Property Committee last night decided that the $100 limit looked satisfactory to them and decided to recommend the bylaw with that addition.

Permits to Be Posted

The Mayor suggested that some means be instituted whereby the city officials may easily know when permits have been taken out, and thought that a clause should be added providing that the permits be posted up in a conspicuous place in front of the building being erected.

Assessors to Sign

Ald. Elliott suggested that the permits be issued by the clerk and countersigned by the assessors. These men, he thought, should know something more of the value of buildings than the city engineer, as they were also in touch with valuing real estate.

Ald. Morgan and the Mayor disagreed with this idea. The Mayor said that permits only within the fire limits need be countersigned, and that since the engineer will have an assistant this year he will be able to look after the work. The assessors, he said, changed their divisions each year and they would not be able to keep in touch with the work which they supervised.

Permanent Assessors

Ald. Stevenson believed that the permits within the fire limits should be countersigned by some city official, and as the city engineer has always so much work on hand he thought the assessors would be able to look after this. He considered, like Ald. Elliott, that the assessors would be better posted than any others with regard to building operations, but believed that if the assessors were given this duty they should be given permanent appointments.

Moved by the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Stevenson, that a clause be also added stating that the building permits be posted in a conspicuous place, where a new building is being erected or alterations over the $100 limit are being made. —Carried.

Moved by Ald. Elliott and Stevenson that the building permits throughout the whole city be countersigned by the assessors, and not by the engineer, each assessor signing the permit in that section of the city over which he has charge.

The Mayor and Ald. Morgan voted against the motion, and Ald. Elliott and Stevenson in favour of it. The chairman, Ald. McIntyre, gave the casting vote and the motion carried.

Ald. Elliott moved that the city solicitor be authorized to construct a bylaw appointing the present assessors permanently for such districts as the city council may from time to time direct. Ald. Stevenson seconded the motion which was again opposed by Ald. Morgan and the Mayor. Ald. McIntyre supported the motion and it carried.

Refused Ground Contract

Moved by the Mayor and Ald. Morgan that the refuse ground and the contract for the disposition of refuse be awarded to Thos. Williams at the contract price of $400. This is $100 in advance of last year. The motion carried.

Moved by Ald. Elliott and Morgan that the chairman be authorized to examine the market scales in view of changes and report as to the estimated cost. Carried.

Severe Form of Asthma

"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my little girl, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. The least exposure of cold would lay her up, and she would nearly suffocate for want of breath. I must say that I found it to be a most satisfactory treatment and it has entirely cured her."—Mrs A. PERMANENT ASSESSORS RECOMMENDED

Three Out of Five of Property Committee in Favour of This Scheme.

At the next meeting of the City Council there is apt to be another discussion over the question of the appointment of permanent assessors. Last night the Property Committee passed a recommendation that a bylaw be prepared by the solicitor making the offices of assessors permanent. The question was brought up by Ald. Elliott in connection with the building permit bylaw after his motion has passed recommending that the assessors countersign the permits.

He made a motion that the Committee recommend to the Council that a bylaw be drafted making the assessment office a permanent one. He was supported by Ald. Stevenson, but opposed by the Mayor and Ald. Morgan.

Ald. McIntyre gave the casting vote, and the motion carried.

This means that the question will come up before the Council and that, on the third reading of the bylaw, it will be fully discussed. The outcome is very uncertain, and will be awaited with interest.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM McGREGOR

After an illness of three days Mr. William McGregor, a native of this city passed away this morning at the age of thirty-four years. The deceased had been ailing for some little time, but only, as he supposed, from a cold, and nothing was thought of it until three days ago, when he became rapidly worse and gradually sank until his death occurred this morning. The late Mr. McGregor was very well known in the city, particularly in East City, where he had lived all his life. He was a son of the late David McGregor and leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss. One brother, David and three sisters, Lizzie and Annie, of this city and Mrs. Munro, of Toronto, with his mother, also survive him.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, Driscoll Terrace, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years I can read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

EVERYTHING READY FOR THE BOUTS

Old Opera House Has Been Placed in Shape for the Tournament To-morrow Night.

A CREAT ENTERTAINMENT

There promises to be a big crowd present at the old opera house to-morrow night when the big athletic and musical smoker under the direction of Billie Breen will be pulled off. Everything is in readiness for the events, and the patrons will be surprised at the completeness of the arrangements. A twenty-foot ring has been erected in the middle of the hall, around which the seats are arranged in ampitheatre form, so that everyone in the hall will have a clear and uninterrupted view of the bouts. The arrangement is a vast improvement over the old system and will agreeably surprise the sporting fraternity to-morrow night. As for the bouts themselves, they promise to be the best ever seen in Peterborough. There will be three boxing events and two and perhaps three wrestling bouts which with musical numbers by Billie Breen, Geo. Lynch and Joe Guerin, will make up a programme, equal of which in its line, has never been presented here.

The big bout in the boxing line is that between Pete Barry, of Toronto and Brown of Lindsay, over which there is great exhilaration. Both men have a big following and Brown will have some Lindsay supporters with him. The men are in the pink of condition and there will be no lagging in the bouts which will go eight rounds.

The other events are, boxing—Bill Wallace, Peterborough, verses Fred Brown, Lindsay; Tom Daley, Toronto, against a local unknown. Wrestling—Eugene Hurtubise, versus Jack Thompson, of Hamilton; Harvey Staunton vs. Mike O'Toole, and a bout between two local men who will prove a surprise.

Chris Graham will referee all the bouts.

WHITCROFT WON GLORY IN THE GAME

Ex-Peterborough Rover, With Smith and Westwick, are the Three Best Thistles.

The Winnipeg Telegram on Saturday contained a portrait of Fred Whitcroft with the following note: "Fred Whitcroft, the Kenora Thistle recruit from the O.H.A. 'Buds' league' who has made good in the fastest company."

Whitcroft distinguished himself greatly in the K[illegible] on Saturday night and the eastern journals say that the ex-Peterborough rover with Smith and Westwick were the only three to play good hockey.

Here are some of the Winnipeg despatches: — "Whitcroft put up nice hockey, but was not nearly as effective as he was against Brandon. However, he was not given the support that would have meant goals as he is one of the greatest scorers in the game."

"Smith, Westwick and Whitcroft, the eastern men did about their best work, thus beating out the contention that it is on the western players the handicap was chiefly placed.

CURLERS' SMOKER AT THE CLUB ROOMS TO-NIGHT

An Impromptu Programme Will be Rendered and the Prizes Won During the Year Will be Presented.

Members of the curling club are reminded of the smoker which will be held to-night in the club rooms at the rink on Charlotte street. An impromptu programme will be given and the presentation of the prizes won during the season will take place.

WHITCROFT WAS A FACTOR IN KENORA TEAMS VICTORY

Kenora, the hope of the Canadian West, have lost the Stanley Cup to the team from which it was won by the western team early in the winter. The second game for the cup was played last night in Winnipeg, and, although the Kenora team won the game, the margin was not enough to wipe out that gained by the Wanderers in the game Saturday night. The score last night was 6-5 in favour of Kenora, and again the eastern men playing on the team were factors in the game, Whitcroft scoring two of the six goals credited to his team, and again demonstrating that he is able to hold his own with the fastest players in the business.

Mr. Churchill stated in Parliament that the cost of cabling his speeches to South Africa was under $1,000, out of a total cost of cables to the Cape last year of $15,090. "The sum has not been surcharged to me, and I do not think it is likely," he added.

THE SHAMROCKS RE-ORGANIZE

Enthusiastic Meeting of Junior Lacrosse Club Was Held Last Night—The Officers.

IN JUNIOR C. L. A. SERIES

The annual meeting of the Young Shamrock Lacrosse Club was held last night in the Oriental Hotel, and was a most enthusiastic gathering. Judging by the attendance and the interest displayed the club should have a most successful season. The youngsters are decidedly enthusiastic, and, as most of last year's team are available, the club will be able to put a very strong team in the field.

MR. JOSEPH MAHER

Mr. R. M. Glover acted as chairman of the meeting, and among those present were Messrs. MacPherson, Ernie Saunders, Feeney, H. Staunton, Walter Miller, L. Dobson, M. McGill, Jas. McNicholl, Dorris, W. Denoon, T. Donovan, Harold White, Charles Barber, W. J. Metheral and others.

The first business taken up was the discussion of whether it was advisable to change the name of the club. A proposal was made to call the team the Young Peterboroughs, and finally it was decided to change the name to the Peterborough Shamrocks.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Patrons and Patronesses—Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. J. MacPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Dorocher, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wasson.

Hon. Pres.—H. LeBrun.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—A. Dorris.
President—Geo. Lynch.
1st Vice-President — W. F. Crowley.
2nd Vice-President — Jos. Maher.
Sec.-Treas.—E. A. Ford.
Manager—R. M. Glover.
Asst. Manager—Chas. Barber.
Executive Committee—Ernie Saunders, Harold White, Fred McGrath, W. J. Metheral and the captain.

The meeting decided to give the representatives proxies to act as their delegates to the annual meeting of the C.L.A. in Toronto on Good Friday.

It was unanimously decided to support the proposed amendment to the C.L.A. rule, to make the age limit for the junior series 21 years, and to support Harry Cameron in his candidature for the C. L. A. presidency.

The club will have 150 season tickets printed at once, admitting holders to all the games of the club. These will be sold at $1 each, and it is to be hoped that lacrosse lovers and citizens generally will encourage the boys by purchasing a ticket.

Ill Temper From a Bad Liver

Carlyle justly attributed the bad temper which made him a monster in the eyes of the world to a bad liver. Nothing makes one feel more miserable or more gloomy and discouraged than liver complaint, and consequent biliousness and dyspepsia and nothing so promptly and thoroughly sets the liver right and overcomes these ailments as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the great family medicine.

Should Have a High Ideal

Instructors should have a high ideal as to what should exist in the factories and homes. This year a change had been made in the appointment of instructors. Twenty-four men have been appointed to that part of Ontario between Toronto and the Quebec boundary. They are now instructors and sanitary inspectors. They are to look to the good quality of the milk. The conditions of the places where the milk comes from are to be under their supervision. Different methods are being undertaken to instruct farmers in proper care of cattle and the best food for a good milk supply.

The instructors duties are first to visit the factory and see that it and its surroundings are in a sanitary condition. Everything must be clean. He will also instruct the makers if any defects are noticed in the cheese. If the milk itself is defective he must visit the farmer who supplied it and point out the trouble there.

The word of the instructor is not final and appeals may be made before changes which he may have advised are made. At first it was thought that a fee should be levied. The instructor is appointed for the purpose of making the cheese better and co-operation is thus needed that he may accomplish as much as possible along these lines. Farmers and makers should lend assistance to their fellows in other sections as far as they can.

Cheese Early To Market

This year the early cheese will go very early to market and to consumption, and the makers should keep posted as to the markets. In this section it is not so important as others as cheese making is not begun until May 1st. Mr. Publow then gave an account of the manufacture of the cheese during the various seasons. Every maker should have a high ideal and should aim to follow it. The average cheese retailer likes to have it of good flavour and colour. Have uniformity, he said, in the size of the cheese, and give it a good finish. A good looking cheese appeals to the buyer, therefore they should be well finished.

Reputation Of Canadian Cheese

The reputation of Canadian cheese makers is that it stands among the foremost, but our buildings are not up to the standard. Also it is said that other countries make better cheese than do Canadians. Now, the maker has many opportunities of getting a better class of milk, that is by telling the farmers if any of them are not handing in milk that is up to the standard. The makers should let the farmers know that it means dollars and cents to them by not sending a better class of milk. Instructors are engaged for nine or ten months a year and they are also expected to attend annual meetings, etc., during the remaining months.

Should Have Good Milk

Mr. Publow urged the makers to always endeavour to have their patrons bring forth the very best of milk. Especially should they point out to the farmers that they are the ones who gain the most thereby and that it is up to them to see that the article they sell is pure and in excellent condition.

The two main points for consideration is the proper cooling and curing of the milk before delivery and second to have the factory, where the cheese is made, in a sanitary condition and crowded with the best equipment.

After the address a discussion followed as to the date of the convention. On motion it was changed until the third Wednesday in April.

A vote of thanks was extended to the County Councillors for the use of their chambers and also to Mr. Publow for his assistance.

Ernest Querel, of Los Angeles, Cal., and his bride were asphyxiated by illuminating gas at a lodging house in New York Saturday night. Gas escaping from a heater filled the room. The two were to have started for the West to-day.

For the Brazilian Government, Messrs. Vickers, Sons, and Maxim, Limited, have booked an order for a large battleship, which will be superior to the Dreadnought in several respects, and the building of the vessel will be proceeded with at once.

Charles J. Oldham, who died in Brighton, Eng., left four Stradivarius violins of undoubted authenticity to the British Museum. Another Stradivarius, named the Tuscan, the testator left to two friends to sell for at least $16,000, or turn it over to the museum.

New Bank Premises A Feature Of Building Operations In Peterboro'

Most Encouraging Report of Labor Conditions in This City Presented to the Labor Gazette for March.

THE PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

All Classes of Labor Well Employed—Much Building Will be Done This Year in Peterborough

A most encouraging report of labour conditions in Peterborough during the past month, is that furnished by Ald. W. J. Johnston, correspondent to the Labour Gazette. In this report Mr. Johnston says: — The month of February was very active, though usually a quiet month for labour. A great deal of repair work and alterations were under way. New quarters of the Dominion Bank, the Royal Bank and the Bank of Commerce were employing a number of workmen. The cutting and storing of ice gave employment to 27 men and 10 teams.

The outlook for the present season is very bright. The George Matthews Company is enlarging its present building, more room being needed. The King Edward Public School is being pushed to completion. The new Armouries and Normal School have been contracted for and will be constructed during the coming summer. The new Collegiate Institute building will be under way as soon as the season opens up.

The building trades were well employed, but a number of industries handicapped by a shortage of cars. The Quaker Oats Company has been running 24 hours per day, but had to shut down night operations on account of not being able to get sufficient cars to import grain for its mills.

Shipments were heavy for the winter season. Banking, wholesale and retail trade were active.

The bricklayers have decided to ask that after June 1 the minimum rate per hour be 40 cents, an increase of 5 cents over last year's rate. A number of bricklayers were getting the 40 cent rate last season. The carpenters and builders' labourers will also ask for an increase in wages.

Lumber and building materials of all kinds have advanced in price, and the cost of building will be materially increased over that of last year.

The House of Refuge is now completed; the farm is being stocked and will be in full running order for spring.

A carpet cleaning industry has been established and will be in full operation by March 1.

The Customs receipts for January, 1907, were $36,357.75, being $11,217.03 increase over the same month in 1906. Ten years ago receipts for the whole year were $45,000.

Market prices were about the same as last month.

Lumbering.—Local trade was more or less brisk.

Mining.—There was little activity.

Railroad Construction and employment.—Traffic has been very heavy. The last snowstorm has somewhat impeded traffic on some of the lines, and sectionmen were kept busy keeping the lines clear.

Manufacturing. — All establishments were very busy.

The Peterborough Canoe Company was very busy on local and foreign orders.

The Peterborough Lumber Company has purchased 1,500,000 feet, by measure, from the Rathbun Company, and 4,000,000 from the Cavendish Lumber Company. This will be sawn into lumber in the company's mill here.

Mann's planing mill and cheese box factories were very busy. The sawmill was running overtime.

Building.—With the exception of plumbers, employees were dull.

Condition Of Particular Trades

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding.—Machinists, engineers, iron moulders, iron workers and heaters, boilermakers, blacksmiths, shipworkers, sheet metal workers, tool sharpeners, horseshoers and jewelers were active, electrical workers, linemen and brassworkers busy, and others somewhat dull.

Woodworking and furnishing.—General conditions were active.

Printing.—Activity prevailed in all branches.

Clothing.—Journeymen tailors and garment workers were active, boot and shoe makers busy, and hat makers dull.

Leather.—On harness work and collar making work was active.

Miscellaneous.— Barbers, and broom makers were active, clerks, stenographers, delivery employees and furriers busy, and hotel, restaurant, theatre, and laundry employees very busy.

Transport. — Railway employees were very busy in all departments. Street railway employees were active, and expressmen busy. In other branches conditions were somewhat dull.

Unskilled.—Conditions were generally dull.

A DISPOSITION OF THE GARBAGE

A Question Which Will Soon be Ventilated at a City Council Meeting.

It is quite probable that in the near future Peterborough will have a regular system of disposing of the garbage, which accumulates rapidly from day to day, and which, at the present time, is dealt with very irregularly. Towards the close of last year the garbage question was introduced into the Council by Ald. Elliott. At that time the matter was dropped, with the proviso that it be considered at an early date this year.

It was again introduced on Monday night at the meeting of the Property Committee by Ald. Elliott, but no discussion followed, as the committee were not in a position to go deeply into the question.

Ald. Elliott proposes that the city be divided into zones, consisting of specified areas. The central zone would embrace the business portion of the city, and he proposes that the garbage accumulated there be drawn to a dumping ground set apart for the purpose, each morning. The next zone might be looked after every other day, and he suggested that the others be attended to at larger intervals of time, according to their distances from the centre.

For the purpose of disposing of the garbage, he proposes that tenders be called for the whole work, and that it be given to the man most acceptable to the Council.

This is one proposal by a city alderman to beautify the city, and it is probable that various other ideas will be advanced when the question comes up for consideration.

PRESENTATION TO S. A. SMITHSON YESTERDAY

Business College Boys "Cancel" Him After the Close of the Session, Yesterday Afternoon.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS

Yesterday afternoon, after the close of the day's work at the business college, a pleasant event took place in the form of a presentation to Mr. S. A. Smithson, who has accepted a position in Norwood as principal of the Public School there. Mr. Smithson has been taking a course in the business college, and while there has become a favourite with the other pupils. An address was read by Mr. Seworth Hoag, and Mr. Auburn Rose made the presentation while the boys were collected together. The address read as follows:

Mr. S. A. Smithson,
City,—

Dear Mr. Smithson,—As we understand you are about to sever your connection with the Peterborough Business College, we, the boys of the Commercial Department, wish, on the eve of your departure, to express in a tangible way our appreciation of your valuable services while you have been with us.

Your courteous manner and willingness to assist us at all times has won the approval and good will of the whole class, and we would ask you to accept this cane as a slight memento of our respect and esteem. We trust you will never need to use it as a means of defence nor offence, nor as a necessity, but when, "our pleasure bent," it may remind you of the pleasant time spent at the Peterborough Business College.

Wishing you success in your new field and thanking you for your many acts of kindness, we are, on behalf of the boys,

E. M. FRANCIS,
E. FITZGERALD.
G. S. HOGG.

Messrs. Pringle, McKee, A. L. Andrews and Wm. Carruthers each made a few remarks in praise of Mr. Smithson.

The latter was completely taken by surprise. He expressed his gratitude in a few well-chosen words and said that he would always remember the boys of the business college. They were all good fellows, he said, and on that account he regretted leaving their midst.

Mr. Smithson was formerly in charge of the Villiers Public School, and his many friends wish him every success in his new charge at the village down east.

It has had one continuous record of victories over diseases of the throat, chest, lungs and stomach. Where doctors have pronounced cases incurable from consumption and other wasting diseases Psychine steps in and rescues numberless people even from the very verge of the grave. Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Chills, Night Sweats, La Grippe, Pneumonia, and other like troubles, all of which are forerunners of Consumption, yield quickly to the curative powers of Psychine.

Mrs. Campbell, one of the many cured, makes the following statement:

I cannot refrain from telling all who suffer of my remarkable recovery with Psychine. In April, 1902, I caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs and gradually led to consumption. I could not sleep, was subject to night sweats, my lungs were so diseased, my doctor considered me incurable. Rev. Mr. Mahaffy, Port Elgin Presbyterian Church, recommended Dr. Slocum's Psychine to me, when I was living in Ontario After using Psychine for a short time I ate and slept well, the night sweats and cough ceased.

Months ago I stopped taking Psychine, as I was perfectly restored to health and to-day I never felt better in my life. Psychine has been a god send to me. MRS. ANDREW CAMPBELL.

THE PREMIER MAY NOT GO ON TRIP

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Colonial Conference.

THE PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES

Canada Should Be Represented—Suggestions For a Shortened Session Or An Adjournment—Sir Wilfrid Anxious to Attend—Proposal to Create a Department of Mines —Claims of Provinces.

Ottawa, March 26.—Important though it was, the question of Provincial subsidies took second place in the House yestreday to a discussion on the Prime Minister's rumored intention to absent himself from the Colonial Conference at London. The leader of the Opposition inquired whether there was any foundation for the newspaper reports. Sir Wilfrid replied that in view of the slow progress which had been made by the House he had contemplated the possibility of his being forced to cancel his trip. He would not like to do so, but the matter was under consideration. Mr. Borden then moved for the adjournment of the House to discuss the matter, and in doing so emphasized the urgent importance of Canada being represented at the conference by the Prime Minister. In order to facilitate the Prime Minister's departure the Opposition were willing that the House should adjourn on Wednesday next for such length of time as might be necessary to enable Sir Wilfrid to attend the conference. The Prime Minister, in reply, thought that if the Opposition carried out the suggestion to facilitate matters it would be possible for him to sail on the 5th of April, leaving some of his colleagues until the business of the House was completed.

Provincial Subsidies.

In one of the finest speeches he has delivered this session the Prime Minister submitted the proposals with regard to increasing the Provincial subsidies to the extent of $2,346,000. At considerable length, but with great clearness and effect, he dealt with the constitutional aspect of the question, reviewed the history of Provincial subsidies, and explained the basis of the present proposals, which, he said, were the outcome of a desire to place such subsidies on a permanent footing. Dealing with British Columbia, he predicted that in ten years it would be one of the first Provinces in Canada.

Department of Mines.

Mr. Templeman introduced a bill to create a Department of Mines. The department, he said, would be administered by the Government, and would be made by placing the mines branch of the Geological Survey under a separate administration. The bill was read a first time.

Sir Wilfrid and the Conference.

Mr. R. L. Borden asked whether there was any foundation for the report that the Prime Minister will not attend the Colonial Conference.

Sir Wilfrid said:—"In view of the slow progress which has been made by the House I certainly have contemplated the possibility of my being forced to cancel my trip. I would not like to do so, but I must say that the matter is under consideration now."

Mr. Borden—In that case I would ask leave to move for the adjournment of the House for the purpose of discussing the importance of Canada being represented at the conference. I think it is a subject that ought to engage the attention of the House at once, and I therefore move the adjournment, so as to discuss the urgent public importance of Canada being represented by the Prime Minister at the conference.

Mr. Borden proceeded to argue from documents quoted that as far back as 1902 Canada desired the conference to be one of Ministers, and not of Premiers, and again this year the Canadian Government had the status of Ministers defined so they might attend the conference along with the Premiers. From this Mr. Borden drew the conclusion "that even as far back as 1902 the Premier had in contemplation the idea that he would not attend this conference, and desired to have some Ministers attend in his place."

The Premier's Reply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—I would not have had a word of criticism to offer on the remarks of my hon. friend had they all been couched in the same language as those in the latter part of his address. But the insinuation which my hon. friend, for reasons which are unknown to me, chose to make when he said that his opinion was that even when I was sitting in that conference in 1902 in London I had in contemplation not to attend the present conference——

Mr. Borden—I did not say that.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—It would appear to me that the hon. gentleman said something very like it.

Provincial Subsidies.

The Prime Minister moved an address to his Majesty praying that the British North America Act be amended with regard to the payment of Provincial subsidies as follows:—

"Instead of the amounts now paid, the sums hereafter payable yearly by Canada to the several Provinces for the support of their Governments and Legislatures to be according to population, and as follows:—

"(a) Where the population of the Province is under 150,000, $100,000.

"(b) Where the population of the Province is over 150,000, but does not exceed 200,000, $150,000.

"(c) Where the population of the Province is 200,000, but does not exceed 400,000, $180,000.

"(d) Where the population of the Province is 400,000, but does not exceed 800,000, $190,000.

"(e) Where the population of the Province is 800,000, but does not exceed 1,500,000, $220,000.

"(f) Where the population of the Province exceeds 1,500,000, $240,000.

Per Capita Payments.

"Instead of an annual grant per head of population now allowed, the annual payment hereafter to be at the same rate of eighty cents per head, but on the population of each Province, as ascertained from time to time by the last decennial census, until such population exceeds 2,500,000, and at the rate of sixty cents per head for so much of said population as may exceed 2,500,000.

"An additional allowance to the extent of one hundred thousand dollars annually for ten years to the Province of British Columbia. Nothing herein contained shall in any way supersede or affect the terms special to any particular Province upon which such Province became part of the Dominion of Canada, or the right of any Province to payment of any such special grant heretofore made by the Parliament of Canada to any Province for any special purpose in such grant expressed."

THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider.

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.—Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

KILLED HIS MOTHER.

Son Arrested on Suspicion of a Terrible Crime.

San Francisco, March 26.—A brutal murder was discovered at North Oakland yesterday. The body of Mrs. Martha Soderberg, 64 years old, was found hidden in a closet of her home. Erland H. Sodenberg, her son, a stevedore, has been arrested on suspicion of being the murderer. Saturday night he came home intoxicated and quarreled with his mother. When found, Mrs. Soderberg's body, partially clad, was in an upright position and wrapped in a blanket. Her throat was cut, face gashed and one leg almost severed. It is thought that the murderer intended to cut the body up and carry it to the bay, a short distance away.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Man Shoots His Wife, Then Jumps Through Window.

New York, March 26.—Andrew Anderson, aged 45 years, of Brooklyn, late Sunday night shot his wife, Amberg Anderson, aged 46, killing her instantly. Anderson then inflicted a gash in his own throat, and rushing madly to the roof of the 3-storey tenement, where the couple lived, jumped to the yard below. Although Anderson's skull was fractured he got up and ran for some distance before he could be taken into custody. The man was conveyed to a hospital, where he was declared to be in a critical condition. Jealousy was the cause of the tragedy.

Booth At Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, March 26.—General Booth was the guest at a banquet given the Canadian Club last night.

More than 600 of the professional and business men assembled to honor the veteran leader of the Salvation Army.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING WRECKED.

Sleeping Railroad Men At Cleveland Thrown Into Panic.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 26.—Between fifty and sixty sleeping railroad men were thrown into a panic by the explosion of a boiler in the railroad Young Men's Christian Association building at Collingwood, and the temporary home of Lakeshore railroad employes, early yesterday. The building is a three-storey structure. Fire followed the explosion. The dining room was wrecked. So far as learned no lives were lost.

Collision At Dover.

Dover, England, March 26.—There was an exciting collision yesterday outside the harbor, between the Calais and Ostend mail steamers, both inward bound. The Princess Henriette, from Ostend, crashed into the Lord Warden, from Calais, making a hole below her water line, smashing her cabins, deckway, and carrying away her boats. The Princess Henriette's bows were badly damaged. The sixty passengers of the Lord Warden were landed without any of them being injured.

Close British Museum.

London, March 26.—The reading room of the British Museum is to be closed for six months beginning next month. This is necessary in order to give the two million volumes in the library a thorough inspection as well as to repair the dome, which is said to contain several dangerous looking cracks, and besides paint is necessary. According to an attendant, it has been just fifty years since the interior of the library was painted.

24 Hurt In Theatre Panic.

Greenfield, Ind., March 26.—Twenty-four persons were injured, some seriously, and a two-storey building, occupied by a five-cent theatre with moving pictures, was wrecked last night by an explosion of natural gas, used to heat the building.

About 200 persons were in the theatre and in the panic that followed men, women and children rushed for the doors, trampling on one another.

Falls Dead On Hot Stove.

Brockville, March 26.—While moving about the kitchen at the home of his brother, John Avery, living near Mallorytown, was stricken with apoplexy and died almost instantly yesterday.

He fell across a hot stove, and the body was slightly burned before members of the household noticed him. He made no outcry.

Avery was about 55 years of age.

Measles Scourge On Warship.

Newport News, Va., March 26.—The outbreak of measles on the United States battleship Georgia, which will delay the departure of that vessel for Guantanamo, scheduled for to-day, has developed into an epidemic. More than 50 men have been taken to the naval hospital at Portsmouth.

DUEL IN THE SNOW.

Unknown Men Exchanged Shots On Sunday Night.

Montreal, March 26.—A duel was fought between two unknown men on Sunday night in a vacant lot in the centre of the city, corner Dorchester and Sanguinet. The sleepers in the neighborhood were awakened by four shots and saw four men leave the lot and enter a cab and drive rapidly away. They were apparently the worse of liquor and had quarrelled. The snow told the tale, for there were two stations fifteen paces apart. The police from the station a block away came and investigated, but there was no clue, and the cab number is not known. There were no blood marks on the snow.

Killed His Little Brother.

Toronto, March 26.—With its head crushed in, the 6 months old baby of Nathan Winberg of 225 Chestnut street, was found dead in its cradle at 10 o'clock last night. The infant was killed by its 6-year-old brother.

The father reported the circumstance to the police. He said he left the house at 8 o'clock with his wife, leaving the infant in charge of his 6-year-old boy, Hymie.

Returning at 10 o'clock Winberg found the infant dead. Hymie said the child began to cry and he struck it several times on the head with a stove lifter, crushing out the infant's life.

Farthest North Railway.

London, March 26.—Spitsbergen will soon boast the possession of the farthest north railway in the world, which will be built ten degrees further north than the so-called Lofoten Railway, which crosses the Arctic Circle in Northern Scandinavia. The object of the new line is to work the coal deposits of Spitsbergen, which are situated in the interior of the island. The new line will connect them with the coast. The first plan for an earth surface line was abandoned, owing to the natural difficulties. It is now proposed to construct an aerial suspension railway on the Bleichert system.

Senator Berthelot Entombed.

Paris, March 26.—Senator Berthelot and his wife, who died March 16, were entombed in state in the Pantheon yesterday in the presence of a brilliant assemblage, including President Fallieres, the Cabinet Ministers, diplomatic corps, members of the French Academy, judges, deputies, senators and deputations from the learned societies.

Windsor Man Held Up.

Windsor, March 26.—James McClory, a Windsor man, was held up near the C. P. R. bridge last night by two men and $54 was taken from his pockets. McClory refused to deliver on first demand, and the highwaymen followed him.

Mending Cracked Dishes.

If the dish is only cracked, it may be preserved from falling to pieces by painting the crack on the underside with white paint. Cut a piece of tape the length of the crack, cover one side with paint and lay it over the fracture. Press the tape down till perfectly smooth. Set the dish aside for two or three weeks, when the crack will be perfectly firm.

A POCKET ADONIS.

Sobriquet Still Clings to Lord Buchan, Who Is Now 56—About to Start On Tour of South America.

Lord Buchan, the "Pocket Adonis" of society, is just about to start on a tour of South America. He is now 56 years old, but the nickname, which was applied to him in his young manhood, because of his good looks and diminutive stature, still sticks to him, for he has always lived up to it.

He is a dapper little man, exquisitely groomed, and the mirror of fashion at all times, but he is far from being a mere dandy. He is a good shot and a keen yachtsman. As a Scotch peer, the Earl is freed from all the legislative responsibilities that attach to members of the hereditary chamber and can devote himself solely to getting all the enjoyment possible out of life. In that he succeeds.

Curiously enough, although his earldom is one of the oldest in Scotland, dating from 1469, his chief country seat is in England. It is situated in Cambridgeshire. It is called Gogmagog hills, the why and wherefore of which singular designation no man knoweth. The "hills" are an offshoot of the Chalk range, and would scarcely pass by such a name in a country less monotonously level than fenny Cambridgeshire.

On their summit are the remains of an ancient camp known as Wandlebury. Associated with it is a weird legend which was the chief source of the "Host's Tale" in Scott's "Marmion." It concerns a certain knight named Osbert and a ghostly opponent with whom he did battle in the lonely spot.

Osbert, who probably was staying at the castle, heard among other ancient traditions of the place that if a knight entered unattended the camp at Wandlebury by moonlight and challenged an adversary to appear, he would encounter a spirit in the shape of an armed horseman, with whom he would have to do battle. Osbert determined to put the story to the proof, and one night he sallied forth, accompanied by a single squire, whom he bade stay without the intrenchment while he himself entered the haunted ground and bravely spoke forth his challenge to the night wind and the moonlight. Scarce were the words out of his mouth when the ghostly knight seemed to spring from the ground, and in a moment man and specter were riding at each other with spears at rest.

It was to Osbert the fortune of the day—or of the night—fell, for he soon succeeded in dismounting his antagonist and gripping the reins of the latter's steed. As he did so the dismounted spook arose and hurled his javelin, wounding the victor in the thigh, but of this Osbert took no notice, and having led the horse to the outer part of the earthworks he intrusted it to his squire. Once inside the court of the castle, the steed, a strong and mettlesome black beast, with harness of a like hue, was secured by strong ropes, but when, with the first gray hint of dawn, the crowing of a cock was heard below, the charger sprang into the air and vanished from sight.

For Osbert the adventure had one unpleasant consequence. Wandlebury camp might be rid forever of its ghost, but, according to the story, as long as he lived the wound on his thigh re-opened on every anniversary of the night when it had been inflicted.

Lord Buchan's only unmarried daughter, Lady Marjorie Erskine, takes life seriously. She went through a training school for nurses, and was for some time attached to the children's hospital in Great Ormond street.

SKIN DISEASES

Salt Rheum, Pimples, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Shingles, Scald Head, Itching Sores.

All diseases of the skin are more or less directly caused by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a clear, bright skin when the blood is in a disordered condition, and the stomach, liver and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

All the above skin diseases, in fact, any disease arising from a bad condition of the blood, are curable by through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the system.

Mr. A. Squire, Dominion, N.S., tells how he was cured of Salt Rheum. He writes: "For years I suffered with Salt Rheum, and was unable to find a curable remedy out of all the medicines I took, and Physicians consulted. Finally I was urged by a friend to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after a very short space of time I was completely cured. I shall always recommend B.B.B. for such cases, as I consider it an indispensable remedy."

Colds and Their After-Effects Conquered By the Use of Pe-ru-na.

Mayor of Scotstown Recommends Pe-ru-na for Colds and Catarrh.

READ HIS LETTER.

THE first effect of a cold is a thickening of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

This gives rise to a discharge, or at least a stuffiness of the nasal passages.

Sometimes fever accompanies the first attack, also a feeling of languor, dullness and aching of the bones.

If no attention is paid to it, the mucous congestion is liable to spread down into the larynx, producing hoarseness and into the bronchial tubes, producing a cough.

Even when this occurs, many people pay no attention to it.

Under such circumstances, the congestion is liable to become chronic, producing a condition of the mucous membranes known as catarrh. Catarrh lasts an indefinite time. Catarrh is essentially a chronic condition and does not leave except something is done to relieve it.

CURE COLDS—PREVENT CATARRH.

What should be done when a person catches cold is to take a few doses of Peruna.

Taken at the onset, Peruna would break up the cold and prevent all the train of symptoms which usually follow.

But, even in cases where the cold has been neglected and hoarseness or a cough has developed, Peruna can be relied upon to give prompt and permanent relief.

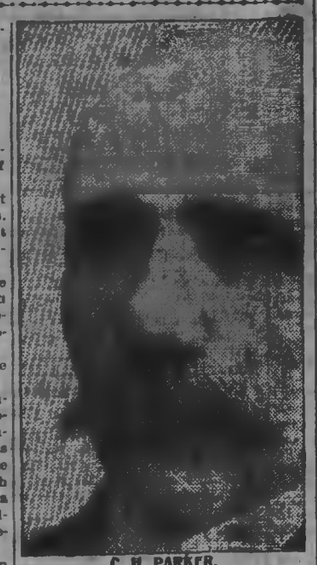
The frequency of coughs and colds in Canada, makes Peruna a popular remedy in this country.

A number of the best people in Canada have given testimonials as to the value of Peruna in such cases.

Followed Dr. Hartman's Advice—Restored to Health.

Mrs. Samuelle Vigneau, Avre an Berd, Isle de La Magdaline, Canada, writes:

"I write to tell you that I am perfectly well. I took only three bottles of your Peruna according to your advice and the directions in your book and it restored my health."



C. H. PARKER.

C. H. Parker, Ex-Warden of Compton Co., Quebec, has been mayor of Scotstown for a number of years. He is an influential resident in Scotstown and widely known.

He writes concerning Peruna, as follows:

"I had several attacks of colds from time to time and finally a severe attack developed into catarrh.

"I was advised to use your celebrated catarrh remedy, and after taking three bottles I find myself completely cured, and I no longer suffer from catarrh or colds.

"I can cheerfully recommend Peruna for colds and catarrh."

Should you desire special instructions relative to the use of Peruna, address Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

His Great Discovery.

By Cecily Allen.

Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parcells.

The Pelham twin who wore petticoats smiled in superior fashion on the Pelham twin who wore pants.

The proud possessor of infinitesimal knickerbockers glared back at her of the petticoats.

"I shall have to tell mumsey," said Miss Petticoats.

"If you do I shall pinch you black and blue," replied her brother, nearly tearing himself away from Douglas Raymond, newly arrived assistant at Morris Manor school, who was awkwardly trying to fasten coat buttons for his rebellious pupil.

"Natalie has been waiting most an hour. She says your naughtiness will give her new money, maybe, and you'll be sorry when she's dead."

"I won't give her anything of the sort, you ninn," replied the Pelham in pants as he jerked on his mitten. "And I love Natalie much better than you do! Anyway, I was only kept in ten minutes, eh, Mr. Raymond?"

Very gravely Douglas Raymond drew out his watch and glanced at it.

"Twelve minutes, and you might have gone two minutes ago if you had not tied the sleeves of your coat together. Tell your nurse that the next time you are kept in for being a naughty boy she had best come inside and wait."

The Pelham twins trotted sturdily toward the door, the boy flinging over his shoulder:

"Natalie is not our nurse. We don't have a nurse any more. She's our sister." Then, stopping stock still, he added: "And there will not be any next time. Cracky, won't Natalie be tickled when I tell her you thought she was our nurse!"

Douglas Raymond sighed as the door closed on the twins. Then he crossed the room and stood looking down in the street. And for this he had taken high college honors!

He had just missed a small college professorship—through lack of influence—and with his mother dependent upon him he had not dared to refuse the liberal financial offer of the master of Morris Manor, a flourishing private school overlooking the Hudson. Even that offer had not come until midwinter, after death had caused a vacancy on the Morris Manor staff and when Douglas had almost decided to give up his college ambitions and dig into commerce.

Morris Manor was a boarding school for boys, with a few day pupils drawn from the rich owners of country homes thereabouts. Just across the tree lined avenue was a fashionable school for girls. Evidently from this school had come the small sister of his rebellious pupil. He leaned over the window ledge to see whether they were safely on their homeward way, and suddenly his fingers gripped the rough stone coping.

The twins were dancing up the street, one on either side of a tall, slender girl, clad in a natty skating suit, with a scarlet tam-o'-shanter on her well poised head.

"Natalie"— And he had not guessed. However, he would know the graceful walk, the splendidly poised head, among a thousand. The trio disappeared around the corner, and he hurried back to his desk.

"William Reginald Pelham."

There it stood on the "D" class list. Douglas had not had time to become familiar with his roll book. The wise looking little laddie who said such astonishingly rebellious things in such a precise way had been known to him during that first school day only as "Willie." If he had only known, most certainly he would not have detained the boy and let her stand out in the cold. What if she did have pneumonia—

He tried to correct the copy books, but his thoughts would wander.

Why was she here? Why had she not carried out her original intention of going abroad to study art? And, if she was not studying, what was the Pelham family doing at their country place in midwinter, with the social season in full swing in the city?

He might have known that Willie was her brother. Her odd, demure way of saying startling things had first attracted his attention to her and finally nearly wrecked his last year in college. How could he work, then, with the thought that love and the girl who was all in the world to him were alike beyond his reach? There was his future to carve, his mother to support, a few of his father's debts to pay, and on the other side Natalie Pelham, the Pelham wealth, the Pelham position. She had been flirting with him, of course, not willfully, but just because it came as naturally to her as eating and drinking. She had never taken him seriously, and after commencement day, when he had gone out west to reach in a summer school and give his mother a little rest in a quiet summer resort, he had dropped out of her life just as if there had never been teas in the "frat" room, moonlight walks on the campus, football games and promenades which they had enjoyed in common. And here she was again, just when he needed to hold himself well in hand. One thing he must do—avoid her disturbing presence, her magnetic charm, if he possibly could.

Thereafter, in justice to the other pupils, he explained to himself, he showed no partiality to the Pelham twin. In fact, that youth, if he had not been so perfectly cognizant of his own mischievous wrongdoing, might have complained of discrimination. But every afternoon Raymond stood at the window and watched the slender figure with its two small charges hurry through the crisp winter air. She must have changed, he argued to himself. Certainly she had settled down, for she could not be doing the opera, teas and receptions and call for those children every afternoon.

And then came the day of the blizzard. Raymond watched it shut down on Morris Manor and could hardly keep away from the window. Was she coming for those children on foot? By the way, it was odd that she never came with a sleigh or carriage. Other children were claimed by fur clad footmen or strong elder brothers. Nearly all the day pupils were gone. Patty Pelham had not even tried to come across the street from the school for girls. Raymond began to pace the floor.

"Do you think your sister has forgotten or is afraid to come out? Don't you think you had better go home with Wilfred Bailey when his mother sends for him?"

"Oh, Natalie will be here all right. She's probably fussing with Patty's rubbers. Natalie is not afraid of anything."

Ten minutes later she staggered down the street, and Raymond dashed downstairs, drawing her through the door and shutting out the mad storm, with a thousand furies tearing at his heart. Why had he not gone to meet her? He led her into the class room, tore off her wraps, chafed her hands and her face, sending the oldest boy to the principal's office for brandy and help.

An hour passed before the strain was over, and then they sat facing each other in Mrs. Morris' small sitting room. An awkward silence fell between them.

"Please do not worry any more," he said finally. "I caught your house on the phone just before the wires went down, and no one is worrying. The teachers at Miss Montgomery's will look after Patty, and Mrs. Morris is having a room made ready for you to stop here. You are quite sure you feel no pain in your side or chest? Are you quite comfortable?"

The girl leaned back in her chair and smiled.

"I am comfortable—and happy. How far off June seems! It must have been in the dark ages"—

Douglas Raymond leaned forward and looked into her eyes. There was no mischief in the answering glance.

"When your father failed—when you were in trouble, why did you never write? You must have known—that the altered circumstances broke down the one barrier between us."

"Oh, they were not so much altered. I wasn't suffering, you know. We have a little left—enough to educate the children and live comfortably—and"—

"Yes? Didn't you want me?" he whispered.

"I was afraid—you might think that all that sort of thing had made any difference before. It hadn't, you know—only you would not speak"—

"Oh, and you told Patty it was not nice to let boys kiss her, and you're doing it."

Raymond stood up very suddenly, and Natalie, leaning over the back of her chair, laughed into Willie's shocked face.

"Did you remark that dinner was ready?"

"No, I didn't, but it is, and if you don't come at once I shall tell Mrs. Morris—why."

A Cataplasm.

An airy young doctor settled in a village where an old physician had long practiced. One day the two were brought together at a consultation, and on this occasion the young M. D. essayed to extinguish the old man with his preponderosity of knowledge. He accordingly began to rattle off Latin phrases and French idioms in a manner that startled the old gentleman.

"Yes," mused the old man meditatively as he rubbed his chin, "that's so, that's so. But what do you think of a cataplasm for this case?"

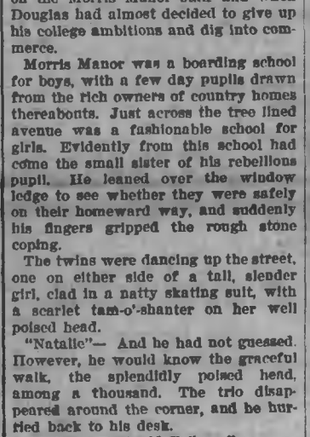
"A—a what?" ejaculated the new doctor, completely dumfounded.

"A cataplasm," was the reply.

"Well, I am not familiar with that mode of treatment, though I've seen it advertised. It's something new, isn't it?"

"New? Great gracious, no!" exclaimed the old physician, thoroughly enjoying the joke. "A cataplasm means simply a poultice. It always has meant a poultice and probably always will."

The young doctor straightway subsided.—London Mail.



SEX AND CRIME.

Drunkenness Theory to Be Viewed With Caution.

Some striking facts are given in the "Judicial Statistics just issued in a Blue Book.

The returns as to indictable offences for the year under review show a distinct increase over the figures for 1904, over the latest quinquennial average, and over the previous ratio of such offences in proportion to the population. But taking the figures relating to all classes of crime since 1857, a gradual decrease is noticeable.

Sir John Macdonell points out that the men sentenced to death for murder since 1895 are about seven times as numerous as females. This fact is the more remarkable because the figures affecting women include cases of child murder.

The great majority of persons murdered are women. They are as three to two. Murder means to a very great extent the murdering of women by men. On the other hand the men who are killed by manslaughter exceed women by about two to one. The great majority of murders are committed by persons from 21 to 40 years old.

Most of the men and women convicted of murder belong to the laboring classes, murder by tramps or vagrants being rare.

The majority of murders appear to be committed in densely populated urban districts, seaports, manufacturing towns, and mining districts, on Thursdays and Saturdays, between 10 and midnight.

The principal causes or motives of murders during the last 20 years are as follows:—

Jealousy and intrigues, 92; Drink, 90; quarrels or rage, 68; revenge, 77; robbery, 50; extreme poverty, 39; illegal operations, 12; for insurance money, 3.

"Drunkenness," says Sir John Macdonell, "is no doubt the cause of many crimes, and is the accompaniment of many others But the theory of the close correspondence between crime and drunkenness must be viewed with caution."

Leather Guns.

Leather guns are somewhat of a curiosity, the honor of having invented them being a matter of dispute between the nations of Sweden and Scotland. According to one account, they were built of the most hardened leather, girt about with hoops of iron and brass. According to another, they had a core of tin and were bound round with cordage. In neither case could they be expected to last long, though we are told that they could be "brought to discharge" as often as ten times in succession, but when we reflect how few are the rounds that can be fired from the monster guns of our own day without renewal of the inner tube we cannot afford to sneer at the shortness of their life. They were at any rate mobile, for they could be carried on a pony's back or stacked together by the half dozen in "barricados of wood" borne on wheels. Moreover, they did good service more than once, as, for instance, at Newburn and at Cropredy bridge. Later on they seem to have fallen into disrepute, for we hear of the "leather guns by which the king and country hath been cheated," though even at Killiecrankie Mackay had some of "Sandy's stoups," as they were called, with him.—Macmillan's Magazine.

Oddities In Graves.

There is a curious old gravestone in Prestcury churchyard which records the fact that one woman at least in England died a bachelor. Her name was Sarah Pickford, and the stone gravely informs the reader she was there interred "August ye 17. Anno Dom. 1703, and died a Bachelor in the 48th year of her age."

A stone in Westminster Abbey records the interment there of George Graham, who was the only workman that received the honor of being buried in Westminster Abbey. He was a scientific instrument maker, who in 1700 invented the deadbeat escapement in clocks. His funeral was attended by the Royal Society in a body.

In East Ham churchyard there is a tombstone placed crossways. The woman interred is said to have been born cross, lived cross, married a Mr. Cross and died cross. Her dying request was to be buried cross, and this was carried out.

The Skyscraping Jonah.

"I suppose you didn't know," remarked the superstitious man, "that many of the New York downtown office buildings and the Times building uptown have eliminated the thirteenth floor? It is true. They skip from the twelfth to the fourteenth. It is almost impossible, they say, to rent the offices on the thirteenth floor."

NO WOMAN CAN BE STRONG AND HEALTHY UNLESS THE KIDNEYS ARE WELL

When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble know not the misery and suffering which these afflicted undergo.

Doan's Kidney Pills

are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by healing the delicate membranes of the kidneys and thus make their action regular and natural.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and all the urinary passages.

Doan's Kidney Pills are entirely vegetable, and may be safely taken by young and old.

Let Doan's Kidney Pills do for you what they have done for thousands of others, that is, cure you. Mrs. John Young, Harwood, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with my kidneys for some time and my back was so lame I could scarcely get around. After using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, I am completly cured. I find there is nothing like them for the cure of all kidney troubles."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

THE ADOLESCENT RACES

INDIANS IN FAR NORTH ARE RAPIDLY DISAPPEARING.

Consumption Works Ravages Among Them—Is the White Man Responsible?—Tragedies Due to Wanton Cruelty—Villianies of Fur-Traders —Barbarities of Trappers—Canada's Obligation to the Indian.

Mr. E. Stewart, Dominion Superintendent of Forestry, in a report given in Ottawa a few days ago, said that the Indians of the far north are dying off very rapidly. He instanced Fort Simpson, an important post, which had in 1887 an Indian population of over eight hundred, but which has now been reduced to less than three hundred souls. The cause of this excessive mortality, Mr. Stewart says, is consumption. The Indian builds a small house, which he keeps excessively hot and altogether unventilated during the winter, and he does nothing in the way of guarding against infection, so that the White Plague with him becomes in many instances a veritable scourge. The suggestion is made that physicians be sent among these Indians in the north, not only to give them medical treatment, but also to instruct them in sanitary laws. That suggestion is certainly an excellent one, and should be acted upon at once, to prevent the extinction of whole tribes of the red-men of Canada.

Cannot Shut Indian Out.

This announcement of Mr. Stewart's has, we doubt not, given a very real feeling of sorrow to many who have no particular reasons for having an interest in the Indian or his welfare. The majority of Canadians cannot, if they would, shut out the Indian from their thoughts altogether, or quite escape the conviction that the white man, as his supplanter over the broad stretches of our fair land, is in some degree responsible for him. They realize that the Indian is a problem, a problem that it would be much more comfortable to be rid of, but they have never been able either to shift him or to solve the problem that his presence makes. And we believe there are thousands of Canadians to-day who can never think of the Indian of to-day without a keen sense of regret.

But the problem of the Indian is only a part of that larger problem of the adolescent races in general. These make up, it is estimated, nearly one-third of the human race and occupy nearly two-fifths of the land surface of the globe. They are not inferior races in every particular. In fact, in many ways they may be naturally superior to those who have conquered and hold sway over them. But there is a something lacking that makes their subserviency, in the struggle for life and life's good, a foregone conclusion. They are the child races, attractive and interesting from many points of view, but to a large degree unequal to the full burdens and responsibilities of life. They ought to be treated in some measure as children, but unfortunately the dominating races have not always understood their responsibility, and the history of many of these so-called adolescent races has been marked by some of the most pitiable tragedies ever shown upon the world's stage.

Wanton Cruelty.

These tragedies have been due in some instances to wanton cruelty and inhumanity. The well-known case of the aborigines of Newfoundland affords an illustration. Here we have the utter extinction of an ethnic stock of unknown origin and affinities, but showing in many ways high qualities, the extinction being due altogether to the barbarities of so-called Christian traders. The Government considered that loyalty to England made it imperative to depopulate Newfoundland, and a war of extermination was kept up until in 1819 the one single individual of a race that numbered thousands was captured and kept until her death in 1828. These settlers were first disposed to be friendly, and if they had been met in a similar spirit there is little doubt but they would have accepted all the factors of civilization which they could have understood or assimilated. And the pathos of it is heightened by the fact that the entire race passed away without having heard of Christianity, perished, too, at the hands of a Christian nation, and that not a drop of Beothuk blood flows in any one's veins to-day, but all cries to us from the ground.

Due to New Conditions.

But these tragedies seen in the history of the adolescent races have not always been due to wanton cruelty. Sometimes they have been the largely unavoidable results of new conditions and associations. And of this class our own North American Indians are an example. We have not wished to do badly by the Indian; in fact, we have done much in an effort to help him. But the conditions, both from the moral and the physical point of view, that our civilization has brought to him have, in many ways not intended, hampered and hurt him. The barbarities of trappers, the villanies of fur-traders, and the vices of borderers are mainly responsible for the present bad moral character ascribed to the Indian. Some of these might have been prevented, but it was not possible, as the white man sees it, to prevent the conditions and surroundings in which our civilization has placed the Indian, and for which he was not suited, and through which he has suffered much, both from the physical and the moral point of view.

The question of the dominant race's responsibility to the subject race is a serious one, demanding careful thought and consideration. The question of Canada's obligation to her adolescent race, the Indian, is one that must be continually and honestly faced. Some people grow impatient over the smallness of returns from all the effort made on his behalf, but this must be borne in mind, he is in many ways a child still, and our child, too, and nothing so becomes us in dealing with him as an infinite patience.

YOUR BEDROOM.

A Rule That Will Help to Keep It Always In Order.

"How do you ever do it, Betty? Your room always looks as if it had just been cleaned and arranged for my arrival, no matter when I come, while as for mine—well, a cyclone would refuse to strike it!"

"Nonsense, Laura! My neatness is nothing compared with Mabel's, for instance. Why, when she wants to remember an engagement in the morning she puts something a trifle out of place the night before."

"Well, it's too much for me. How do you both manage?"

"I'm sure I don't know about her, but if I have any rules at all it is, 'Put everything back as soon as you're through with it.' That is to say, when I go to bed I don't leave my things hanging around to be put away in the morning, but I do it at once. Then, when I'm through writing at my desk, too, I see that everything is in order before I leave it. That's all there is to it—simply the old adage, 'A place for everything, and everything in its place.'" — Philadelphia North American.

KITCHEN HELPS.

Keep all the kitchen utensils in one place, and a small one at that. It will save time and steps.

Keep the cookbook directly over the cooking table on a slanting shelf, where it will remain open to be easily read and stay clean.

Let the water in which cabbage has been boiled cool before pouring it down the sink. This precaution will avoid an unpleasant odor in the kitchen.

When a pot or teakettle has boiled dry pour boiled water into it, never cold water. There will be little danger of the vessel cracking or the enamel peeling if this is done immediately.

A kettle that is placed directly upon the fire soon becomes coated with soot and lampblack, which are difficult to remove. To prevent this grease the bottom of the outside of the kettle. The black can then be easily rubbed off with a newspaper.

The Blush.

The blush is the sign which nature hangs out to show where chastity and honor dwell, and yet how many people, thoughtlessly perhaps, will tease and torment a bashful and blushing child until the girl is taught to conquer her blushes and chase away the tears hiding a soft heart beneath a brazen face. Goethe, in company with a mother and a daughter, when the latter, being reproved for something, blushed and burst into tears, said:

"How beautiful our reproach has made our daughter. That crimson hue and those silvery tears become her much better than any ornament of gold or pearls; those may be hung on the neck of any woman, but these are never seen disconnected with moral purity."—Rev. Madison C. Peters.

Baked Beans and Olive Oil.

To bake beans with olive oil is the fashion among those who are vegetarians and those who detest pork. The Housekeeper says: "To some natures pork in any shape is repugnant. For those who do not relish it in baked beans the following way of preparing this popular dish is recommended as being especially delicious: Soak one pint of beans overnight. Parboil next morning, using a little soda. When the skin can be blown off easily, drain and cover with boiling water. Add two tablespoonfuls of olive oil and one-fourth of a cupful of molasses. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and mustard. If liked very sweet, add a half instead of a fourth of a cupful of molasses."

ZAM-BUK SAVES A FARMER'S ARM

Some Sensational Proofs of its Healing Power.

Every day brings interesting instances to light of the wonderful healing power of Zam-Buk, the herbal balm. Mr. Wm. Snell, a Langenburg, Sask., farmer, says: — "I had a terrible scalding accident and and the arm after the injury took the wrong way. When I started to use Zam-Buk it was all swollen up and discoloured, and I feared it would have to come off. In a few days Zam-Buk killed the poison, reduced the swelling, and finally healed the arm completely."

ECZEMA CURED. Mr. J. E. Cusick, of 349 Wilson street, Hamilton, says:— "Every winter I used to have eczema on the back of my hands. Last winter I was especially bad—so bad that I had to be off work for three weeks. While suffering acutely I was advised to try Zam-Buk and did so. I could not have believed anything could have healed so quickly! It just seemed to dry up and clear away the sores, and in a wonderfully short time my hands were quite cured."

PILES CURED. Mr. Neil Devon, of Westbwood, Ont., says: — "For eight years I tried all kinds of things for piles, but got nothing to do me any good until I struck Zam-Buk! That quickly worked a complete cure."

Zam-Buk heals all skin diseases, cuts and bruises, eczema, scalp sores, ulcers, chapped places, spring pimples, scrofulous ailments, poisoned wounds, swollen glands, boils. HOW INDIAN WOMEN LIVE.

Braving the Cold Weather They Go Hunting and Trapping.

With the mercury 45 degrees below zero, the native women of Missinabie, a small settlement on the north shore of Lake Superior, are living in tents in the woods, making their living by hunting and trapping. Most of them are Indians, and one of the remarkable features of their life is that, although they have been following this practice every winter for years, not a person has ever frozen to death. The women make as good trappers as the men, remaining all winter in the woods and coming out in the spring to sell their pelts.

The village, which has about two hundred and fifty inhabitants, was founded in 1886 by the Hudson Bay Company, but has since passed into other hands. During the winter months there is little life there, as the inhabitants in the fall push their way into the woods to the north from fifty to two hundred and fifty miles, and do not return until spring, when the hunting and trapping season is over.

Summer the Play Season.

The summers have for years been the play season for the natives. For years it was the custom of the Indians to drink John Bull bitters, a concoction stronger than the far-famed "squirrel" whiskey used in the lumber camps of the North. But the Government has put a stop to this practice, and life is quieter as a result.

Among the local celebrities are George Elson, Job Chapish and Joseph Iserbroff, who accompanied Mrs. Hubbard during her exploration of Labrador. Elson was the Indian who was with Hubbard and Wallace, and shared in their hardships in the wilds of the great North, when Hubbard starved to death and Wallace was saved from the same fate by the almost superhuman efforts of Elson. The food supply became so short before they reached civilization that they had to boil their moccasins for soup after the supply of bones gave out.

The little village may be wiped from the map by mining developments in that region in the near future, which will ruin the retreat of many tourists who spend the summer months there listening to the tales of the natives and enjoying the fishing afforded by the streams in that locality.

THE NEW LIEUT.-GOVERNOR.

Hon. L. J. Tweedie Is Very Popular In New Brunswick.

Hon. L. J. Tweedie, who has just been appointed Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, is a New Brunswicker by birth, having been born at Chatham in 1850. After graduating from the Grammar School in his native town and the Presbyterian Academy he studied law with Hon. John M. Johnson, and was called to the Bar in 1870. In 1874 he contested Northumberland county for the Provincial House, and was elected by an overwhelming majority. Mr. Tweedie was only 24 at the time, but he soon proved a useful and able member of the Assembly, and particularly distinguished himself in the debates on the maintenance of New Brunswick's non-sectarian school system. Defeated in 1876, but re-elected in 1886, Mr. Tweedie from that time held his seat continuously in the Provincial Assembly until his withdrawal a few days ago. In 1890 he entered the Blair Ministry as Surveyor-General, and on the removal of Mr. Blair to the Dominion Cabinet became Provincial Secretary under Hon. Mr. Mitchell. In 1900, upon the resignation of Hon. H. R. Emmerson to enter Federal politics, Mr. Tweedie was asked to lead the Provincial Ministry, and accepted the honor. Since then he has conducted the affairs of New Brunswick in a manner highly satisfactory to the people of the Province.

Few Good Works of Fiction.

Since the world began there have been written perhaps 100 supremely good works of fiction. Assume that the first of these was the Iliad, now about 3,000 years old. One hundred good stories in 3,000 years is a story every generation. Since the battle of Waterloo, then, there have been rather less than three of them. Probably we are overstating the number rather than the contrary. When you consider the matter, three supremely good stories in a hundred years is a very high average.

STALLIONS' HARD FIGHT.

Thrilling Experience of Two Lucan Men In a Train.

Cooped up in a boxcar on a fast freight train, with two savagely fighting stallions, was the terrifying situation recently experienced by Paisley Brothers, of Lucan.

When the train finally reached its destination, one of the animals valued at over $1,000 was dead, the other was badly injured, and both men were severely bruised and cut as a result of their efforts to separate the enraged animals.

The two stallions were being shipped to Montana, and one of the animals, alarmed at the jolting of the train, began to rear and plunge madly, and in an instant had broken the halter by which it was held. Immediately it commenced a fierce attack with teeth and heels on its mate, which was more securely fastened, and failed for the time to break loose. The two men made every effort possible to drive back the big vicious brute, but in the close area and gloomy interior of the car it was risking their lives to make a move.

Was Knocked Down.

That the two brothers did their best to separate the brutes is evidenced by the fact that the elder Mr. Paisley was knocked down three times, and each time narrowly escaped being trampled to death beneath the hoofs of the big beasts. The other stallion finally broke the tight fastenings, and the one-sided fight became a duel to the death. The two men were now powerless and could do no more than evade the terrible charges and blows of the titanic monsters, who, covered with bloody foam and with bloodshot eyes, strove for the mastery, surging now to one end of the car and now to the other, but never for one moment letting up in their death struggle.

Finally, it was apparent to the two lone spectators of this struggle, that one of the beasts was weakening. Its breathing came in mighty gasps, that spattered the sides of the car with bloody foam. Relentless, its mate continued to rain blows, till with a shriek, almost pitifully human, the weakened animal dropped to the floor dead.

Victory gained, the other big brute quieted down and submitted to being fastened again by the men.

CROWS ATTACK EAGLE.

Horde of Sable-Hued Birds Subdue Monarch of the Air.

There is one eagle less in the collection of bald-headed birds of freedom at the Stanley Park aviary in Vancouver. One of the largest of the quartette made his escape from the cage the other morning, but his liberty and life did not last long afterward.

It is a strange fact that the death of this bird, which is popularly supposed to be the monarch of the air, is directly due to his inability to resist the attack of a horde of crows. Yes, crows—ordinary black crows—of which there are thousands in Stanley Park.

Unable to traverse the aerial heights with his accustomed freedom, owing to its six years captivity in a cage that did not admit of too much practice in flying, this eagle was simply beaten to the earth by a flock of crows that at once attacked it. They are old enemies — these crows and eagles. And when the bald-headed bird broke the wire netting of its cage while fighting with one of its cage mates it was at once set upon by a dozen sable-hued birds whose wild cawing soon attracted hundreds of others. The eagle made a few ineffectual attempts to mount high up beyond the reach of its pursuers, but its one-time powerful wings were now feeble. The crows, whose numbers were constantly increasing, renewed their attack, and simply beat the big bird down until it fell into Coal Harbor not far from the bridge.

To the rescue of the bird there came a spectator of the fight, who put out in a boat. But, although the eagle was exhausted as far as wing power was concerned, it was still dangerous with its powerful beak and talons. In trying to subdue the eagle the man in the boat hit it rather too heavily on the head with an oar and killed it.

FOR THE YOUNG WIFE.

A Few Questions That She Should Seriously Consider.

Have I ever heard the German saying, "Man is what he eats," and laid it to heart with regard to my husband's meals?

When I sigh for the freedom from care that I enjoyed in my maiden days, do I also call to mind the ennui and dullness I so often suffered from in those days—ennui of which in my busy married life I have no time even to remember the existence?

Do I recollect that the widening of her social circle is a duty a mother owes to her family? If she neglects this while her children are young they will suffer for it when they grow up suffer in the loss of the friends they may have had if she had exerted herself to make them.

Do I know that many a man's success in life was largely owing to his wife's capacity, either in the way of making influential friends or making a good appearance on a small income or making by her clever management a dollar go as far as some careless people make five go?—New York American.

The New Senator.

Senator George Casimer Dessaulles has been appointed to the place in the Canadian upper House left vacant by the death of Sir William Hingston The new Senator, a leading citizen of St. Hyacinthe, is a son of the late Seigneur Jean Dessaulles and a nephew of the famous patriot, Papineau. Born at St. Hyacinthe in 1837, he took his classical course in the college of that city. He afterwards studied law, but never took up the practice of that profession. He commenced to take a deep interest in municipal matters when quite a young man, and after serving as a councillor for several years acted as mayor of St. Hyacinthe for nearly a quarter of a century. He has been president of the Bank of St. Hyacinthe since 1878. A life-long Liberal, he was frequently asked to enter public life, but steadily refused until the general elections of 1897, when he was elected to the Local Legislature. He has also been for some years president of the local St. Jean Baptiste Society.

Founder of the Japanese Navy.

The founder of the Japanese navy was an Englishman named Will Adams, who went to the eastern seas as pilot of a Dutch fleet in 1598 and was cast away in Japan a couple of years later. He became a Japanese noble and constructor of the navy to the tycoon, but was never allowed to return to England. He died about twenty years afterward, very ingeniously leaving half his property to his wife and family in England and half his property to his wife and family in Japan. After his death he was deified

THE FALL OF NATIONS

How Great World Powers Have Passed Into History.

MOST HAVE DIED FIGHTING.

The Struggle Between the Empire of the East and the Empire of the West. Venice, Its Secret Three and Its Long Reign of Terror.

Most countries which have died have gone down fighting. The Roman empire perished like that, and by the irony of fate the power of the Caesars came to an end far away from Rome.

After it had existed for centuries the Roman empire became so vast and unwieldy that it had to be divided into two, the empire of the west and the empire of the east. The capital of the former was Rome.

The empire of the west became so weak at last that it could make no stand against its enemies. Rome was sacked by the barbarians and eventually became not the capital of a vast empire, but the city of the popes, over which the pontiffs reigned as kings. The temporal power of the popes lasted till 1870, while the capital of Italy was first Turin and then Milan. Finally the city was taken without a real fight by the soldiers of the king of Italy.

The empire of the east had its capital at Constantinople. For centuries it was the greatest power in the world. But it became honeycombed with vice and enervated with pride and luxury; also it grew old and weak. Then in 1422 the Turks made a tigerish spring on Constantinople and took it by storm. The last of the Greek emperors died sword in hand, and his descendants are living in England today in very humble situations.

Egypt, once so powerful and so famous under the pharaohs, was conquered by Rome and was afterward swamped by the Moslems. The crescent was supreme in the land of the Nile, and the aforetime haughty Egyptians were slaves for a thousand years.

The great moguls used to reign in India. In the days of Queen Elizabeth the mogul—or emperor of Delhi, as he was sometimes called—was so powerful that he thought it a vast condescension on his part to receive an embassy from the maiden queen. But as time went on the great rajahs, or tributary kings, rebelled against the moguls. India was rent asunder by the wars between rival rajahs. This gave the Europeans a chance.

France at first held the upper hand and nearly conquered the land, but then England drove France back and seized the empire of the great moguls for herself. The heir of the moguls, by the way, still enjoys a pension given by the British government as a compensation for the throne lost by his ancestors.

Poland used to occupy a big place on the map of Europe. At one time it was much larger and stronger than Russia. The czar of Russia and the emperor of Austria were only too glad to be on good terms with the king of Poland, and there was no king of Prussia in those days.

Noble adventurers from all parts of the world flocked to the Polish capital at Warsaw, eager to serve in the Polish armies. The Duke of Monmouth, son of King Charles II. of England, thought of doing this.

But Poland perished through her own rajahs and rollas. The mass of the common people were slaves in all but name. They were not allowed to move from one part of the country to another without leave, they could not own a foot of land, and they could never be sure that they might not be sold by the great noble they served to a new master; hence the nobles and the people never stood together in times of danger or disaster.

Poland was a big country, but it was divided against itself, and Russia, Prussia and Austria combined were more powerful. They all three joined hands, and each took a large share of Poland in 1772. That was the "first partition of Poland." The Poles submitted tamely, for they were still divided.

In 1793 the trio of robbers made a second swoop. Only the ghost of Poland was left. Another year saw the end of the tragedy. The last remnants of Poland were swallowed up by Russia, Prussia and Austria.

The fate of the republic of Venice is one of the most dramatic in all history. For hundreds of years the City of the Lagoons was one of the most powerful states in the world. Its doges ranked as the equals of the proudest kings. Its alliance was coveted by the greatest powers. Its government was one of sheer terrorism. The doge was hardly more than a splendid figurehead. All real power rested in the hands of the dreaded council of ten and the secret three. The latter were a trio of living mysteries and were known by name to practically no one in Venice.

Sometimes a man was one of the secret three and his own wife and children never dreamed it. Their most dreaded servants were masked mutes. If a Venetian, no matter how high his rank, was denounced by the council of ten or the secret three, he knew he was no better than a dead man. So the government of Venice was a terror to its own people and the outside world. Then Napoleon came upon the scene, and "the lion of St. Mark licked the dust."

Revive Shipping Interests.

One of the advantages of being a Canadian is that you are always being reminded that you are not the only pebble on the beach. Ontario is a fine Province, and the pride of its sons is justified. But there are others. Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia are rivals whose claims none can afford to ignore.

When the West, in its turn, is tempted to indulge in self-conceit, it may be reminded that there is an East. Just now there is a stirring of the dry bones in the Maritime Provinces, which have given us some of the greatest figures in the public life of Canada, as well as great ship-owners and merchant princes. A revival of the shipping interests of these Provinces is at hand, and there are industrial resources to be developed, with the aid of coal and water powers. Premier Murray of Nova Scotia, seeing these possibilities, has introduced a measure for technical education, and he will be warmly supported by the Nova Scotian captains of industry, who are fully as alive and as broad-minded as our own.

A Montreal Freak.

Montreal possesses one of the most curious freaks of nature ever heard of. It is a colt fourteen months old, which has a growth on its right fore foot, just above the hoof, which is hardly explainable. The growth has the appearance of branches of trees, and already three sprays have come out, one of which is fourteen inches long, and several others are sprouting. The queerest part of the whole thing is that the colt does not seem embarrassed by it at all, and moves about quite as freely as any other of his species.

ANIMAL EPICURES.

The Crab Eating Raccoon and Peculiar Crustacean Taste.

What made the crab eating raccoon first take to his queer diet? The question is suggested by a specimen of this strange animal which has arrived at the menagerie and will be happy to oblige any generous visitor with an illustration of the quickest way to kill, unshell and swallow a crustacean without artificial assistance of any kind. Doubtless the peculiarity originated in the shore frequenting habits of the species, and, being a delicate feeder, the succulence of the crab, once cracked, was an obvious inducement to renew his acquaintance on every possible occasion. Originally probably a fruit eater, the raccoon is inquisitive and dainty, both strong incentives to experiments in diet. When an individual sees a small object he does not understand, his actions fall under three headings. He first puts the article to close scrutiny, both with his eyes and that supercilious upturned nose of his; then he takes it away and washes it—a very characteristic action of this water loving animal—and finally puts it to the grand test of edibleness or otherwise. If it appears unpalatable, he gives it to his wife. In this way it is easy to imagine how the creek loving coon, wearying of too much fruit, made his first crab supper and, though he has never been able to add a squeeze of lemon or brown bread and butter to the repast, has become a confirmed lover of crustacea ever since. All creatures make experiments of the sort and occasionally carry them on until they become a fixed habit, and their whole structure is modified in accordance. Nature, for instance, never intended the osprey to live on fish. It was the temptation of an old world trout in difficulties in the shallows that first led the great hawk astray. Some small Brazilian monkeys, again, live almost exclusively on birds' eggs, an Australian parrot has given up a proper vegetarian diet for an exclusive regimen of mutton, and many other instances of the same unorthodox appetites might be cited. —London Globe.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A good many loafers imagine they are philosophers.

You are very fond of your opinions. Let other men enjoy theirs.

Parents will say their children are bad, but won't stand it from others.

Enthusiasm is all right provided you don't meet a man who is full of it when you are busiest.

The average man has more respect for a thief than a deadbeat. And thieves are not held in high esteem.

When a man tells his "story," always remember that he exaggerates it and that he isn't fair with the other fellow.

Among the white races more than seven-tenths of religion is confined to women. Yet the men run things. Very few men are really religious, while you find few women who are not.

Swish!

One of the first secretaries of agriculture was a man of great shrewdness and ability, which were not incompatible with a certain slow footed ease. He was known to be late at cabinet meetings, where tardiness is a serious breach of etiquette. One day when he came into a meeting a minute or two late one of the other secretaries, thinking to give a helpful rebuke, said:

"Hello! Here comes the tail of the administration."

The secretary slid leisurely into his seat and then answered:

"Well, the tail may come in handy some day to brush the flies off the rest of the administration."

Grim Joke in a Blue Book.

A grim piece of humor appears in the British blue book dealing with the taxation of unimproved land values in the colonies. The tax commissioner of Adelaide, after referring to the inaccurate returns, says:

"Side by side with these inaccurate returns it has been pleasing to note the completeness with which others have been prepared in the minutest particulars, and we cannot fail to recognize the thoroughness of the taxpayer who returned that piece of land of his, measuring nine feet by six feet, in the —— cemetery, and under the column 'Name of Occupier' gave that of his departed wife."

Are You Strong?

Do You Eat and Sleep Well? —Or Are You Pale, Weak and Miserable?

Has your nerve given out? Have you lost confidence in yourself? Has work become such an awful burden that you look upon it with horror?

There's just one thing left to do, and that is to take Ferrozone and get your system into good shape again.

It's quite impossible for anyone to be weak or nervous that uses Ferrozone. It contains so many strength-giving properties benefit is bound to result from its use.

Ferrozone possesses the power to kindle new vitality and vigor where almost a dying condition of weakness exists.

It is an extraordinary and magical tonic, containing more actual nourishment and strengthening elements than you can get at in any other way. As a blood purifier, nerve strengthener and appetizing tonic there is simply no equal to Ferrozone. Of this we are positively sure.

It is crowned with the success of splendid cures; will restore anyone to health who uses it. The following letters from people who have actually experienced what Ferrozone can do will clearly show you just how beneficially it acts:—

No Medicine Ever Did So Much Lasting Good as Ferrozone.

"It would be difficult to express my thanks for the benefit I have received from Ferrozone," writes Miss Eva Wight, of Florenceville. "I was so weak and miserable that I could scarcely go around the house. My head ached, there was a dragging weakness in my limbs, and I felt as if every spark of life had left me. Ferrozone improved my appetite, toned up my blood, and soon made me well. Nothing I ever used did me half the good I got from Ferrozone."

The Great Tonic, Ferrozone, Brought Back Life.

"I am anxious to speak a good word for such a magnificent tonic as Ferrozone," says E. P. Garow, of Yorktown. "I was wretchedly worn out. I was apprehensive, and lacked confidence. It was simply due to my very weak state. The only remedy that really did me lasting good was Ferrozone. It rebuilt my strength, has made me as vigorous and happy as a man could be. In the whole range of medicines I never used anything with half the merit I found in Ferrozone."

Though you spend a thousand dollars on doctors, you can't get a more vitalising, strengthening tonic than Ferrozone. It is the best that money, combined with scientific research, can produce. If anything in this world will make you strong it must be Ferrozone. Others have proved its worth. You can easily do so for yourself. It will send new vital energy and renewed youth singing through your veins. It's nature's own remedy—a true food tonic.

PUBLIC SCHOOL ACT PROVISIONS

Teachers in Catholic Schools Must Qualify.

WILL HAVE AMPLE TIME

Teachers Are to Be Given Time to Carry Out Decision of Privy Council—Powers of School Trustees In Regard to Salaries—Port Arthur Sunday Cars—Mr. Crawford Appointed Deputy Speaker.

Toronto, March 27.—A bill setting forth the qualifications that must be possessed by persons belonging to religious and educational communities teaching in the Roman Catholic schools in this Province was introduced by Hon. Dr. Pyne in the Legislature yesterday. This act was made necessary by the recent decision of the Privy Council.

The afternoon session of the Legislature, the only one held yesterday, was marked by the introduction of several Government bills, and the clearing off of a large number of orders on the paper.

In reply to Mr. Graham, the Premier said that the matter of adjournment for the holiday would to some extent depend upon the revisers of the bills. They might adjourn on Wednesday afternoon, but, if not, they certainly would adjourn on Thursday. The House would meet on Tuesday or Wednesday of next week. The Premier said that the House would be gratified to know that the Speaker was progressing favorably, after which he moved that Mr. Thomas Crawford be appointed Speaker for the day. Mr. Crawford, though still unwell from an attack of la grippe, was able to perform the duties of the office during the session. The Premier introdnced Mr. McElroy, the newly-elected member for Carleton, to the House. Mr. Ferguson assisted in the formality.

Mr. McNaught presented a petition, on behalf of the city of Toronto, asking that the Government take over long distance telephone lines.

Educational Bills.

Hon. Dr. Pyne introduced two bills, one to amend the public school act, and a second respecting the qualification of certain teachers. As to the consolidation of the statutes respecting education, it was now realized, the Minister said, that the work could not be concluded this year. He trusted that next year they would be able to bring down a consolidated school act which would be satisfactory to everyone. This was one of the reasons for delaying the bill amending the public school act to the present time.

Powers of School Trustees.

The act to amend the public schools act provides that every corporation, society, etc., having in its custody any child shall be entitled to send it to the public or separate school in the district in which the child resides. Where Boards of Trustees establish continuation classes, or unite with other boards for such purpose, they may levy according to the equalized assessment of each municipality. The Township Council shall pay to the trustees their actual disbursements for maintenance and transportation of their pupils, and shall receive such legislative and county grants as may be determined. The act also provides that the outlay may be made to cover dental and medical inspection, and to maintain free evening lectures for the citizens at large. The trustees may permit the school house to be used for any educational or lawful purpose which in their discretion they think proper. Urban school boards may spend such sums as they see fit on encouraging gymnastics and athletic exercises, not to exceed $200 where the annual registered attendance does not exceed 5,000, and $50 additional for each additional thousand in attendance.

Section 12, amended, provides that the county is to levy an amount equal to the amount of the legislative grant. Where a township in an organized county has an equalized assessment of $30,000 for each public school section the township is to raise $300 for each teacher or principal teacher, and an additional sum of $200 for each assistant teacher. In townships in the territorial districts the amount is $150 for each teacher and $100 for each assistant. These are part of the minimum salary clauses under the recent provisions made for giving a largely increased Government grant to the schools. The same so levied must be applied to teachers' salaries only.

Qualifications of Teachers.

The act respecting the qualifications of certain teachers, made necessary by a recent decision of the Privy Council, provides that on proof satisfactory to the Minister of Education the department may grant permanent professional certificates, valid in the Roman Catholic schools, to persons belonging to religious and educational communities, who, prior to July 1st, 1907, have had not less than seven years' experience in teaching, five of which must have been in Ontario; provided that the competence of such person is attested by the Provincial Inspector, or that before December 31st, 1908, they shall have completed one summer session of training of four weeks' duration, provided by the Department of Education. Third-class certificates may be granted to persons who have not before July 1st, 1907, had at least three years' experience in Ontario, but such person before December, 1909, must have obtained the academic standing prescribed for third-class certificates, and shall by September, 1909, have completed the term of professional training at a model school or one summer term of professional training. Similar conditions surround the granting of second-class certificates, the time being extended to corresponding dates in 1911.

The provisions made shall also apply to public schools in which French, English or German are the languages taught.

Those requiring first-class certificates must complete the examinations by 1912, and until that time they are legally qualified to continue teaching under the conditions specified.

The Sunday Car Question.

Mr. Smellie, on the bill to incorporate the city of Port Arthur and for other purposes being taken up in committee, regretted that authority to run street cars on Sundays, which was struck out of the bill in the Private Bills Committee, had not been allowed. He was of opinion, however, that the Premier could not logically have taken any other action than he had done in writing to the committee in effect that the authority could not be given, as it was against the Government's policy.

The Premier was able to say that nothing the Government had done had received such wide endorsement as their policy of declining to allow the running of the street cars in places where that right had not been given years ago. He had received over 200 letters and telegrams from clergymen and laymen approving the Government's stand.

Mr. Sam Clarke, Northumberland, favored the running of street cars on Sundays in cities at any rate.

Attacks Lord's Day Alliance.

Mr. Smellie, who had previously made a reference to the Lord's Day Alliance, declared "the Lord's Day Alliance people are the enemies of personal liberty." They were emptying instead of filling the churches.

Mr. Atkinson said he was opposed to the principle advocated by Mr. Smellie. There should be one day's rest in seven. The bill was reported.

Rebel Defeated.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, March 27.—A letter received here yesterday by the Venezuelan Consul from Caracas says that Gen. Juan Pablo Penaloza, who was reported early in the month to have started a serious rebellion in the State of Tachira, Venezuela, has been defeated; that he is being pursued by the Government troops, and that his capture is shortly expected.

CHILDREN.

If You Have Any This Will Interest You.

"So many little boys and girls come into our store who are weak, thin-legged and hollow-cheeked," said Mr. McDermid, of the firm of McDermid & Jury, our well-known druggists. "It seems a shame to allow them to remain so, for they will grow up into weak, sickly and nervous men and women, without the vitality to work or enjoy life."

"If," continued Mr. McDermid, "the fathers and mothers of such children would believe what we say of Vinol, we would see a great difference in the appearance of the younger generation of this city. You know Vinol is not a patent medicine, and is just the tonic that growing children need. It will make for them good, healthy flesh, sound bone, hard muscle, and rich, red blood.

"True, Vinol is a cod liver oil preparation, but it does not contain a drop of oil, or any bad tasting feature. It is so delicious that all children love it, yet it actually does contain all the medicinal curative elements found in fresh cods' livers, and is the most wholesome and best medicine for children we ever sold.

It is because we know what Vinol will do that we guarantee it to make your children well, rugged and rosy, to refund your money. McDermid & Jury, druggists. Vinol is also sold at the Market Drug Store (The Ormond & Walsh Old Stand).

LAURIER MUST ATTEND.

London Daily Comments On His Possible Absence From Conference.

London, March 27.—(C. A. P.)—The Evening Globe, discussing Laurier and the coming conference, says excuse would willingly be made for Sir Wilfrid were Canada faced with any grave public crisis or any extraordinary pressure of political business, but the Dominion barometer has indicated set fair for some time past, and it will not pass unnoticed that the debate which first showed Sir Wilfrid's hand was not brought about by his own initiative palm. It says if there were any real possibility of Laurier being absent from the Colonial Conference it would go far to frustrate the whole purpose and potentialities of that gathering.

INVESTED IN CANADA.

Mr. Asquith Does Not Know How Much British Money Is Here.

London, March 27.—(C. A. P.)—In the Commons yesterday Mr. Asquith informed Sir Gilbert Parker he had no idea of the amount of British capital invested in Canada. He stated the plans for the Georgian Bay scheme will be submitted to the Canadian Government immediately.

Alfred Mosely advocated to the Farmers' Club that an attempt be made to obtain knowledge of the character of the work done in Ottawa and such places.

London Cabmen Protest.

London, March 27.—Several thousand London cabmen assembled Monday on the Thames Embankment and marched to Hyde Park, followed by some five thousand sympathizers, where they protested vigorously against the Home Secretary for permitting the introduction on Saturday of taximeter motor cabs.

Many hard-working cabmen were present at the meeting and deplored the decay of their industry, which, through no fault of their own, has changed completely with the times. It was determined to make matters warm for Mr. Gladstone, the Home Secretary, for favoring what the cabmen called "Motor Cab Syndicates."

May Shell the Peasants.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 27.—Four thousand peasants from the districts of Teleorman and Vlashica have joined forces and are now marching on Bucharest.

A minor state of siege has been proclaimed here, and the military authorities have taken measures to prevent the revolted peasants from invading the city.

Should the latter refuse to retire, orders have been issued to the troops to use shrapnel shells.

Ran Down By Royalty.

Lisbon, March 27.—While Mia Pia, the Dowager Queen, the mother of King Carles, and Prince Alfonso, brother of the King, were going to a theatre last night in an automobile the car ran over a woman carrying an infant. The child was killed and the woman dangerously injured. The Dowager Queen was overcome with emotion and wept. She had the woman taken to the hospital in the automobile.

Mr. St. John Improving.

Toronto, March 27.—Hon. J. W. St. John, Speaker of the Legislature, who underwent an operation for appendicitis in the general hospital Sunday night, made splendid progress yesterday and at midnight was resting easily. It was stated that he was out of danger, unless unforseen eventualities occur.

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY MARCH 27 1907

LACK OF HARMONY DEPLORED

President Hughes Charles of the Board of Trade Says City Council Ignores That Body—Wants to Do All the Work Itself.

ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD

Small Attendance and no Officers Were Elected—The Reports of Officers on Work of the Past Year Were Presented.

LACK OF HARMONY BETWEEN THE COUNCIL AND BOARD OF TRADE

In his annual address to the members of the Board of Trade, the president, Mr. D. Hughes Charles, pointed out that there had been only four meetings of the Board held during the past year, "and the reason of this is that the City Council seemed to think that they could do everything necessary for the welfare of our city themselves, and, therefore, asked for the assistance of our Board only once, and that was to help them to get up a deputation to go to Ottawa to press for the early completion of the Trent Valley Canal.

"This is not as it should be, because there should exist a cordial co-operation between Council and the Board of Trade, in order that the best results to the community may be obtained.

"That is what is helping all the western towns."

In these words the president referred to what he characterized as a lack of harmony between the two bodies, the members of which are charged with the duty of working to advance the material interests of this city.

There was only a very small attendance at the annual meeting of the Board of Trade last night, so small, in fact, that the election of officers had to be postponed until another meeting, to be held two weeks from last night. There were only two or three in the Council Chamber at 8 o'clock, the hour for which the meeting was called, and when business commenced there were 11 members present, one short of the number required to make a quorum. Several more arrived afterwards, however.

The principal business taken up was the reading of reports from the president and secretary. A number of communications were also dealt with.

Those Present

There were present, President D. Hughes Charles, Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine, and Messrs. W. S. Dodd, W. Rudkins, P. Downham, J. Coyle Brown, G. A. Gillespie, F. D. Kerr, W. H. Bradburn, H. LeBrun, R. E. Wood, G. B. Van-Blaricom, Adam Dawson, R. M. Glover, T. A. S. Hay, Walter Stecker, Wm. Might.

Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine read the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were confirmed, on motion.

Communications

The following communications were read:

From the Orillia Board of Trade, re-placing civil service on an entirely non-partizan basis, and petitions to the Senate, Dominion and local Houses.

From H. J. Wickham, Hon. Secretary of the Toronto branch of the Navy League.

From the secretaries of the Boards of Trade in Smith's Falls re copies of the bylaws of the local board.

From B. F. Ackerman, vice-president of the Board of Trade, re resolution and bonus to the Canadian Northern Railway.

From E. J. Lemoine, private secretary to Sir Wilfrid Laurier; Horace Wallis, secretary to Hon. J. P. Whitney; R. R. Hall, M.P., and T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., acknowledging receipts of a copy of resolutions.

In reference to the communication from the Orillia Board of Trade, Ald. Bradburn moved that no action be taken in the matter. He thought that the Government were quite capable of handling the matter without assistance from Boards of Trade. This was seconded by Mr. H. LeBrun.

Mr. J. C. Brown was of a different mind. He thought that the matter was not right as it is at present. Before election, men spent their days concocting lies, and their nights in giving them wind, in an effort to get Government jobs. In England, the non-partizan system had been tried with beneficial results. He moved, in amendment, that the communication be received, and that the Board assist the Orillia Board in their efforts.

Mr. Brown's amendment was not seconded, and the original motion was carried, Mr. Brown voting against it.

IN THE NUMBER OF BUILDINGS ERECTED DURING YEAR 1906 THIS CITY STOOD SIXTH IN DOMINION

Evidence of the rapidity with which new buildings are being erected in Peterborough is furnished by the statements contained in the Labour Gazette for this month, in which, as a result of special investigations which were conducted during the months of January and February of this year, figures concerning the number of buildings and their value erected in cities in the Dominion in 1906, were given.

It is seen by the table published that Peterborough, in point of the value of the buildings erected, stood sixteenth, there were in Canada only five cities in which there were more buildings erected in 1906 than in Peterborough, which comes sixth, with 310 buildings. The other five, with the number built in each, are:

Toronto, 4154.
Montreal, 1484.
Edmonton, 930.
Calgary, 385.
Ottawa, 362.

The number of buildings erected in Winnipeg was not given in the table, but it is safe to assume that there were more than in Peterborough.

Referring to the building operations in Peterborough during the past year, and the prospects for the present, the report says: The number of new buildings erected was 310, and the total cost $600,000. Repairs aggregated $15,000 in value. The season of 1907 is expected to be very active, as an expenditure of about $350,000 on public buildings is promised, and a number of industrial establishments will be erected.

Foreman For New Fire Hall Has Been Recommended

Walter Pakenham Decided on by the Fire, Water and Light Committee---His Salary Will be $800---Will Look After Inspection of Wiring.

THT FIRE ESCAPE BY-LAW WAS APPROVED OF BY COMMITTEE

The Fire, Water and Light Committee met in session last night. There were present Chairman Ald. Johnston, Mayor McWilliams, and Aldermen Morgan, Duncan and Leary.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the water commissioners be authorized to place a hydrant at the corner of Concession and Dufferin streets.—Carried.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That approaches be built in front of the new fire hall as soon as possible, and that the street Commissioner be instructed to do the work.—Carried.

For the past quarter 13 electric street lamps were reported to have been not burning during schedule hours, or an average of one lamp per night; and two lamps had not the necessary shades. The agreement between the city and the Peterborough Light and Power Co., provides that a pro rata of 16 2-3c. per lamp a night shall be charged against the company for each light not performing its functions according to contract; also that the company shall be subject to a fine of 25c. per lamp a night for each night not burning. The company reported that they had found it impossible to procure from the manufacturer shades for the two lamps wanting shades until after several days had elapsed.

Mayor McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the city deduct from their account with the Peterborough Light and Power Co., for street lighting the past quarter, $5.32 for lamps not burning.—Carried.

The above allows the Light and Power Co. the benefit of the doubt in the case of three lamps.

In revising the rules and regulations governing the new fire hall, it was decided that the foreman shall have full control of the hall, and that no women shall be employed on the premises for any purpose whatever.

The furnishing of the new fire hall was left in the hands of Chairman Ald. Johnston and Ald. Duncan with power to act.

Fire Escapes

The committee went into the fire escape bylaw, which provides that any building not of a private nature with a third or higher story, with not more than one exit exclusive of elevator, and occupied by ten or more persons shall be furnished with one permanent outside railed stairway to the first floor, within one month of passage of said bylaw. All such fire escapes shall be kept by the owner of building in good repair, and free from snow and ice and any incumberance whatever. All exits to fire escapes shall be readily accessable to at all times.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Leary,—That the council be recommended to approve of this bylaw.

The Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the committee recommend the appointment of a foreman of the fire department, with full control of the new hall, the Trivers, engineer, and all equipment.—Carried.

This man's duties will also include care of fire alarm system and inspection of street wiring.

Applications For Positions

The following applications for positions in the fire department were received:—

For electrician, decided by committee to act as foreman of the new fire hall, and look after the fire alarm system and wiring in the city;—A. E. Hutchinson, J. E. Greer, G. E. Thomas, B. Ford, Walter Packingham, Penn, Alexander, Wallace, Madill, N. E. Bell, and Jos. Denoe.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston—That the committee recommend that Walter Packingham receive the appointment of foreman of the fire hall at a salary of $800 a year, his duties to commence April 15th.—Carried.

For Driver—Jno. Bridgett, Fred Le Barge, J. G. Mutchett, Geo. E. Hawse, Jos. H. Morrison, Jno. Irwin, J. McCarthy, Geo. Parker.

This appointment will be a new one, the driver to take charge of the additional team purchased for the fire department. The Board of Works will use this team and driver as much as practicable, and pay the Fire, Water and Light Department a proportionate sum for such service.

The Board of Works and Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet jointly this evening to consider this appointment.

The committee adjourned at 11.15.

Sad Mission of Mr. Ernest Fletcher, an Old Peterborough Boy.

Mr. Ernest Fletcher of Winnipeg, and a brother of Mr. Archibald Fletcher of Peterborough, is in the city to-day after an absence of 8 years. He came east in charge of the body of his wife, who passed away in Winnipeg on Thursday of last week. The funeral took place in Toronto yesterday to the Mount Pleasant cemetery. Her maiden name was Evaleen McIvor.

Mr. Fletcher leaves the city this evening for Toronto, and will start from there for Winnipeg on Friday. His absence of eight years from Peterborough has made a great change in his appearance so that few of his old friends, and not even his brother at first, recognized him.

THE MILLING COMPANY DECLARES DIVIDENDS

Seven Per Cent. Will be Paid Shareholders of Central Milling Company—A Successful Season

At a meeting of the directors of the Central Milling Company, held this morning, a dividend of seven per cent on the capital stock of the company was declared, payable on May 1st. After paying this dividend a large sum was placed to the credit of the reserve fund. Last year was a most prosperous one for this company, as the above will indicate.

CANOE BUILDER'S DAY IS SHORTENED

Beginning With Monday Next They Will Work 9 Hours

The length of the working day of the canoe builders, of which mention was made in yesterday's Examiner, has been shortened. A workman in one of the factories stated to an Examiner representative today that beginning with Monday next their working day would be shortened by one hour. This will mean that they will only be required to work 9 hours per day instead of 10 hours, as in the past, and they will therefore stop work at 5 o'clock.

This is applicable only to the English and Canadian Canoe Factories, as the other has previously been working the nine hour scheme.

A RE-UNION AFTER A LAPSE OF 21 YEARS

Mr. Edwin Wise, of Henley-on-Thames, England, Arrived in City on Monday and Met His Brother, Mr. Frank Wise—The Turbine Steamer "Victorian" in Danger in Terrific Storm.

SOME INTERESTING NEWS.

After a lapse of twenty-one years a reunion of two brothers took place in the city on Monday, which was by no means the least happy moment of their lives. On that day, Mr. Edwin Wise, from Henley-on-Thames, Oxfordshire, Eng., arrived in the city and met his brother, Mr. Frank Wise, Crescent street, whom he had not seen for over two decades. Mr. Wise was accompanied by his wife and daughter, and he expects to make his home in Canada in the future, and probably in Peterborough.

He left Liverpool on March 15 on the swift turbine steamer, the Victorian, of the Allan Line, and arrived at the port of Halifax after a rough voyage, on March 23, at noon. There were about 1500 passengers on board, 960 of whom were steerage. The greater number of these will remain in Canada, and many had tickets for the Canadian West.

A Terrific Storm

Mr. Wise stated that on Thursday night and early Friday morning waged waged one of the worst storms the captain had ever seen. A strong wind kept the ocean in a perturbed state for many hours. This was accompanied by snow and sleet, and at times the captain feared for the safety of the ship and passengers. The engines were stopped at times, and often the steamer travelled at only half speed.

The Victorian's Record

Mr. Wise had kept a record of the number of miles the turbine travelled each day, which might be interesting. It required about eight days to complete the voyage, but had the weather been more favourable better time could have been made. The distance from Liverpool to Halifax is about 2500 miles, so that the steamer travelled at an average rate of 300 miles per day. The first day the distance covered was 221 miles, and the distances for the succeeding days were 351 miles, 340 miles, 368 miles, 344 miles, 392 miles and 288 miles. Mr. Wise was so anxious to reach shore that, at the end of the voyage, he overlooked getting the figures for the last day.

Likes The Country

Canada, so far as he has seen it, appeals to Mr. Wise as a country equal to his expectations. From Halifax in the east, where the snow still lies on the ground, to Peterborough in the centre, he saw a great deal of the country, and was impressed with its great size. Peterborough also came in for its share of praise.

CORNELIUS WALL CHARGED WITH THEFT OF $31

At the Police Court This Morning—Mr. Frank Sullivan is the Plaintiff in The Case

At the police court this morning Edward O'Brien the man who was arrested yesterday in south end, on Park street, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning on the charge of being drunk in a public place. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 to be paid forthwith or 10 days in gaol. From all appearances at 10 a.m. it looked like a sojourn within the four gray walls and four gray towers of Castle Nesbitt for Mr. O'Brien.

The other case was that of Cornelius Wall who was charged with having stolen the sum of thirty-one dollars from Mr. Frank Sullivan on March 25th. Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for the defendant. The case was enlarged until Monday next.

ANCIENT FORESTERS ARE PROSPERING

Largely Attended Meeting of Court Stanley Was Held Last Night.

There was a large attendance of members at the quarterly meeting of Court Stanley, A. O. F., held last night in the S. O. E. Hall, the C. R. Bro. Hendry, presiding.

Three candidates were initiated into the mysteries of Forestry and seven propositions were received for membership. The committee, Bros. S. Adlum, R. J. Goodenough, Jas. McDonald, who had charge of the social gathering held on March 12, made a report and a vote of thanks was tendered to them for the way they carried out the evening's entertainment.

After considerable business was done for the good of the order, C. R. Bro. Hendry in behalf of the widow of the late Bro. R. Foster, expressed her sincere thanks for the kind and sympathizing letter sent to her during her recent bereavement and wishing the Order God-speed in its noble work.

GOT SHOCK

Watchman At C.G.E. Stunned

FIRST LIGHTNING STORM.

Street Cars Were Stalled for Short Time Because of Broken Trolley Wire.

The first lightning storm of the year was experienced last night and for a time it was quite severe. No serious damage is reported, though it is understood that the night watchman at the Canadian General Electric Company's works was stunned by the shock from one of the explosions. He was, however, not seriously injured and was able to continue his work.

The street cars were stalled for a time last night, too, through the breaking of a trolley wire on Lake street. The wire broke just about the time of the heaviest flash of lightning, but the information given at the office of the Peterborough Light and Power Company to-day was that it was not due to the lightening.

THE HEATING SYSTEM IS PERFECT

New King Edward School Heating Equipment is Particularly Efficient—Local Firm's Good Work.

In view of the unfortunate mistakes and difficulties incident to the building of the new South Ward Public School on Romaine street, it must be particularly gratifying to all concerned to learn that a very perfect system of steam heating has been installed. Tests of more than ordinary severity have recently been made since the contractors completed their work, all of which have resulted in demonstrating perfect circulation of steam and an efficient heating capacity—all over the buildings, from the basement to the highest point in the third storey—all radiators being filled with steam under one pound pressure.

To those familiar with the annoying "knocking" "pounding" sensations usually, if not almost invariably, occurring with steam heating systems, it will be pleasing to learn that this objectionable feature has been entirely overcome in the new South Ward School. The cast-iron boiler weighs about nine tons and there are nearly two miles of piping used throughout the building. Tests were made with hurried fires of dry pine wood, strong fires from coal, and slow burning fires, and in no case was there any imperfections detected. The architect of the building, the clerk of the works and members of the Board of Education are all, it is stated, delighted with the results. In fact, Architect Blackwell is reported as stating that he has never known a more perfect system of steam heating. In the circulation of the steam nothing has been found to interrupt its free and rapid course, except air and condensation, and these has been got rid of by an ingenious system of dripping and venting.

It is to our local firm of plumbers, Messrs. McGregor & Reid, that the credit belongs of installing this successful system of steam heating. Mr. Duncan MacGregor had personal charge of the steamfitting and the practical skill and ingenuity employed by him in providing so efficient a system for this large school, entitles him to high rank as a Master Plumber and Steamfitter, as well as the gratitude of all who may be benefitted thereby.

Severe Form of Asthma

"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my little girl, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. The least exposure of cold would lay her up, and she would nearly suffocate for want of breath. I must say that I found it to be a most satisfactory treatment and it has entirely cured her."—Mrs A. "SPOILS" 'IN MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

The evils of the "spoils" system in provincial politics, as introduced and practised by the Whitney Government, are self-evidently great in themselves. Their influence for evil is greater when the area of their malign operation is extended to include municipal politics. The spoils system has been introduced into Brantford with, of course, results injurious to the interests of the city. Brantford had its assessment done by a commissioner, whose work in that capacity, it is claimed, resulted in a very large increase of assessment value to the corresponding improvement of the revenue, and the lessening of the rate of taxation upon the general public. Both the system of assessment by commissioner and the individual work of the commissioner were judged of themselves eminently satisfactory. But the commissioner was a Liberal, and a charge of partizanship was trumped up against him. The charge, if it may be so called, was based upon rumour, and to show that the rumours were unfounded, one Conservative alderman, who made investigation for himself, was convinced that a charge of partisanship could not lie, and he honourably recorded his vote on Monday night against Mr. Thorburn's — that was the commissioner's name—dismissal. Nevertheless, Mr. Thorburn was dismissed. In a letter to the council he denied any allegation of wrong-doing, and demanded investigation. It was denied, and then the Whitneyesque way of ignoring the demand, was adopted, and the commissioner dismissed, without an opportunity for defence, a privilege which British justice accords to the meanest criminal. The dismissal of the commissioner involves a return to two assessors. The merits of the plan of employing two assessors, or of having the work of assessing done by commission, does not enter into our contention. The essential evil is the application of partizan methods to the management of municipal affairs. Whether or not the commissioner, and the system he represented, were satisfactory, as they are alleged to be, or otherwise, the system should have been abolished on its merits, and the commissioner dismissed on similar grounds, instead of the situation being used to play into the hands of partizan interests, very seldom reconcilable with those of the municipality at large. The introduction of party politics into the administration of municipal matters, is evil, only evil, and that continually.

FREE BINDER TWINE

The fact that not only binder twine but the fibre from which it is made is exempted from all duties, including the anti-dumping duty, is made the ground of an attack by The Mail and Empire on the Liberal member for Peterborough, he being interested in an important twine factory. Binder twine and its raw material are on the free list, and are accorded exceptional treatment among free goods in the form of exemption from the all-inclusive anti-dumping duty, not only in the interest of manufacturers, but in the interest of agriculture. Manufacturers can buy hemp and dealers and farmers can buy twine at bargain-day prices without being penalized by any special impost. That is an excellent policy, reflecting credit on the Government, and needing no defence. In every part of the Dominion the farmers will enjoy the resultant advantages. A consideration that may have influenced the Government in the retaliatory clause in the American tariff, which would have denied free entry to Canadian twine if we had retained any duty, anti-dumping or otherwise. American retaliatory folly has been ignored to save us from our own, in preventing us from imposing on ourselves duties that we would otherwise be bearing. The antagonisms of enemies may often become blessings in disguise.

We hear frequent complaints against the anti-dumping duty on the ground that it prevents our importers, merchants, and consumers from obtaining good bargains. The charge cannot be denied, but it must be borne in mind that this is the object of all protection, whether anti-dumping or otherwise. Its object is to cause not abundance but scarcity. Its mission is destructive, not productive. It is intended to increase the amount of labour and capital that must be expended to accomplish desired results. It obstructs or entirely prohibits the most expedient method of obtaining the things desired, thus forcing the adoption of more costly methods. Consumers of binder twine are relieved of all such burdens, and naturally The Mail and Empire thinks this not only a good ground of complaint, but an actual evidence of scandal. The policy is in accordance with Liberal traditions and appeals to the common sense of the community. It gives relief to the farmers, and they have better grounds than any other class for demanding moderation in tariff schedules and methods.

April Will Open With Stormy Period; Irl Hicks

St. Louis Weather Prophet Tells Us What Kind of Weather We May Expect During the Showery Month.

SOME STORMS PROMISED.

According to Irl Hicks we will experience some stormy weather around the beginning of April, his forecast for the month being as follows:—

A reactionary storm period is central from the 1st to the 3rd, with probabilities that disturbances of the last storm period in March will be prolonged into this opening period in April. The month will come in with unsettled, threatening conditions. These conditions will result in quickened storms of rain, wind and snow on and touching the 2nd. Snow, of course, is more probable over northern parts of the country but late squalls are entirely possible in central to southern parts. Change to higher barometer, westerly winds and cool enough for frosts in most sections northward may be expected from the 2nd to 5th beginning in the northwest and advancing eastward-southeastward.

A regular storm period covers the 5th to 9th. This period is central on the 7th and will reach its culminating stages, in low barometer and April thunder storms on and touching the 7th, 8th and 9th. If rising barometer and change to clearing, cooler weather follow these storms, they will be of short duration. The indications are that continued threatening weather, with April showers will be prolonged into the next period.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 11th, 12th and 13th. This period embraces the Moon on the celestial equator on the 11th, and new Moon on the 12th. These facts lead us to believe that storm conditions will be prolonged from the preceding period, and that a marked crisis of April storms will fall on and touching the 11th and 12th. A very low reading of the barometer at this time will presage violence and danger. Vicious electrical storms with hail, will visit many sections during the passage of these storm centres from west to east. Taking the 12th as the centre of a period of five days, we may reasonably look for reports of seismic disturbances from various parts of the globe. This is a question which every careful reader of the world's daily news may soon and satisfactorily settle for himself. The "old-gag" that "all these things are happening just as much one day as another, somewhere," is a false assumption. A few "Official professors" who use this "old saw" as a refrain to their stale and wormeaten criticisms, know better than any body else that it is not so. There are regular periodicities, or cycles, in all the phenomena of nature — cycles, which any patient, persevering, constant observer may prove for himself, in which storms, earthquakes and all related phenomena rise and fall to maximum and minimum. At one time they practically disappear; at another time they break forth in all directions and with astonishing force.

A regular storm period is central on the 19th extending from the 17th to the 22nd. As may be seen by the storm diagram for April, this period is at the centre of the great Saturn period; it is covered by the Vernal equinox, and also by the opening of the Mars period. The Moon is in apogee, at extreme north declination and first quarter, as indicated by A. N. and Fq. on the 18th 19th, 20th. We believe that this will prove one of the most decided, if not violent storm periods of the month. Any one who has cultivated the least familiarity with the moods and indications of nature, may know if storm conditions are present and threatening, locally, during this or any other period. If it grows very warm and muggy, with fitful south winds—if, above all, the barometer falls to very low readings and ominous clouds appear, the most prudent and calm watch should be kept until the storms develop and pass well to the east of each observer's locality. At a time like this several storm paroxysms may gather and pass over the same locality within a few hours. When the winds shift permanently to the west and the barometer shows a decided rise, the danger has passed to the eastward and the stiff breezes that may follow from a westerly direction may be regarded as harmless. A very decided change to cooler with some chances of frost northward, will follow behind the storm areas of this period — say from about the 21st in the northwest, progressively eastward during the 22nd to the 24th.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 24th, 25th and 26th. The disturbances of this period will culminate on and touching the 25th. General and heavy April showers will be natural, attended by very decided lightning and thunder. Our readers, especially those whose interests are most at stake, will not forget the fact that destructive hail storms are apt to accompany electrical storms at this and other April periods. If approaching thunderstorms take on a decided copperish hue, it will be safe to anticipate hail stones and use such means as are available for the protection of exposed glass and other fragile, perishable property. A marked rise of the barometer, with change to cooler and frosts northwards will be due about the 26th and 27th.

A regular storm period is central on the last day of April, extending from the 28th to May 3rd. The influence of the Mercury period also covers the last four days of April, with fll moon on the 28th and in perigee on the 30th. Storms of rain, hail and thunder will most likely develop by the 28th to 29th, and continue daily into the opening days of May. From about the 28th to May the 1st and 2nd, constitutes another period in which seismic phenomena are much more liable to occur. The central dates of greatest seismic probability fall on Sunday, Monday, 2nd and Tuesday, the 28th, 29th 30th.

Those who have followed our forecasts for years, and who have studied our storm diagrams and understood them, will know that the last half of April will in a large measure indicate the general character of the storms, weather and other phenomena which are to prevail quite through the month of May. By this we mean that if the weather is backward, cold or wet the the last half of April, the same general character of weather with some midifications of course, may be expected in May. If unseasonably dry, warm conditions prevail, interspersed with frequent electrical and tropical storms, look for a marked continuance of similar conditions through the month of May. Under the combined influence of Saturn, Jupiter and Mars added to all the other disturbing causes, whatever direction or "habit" nature may fall into at this time, will be tenaciously adhered to until the Mars period is near its end. Not only so, but extreme and phenomenal degree will be reached in whatever character of phenomena we find prevailing as we enter well into the Mars period. The astronomic conditions are such as to render the outlook peculiarly problematical, but we lean to the conviction, if not the conclusion, that seasonal conditions will be late and unfavourable in most parts of the whole northern hemisphere. At the same time all our old friends and followers know that we have always held that widely different conditions may prevail even in extreme parts of the same continent, each section having a long continued spell of whatever may prevail at the entrance of the Mars period. In a general way we are willing to declare that it will be wise and safe for agriculturists and others to take their cue for the month of May from the storms and the weather conditions which they find prevailing the last half of April. Let each and all extremes of our continent note this fact and govern their affairs accordingly.

Discolored Necks.

One of the common physical defects to which women are prone is a discolored neck, due, it may be, to dyes from the clothing or to hair lotions, pomades, etc., which work down from the head. Of course, barring the possibility of sunburn, the skin on the neck should have the same hue as that on the shoulders. It is well, however, before resorting to artificial means, to see what hot water, a coarse wash cloth and plenty of good soap will do in removing the discoloration. If a month of this natural treatment does not bleach the neck anoint it daily with peroxide of hydrogen. In case this irritates the skin a little vaseline or sweet almond oil may be rubbed in after the chemical has dried.

Excited Nerves, Twitching Muscles

SYSTEM EXHAUSTED BY WORRY AND LOSS OF SLEEP—PERFECT HEALTH THE RESULT OF USING

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Such cases as this make it impossible to doubt the restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., states: "For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the muscles, and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain, and, reading about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I decided to try it. After having used half a dozen boxes of this preparation, my old trouble had entirely vanished and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood. I am now past middle life and am in perfect health. I would not take worlds to-day and go back to my former state."

There is more or less mystery and doubt as to the specific action of many drugs, but it is positively and definitely known that iron forms new, red corpuscles in the blood, or, in other words, makes the blood rich and nourishing.

But iron alone cannot be taken into a delicate stomach. The great secret of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the way iron is combined with certain other restoratives so as to make a preparation that can be used with the greatest benefit by even the most weak and delicate person.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is also slightly laxative as well as tonic in influence, and, while building up the system, insures the regular and healthful action of the digestive filtering and excretory systems.

If you would enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and replace weakness and disease with health and vigour, use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—9.

PLEASANT EVENING AT THE RINK

Curling Club Smoker Was the Usual Delightful Event—An Impromptu Programme Presented.

SEASON'S PRIZES GIVEN.

For the last time this season about fifty members of the local brethren of the broom met in the curling rink last night and spent an evening of solid comfort and enjoyment. It was the occasion of the annual smoker of the Curling Club and was celebrated by the genial curlers in song and story. It was also made the occasion of the presentation of the prizes to those who had won championships at the rink during the past winter.

Mr. T. F. Matthews, the President of the Club, occupied the chair and on his left was seated Mr. R. M. Waddell the secretary. Mr. Matthews presented the programme which was of an impromptu character and therefore all the more interesting. The curlers had a piano installed in the room for the evening which was manipulated to the enjoyment of the assembly by Mr. Jno. Crane.

Address On Curling

One of the pleasing features of the smoker was an address by Mr. W. G. Ferguson on the subject of curling. He dealt chiefly with the weights of stones which should be used in contests. He advised that the leads and seconds of every rink should use heavier stones than they are usually accustomed to. A stone of 50 lbs., he believed, was not too heavy. The vices and skips might use whatever stone they were best adapted to.

Mr. R. Neill supplemented Mr. Ferguson's remarks and believed that if more attention were paid to the little details in curling, the players would meet with more success.

Prizes Presented

The presentation of the prizes to the winning curlers was made by the President. The recipients were Messrs. T. J. Wallace and T. Brightman, who won first and second places respectfully in the senior series of the thirteen point games; Messrs. J. H. Ferguson and R. N. Merritt, the winners of the junior series of the same games, and the rinks of Messrs. S. Ray and C. Rutherford, who were first and second in the rink competition games. The successful contestants who were present responded briefly with appropriate addresses.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson presented the club with a framed photograph of the rink which he skipped in Montreal and which won such fame for the Peterborough Club in carrying off the third prizes in single rink competition of the great centennary bonspiel. Mr. Matthews, as president, received the photo on behalf of the Club and responded, thanking Mr. Ferguson's rink for their remembrance. The picture will be hung up in the rink to grace the walls of the Club's parlours.

The Programme

As mentioned above the programme was an impromptu one but there was no lack of contributors. Songs were sung by Messrs. Walter Stocker, W. S. Davidson, Harry Evans, W. H. Denham and John Crane. All were enthusiastically applauded and many responded to encores. Speeches were also given by Messrs. E. H. D. Hall and D. H. Moore.

Messrs. W. G. Ferguson and R. Neill were appointed delegates to represent the local club at the annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association to be held in Toronto next week.

The pleasant and sociable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the King."

"DINNIE" DOBBIN IS WITH BRANTFORD TEAM

Former Peterborough Lacrosse Player Will Take Trip to American Cities With That Team This Year.

"Dinnie" Dobbin, who will be remembered by the lacrosse loving public of this city as the goal-keeper on the Peterborough team for many years writes to a friend in the city stating that he is to play this year with the Bradford team and will go with that team on a trip to New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia during the present spring, during the latter part of May or the beginning of June.

MR. REGAN INCLUDED IN THE NEWS' FORECAST

Should be Elected to Position on the C. L. A. Council.

The Toronto News of last night, printed a forecast of the personnel of the C. L. A. Council for 1907. Mr. Ambrose Regan, the nominee of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, was named as likely to be one of the ten candidates chosen. Mr. Regan is well known to the lacrosse men of the province, is thoroughly familiar with the details of the game, and is in every way fitted for a position on the council. Peterborough has never been represented on the council and its claims should be recognized in this case by the election of Mr. Regan.

PROGRAMME FOR THE BOUTS

Seven Athletic Events are Scheduled for To-night---Great Evening's Sport Is Promised.

BARRY VS. THE BRONCHO.

The patrons of to-night's big smoker in the old opera house will certainly be given their money's worth as there are no less than seven bouts on the bill: four in the boxing class and three wrestling events. The programme will undoubtedly be the best offered in this line in Peterborough. Billie Breen has made most complete arrangements for the event, and the public and those taking part will find everything necessary for their comfort and convenience.

Here is the programme of the athletic features:

Boxing.

8.15, Boxing, Eric Downey versus Murphy of Peterborough; 4 rounds.

8.45, Bill Wallace, Peterborough, vs. Jack Brown, Lindsay; 4 rounds.

9.15, Tom Daley, Toronto, vs. Corney Burns, formerly of Toronto; 6 rounds.

Wrestling.

9.30, Mike O'Toole vs. Harvey Staunton.

10 o'clock, Geo. Gauthier, Peterborough, vs. Harry Burridge, recently of Toronto.

10.30, Eugene Hurtubise, amateur heavy weight champion of Canada, vs. Jack Thompson of Hamilton.

Final Boxing Bout.

11 o'clock, Pete Barry, Toronto, vs. Fred Brown, Lindsay, ex-English champion; 8 rounds.

Chris Graham will referee the bouts. Musical numbers will be given by Billie Breen, George Lynch and Joe Guerin.

FAST BASKETBALL GAMES BOOKED FOR TO-NIGHT

Best vs. Dobbin at 8 O'clock and Laing vs. Richardson at 9.

To-night two more basketball games in the Spring League will be played at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. Rae Best's team will meet Dobbin's five, and this will be a battle royal, as both teams won their first game and therefore much depends on the issue of the contest. At 9 o'clock Richardson's and Laing's teams meet, and both will make a strong bid, as a loss will practically put the losers out of the running for championship honours.

It is expected that a large number of fans will be on hand to cheer their favourites to victory, and they will no doubt witness two of the best games of the season.

CHIEF ROSZEL HAS A WATCH FOR SOMEONE

It Was Found on Cornelius Wall When He Was Searched at the Police Station

When [illegible] was searched at the police station by P. C. Newhall after his arrest, a gold filled watch with hunting case was found on him. When asked about it by Chief Roszel he did not give a satisfactory answer to the Chief, at least the latter had his doubts as to the validity of the story and now, has possession of the watch. He said he got it about a year ago in the Oxford Hotel near the C.P.R. station, but that was all he had to say. If anyone has lost a watch of that description the Chief of Police will give him an opportunity to redeem it if it is his property.

SCENES IN LONDON AND PARIS WERE DESCRIBED

Rev. J. R. Webb Entertained Large Audience at the Murray Street Baptist Church Last Night by Trip to Old Country

ALMOST AS REALISTIC AS EMMERSON.

The Murray Street Baptist Church contained a large audience last night on the occasion of an illustrated address on "A Vacation in London and Paris." The address was given under the auspices of the B. Y. P. U., and was greatly appreciated by those present. It was, from an educational and instructive standpoint, a great success, giving those who have never visited those places the opportunity of forming an idea of the beauty and grandeur of the old world.

Mr. Webb enjoyed this trip while in charge of a pastorate in Montreal two years ago. His congregation presented him and his wife and two children with tickets for a trip to London, there to attend the Baptist Congress, and on July 1 he left Canada with a party of Canadians, 13 in all, on the inauspicious day, Friday, thereby setting superstition at defiance, and the result was a most pleasant one for the travellers.

Rev. Mr. Webb proved himself to be an excellent entertainer, and his remarks clearly demonstrated that he must be a very close observer of every day matters. Of almost every picture thrown on the screen he had something of more than usual interest to relate.

From Montreal

His trip commenced at Montreal, and he vividly described his trip across the Atlantic, up the Mersey to Liverpool, and thence to London.

Normandy, France

Rev. Mr. Webb conducted his listeners eastward to the shores of Northern France. Rural scenes were next presented, and the beauties of Normandy, its famous cattle that are known the world over, the peasantry and many other provincial scenes. The splendour and grandeur of Paris was next described.

The speaker closed the address by mentioning people who have been connected with Murray Street Church. One of these was Rev. John Gilmour, former pastor, who was confined as a prisoner of war in the prison on the rocky island off the coast of St. Malo. His remarks were very entertaining and interesting, and the address as a whole of particular excellence.

Mr. E. Hooker acted as chairman. A vote of thanks was tendered to Mr. Williamson for his kindness in operating the machine, which he did in an efficient manner.

About the Millinery Opening

The greatest display ever seen in Peterborough—and thats no exaggeration. It is fitting, too, that the crowds have been the greatest ever seen by the oldest members of the Department. The pre-eminence of Hall's Millinery was never more established without a doubt and practical approval was shown by the heavy purchases. Our experts know color blending like a book and they're up, too, in the way of just how much or how little is required to catch that "just so" effect. No wonder success has smiled upon us brighter than ever.

splendid isolation, although the president remarked that he favoured his opinion of the matter.

President's Report

President D. Hughes Charles read the following report:

To the members of the Peterborough Board of Trade.

Gentlemen,—

The past year has been a record one for our city. The manufacturers have all been very busy and large additions have been made to several of our largest concerns, and several new industries have been added to our already large list. The population of the city shows a fairly good increase, and a large number of dwelling houses, about 500, have been erected, so that there is not any danger of the housing problem troubling us as it seems to do in other cities.

Labour, owing to the building operations and a considerable amount of permanent work being done by the corporation in the way of sidewalks and sewers, was well employed, and at a high rate of wages.

As the farmers have had a bumper year, and this city is in the centre of a large farming district, our merchants have had a very prosperous year, and at the present time I do not think there is one store vacant in the city.

In our secretary's report you will notice that we have had only four meetings in the year, and the reason of this is that the City Council seemed to think they could do everything necessary for the welfare of our city themselves, and therefore asked for the assistance of our Board only once and that was to help them to get up a deputation to go to Ottawa to press for the early completion of the Trent Valley Canal. This is not as it should be, because there should exist a cordial co-operation between the Council and the Board of Trade in order that the best results to the community can be obtained. That is what is helping on all the western towns.

D. HUGHES CHARLES,
President.

March 26, 1907.

Secretary's Report

The secretary's report, presented by Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, was as follows:—

I have he honour of presenting to you, as secretary, the 18th annual report of this Board.

Meetings.—Since the last annual meeting, we have held four meetings of the Board, viz., November 27, 1906; December 18th, 1906; January 22nd, 1907, and January 29th, 1907.

Subjects Under Discussion. — The following subjects have been duly discussed at the above meetings,—"Early Completion of the Trent Waterway," "Filtration of City Water," "Municipal Ownership," "Dairy Show," and "Cheap Power."

Membership.—The number of members on the roll was 81, an increase of three on that of last year.

Attendance.—The average attendance of members was 15, a decrease of three on that of the previous year.

Deputations.—On Thursday, March 29, 1906, a large deputation waited on the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railway and Canals, to impress on him and his colleagues the vital necessity to the Dominion of the rapid completion of the Trent Waterway, and also the necessity of placing such a sum in the estimates as would complete this most important and long desired means of transportation. A circular letter was sent out by this Board to the secretaries of Boards of Trade, Mayors, Reeves of all cities towns and villages as would derive direct and immediate benefit by its completion, and also to the newspapers at these places, from Brandon in the west, to Montreal in the east. I am informed that this was the largest deputation which has ever waited on a Cabinet Minister in the history of the Dominion.

On Wednesday, March 13th, a deputation composed of members of the City Council, County Council and Board of Trade waited on the Hon. Mr. Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, re locating a Dairy Show in this City. Unfortunately the Western men, who were numerically stronger, utterly refused to come east of Toronto, and we lost the show for this year at least. Messrs. D. Hughes-Charles, F. D. Kerr, W. C. Switzer and P. Downham were to have represented our Board, but the President was unfortunately unable to attend on account of his recent illness. The other three gentlemen joined the deputation.

City Council Chamber.—The thanks of this Board are due to Ex-Mayor Best, His Worship Mayor McWilliams, the past and present Board of Aldermen and City Clerk Armstrong, for the use of the City Council Chamber during the past year.

Local Press.—The thanks of the Board are also due the reporters of the three local newspapers for the able manner in which the business of the Board has been reported for the last year.

Respectfully yours,
T. Q. QUARTERMAINE,
Secretary.

Peterborough, March 26th, 1907.

Owing to the fact that the treasurer, Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, has left the city and a new treasurer has not yet been appointed, there was no report from the treasurer last night, but it will be presented at a meeting at an early date.

The election of officers was the next business in order, but on motion of Ald Bradburn seconded by Mr. Ruddkins it was decided to postpone the election until two weeks from last night when a large attendance is looked for.

Votes Of Thanks Passed

On motion of Mr. J. Coyle Brown, seconded by Mr. T. A. S. Hay a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. D. Hughes-Charles who is retiring from the presidency after four years in the position. Both gentlemen referred to the great service rendered by Mr. Hughes Charles in connection with the Board, saying that he had done all that he could possibly do to make it a success.

On motion of Mr. R. E. Wood, seconded by Mr. W. S. Dodd, a vote of thanks was passed to Ex-Mayor Best, Mayor McWilliams, this year and last year's councils and the City Clerk for the use of the council chamber.

Mr. Wood referred to the fact that during the year three valuable members had left or will leave the city, Col. E. B. Edwards, Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun. He thought the appreciation of the Board for the good work done by them and moved that a record of appreciation should be placed on the minutes of the Board. Mr. Dodd who seconded the motion adding to it the rider that the secretary write each of the above named gentlemen to thank them for their efforts.

The Board then adjourned.

"THE BEST PLACE TO BUY YOUR LIQUORS"

Very Interesting Addresses Were Heard By The Dairymen

Special Meeting Yesterday Afternoon Was a Most Profitable Session---Messrs. Hume and Publow Gave Much Good Advice.

THE NEED OF BETTER CONDITIONS WAS REFERRED TO.

The special dairymen's meeting, held the county council chamber yesterday afternoon, under the joint auspices of the Farmers' Institute and the Eastern Dairymen's Association, was marked by the great interest that was displayed by those who were present rather than by the large attendance. The number present was smaller than had been expected, but the bad roads were no doubt accountable for the keeping of many at home who would otherwise have been present. However, there was a representative gathering and the meeting was a most profitable one. The features were the addresses of Mr. Alex. Hume, of Menie, and Mr. G. G. Publow, the Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, both of which were of a practical nature containing some very good advice to those interested in the dairy industry. That the gathering thoroughly understood the remarks of the speakers was shown by the intelligent questions that were asked Mr. Publow. He made a very strong plea for better things in the cheese line, referring very strongly to the bad cheese that was sent to the old country last year and asked if the dairymen could stand an investigation such as that conducted in connection with the packing houses and canning factories.

Mr. J. N. Telford, president of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, was elected to the chair, and in a brief opening address said that though the attendance was small, those present were deeply interested in the dairy business.

Selection Of Dairy Cows

Mr. Alex. Hume of Menie, delivered a very interesting address on the selection and care of dairy cattle. In his opening remarks he said that the people of Peterborough were very much interested in the dairy industry and he referred to the deputation which waited upon the Dairy Convention in an effort to have the National Show for Peterborough. They had put up a good fight and he was sorry that they had not won out.

The most profitable cow, he stated, was the one that gave a steady flow of fairly rich milk. This was the ideal cow for the dairy business, and he advised his hearers to choose one of the well-known breeds of dairy cattle. The time had passed when a dairyman was satisfied with a dairy cow of any breed. Life was too short to begin with nothing and work up to an ideal. His advice was to buy the right breed of dairy cow, if they did not already own them. The heifer should be developed for dairy purposes, not for beef, and therefore she should be fed so as to grow fast but not to fatten.

Weed Out The Poor Cows

Weed out the poor cows and fill up with better ones, was the advice offered. They should not be satisfied with poorer milk than 3 or 4 per cent. It would be well to have that in view as well as large quantities of milk. Some men say that there was little in breeding, but he had found out by experience that there was a great deal in breeding, although there were exceptions as in the case of every rule. They should never lose sight of the ideal cow. By all means they should decide on what breed they were going to have, and always keep that breed. Better results would be attained in this way. He advised his hearers to keep a record of what their cows are doing. The cow that gave the greatest profit above her cost was the one that gave a steady flow of milk.

The Feeding Of Dairy Cows

He passed on to discuss the feeding and care of the dairy herd. Feeding and breeding went together and could not be separated. In connection with the feeding the speaker advocated to not forget ensilage corn, roots and clover. Reference was made to the feeding of turnips and the speaker stated that the Campbellford section was famous for the feeding of turnips. He very strongly advised against the feeding of turnips to dairy cows. They might be fed safely, but he was just as certain that they would not be fed safely.

There were other foods that were just as cheap and that would do no harm. The speaker spoke of mangles in this connection. When the cows go out on to the grass there was no need of any other feed. There was nothing better than ensilage for feed in the dry weather and in the winter. The speaker said that a silo was the best store house for corn, and cement was the best material. Straw was not a good food alone; 20 or 25 pounds of ensilage twice a day was sufficient for each cow.

The speaker made a plea for proper stables for the dairy cows—such as could be well ventilated and easily cleaned. He advised keeping the cows clean, so that they might be shown with pride and pleasure. Keep the stable and the cows clean, was the advise he gave.

Mr. Publows Address

Mr. C. C. Publow, Chief Dairy Instructor for Eastern Ontario, gave a very comprehensive address on the "Cheese-making Industry," speaking of the need of keeping the cows, milk, premises, etc., as clean as they could be kept.

In the paring, the cheese made showed the poorest keeping qualities, due to the condition of the animals' health and the sanitary conditions in which they are placed. It is a difficult thing to get milk away from the cow in the spring without getting hair, etc., from the animal, in the milk, as the cow is shedding its coat at this time. The cow should be groomed as often as a horse. "You can't get clean milk from a dirty cow," said the speaker. It was important that the animal should be kept in a sanitary condition, if sanitary milk was wanted.

The Care Of The Milk

Speaking of the care of th emilk and dairy utensils, the speaker said that they should look upon the milk as a crop. It requires a certain treatment to have it in the condition intended. The first thing to do was to keep the milk clean, and to do so the place in which the milking was done should be clean. If the place was dusty or had a bad odour it would be difficult to get clean milk.

The regulating of the temperature of the milk was an important factor. The best results were obtained from milk cooled to 65 degrees immediately after milking, which was not an easy thing for farmers to do. To cool milk properly it was necessary to have the proper appliances. The best results were got by running the milk over a cool surface in a thin layer, which does away with the animal odour, as well as cooling it. The next best method was to surround the vessel containing the milk with cold water or ice. He recommended the use of ice, as it cooled quickly. Another way was to put the cooling material into the milk. This could be done by putting a vessel containing ice into the can of milk.

Keeping Milk over Sunday

To keep milk from Saturday night until Sunday morning, it should be cooled to a temperature of 50 degrees. The milk should be covered up for two reasons, to prevent dust and dirt from getting in, and to keep the cream from hardening.

Not only should the patron do his part in keeping the milk clean, etc., but he should see that he gets the most out of it. He should see that the man who handles it is getting the most out of the milk, or whether he is making the kind of cheese that that makes the best returns. It had been found from tests that the average of milk ranging from 3.5 to 3.8 per cent. in butter fat should range about 2 6-10 lbs. of cheese for every pound of butter fat.

No one should be more concerned over the quality of the cheese than the man who owns it. The maker should be a man who has skill enough to manipulate it well.

Heep Of Better Things

Mr. Publow passed on to point out the need of better things in connection with the dairy business. He referred to the fact that much of the cheese sent over to the Mother Land last year had been too green, and he asked if this was right. The cheesemen were so anxious to get rid of their cheese at the high prices that they sent out cheese before it was properly ripened.

The people of Peterborough section, he said, had a pretty good reputation in connection with the cheese they made, but this condition did not exist all over the country. He asked whether the dairymen would be able to stand the inspection that was made of the packing houses and canning industries, and doubted whether under the present conditions they could. He made a strong plea for improvement, and commended the Government for requiring all cheese factories to be inspected by sanitary inspectors.

President Young

President Young, of the Peterborough Cheese Board, next addressed the meeting. He said that he had been greatly interested in the remarks of the speakers, and said that there were several things mentioned to which he wanted to refer. In the first place, he spoke very strongly against the feeding of turnips, saying that mangels were far better feed and just as cheap.

The speaker made reference to the cheese boxes in use in this country, and thought that something better should be done in this line. Cheese, he said, was landed on the English market in boxes that were a disgrace.

Mr. Ed. M. Elliott

Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, formerly president of the Cheese Board, was called upon to address the meeting. He referred to the greatness of the agricultural interests of Canada. The amount realized from farm products in 1906 was over $100,000,000, and in 1907 would probably be at least $150,000,000. It behooved the farmers to attend these meetings as much as possible and to endeavour to learn to improve their products.

Messrs. R. A. Ward and G. A. Gillespie were called upon, but declined to take up any more time, and the interesting session came to a close.

REV. DR. MARSH PLEASES THE OMEMEE AUDIENCE

Omemee Delegates Ottawa Have Praise for Peterborough Officials.

Examiner Special.

Omemee, March 26.—Our delegates on the Trent Valley navigation scheme, to Ottawa, are loud in their praises of the courtesies extended by Peterborough officials and delegates, and reported to our Board of Trade that every encouragement was given them at Ottawa.

Mr. J. J. Lamb has been appointed president of the Board of Trade, and Mr. Wm. H. Curry, vice-president. There are about twenty members altogether.

The winter wheat and clover are safe so far in the Omemee district.

Our village band gives their first outdoor concert Saturday evening, weather permitting.

Mrs. (Dr.) Cochrane and Mrs. McPherson visited the millinery opening in Peterborough last week.

Rev. Dr. Marsh delighted an Omemee audience last Thursday with views and lecture on astronomy. The whole affair was highly spoken of, particularly by our High and Public School teachers and pupils.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"A laugh is worth a hundred groans in any market," wrote the brilliant but erratic Charles Lamb. That partially explains the great success of "Are You a Mason," the clever comedy that will be produced at the Grand Opera House next Monday, April 1st. A brighter and more cleverly constructed farce has never been presented on the stage. The story tells the troubles of an elderly gentleman and his son-in-law, who, in order to account for their frequent absence from home pretend to be Free Masons. The farcical possibilities of the piece are obvious. To these are added a new version of the central idea in "Charley's Aunt," and half a dozen subsidiary ideas, each replete with fun. When this play was first produced in London the Daily Mail said:—"Rarely has a theatre resigned itself to such boisterous mirth as that which echoed around the stalls, rippled around the dress circle, bellowed from the pit and thundered from the gallery of the Shaftesbury Theatre. The audience fairly rocked with laughter as each caught the contagion of merriment from his neighbours. One could see old men and maidens, young men and children, shaking and crying, convulsed at the impossible absurdities of "Are You a Mason."

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

BOMB EXPLODED IN THE HOUSE

Mr. Bourassa Brings Forward His Motion in the House.

PRIME MINISTER'S ANSWER

Members of Parliament Not to Be Convicted on Rumor—Will Investigate Any Direct Charges—Report of Insurance Commission Makes No Charge Against Any Member—Denies Insinuations.

Ottawa, March 27.—The galleries of the House of Commons were thronged yesterday in a manner which has never been seen before during the present session. The attraction, of course, was the announced intention of Mr. Bourassa to bring before the House the question of the insinuations made by Mr. Fowler against some undefined members of Parliament, and also the report of the Insurance Commission in its possible bearing on the actions of Messrs. Foster, Lefurgey, Fowler and Bennett. Mr. Bourassa delivered a carefully prepared speech, occupying fully two hours, and introduced a motion to the effect that these matters should be referred to a special committee for investigation.

Prime Minister's Reply.

The Prime Minister, while emphatically stating his intention to maintain the dignity of Parliament, pointed out that it was not in the province of Parliament to inquire into all the tittle-tattle of the street, and he was surprised that the member for Labelle should have gone to the gutter to dig up scandal. He also made a statement to the House to the effect that on hearing the rumors personally against the Minister of Public Works he had inquired through a mutual friend from Mr. Hyman with regard to them, and received an emphatic denial. He also referred in terms of reprobation to the publication without a jot of evidence of a scandalous rumor against another Minister.

Supports Resolution.

The leader of the Opposition considered that some investigation should be held, and expressed his intention of supporting the resolution. Mr. Foster claimed that under the shadow of a Royal Commission an attempt had been made to destroy the Conservative party, and promised that in his own time he would make a statement. The debate was carried on by the Finance Minister and Messrs. Lavergne, Leighton McCarthy, Sproule, Miller and Bennett, and on the motion going to vote it was defeated by 109 to 56.

When the orders of the day were called, Mr. Fielding asked the House to facilitate the passage of a special supply bill, granting a sum not exceeding one-fifth of the amount of the items in the public estimates not already passed in committee. The sum required was $26,058,169, and, after the usual procedure, a bill granting that amount was introduced and read a first time.

Mr. Bourassa Opens the Ball.

On motion to go into supply Mr. Bourassa said if it was expected by anyone that he was going to engage in the work of the man with the muckrake he wished to dispel that expectation. He brought the question forward because he considered it was his public duty to give voice in Parliament to the clamor of public opinion, as it was expressed at present throughout all Canada. The origin of that question lay with the Royal Commission, not with that House. Certain facts, with which the names of members of the Commons and the Senate were connected, were brought to light by the Commission. These facts were of public notoriety; they were contained in official documents printed under the authority of the Crown and by the consent of Parliament. Upon these facts the press of the country had been carrying on a campaign comment—he might say a campaign of slander. Comments had been passed upon the honor, integrity and independence of members, until neither the accused parties nor those who thought they might have been remiss in their duty could allow the session to close before on one side they justified themselves as public men. What made it the imperative duty of the House to investigate was that public opinion was losing confidence in the integrity of its public institutions and of the members of these institutions. Rightly or wrongly, an impression prevaled that both parties were afraid of the revelations, and that neither party wanted to pass judgment on the other.

He moved that a special committee be appointed to conduct a strict and impartial enquiry.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said: "The motion which has been placed in the Speaker's hands by Mr. Bourassa is the most extraordinary which in the course of a long Parliamentary life I have ever seen.

He says that it is the duty of the Prime Minister to take the responsibility of an investigation. It is the duty of the Prime Minister, certainly, to see that every charge which is brought against a member is investigated, and if my honorable friend from Labelle will bring such an accusation against anybody he shall have the fullest opportunity to make it good.

The vote on Mr. Bourassa's resolution was taken and resulted in a Government majority of 53—yeas 56, nays 109. Except for Messrs. Bourassa, Lavergne and Robitaille, who voted with the Opposition, it was a straight party vote. Mr. Foster and Mr. Fowler did not vote in view of the fact that their names were mentioned in the resolution.

The House adjourned at 12.15 a. m.

Cigarette Kills Paralytic.

Philadelphia, March 27.—Campbell A. P. Snodgrass, a helpless paralytic, 56 years old, was burned to death in his bed here yesterday. He was an inveterate cigarette smoker and accidentally set fire to the bed cloth ing.

RUSSIANS IN DANGER.

Soldiers Are Sent to Quell Disorderly Persian Natives.

Teheran, Persia, March 27.—Serious disorders have broken out at Sebzewar, necessitating the intervention of Russian troops.

The lawless natives of the vicinity have risen, and are attempting to force an entrance into the city. Two Russians have been killed and a number wounded.

The lives of all the Russians are in danger.

Reinforcements of Russian troops are reported to have started for Sebzewar.

What Russian troops were doing in Sebzewar has not been stated. Recently it was denied that Russian troops were entering Persia. Sebzewar is a city of 18,000 people, in the Province of Khorazan, and is about a hundred miles from Russian territory. Great Britain has been reported to be very closely watching developments in Persia, where Russian aggression is feared.

Helped Him Suicide.

New York, March 27.—With the innocent aid of his little six-year-old daughter Violet, Theodore Schmidt, a painter, who was partially paralyzed, committed suicide Monday with illuminating gas. Schmidt instructed the child to bring a piece of rubber hose from the kitchen, attack it to a gas jet, wind the other end around his neck and place it in his mouth. He then told her to turn on the gas and go to play.

Kills Prohibition Bill.

Halifax, March 27.—The prohibition liquor bill came up in the House of Assembly yesterday for a second reading. The galleries were packed and great interest was taken in the anticipated debate.

Things took a quick turn, however, and the bill was killed by the Speaker, who ruled it out of order as unconstitutional.

Shot a Chinaman.

Port Arthur, March 27.—The coroner's jury in the case of the Nepigon shooting returned a verdict in effect that Ching, the Chinaman, came to his death from a bullet fired from a pistol in the hands of one Derome, but that in the opinion of the jury the shooting was accidental and without intent to do harm.

Threw a Bomb.

Bialystok, Russia, March 27.—A bomb was thrown yesterday at Governor-General Bogslevski while he was out driving. The Governor-General was uninjured, though the force of the explosion broke all the windows in the street, and his coachman was slightly wounded. The bomb-thrower escaped.

IRELAND AND HOME RULE.

Lord Rosebery Says Irish Are Disloyal People.

London, March 27.—Presiding at a meeting of the council of the Liberal League, held here yesterday, Lord Rosebery said Great Britain would never tolerate a separate Irish Parliament. Such a proposal went far beyond anything the late Mr. Gladstone intended.

"A system suitable for Canada and Australia," Lord Rosebery added, "would be different in a contiguous island, which, in its public declarations, prided itself on its disloyalty."

Continuing, the speaker said he doubted if the Government's promised measures for Ireland would go to extremes, but it was a pity the Government's principal men were making speeches leading the country to believe that something radical was intended.

He, Lord Rosebery, owed no allegiance to the present Government, nevertheless he congratulated it on its success thus far.

He feared, however, it was promising too much. If it made any general attack on property, as was threatened, its existence would be speedily ended.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

Reciprocity Not to Be Negotiated By Bryce.

London, March 27.—Replying in the House of Commons yesterday to a question of Mr. Arnold Forster, a former war secretary, Foreign Secretary Grey said the general regulations respecting commercial reciprocity between the United States and Canada, which had been left unsettled in 1898, had not been re-opened in the recent negotiations of Ambassador Bryce and would form no part of them.

Secretary Grey had not heard that Secretary Root proposed the adoption by Canada of the United States tariff against Great Britain and all other countries and then the establishment of free trade between Canada and the United States.

Mr. Bryce had been empowered to do his best to settle the outstanding questions between the United States and Canada. Negotiations respecting commercial reciprocity would technically form part of such outstanding questions, but neither the United States nor Canada, so far as Great Britain was aware, had shown any desire to reopen the matter.

GILBERT REPRIEVED.

Sentence On Regina Murderer Commuted to Life Imprisonment.

Ottawa, March 27.—An order-in-Council has been passed and approved by Lord Grey yesterday, changing the death sentence passed upon Josiah Gilbert, of Regina, sentenced to be hanged on April 5, for the murder of B. Henderson, a farmer, to imprisonment for life.

Gilbert was sentenced to be hanged in November, but has had three respites to permit his case being taken to the Supreme Court. The last respite was to April 5th.

Cannibalism In China.

Shanghai, March 27.—The famine-stricken Chinese have been practising cannibalism in localities where the distress is most acute. Authenticated cases have been few, but it is feared cannibalism will spread unless relief can be more speedily and more widely distributed.

The spread of fever continues and the heavy rains are increasing the general misery. Spasmodic rioting has occurred, but the outbreaks have not been serious.

Large orders for grain have been placed in America, Australia and Manchuria, with the stipulation that they must be filled as promptly as possible.

Cuts Child Labor Hours.

Albany, N.Y., March 27.—The assembly yesterday adopted an amendment to the Page eight-hour labor bill limiting the hours during which children may work at factories from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

EMPLOYERS BENEFITTED THROUGH THE EFFORT TO ERADICATE CONSUMPTION

A determined effort is being made in Providence, R. I., to stamp out tuberculosis, particularly among the mill hands and factory employes. The Brown & Sharp Mfg. Co., which employs upwards of 4,000 men, is actively co-operating in this movement.

The first step was to post a notice in the works, explaining the nature of the disease, the great danger of neglecting the early symptoms, and advising the most effective treatment. A physician who has made a specialty of tubercular disease was provided, free of expense to the employe, to examine and advise upon each case.

Some employes took advantage of the privilege on their own account, others were given the benefit of suggestion and willingly followed the well meant advice, while still others had to be induced with more effort.

A number of cases were discovered among the men. Some were sent to the State Sanatorium for modern open air treatment. Others were urged to take up open-air work, and wherever possible the company found such work for them. No tubercular person was allowed to remain in the works, for his own sake as well as for that of his fellow workmen. Sanitary precautions were taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Many of the men have already returned to work robust and generally in fine condition.

Few, if any, large manufacturing establishments are free from consumption among the employes. it is a well known fact that pulmonary tuberculosis is so insidious in its workings that the victim seldom realizes the danger until the disease has taken a strong hold. It is among the apparently superficial colds and coughs that the incipient cases are found, and a suggestion from the employer is the one thing needed to stimulate the desire for treatment. Doubtless the future will see very strict regulations governing tuberculosis, and the progressive men who are doing this work of their own volition are only anticipating what will probably be made compulsory.

Colds often lead to serious consequences, and should not be neglected. There is no more effective remedy for colds and coughs than the simple formula, prescribed by an authority on lung trouble, than calls for a half pint of Whiskey, two ounces of Glycerine and a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure). These ingredients cost little and can be purshased of any good prescription druggist and mixed at home. Mix well and use in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up for dispensing only, in half-ounce vials, each vial securely sealed in a round wooden case with an engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ontario—plainly printed thereon. The oils sold in bulk and the many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) put out under similar name and style of package are not only ineffective, but often dangerous. It is always well to remember that the object of an imitator is to deceive. There is no known substitute for Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure)

THAW DOESN'S FEVR NEW TURN

Judge Fitzgerald Appoints Lunacy Commission.

WILL DECIDE HIS FATE

Three Men Are Named,—Judge, Physician and Lawyer—Will Say Whether Prisoner is Sane or Insane. —Evelyn Breaks the News to Her Husband—Thaw Is Still Hopeful of Result.

New York, March 27.—Justice Fitzgerald yesterday unexpectedly handed down a decision ordering a commission in lunacy to enquire into the [illegible] interested men named to conduct the enquiry will guide the future action of the court as to ordering Thaw to an asylum for the insane or directing that the indefinitely interrupted trial for his life shall proceed.

Justice Fitzgerald announced the appointment of the commission privately in his chambers. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw was there with the lawyers, and it became her task to break the news to her husband in the Tombs. Tearful when she left the judge's rooms in the criminal courts buildings, the young woman, who has been such a conspicuous figure in the trial from first to last, was smiling and cheerful when Thaw was brought from his cell to the hospital ward of the prison to meet her.

Thaw accepted the court's decision philosophically and once more declared he had no doubt the commission would declare him a sane man.

The personnel of the commission named by Justice Fitzgerald lends a new distinction to this already notable case.

Personal of Commission.

The men who will determine Thaw's mental capacity are Morgan J. O'Brien, former justice of the appellate division of the state supreme court; Peter B. Olney, former district attorney of New York County, and a lawyer of high legal attainments, and Dr. Leopold Putzel, a practicing physician and authority on mental disorder.

Former Justice O'Brien is one of the trustees, with Grover Cleveland, of the Hyde Stock in the Equitable Life Assurance Society purchased by Thos. F. Ryan, just prior to the insurance investigation. When he was a candidate for re-election to the bench in 1901, as a Democrat, Justice O'Brien was unopposed. President Roosevelt made a trip from Washington to Oyster Bay to cast his ballot for him.

Before being elected district attorney of New York County in 1893, Mr. Olney had been a member with Wm. C. Whitney of the commission appointed in 1879 to revise the laws of the state affecting public interests in New York City. He is a graduate of Harvard.

Dr. Putzel is a graduate of the Bellevue Hospital medical school, and has had a long experience in that institution. He is qualified before the state medical board as an examiner in lunacy.

Will Excuse Jury To-Day.

The Thaw jury was ordered on last Friday to report before Justice Fitzgerald to-day at 10.30 o'clock. At that hour there will be a brief court procedure, the jury being excused indefinitely.

No date has been fixed for the first meeting of the commission. There probably will be some definite announcement on this matter to-day, as the law under which the commissioners appointed directs that they proceed with their enquiry forthwith.

It is probable that Thaw will be asked first of all to submit to a rigid physicial examination. Having undergone several of these since his incarceration, he is somewhat nervous on this subject, but it was said last night by his counsel that he would do everything in his power to aid the commission with its work, and that he hoped for an early opinion as to his sanity.

Justice Fitzgerald based his decision on the conflict of affidavits as presented by the opposing counsel, saying they were too diametrically at odds to permit of a decision other than in favor of an impartial enquiry.

MOONLIGHTER'S REVENGE.

Illicit Distillers of Liquor Attack Two Women.

Danville, Va., March 27.—A special to the Register from Stuart, Va., which is about 75 miles from Danville, says that as a result of an attack by a mob of men on Sunday night, Annie Hall, a white woman, residing near Charity, Patrick County, was shot to death, and her sister, Jane Hall, seriously wounded.

The accounts of the murder are very meager, and it is supposed to have been the work of illicit distillers of whiskey. The murdered woman and her sister lived in a cottage with their nephew, and it is alleged that they had been acting in the capacity of spies and had been reporting to the revenue officers the whereabouts of the illicit distillers and the names of the operators.

GUELPH WRECK VERDICT.

Train Was Going Sixty Miles An Hour, "a Dangerous Rate."

Guelph, March 27.—The finding of the jury, empannelled to examine into the recent wreck on the G.T.R. near Guelph, shows that the train was going at the rate of sixty miles an hour, which they considered "a dangerous rate of speed, considering the season, the weight of the rail and the engine."

A Most Exciting Race On The Ice At Toronto Harbour

A Russell Car and Ice Boat Tried Conclusions—Marvellous Speed Attained by These Flying Vehicles.

THE ICEBOAT WAS BEATEN

An Interesting Story of the Great Contest of Speed---Exciting Time of Those Riding the Car and Boat.

In this day of continual smashing of speed records, we wonder where the limit will be reached. A mile a minute is considered fast time, but when we think of two miles a minute travelled by a locomotive on the New York Central lately, we hold our breaths. Even this has been eclipsed. An automobile has made a mile in 28 2-5 seconds at Ormond Beach. Anyone who has any experience with iceboats know what terrific speed they attain with a good breeze. For a long time it has been desired to match an auto against one of these boats. Recently, this race was pulled off on Toronto Bay, and a Canadian car, the Russell, carried off the laurels.

Sliding sideways, leaping to two skates, and sending the snow sifting off to leeward like steam from a hard-driven locomotive, Fred Phelan's iceboat "It" was beaten a length by a Russell Motor car in the most unique racing event ever pulled off in Canada.

While the iceboat was beaten in two races by the motor car, she made it so close in the second that the iceboat men are satisfied that they can trim the speedy little Russell car on better ice and with more wind.

The memory of that final dash across the bay will live long in the memories of those who were in the contest. It was a red-hot go from the outset, and the finish was a wild one, for the iceboat, hard driven in an effort to beat her machine-driven rival, reared upon two skates and came down with her horn jabbed into the mud guard on the rear wheel. For a second it looked as if the event would wind up with a tragedy.

The car was driven by Mr. Charles Ricketts. It was a light, four-cylinder Russell touring car of the ordinary type, but the way in which she stepped along made the few spectators of the race open their eyes.

Won Preliminary

In a preliminary canter across to a buoy at Hanlan's Point the motor car was pitted against Joseph Goodwin's new iceboat, Zoraya. Zoraya was dull and slid sideways like a crab, but at that she hugged the motor all the way, and the iceboat men were jubilant, for they knew that the champion "It" was faster than Zoraya under the conditions. Then "It" was trotted out and, with Rear-Commodore Phelan at the helm, she and Zoraya gave the motor car a race. The boats had the westward wind pretty well abeam and were stepping along in a pretty fair style, but when Ricketts opened the car out she trimmed the ice machines a quarter-mile handily in a trip to Hanlan's Point and return.

Then the motor was asked to give "It" a dash across the bay, with the wind, which was steadily increasing in force, a trifle aft of the iceboat's beam. The motorists were ready and willing, but the car was half way across the bay before the iceboat picked up decent speed, and she never had a look-in. The wind, which was coming off the city, was weak on the city shore, but strong over along the island.

Still Not Satisfied

The iceboat men were still not satisfied, and another dash across the bay was arranged, the conditions being that the motor car should stay even with the iceboat until the iceboat gathered her speed.

"It" picked up a gust early and, before the car could get going she was a hundred yards in front. Inch by inch the little car let out to the last notch, gained on the flying leader, and, when the iceboat struck a soft spot in the wind, she crept even.

Then the ice yacht got a strong wind, and for the last three-quarters of a mile there certainly was some racing of the most strenuous type.

The gust picked "It" off her feet, and away she went like a thing of wings. She was riding on two skates —her leeward side skate and her steering skate. The weather skate waved about, ten feet in the air, and perched on top of it, sticking to the sheer leg like a leech, was a member of "It's" crew, striving with his weight to bring her back upon her feet. He hung out as far as he dared, while down below him in the cock-pit, Phelan refused to ease her an inch, and young Tom McDonnell, on the main sheet, had a couple of half-hitches around the sheet.

It was win out, or go over!

A Close Call

For fully ten seconds the iceboat careened along on two skates. The motor car pulled in alongside of her, and when she came back to the ice again they tore along side by side. Just to weather, the motor car was buzzing along like a whole hive of bees, and the water from the slushy ice was flying from her wheels like water from a lawn sprayer. In her the passengers ducked their heads and clung to their hats with both hands.

Ricketts let her out another inch, and then another gust struck "It." Up she came on two skates again and broached threateningly toward the motor car. Driver Ricketts was watching his rival closely, however, and sheered off just in time to avert a smash. Again the iceboat carried along a hundred yards or more on two blades, came back with a bump, and leaped forward with renewed speed. The motor car pulled back alongside, and, inch by inch, crept up on the boat. For half a mile they raced neck and neck. Now and then the iceboat would rear up, and threatened to capsize completely, but Phelan always managed to get her back without a disaster, and the pair came on to the finishing line at top speed. Just as the motor car crossed the mark the "It" reared up again and, leaping forward like a bullet, crashed into the rear of the motor car, a serious accident being narrowly averted. The experience of the motorists in this last regard is one they will not care to have repeated. Indeed, after the skidding and sliding, it is doubtful if they would care to race again. The iceboat men, however, are anxious for another trial, and it is quite possible that the autoists will be persuaded.

When asked as to the possibilities of another race, Mr. T. A. Russell, manager of the Canada Cycle and Motor Co., would not say. He made this statement: "If this 25-h.p. car cannot beat this iceboat, we have a 40-h.p. which I guess will be able to take care of it."

RESIDENTS MUST GIVE RIGHT-OF-WAY

Board of Works Decision Regarding Diversion of Downie Street Creek.

The Board of Works held an outdoor session on Thursday afternoon about five o'clock in the north-western section of the city, and made a personal investigation of the Downie Street creek. Those present were Ald. Duncan, chairman, the Mayor, Ald. Johnston, Wilson, McIntyre, the city engineer, the street commissioner and the residents affected.

The Downie street creek affair is an old story, and will not be settled without concessions from the property owners whose property the creek will pass through, if its course is changed. The Board decided on Thursday evening that as soon as all the residents affected agree to give a right of way through their properties the creek would be diverted, but until this is done no action will be taken.

The committee also looked over the ground at the corner of Dublin and Bethune streets, where the water flowed into Mr. N. Lush's yard. The engineer will be asked to report on what can be done to relieve the situation.

REAL SUCCESS IN LIFE.

How a Man Manages His Private Affairs, So Will He Prosper.

The most abused word in this English language is the word "bargain." Very often the word is used in the shoe trade to get rid of shoes in which the virtues has gone out of the leather. Not long ago a lot of shoes which had been through both fire and water were sold as "bargains." Soak a pair of shoes in water and then bake them in an oven, and then see how the leather breaks to pieces.

Success in business means good judgment in buying. The failures are caused by bad judgment. Success in life follows good judgment in not wasting money. You will see that every successful man buys boots and clothing of standard known value, steering clear of so-called bargains. The man who buys a Slater shoe knows that he is getting better value than when he buys cheap shoes. The Slater stamped price is cheaper than the unknown they reduced from a price originally put upon it by the dealer. The Slater Shoe Company makes the shoe and makes the price, too. E. Hall, agent, Peterborough.

The Hound of the Baskervilles

Another Adventure of Sherlock Holmes.

ada. From the accounts which have reached us he is an excellent fellow in every way. I speak now not as a medical man but as a trustee and executor of Sir Charles's will."

"There is no other claimant, I presume?"

"None. The only other kinsman whom we have been able to trace was Rodger Baskerville, the youngest of three brothers of whom poor Sir Charles was the elder. The second brother, who died young, is the father of this lad Henry. The third, Rodger, was the black sheep of the family. He came of the old masterful Baskerville strain, and was the very image, they tell me, of the family picture of old Hugo. He made England too hot to hold him, fled to Central America, and died there in 1876 of yellow fever. Henry is the last of the Baskervilles. In one hour and five minutes I meet him at Waterloo Station. I have had a wire that he arrived at Southampton this morning. Now, Mr. Holmes, what would you advise me to do with him?"

"Why should he not go to the home of his fathers?"

"It seems natural, does it not? And yet, consider that every Baskerville who goes there meets with an evil fate. I feel sure that if Sir Charles could have spoken with me before his death he would have warned me against bringing this the last of the old race, and the heir to great wealth, to that deadly place. And yet it cannot be denied that the prosperity of the whole poor, bleak country-side depends upon his presence. All the good work which has been done by Sir Charles will crash to the ground if there is no tenant of the Hall. I fear lest I should be swayed too much by my own obvious interest in the matter, and that is why I bring the case before you and ask for your advice."

Holmes considered for a little time.

"Put into plain words, the matter is this," said he. "In your opinion there is a diabolical agency which makes Dartmoor an unsafe abode for a Baskerville—that is your opinion?"

"At least I might go the length of saying that there is some evidence that this may be so."

"Exactly. But surely, if your supernatural theory be correct, it could work the young man evil in London as easily as in Devonshire. A devil with

BRONCHITIS CAN BE CURED

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Will Do It.

Bronchitis is generally the result of a cold caused by inclement weather or exposure to wet, and is a very dangerous inflamatory affection of the bronchial tubes.

The symptoms are tightness across the chest, sharp pains and difficulty in breathing, and a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color.

Neglected Bronchitis is one of the most general causes of consumption, so cure it at once by the use of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. Fidder, Linton's, N.B., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of my experience with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. My little girl was very low with Bronchitis and our doctor did all in his power for her, but could only give her relief for a short time. My husband saw your medicine advertised, and immediately procured three bottles. I never saw anything give so much relief in so short a time. It stopped the annoying cough at night and she is now perfectly cured. I am so glad I can hardly express my gratitude for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for us."

there, mean powers like a parish vestry would be too inconceivable a thing."

"You put the matter more flippantly, Mr. Holmes, than you would probably do if you were brought into personal contact with these things. Your advice, then, as I understand it, is that the young man will be as safe in Devonshire as in London. He comes in fifty minutes. What would you recommend?"

"I recommend, sir, that you take a cab, call off your spaniel who is scratching at my front door, and proceed to Waterloo to meet Sir Henry Baskerville."

"And then?"

"And then you will say nothing to him at all until I have made up my mind about the matter."

"How long will it take you to make up your mind?"

"Twenty-four hours. At ten o'clock to-morrow, Dr. Mortimer, I will be much obliged to you if you will call upon me here, and it will be of help to me in my plans for the future if you will bring Sir Henry Baskerville with you."

"I will do so, Mr. Holmes." He scribbled the appointment on his shirt cuff and hurried off in his strange, peering, absent-minded fashion. Holmes stopped him at the head of the stair.

"Only one more question, Dr. Mortimer. You say that before Sir Charles Baskerville's death several people saw this apparition upon the moor?"

"Three people did."

"Did any see it after?"

"I have not heard of any."

"Thank you. Good morning."

Holmes returned to his seat with that quiet look of inward satisfaction which meant that he had a congenial task before him.

"Going out, Watson?"

"Unless I can help you."

"No, my dear fellow, it is at the hour of action that I turn to you for aid. But this is splendid, really unique from some points of view. When you pass Bradley's would you ask him to send up a pound of the strongest shag tobacco? Thank you. It would be as well if you could make it convenient not to return before evening. Then I should be very glad to compare impressions as to this most interesting problem which has been submitted to us this morning."

I knew that seclusion and solitude were very necessary for my friend in those hours of intense mental concentration during which he weighed every particle of evidence, constructed alternative theories, balanced one against the other, and made up his mind as to which points were essential and which immaterial. I therefore spent the day at my club and did not return to Baker Street until evening. It was nearly nine o'clock when I found myself in the sitting-room once more.

My first impression as I opened the door was that a fire had broken out, for the room was so filled with smoke that the light of the lamp upon the table was blurred by it. As I entered, however, my fears were set at rest, for it was the acrid fumes of strong coarse tobacco which took me by the throat and set me coughing. Through the haze I had a vague vision of Holmes in his dressing-gown coiled up in an armchair with his black clay pipe between his lips. Several rolls of paper lay around him.

"Caught cold, Watson?" said he.

"No, it's this poisonous atmosphere."

"I suppose it is pretty thick, now that you mention it."

"Thick! It is intolerable."

"Open the window, then! You have been at your club all day, I perceive."

"My dear Holmes!"

"Am I right?"

"Certainly, but how——?"

He laughed at my bewildered expression.

"There is a delightful freshness about you, Watson, which makes it a pleasure to exercise any small powers which I possess at your expense. A gentleman goes forth on a showery and miry day. He returns immaculate in the evening with the gloss still on his hat and his boots. He has been a fixture therefore all day. He is not a man with intimate friends. Where, then, could he have been? Is it not obvious?"

"Well, it is rather obvious."

"The world is full of obvious things which nobody by any chance ever observes. Where do you think that I have been?"

"A fixture also."

"On the contrary, I have been to Devonshire."

"In spirit?"

"Exactly. My body has remained in this armchair, and has, I regret to observe, consumed in my absence two large pots of coffee and an incredible amount of tobacco. After you left I sent down to Stamford's for the Ordnance map of this portion of the moor, and my spirit has hovered over it all day. I flatter myself that I could find my way about."

"A large-scale map, I presume?"

"Very large." He unrolled one section and held it over his knee. "Here you have the particular district which concerns us. That is Baskerville Hall in the middle."

"With a wood round it?"

"Exactly. I fancy the Yew Alley, though not marked under that name, must stretch along this line, with the moor, as you perceive, upon the right of it. This small clump of buildings here is the hamlet of Grimpen, where our friend Dr. Mortimer has his headquarters. Within a radius of five miles there are, as you see, only a very few scattered dwellings. Here is Lafter Hall, which was mentioned in the narrative. There is a house indicated here which may be the residence of the naturalist—Stapleton, if I remember right, was his name. Here are two moorland farm-houses, High Tor and Foulmire. Then fourteen miles away the great convict prison of Princetown. Between and around these scattered points extends the desolate, lifeless moor. This, then, is the stage upon which tragedy has been played, and upon which we may help to play it again."

"It must be a wild place."

"Yes, the setting is a worthy one. If the devil did desire to have a hand in the affairs of men——"

"Then you are yourself inclining to the supernatural explanation."

"The devil's agents may be of flesh and blood, may they not? There are two questions waiting for us at the outset. The one is whether any crime has been committed at all; the second is, what is the crime and how was it committed? Of course, if Dr. Mortimer's surmise should be correct, and we are dealing with forces outside the ordinary laws of Nature, there is an end of our investigation. But we are bound to exhaust all other hypotheses before falling back upon this one. I think we'll shut that window again, if you don't mind. It is a singular thing, but I find that a concentrated atmosphere helps a concentration of thought. I have not pushed it to the length of getting into a box to think, but that is the logical outcome of my convictions. Have you turned the case over in your mind?"

"Yes, I have thought a good deal of it in the course of the day."

"What do you make of it?"

"It is very bewildering."

"It has certainly a character of its own. There are points of distinction about it. That change in the footprints, for example. What do you make of that?"

"Mortimer said that the man had walked on tiptoe down that portion of the alley."

"He only repeated what some fool had said at the inquest. Why should a man walk on tiptoe down the alley?"

"What then?"

"He was running. Watson—running desperately, running for his life, running until he burst his heart and fell dead upon his face."

"Running from what?"

"There lies our problem. There are indications that the man was crazed with fear before ever he began to run."

"How can you say that?"

"I am presuming that the cause of his fears came to him across the moor. If that were so, and it seems most probable, only a man who had lost his wits would have run from the house instead of towards it. If the gipsy's evidence may be taken as true, he ran with cries for help in the direction where help was least likely to be. Then, again, whom was he waiting for that night, and why was he waiting for him in the Yew Alley rather than in his own house?"

"You think that he was waiting for someone?"

"The man was elderly and infirm. We can understand his taking an evening stroll, but the ground was damp and the night inclement. Is it natural that he should stand for five or ten minutes, as Dr. Mortimer, with more practical sense than I should have given him credit for, deduced from the cigar ash?"

"But he went out every evening."

"I think it unlikely that he waited at the moorgate every evening. On the contrary, the evidence is that he avoided the moor. That night he waited there. It was the night before he made his departure for London. The thing takes shape, Watson. It becomes coherent. Might I ask you to hand me my violin, and we will postpone all further thought upon this business until we have had the advantage of meeting Dr. Mortimer and Sir Henry Baskerville in the morning."

CHAPTER IV.

Our breakfast-table was cleared early, and Holmes waited in his dressing-gown for the promised interview. Our clients were punctual to their appointment, for the clock had just struck ten when Dr. Mortimer was shown up, followed by the young baronet. The latter was a small, alert, dark-eyed man about thirty years of age, very sturdily built, with thick black eyebrows and a strong, pugnacious face. He wore a ruddy-tinted tweed suit, and had the weather-beaten appearance of one who has spent most of his time in the open air, and yet there was something in his steady eye and the quiet assurance of his bearing which indicated the gentleman.

"This is Sir Henry Baskerville," said Dr. Mortimer.

"Why, yes," said he, "and the strange thing is, Mr. Sherlock Holmes, that if my friend here had not proposed coming round to you this morning I should have come on my own account. I understand that you think out little puzzles, and I've had one this morning which wants more thinking out than I am able to give to it."

"Pray take a seat, Sir Henry. Do I understand you to say that you have yourself had some remarkable experience since you arrived in London?"

"Nothing of much importance, Mr. Holmes. Only a joke, as like as not. It was this letter, if you can call it a letter, which reached me this morning."

He laid an envelope upon the table, and we all bent over it. It was of common quality, greyish in color. The address, "Sir Henry Baskerville, Northumberland Hotel," was printed in rough characters; the post-mark "Charing Cross," and the date of posting the preceding evening.

"Who knew that you were going to the Northumberland Hotel?" asked Holmes, glancing keenly across at our visitor.

"No one could have known. We only decided after I met Dr. Mortimer."

"But Dr. Mortimer was no doubt already stopping there?"

"No, I had been staying with a friend," said the doctor. "There was no possible indication that we intended to go to this hotel."

SIR WILFRID LAURIER WILL GO

Sir Wilfrid Laurier to Attend Colonial Conference.

TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED

Mr. Bryce, U. S. Ambassador, In the House—Premier Says Canada Is Now Satisfied—Question of Trade Relations—Dominion Will Not Be Drawn Into European Militarism.

Ottawa, March 28.—Before adjourning for the Easter holidays the House got through a good afternoon's work yesterday. All doubts as to his departure for London were removed by the Prime Minister, who stated that he had decided to meet the wishes of the House and attend the Colonial Conference. This announcement came at the end of a speech delivered in reply to the leader of the Opposition, who had invited Sir Wilfrid to define the position he would take up in regard to various matters coming before the conference. Mr. Borden criticized the Government for not having advanced any proposals for discussion at the conference, and made a slashing attack on Mr. Lloyd George for his reference to the "protectionist rump" in Canada. By a curious coincidence Mr. Bryce, Ambassador to the United States, entered the House in the middle of Mr. Borden's slating of his former colleague. Accommodated with a seat to the right of the Speaker, he followed the debate with close interest until the finish.

Canada Is Satisfied.

Sir Wilfrid in his reply pointed out that Canada was satisfied with her present plot, and that the Government would better perform their task by receiving suggestions rather than by making them. He expressed himself as opposed to the creation of an Imperial Council, commented on the happy relation which at present existed between the Government and the Colonial Office, and thought that if new ideas were to be acted upon the initiative should come from the respective Governments which composed the empire. With regard to the question of trade relations they had nothing new to offer. They had stated that if it suited the mother country to reciprocate the preference that had been extended to her products they would be prepared to go a step farther, and it was for the British people to make up their minds upon that policy.

Cannot Be Improved.

Dealing with the question of Imperial defence, Sir Wilfrid said he did not believe that the relations which existed at the present time could be improved, and he adhered to the view he expressed five years ago, that for no consideration would Canada be drawn into the vortex of European militarism. With regard to the cattle embargo, he promised to continue the efforts which had been made to obtain the removal of a restriction which they considered to be unjust. When the House resumes after the holidays morning sessions will be instituted, with a view of facilitating the business, and on Wednesday Mr. Bourassa intends to call Mr. Fowler to account.

Mr. Monk moved that the refusal of Mr. C. H. Beddoe, accountant of the Department of the Interior, to answer when before the Agricultural Committee certain questions as to the North Atlantic Trading Company should be considered as a matter of privilege on Thursday of next week, and that Mr. Beddoe be called to the bar of the House. The motion was agreed to.

The Minister of the Interior introduced a bill to amend the immigration act to provide for dealing with stowaways and a due form for the deportation of criminals. The bill was read a first time.

Mr. Fowler's Chance.

Mr. Bourassa said he would like to give notice that on Thursday of next week he should, on a question of privilege, bring before the House the accusations made by the member for King's, N. B., and move a substantive motion in order to invite the member for King's to substantiate his accusation or withdraw them.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said if it were equally convenient he would like the matter to be brought upon Wednesday next.

Mr. Bourassa had no objection, except that he wished the matter to go to a vote, and as Wednesday was a short sitting it might be prevented from going to a vote by the arrival of 6 o'clock.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was his intention to move that the House have morning sessions, and that the usual evening session would apply on Wednesday.

Mr. Foster would like the member for Labelle to connect himself in his motions, in view of the statements he had made on Tuesday. (Laughter and Government cheers.)

Mr. Bourassa replied that it was open to the member for North Toronto to bring forward a motion applying to him. He accepted the suggested change of date.

Cars For G. T. Pacific.

The Minister of Railways stated, in reply to Mr. Clements, that orders for cars for the G. T. P. had been placed and the cars delivered in order that preparation might be made for the commencement of operations on the G. T. P. In the meantime those cars which had been delivered were hired to the G. T. R. at a fixed rate per diem.

The Minister of the Interior stated in reply to Mr. Lennox, that after reading the greater portion of Mr. W. T. R. Preston's letter to The London Daily Express with regard to the agricultural possibilities of South Africa, the Government did not consider any action necessary.

The Minister of Railways introduced a bill to confirm the agreement between the G. T. P. and C. N. R. with regard to a joint terminal at Winnipeg. The House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the measure, which after some discussion, was reported to the House and now awaits third reading.

The House then went into supply and passed several items in the railway estimates.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock to resume on Tuesday, April 2nd.

Essex Liberals In Revolt.

Windsor, March 28.—The possibility of outside men receiving the appointments as county judge and Senator has caused unrest among the Liberals of North and South Essex.

Men who have been prominently identified with the party do not hesitate to say that, unless at least one of the appointments goes to a local man, there will be a split in the ranks when the time for the next Federal election comes.

THE INSANE ASYLUM OR ELECTRIC CHAIR

Prisoner Now In Hands of the Commission.

PROCEEDINGS TO BE OPEN

Chairman Resigns On Account of Health—D. McClure Appointed to Succeed Him—Thaw Greets His Family In Court—Jury Are Excused Until Monday—Thaw Feels Sure As to Result.

New York, March 28.—After the Thaw jury was excused yesterday until next Monday morning and the members of the lunacy commission selected Tuesday by Justice Fitzgerald to enquire into Thaw's present state of mind had been sworn in, it was suddenly announced that ex-Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, chairman of the commission, had resigned.

In a letter to Justice Fitzgerald, Mr. O'Brien explained that he was forced by the condition of his health and his professional engagements to decline to serve.

Justice Fitzgerald made a new order, appointing David McClure, a member of ex-Police Commissioner McAdoo's advisory committee of citizens, to fill the vacancy.

Mr. McClure met the other members of this commission yesterday afternoon and was elected chairman. He stated that the first session will be held to-day at 2 o'clock in the courtroom where the trial has been in progress. The enquiry in general will be open, although there will be executive sessions from time to time.

After Justice Fitzgerald administered the oath of office, Thaw was brought into court and found all the members of his family there.

He looks exceedingly well, and smiled a greeting to his mother, his wife and his sisters and brothers. He then turned to where the three commissioners sat and gazed fixedly at them for several minutes.

Justice Fitzgerald, in discharging the jury until next Monday, warned them to be careful not to discuss the case in any way nor to read any newspaper accounts of what is taking place.

ANOTHER TRAIN SMASH.

Passengers Escaped But Trainmen Were Killed.

St. Paul, March 28.—The Northern Pacific passenger train for Duluth, which left St. Paul at 11 o'clock was wrecked at Carlton, Minn., early yesterday. The engine, mail and combination cars were derailed and the engineer and fireman were killed. Meagre reports received at Northern Pacific headquarters here do not indicate that any passengers were killed.

NEW POSTAL TREATY.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux Going to Washington In Regard to It.

Ottawa, March 28.—Hon. Mr. Lemieux is going to Washington to confer with the postal authorities there in regard to arranging a new international postal treaty. The present treaty expires on May 7, and arrangements are now being made in connection with postal matter coming under the classification of second and third class mail.

THE WRONG MAN.

Canada Said to Have Lost Faith In Jas. Bryce.

London, March 28.—(C. A. P.)—The London Globe says it is abundantly clear that Mr. Bryce has lost the confidence of Canada during his first few weeks.

The St. James' Gazette says it would be nothing short of a misfortune if Sir Wilfrid Laurier had been an absentee from the Colonial Conference.

Ready For Dash to Pole.

Paris, March 28.—The members of the Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald North Pole expedition are completing the preparations of the balloon America, and will leave shortly for Tromsoe, Norway, whence they will depart June 1. The balloon, or airship, has been entirely reconstructed, has new motors and possesses a lifting power of 19,500 pounds.

Replying to criticisms that his airship had not been tried, Mr. Wellman declared that the America was built for Arctic conditions and would undergo thorough trials at Spitsbergen. The expedition will start at the end of July or the beginning of August.

New York Central Indicted.

New York, March 28.—Indictments charging manslaughter in the second degree were returned yesterday against the New York Central Railroad; Ira A. McCormick, general superintendent, and Alfred H. Smith, vice-president, in connection with the fatal wreck of the Brewster express on the Harlem division last month.

McCormick and Smith entered pleas of not guilty, and were released on $10,000 bail each.

The grand jury also recommended many restrictions upon railroad operation in this state.

Trujillo Recaptured.

New Orleans, March 28.—A private cablegram received here states that the Hondurans have recaptured the fort of Trujillo. This was the first Caribbean seaport of Honduras taken by the Nicaraguans.

Falls Into Boiling Water.

Lindsay, March 28.—James Graham, an employe of the Rider & Kitchener Co., while working around a tank of boiling water, slipped and fell in. He is in the Boas Memorial Hospital, in a critical condition.

Miners Fail to Agree.

Calgary, March 28.—The failure of the operators and miners to reach an agreement after a prolonged conference makes it probable that there will be a strike. The conference is expected to end to-day.

PICTURE OF LANGUOR AND WEAKNESS

Tired in mind and body—Worn out by the monotonous and debilitating indoor life of winter.

To a great many people spring is anything but a season of joy and gladness. True, there is relief to think that the cold and storm of winter have passed, but on the other hand, there are weeks of weariness and languor which are almost more than the run-down system can stand.

Just at the time when the buds are bursting forth, when the birds are chirping merrily on the trees, and all Nature is sending out the notes of joy and gladness, are felt most strongly the debilitating and enervating effects of indoor winter life.

But Nature has provided certain restoratives to be used at this season of the year, and they are probably nowhere combined in such happy proportions as in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Thousands of women, and men, too, have learned to escape this time of weakness, depression and discouragement by the use of this great food cure.

Loss of appetite, indigestion, headaches, lack of energy and ambition, weakness and dizziness, shortness of breath, depressed spirits and irritability of temper are some of the accompaniments of spring ailments which arise from the weak, watery condition of the blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food naturally, gradually and certainly overcomes these symptoms by the actual formation of rich, red blood.

Vitality is increased, strength and confidence return, buoyancy is felt in every movement of the body, and the glow of health and vigor is restored to the pallid cheek.

RUTHLESS CRUELTIES.

Revolting Cruelties By Peasants In the Balkans.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 28.—The measures proposed by the Government to meet the demands of the revolted peasantry, and end the civil war, which is devastating Moldava and Wallachi, were announced in yesterday's issue of the official Gazette, in the shape of a proclamation issued in the name of King Charles. The royal proclamation appeals for the patriotic co-operation of the people to secure the re-establishment of tranquility, and announces that the Sovereign has agreed to the immediate suppression of some of the heavy taxes, while hereafter the farm lands will be cultivated by the State, or leased direct to the peasants. Not one of the larger syndicates hitherto engaged in farming vast tracts of land will be allowed to hold more than 2,000 acres.

Burned Their Victims.

Forty peasants were killed March 25 in a hard fight with troops in the Mozasi district. The insurgents in that section cut to pieces and burned some of their victims.

A stubborn encounter occurred Tuesday at a point on the Guigevo road, about 60 miles from Bucharest, where 4,000 insurgents met a strong detachment of troops. The latter attacked the revolted peasants with cavalry, as well as infantry, but the military commander ultimately was obliged to use artillery before he was able to force the peasants to retreat.

Hacked to Pieces.

London, March 28.—A special despatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, says that, according to some of the Roumanian refugees who have arrived on the Bulgarian side of the Danube, the insurgent peasantry has been guilty of the same ruthless cruelties which usually mark the feuds in the Balkans. Many of the landlord class have been burned to death, after their bodies and limbs had first been rolled in thick twists of hay or straw. Even children, the refugees add, have been hacked to death by the revolted peasants.

Investigates Telephones.

Regina, Sask., March 28.—The following resolution, dealing with Government-owned telephones, has been adopted unanimously by the Legislature.

"That, while the House favors the principles of Government-ownership and control of a telephone system for the province, it is of the opinion that, before any active measures are taken for the inauguration of such a system, the province should make a thorough enquiry into the working out of a similar system in Canada and elsewhere, and that steps already taken by the Government with this object in view, should be continued in order that the Legislature, at its next session, may be in a position to deal with this important question."

Extra Boat For Immigrants.

London, March 28.—The pressure of emigration is so heavy that the Allan Line yesterday despatched the Carthaginian as an extra sailing, six hundred railways laborers being sent to Canada. J. A. Smart sails by the Carthaginian.

EXTENDED SOO LOAN

Government Will Carry It For Further Six Months.

THE CHILD LABOR PROBLEM

Municipal Debentures — Particulars Must Be Given In Notice of Bills—Amend Ontario Insurance Act to Keep Policies In Force—Arrears of School Taxes—House Adjourns For Easter Vacation.

Toronto, March 28.—On motion of the Premier the Legislature, after the transaction of considerable business, mostly routine, adjourned until Wednesday, April 3. The short vacation will be most welcome to members on both sides of the House, who have found the work in the committees, to say nothing of that in the Chamber, during the last few weeks exceptionally trying. It will also enable the members of the Government to devote some time to the consideration of several measures which have been standing for that purpose. The departmental offices at the buildings will be closed until Tuesday morning.

Hon. Mr. Matheson, replying to Mr. Graham, said the supplementary estimates would be down next week, and that the proof of the annual report of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway Commission had gone back to the printers, and the report would be out shortly.

Soo Loan Guarantee Extended.

Hon. Mr. Matheson announced that the Government have consented to a renewal for six months from April 1 next of the guarantee of the outstanding $1,000,000 of the "Soo loan," as it is popularly called. The guarantee given by the former Administration on behalf of the great industries of the Lake Superior Corporation at the Soo was for $2,000,000. On May 1, 1906, the Government were relieved of $1,000,000 of the guarantee, and for the balance the Government agreed to a renewal until Nov. 1. In October, however, on the request of the Canadian Improvement Co., which has charge of the reorganization of the corporation, another six months' extension was given.

Hon. Dr. Pyne introduced a bill to amend the Department of Education act. This is intended to put into effect the increased grants to public and separate rural schools.

Child Labor.

The report of the Legislature's special committee on child labor was presented to the House by Hon. Mr. Monteith, chairman of the committee. It will be remembered that the committee was appointed as the result of a motion in respect to child labor brought before the House by Mr. T. H. Preston (Brant). The committee held a number of meetings at which the evidence of factory inspectors, police and educational officials and medical practitioners was taken at some length. When the report was laid on the table yesterday Mr. Preston briefly drew attention to some astonishing facts brought out during the inquiry in respect to the truancy law, which seemed to call for the strengthening of that law. There was an enrollment of 397,000 school children in the Province, but the attendance averaged 58 per cent. of the 256 cities, towns and incorporated villages upon whom it was obligatory to appoint truancy officers and make truancy returns only 75 had sent in such reports, and there were no reports from rural municipalities at all. The consolidated school at Guelph had an average attendance of 90 per cent.

Keep Life Policies In Force.

Mr. Dunlop moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Ontario insurance act. The act, he explained, provided that in case a premium is not paid when due, the company shall borrow from the cash surrender value of the policy to keep it in force. At present the law allows an extension of thirty days in which time the premium may be paid. The proposed measure would go considerably farther. It proposes that if the unpaid premiums were less than the loan value of the policy the latter should not lapse.

Mr. Graham complimented Mr. Dunlop on his grasp of the insurance situation, and desired to know if the bill would have a tendency to increase the rates. Fraternal societies made much of their profits through lapses.

The bill was referred to the Legal Committee.

Mr. Mahaffy moved the second reading of his bill to amend the public schools act. The bill provides for the collection of arrears of school taxes in unorganized territory. Hon. Dr. Pyne intimated that the Government would consider incorporating the amendment in the proposed education bill.

Bring Municipalities to Time.

A motion of the Premier's, which met with instant approval on the part of the Opposition leader, provides that the rules of the Legislative Assembly be amended, so that in future the application of a municipality for a bill giving authority to issue debentures or for the consolidation of its debt shall set out full particulars of the existing debt and reasons. It also provides that every private bill of such character shall, after receiving its first reading, be referred to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board for their report.

A number of bills were advanced in committee.

Mr. Cameron (West Huron) gives notice that he will move that the House regrets that His Majesty's advisers have not introduced in the House any measure respecting the subject of law reform.

Kings to Confer.

Madrid, March 28.—It is officially announced that when King Alfonso shall go to Cartagena, in a few days, to meet King Edward, he will be accompanied by his brother-in-law, Prince Charles of Bourbon.

Cartagena is being magnificently decorated. Five warships will be in the harbor. It is probable that the Queen Mother, Christina, will go to Cartagena to greet Queen Alexandra.

SETTLERS ARE ARRIVING.

Farmers Are Pouring In From the States Daily.

Saskatoon, March 27.—From twenty-five to thirty cars of settlers' stock and general effects are being unloaded at the present time at the yard here. Monday a train of twenty-three cars came in from Minneapolis. On board were men and families from Southern Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska. The day on which the party pulled into Minneapolis there were 150 cars of settlers and effects gathered in later cars waiting to be sent along to destinations in Western Canada. All these who have arrived declare themselves but the advance guard of many hundreds and thousands of good American farmers who are preparing to follow this spring from a dozen States.

Hamilton, March 28.—William Morton, the young man who was crushed by an elevator in T. C. Watkins' store on Tuesday last, died at the City Hospital early yesterday morning. He was conscious after the accident, and it was thought he would recover, but the internal injuries caused his death.

Mr. St. John Better.

Toronto, March 28.—Speaker St. John passed a restful night and continues to improve.

King of Siam Goes to Europe.

Bangkok, Siam, March 28—The King of Siam, Chulalangkorn I., started yesterday on his European trip. The crown prince, Chowfa Maha Vajilavulk, will act as regent during the King's absence.

Russian Editor Assassinated.

Lewis Harcourt In Cabinet.

London, March 28.—Lewis Harcourt, son of the late Sir William Harcourt, the first Commissioner of Works, has been promoted to Cabinet rank, retaining his post.

FRENCH IN MOROCCO.

Germany Approves Action—Sultan Expected to Yield.

Oran, Algeria, March 28.—French occupation at Oudja is probable today, as Gen. Liantey, the commander of the column of occupation, has had to consult with Gen. Serviere, commander of the Nineteenth Army Corps, who is in the south of Algeria, in order to draw up a plan of action. Telegraphic communication with the south is slow. The French mission, now at Oudja, under Capt. Mangin, has been recalled.

Proper and Inevitable.

Berlin, March 28.—The occupation of Oudja, Morocco, by French troops is regarded at the Foreign Office here as being a proper and inevitable step, if it be confined simply to punitive measures for the murder of a French citizen, and is without ulterior objects. It is assumed here officially that France will fully observe her arrangements entered in at Algeciras. The German attitude is one of alert observation. Any modification of that attitude will depend on the development of the French plans.

Sultan Expected to Yield.

Paris, March 28.—The Sultan of Morocco is expected to yield promptly to all the claims formulated by the commander of the French armored cruiser Jeanne D'Arc, now at Tangier, as soon as he is convinced that the French attitude is inflexible and that France has the unanimous support of the powers.

C. P. R. ROUTE TO HONG KONG.

Criticized as a Waste of Public Money—Each Voyage Costs $17,305.

London, March 28.—The House of Commons, by a large majority yesterday, ratified the contract with the Canadian Pacific for the conveyance of mails between Liverpool and Hong Kong.

Harold Cox, Liberal, and other members, severely criticized the contract as a great waste of public money, each voyage costing $17,305. They declared that the result of the contract was simply to provide the American rivals of British merchants with easier access to the far eastern markets.

It also was suggested that there was some underlying, strategical reasons justifying the payment of a heavy subsidy.

Mr. Runciman, Parliamentary Secretary of the Treasury, and Premier Campbell-Bannerman, while admitting that it was not profitable, defended the contract as being a temporary arrangement pending the discussion of the matter by the colonial conference, after which a new contract would be made.

CAUGHT ON THE TRACK.

Youth Killed By Train At Vaudreuil Station.

Montreal, March 28.—A. Rousseau, nineteen years of age, whose home was at Isle Perrot, was killed yesterday at Vaudreuil Station by being run over by the International Limited. Rousseau tried to run across the tracks in front of the train, but miscalculated the speed. He was caught on the centre of the track and thrown 50 feet. He struck against a board fence, and when picked up and carried to the platform it was found that nearly every bone in his body had been fractured. He was also badly cut and mangled.

IROQUOIS IN FLAMES.

Two Stores and Two Hotels Burned—Loss About $40,000.

Morrisburg, March 28.—A disastrous fire broke out in the village of Iroquois at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, in the store of Assaly & Co., completely destroying the store and contents of Assaly's, as well as J. W. Lowe's general store, lately purchased from C. & M. Mills, the largest and oldest established business in town. The Powell House and Commercial Hotel and outbuildings were also consumed. The town hall and J. W. Tindale's block were saved with great difficulty. Estimated loss about $40,000.

Didn't Like the Numbers.

Winnipeg, Man., March 28.—Bob Edwards of Calgary came into Winnipeg Tuesday morning and registered at the Royal Alexandria.

He was shown to room 13, which he vacated hurriedly when he observed the number, and went to the Mariaggi.

He found he had been given room 23 at that place and immediately packed his grip and left for home last night.

"I am not superstitious, but I won't stand for some things," he remarked to the clerk as he ran for the bus.

British Fleet Sails April 3.

London, March 28.—The first cruiser squadron, which will represent the British navy at the naval review to be held in Hampton Roads in honor of the inauguration of the Jamestown Exposition will leave England April 3 for Bermuda, whence the squadron will sail April 23 for Hampton Roads.

The warships will remain there from April 25 to May 5. Later, the squadron will visit Halifax and Quebec.

Carnegie Warns Railroads.

Washington, March 29.—Andrew Carnegie yesterday said:

"I absolutely endorse the President's attitude toward the railroads. He is the best friend they have, and they ought to realise it. The railroads had better stand with him.

"If they do not accept his moderate measures, they may be confronted by a man in the White House who will approach the question of the railroads from an entirely different standpoint.

"I regard the President's influence as to the railroads as wholesome and conservative."

Poison In Porter.

Toronto, March 28.—Under suspicious circumstances pointing to poison, Mrs. Honor Gregg, aged 62, of Sandfield, Ontario County, died after drinking a glass of porter. A greenish sediment was found at the bottom of the glass, and Coroner Mellow of Port Perry has ordered an inquest. The intestines of the dead woman have been sent to Dr. Ellis, provincial analyst, for examination, on the advice of a physician, who said an irritant poison was found in the stomach.

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 228 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.

WANTS BRITAIN'S FAVOR.

Sultan of Turkey Is Anxious to Cultivate Her Friendship.

The Daily Mail gives prominence to an interview with the Sultan of Turkey, who, responding to congratulations on his apparent good health, said he was exceedingly well, and that he never felt better. He expressed a wish for the continuance and the increase of the old bonds of friendship between Great Britain and Turkey, and said he would always do his utmost to foster them. He alluded to the case of Fehim Pasha, formerly chief of the secret police, who was exiled at the demand of the German Arbassador, in a manner showing that he felt there had been some disregard of etiquette and an infringement of his personal dignity in the matter, inasmuch as it had been pressed upon his personal attention, although it was purely Turkey's internal concern. He seemed to regard as monstrous that the idea should exist that he would shield an offender. He said:—"It is nothing more than my plain duty to see justice done. Even if it were my own son I would see justice done."

The correspondent remarks that in this case his Majesty tempered justice with mercy, and adds:—"Nor is this to be wondered at in a monarch who has never yet been known to sign a death warrant."

The interviewer says that, contrary to the general belief, the Sultan's interest in the outside world is exceedingly keen and varied. When conversing with politicians he reverts to the rivalries of nations, and their latest doings interest him keenly. The writer particularly mentions Japan, Russia and the United States in this connection. His Majesty has always entertained a kindly feeling for Jews. He believes they are destined to play a great part in the world. He has even greater faith in the future of his own countrymen, particularly if they remain true to the precepts of the Koran. The correspondent describes Abdul Hamid as the most popular Sultan with the Turks since Mahmud II. The passport to his regard is not wealth and position, but good-will and proven services to himself and the country.

FOX HUNTING A LUXURY.

Cost of the Sport Figures an Enormous Total.

The fox hunting season of 1906-7 now drawing to a close will be memorable so far as England and Wales are concerned for its open weather, large fields and, speaking generally, first class sport.

On the whole foxes have been fairly plentiful, and there is hardly a hunt which cannot tell of several very fine runs, but local prejudice against hunting has resulted in loss of hounds and foxes in several counties by poisoning.

From figures obtained from one of the best authorities on fox hunting it is possible to realise the enormous sums of money involved in hunting finances. This expert asserted that during the last 50 years the cost of hunting has more than doubled. Whereas a half century ago the expense for a three days a week hunt was about £1,200 ($6,000), it now requires £3,000 ($15,000) a year and possibly something from the master's own pocket to make the accounts balance.

There are about 170 packs of foxhounds consisting of about six thousand couples, in England and Wales, and as the average number of days the hounds are out is about three per week the cost of the packs alone is at least £500,000 ($2,500,000) a year. This is taking no account of Ireland's twenty-six packs, with about eleven hundred couples, and Scotland's eleven packs of 390 couples.

The capital value of the hunters employed is an enormous figure. Probably 200,000 are used in English and Welsh hunts alone, and at the low average value of £60 ($300) each they are in the aggregate worth not less than £12,000,000 ($60,000,000). At a very modest estimate they cost the owners nearly £8,000,000 ($40,000,000) to keep.

May End the World.

Professor Matteucci, the distinguished scientist and authority on Vesuvius, states that toward the end of March the substance of the new comet discovered by Signor Marchetti will come into contact with the atmosphere of the earth. The consequences, he foresees, may be dangerous to the earth.

His brother is of the same opinion as to the peril to the earth. Both astronomers hold that if the actual nucleus of the comet is merely crossed by the earth, the danger will be brief, though necessarily acute. If, however, the earth collides with not the nucleus but the tail of the comet, our atmosphere will probably be ignited, and every trace of life will be immediately and violently destroyed.

Professor Matteucci adds that other important phenomena are to be expected as the result of the recent appearance of a huge spot on the sun.

IN DARKEST AFRICA

BRITISH OFFICER'S PERILOUS JOURNEY OF 3,000 MILES.

Secures 1,500 Zoological Specimens—Motley Collection of Birds, Beasts and Fishes—Surveys African Lakes—Pagan Tribes Use Poisoned Arrows—Resent White Man's Rule—Two of Party Succumb to Climate.

After an eventful and perilous journey of 3,000 miles across Africa, Lieut. Boyd Alexander, has arrived home. The expedition of which he was the organizer left England in 1904, and consisted of Lieut. Boyd Alexander, his brother, Capt. Claude Alexander, Capt. Goaling, and Mr. R. A. Talbot. Lieut. Alexander was the only one to complete the journey, Mr. Talbot having returned home after exploring the Chad region, and the other two having been mortally stricken with disease. The exploits of Lieut. Alexander entitle him to be placed in the first rank of African explorers. The expedition has secured extensive collections of the birds, beasts, and fishes characteristic of the regions traversed in the course of the long journey across the continent. In addition to those sent home from time to time, Lieut. Alexander has brought back with him as many as 1,500 zoological specimens. As regards individual species, peculiar interest attaches to the information secured respecting the haunts and habits of the okapi, the curious mammal first revealed to the scientific world by Sir Henry Johnston. Of equal importance with the zoological work of the expedition is the geographical information embodied in the diaries and survey records.

Surveyed the Lakes.

Particularly valuable is the very careful survey carried from the Benue to Lake Chad by Capt. Claude Alexander and Mr. Talbot. The hydrographical investigations pursued by Mr. Talbot and Lieut. Boyd Alexander on Lake Chad after the death of Capt. Claude Alexander show how greatly the character of the lake has changed in recent years. Instead of being a veritable inland sea, in which character it formerly appeared, the lake is now shown to consist of two wide expanses of shallow water differing little over a large part of its area from a huge pond. After leaving the Congo basin the expedition made its way to the Nile down a tributary named the Yeh, which was much obstructed by rapids, and the full account of the journey may be expected to throw some new light on the hydrography of the Upper Nile basin. In Northern Nigeria the expedition came into contact with some of the pagan tribes who were even by the Fulani, and who have still to be brought under British control. The Munshi people to the south of the Benue who have been giving a good deal of trouble to the British administration are described by Lieut. Alexander as industrious agriculturists, though strongly opposed to the extension of the white man's influence in their midst. The wealth of the Fulani had much diminished with the reduction of slave-trading. The street corners are now remarkable for their beggars. Keffi, another large town of round and square mud-built houses, is in great part in ruins—the result of the reprisals taken by the British authorities after the murder of Capt. Maloney. The influence of the Fulani, according to Lieut. Alexander, is not so remarkable as it might seem. Inter-marriage has caused an almost total disappearance of the original Fulani stock, though an indication of what this must have been like is afforded by the "Bush Fulani," a small and dwindling community. Retiring and shy in disposition, they seldom approach the town.

Women Are Handsome.

The women are handsome, tall, and pale-skinned, with oval faces, surrounded by thick twists of silky hair It is the general opinion and hope amongst the Fulani that the rule of the white man will not be long now and this idea is fostered by the Senussi, who are very active just now especially about Vinka. Of the Kagoro tribe Lieut. Alexander said they lived in a village built on the sides of a rocky hill. Their small mud houses are cemented to projecting rocks, and are reached only by the narrowest and steepest of paths. The people turned out to be strongly built. They were seen from a distance squatting like monkeys on the rocks. Their features were disagreeable. He found them to be keen hunters, accustomed to the use of poisoned arrows.

Prison Horrors.

The Anglo-Russian, of London, in an article on the tortures inflicted on suspected persons in Russia, says:—"From independent Russian, German, French and English sources come heart-sickening accounts of systematic tortures practised in Russian prisons upon 'politicals' with the object of compelling them to betray their friends and supporters. For a long time such tortures have been reported from various prisons all over the empire, but the worst atrocities seem to be habitually perpetuated in the prisons of Poland and the Baltic provinces. In Riga, for instance, a special chamber has been fitted up with all the instruments of torture known to the Inquisition of old. Rubber sticks, long pins, pincers, a rack, and so forth, are used in the process of making the victim 'confess,' and all this not only by permission of the higher local authorities, but frequently even in their presence and under their personal guidance. Such things as knocking out the teeth, tearing out the hairs and pieces of flesh are in ordinary usage."

Nervous Prostration

IT IS WORRY THAT KILLS, NOT WORK

Work without worry usually tends to prolong life. On the other hand, worry, with or without work, is fatal, because it uses up what the Doctors call the "Lecithin," a phosphorized fat which is the chief constituent of the brain and nervous system—a waste which, if not stayed in time, means complete nervous wreck. The evident moral is "don't worry"—advice easy to give, and in these days of stress and strain practically impossible to take. The alternative is: find some way of replacing the wasted Lecithin—the phosphorized fat. This absolutely essential element will be found in its most perfect, palatable and assimilable form in an emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Phosphorus (phosphorized fat) together with Iron, the recognized blood builder—making FERROL the ideal nutrient it claims to be.

For the prevention or treatment of nervous prostration FERROL is absolutely unequalled—it is safe, sure and speedy.

Railway Slaughter.

With a record of nearly 400 persons killed in railway wrecks during the last six months and about 450 injured the public is asking whether the railway commissioners of the several states and the Interstate Commerce Commission can not intervene to stop the slaughter.

The Ostrich.

In its habits, methods of life and prejudices the ostrich is one of the most curious creatures of the animal kingdom. It cannot be tamed, though it is easily trained to harness. When taught to race it seems to delight in a brush on the track or road with a horse. The gait of the ostrich is a lumbering sort of jog trot, which becomes delightfully easy when the bird is traveling fast. Unhampered with a rider and traveling with the wind this muscular creature can outstrip any horse.

Machinery and Labor.

A generation or two ago men and women worked very long hours, and children had to work, too, in order to produce enough to support the workingman's family. The growth of capital and the employment of machinery have added so much to the efficiency of labor that long hours for adults are no longer necessary, and the industrial employment of children under fourteen can be entirely dispensed with.—American Review of Reviews.

A Fatal Error.

Borrowes—Nellie, hand me my umbrella, will you? It has commenced to rain. Mrs. B.—I lent your umbrella to Mr. Sweetfern last night. Borrowes—What in thunder did you do that for? Didn't you know it was his?—Spare Moments.

Did Her Worst.

Hicks—She threatened all sorts of things, and finally he got desperate and exclaimed, "Do your worst!" Wicks—And what did she do? Hicks—Very coolly she began to play the piano. Wicks—I see. She took him at his word.

Quite a Difference.

"Say, paw, what does it mean to live to a ripe old age?"

"When a rich man gets to be eighty, my son, he is at a ripe old age. A poor man is merely old and decrepit."

FEMALE INEBRIATES.

Increase of Drunkenness Among Englishwomen.

Careful observers of social conditions in both the upper and the lower classes of society cannot fail to have noted of late a decided increase in the addiction to alcoholic liquors on the part of women. Published statistics relating to the number and ages of women convicted of drunkenness give one no real idea of the extent of the evil, for only a very small proportion of the intemperate fall into the hands of the police. Moreover, though a woman does not become drunk unless she has been intemperate, she may easily be highly intemperate without ever becoming drunk. It is notorious that a drunken woman is reclaimed only with the greatest difficulty, for she knows that she has unsexed herself. The inebriated woman injures her reputation, the intemperate woman her health.

Secret Drinking.

Many women take to secret drinking—the bane of womanhood—by reason of the lonely lives they live, to soften the sorrow which is the lot of so many women or to deaden that anxiety about the future which is so harassing to the timid minds of so many of the weaker sex. It is surely an evil sign of the times when the very factory girls, who think lightly of the present and still less of the future, form what are called "spirit clubs," into which the girls make small payments to accumulate until Christmas eve and then to be spent in spirits, wine and cakes.

Increased Facilities.

Increased facilities for drinking are to be numbered among the causes of the increasing intemperance among women. Women travel alone to a far greater extent than was formerly the case; women's club afford every opportunity to those who wish to indulge in potent liquors; some of the big stores and mammoth drapery establishments have licensed refreshment rooms; restaurants and railway buffets continue to multiply, while the pastry cook with a wine license is very much in evidence in every residential district. A woman in a good position in life may be intemperate to a degree without ever having recourse to the ordinary public house. It is not pretended that all the places enumerated above have spirit licenses, but intemperance in port and sherry or even in bottled ale is almost equally destructive to health.

Deplorable Effect.

Intemperance has a deplorable effect on the nervous system of women, whom it tends rapidly to degrade morally as well as physically, unfitting them for those duties and responsibilities which should be the first care of the women of every race. Intemperance among men is bad enough, but among women it is a far more serious matter, since in their case the future of a race, a kingdom or an empire may be imperilled. Intemperance among women is incompatible with the welfare of the children, who, even if they are unaffected by a bad heredity, must be affected by evil parental example. It is because of this that the drunken mother is regarded as a curse to her family and a menace to the state. Even the most unprejudiced and tolerant of moderate drinkers on the male sides looks upon a drunken woman with a horror and loathing that are almost instinctive.

Powerful Nerve Poisons.

Among the lower orders gin is the beverage of election, or, failing that, "four ale" in unimaginable quantities. The liqueur is another prime favorite with those women who can afford it and is certainly the most destructive of all, containing, as it always does, those deleterious essential oils so necessary to mask the taste of the cheap alcohol, which is so raw and fiery that it could not be swallowed in its natural state. These essential oils and alcohols act as powerful nerve poisons if taken in sufficiently large doses and over a sufficient period of time, and in the seductive flavors of the liqueur containing them lies their great danger to women.

Hope for the future of our womankind lies in the fact that all women are to some extent the slaves of fashion, and once it becomes no longer the fashion for women to drink freely of potent liquors at dinners, dances and other convivial assemblies intemperance among them will receive a check. But against the pet vice of secret drinking the only remedy is in the teaching of temperance and hygiene.—London Chronicle.

Dust on the Ocean.

To talk of a "dusty" ocean highway sounds absurd, but the expression is perfectly accurate. Every one who is familiar with ships knows that, no matter how carefully the decks may be washed in the morning, a great quantity of dust will collect by nightfall. You say, "But the modern steamship, burning hundreds of tons of coal a day, easily accounts for such a deposit." True, but the records of sailing vessels show that the latter collect more dust than a steamer. On a recent voyage of a sailing vessel—a journey which lasted ninety-seven days—twenty-four barrels of dust were swept from the decks. The captain was a man of scientific tastes, and made careful observations, but could not solve the mystery. Some, no doubt, comes from the wear and tear on the sails and rigging, but that accounts for only a small portion. To add to the mystery, bits of cork, wood and vegetable fibre are frequently found in this sea dust. Where does it come from?

Waste Not—Want Not.

Doctor—I must know what you have eaten today in order to understand your stomachic disorder.

Patient—Oh, doctor, only a little pork. It was left over from last week and was perhaps not quite fresh.

Doctor—Would it not have been more sensible to let the pork spoil entirely rather than to upset your stomach?

Patient—But, doctor, you can cure a diseased stomach, but what can you do with spoiled pork?

Got the Habit Later.

In a sermon preached in a small church in Glasgow the pastor, after inveighing against slothfulness, said by way of climax, "Do you think Adam and Eve went about the garden of Eden with their hands in their pockets?"

THE MEDICINAL VALUE OF FRESH FRUIT JUICES

One of the Greatest Wonders of the Age.

Hundreds Have Been Made Well by Taking Advantage of an Ottawa Physician's Discovery.

Everyone knows how beneficial fruit is, when eaten regularly. Fruit is nature's laxative—the finest kidney regulator—and the ideal skin tonic. Unfortunately, the medicinal principle of fruit occurs only in minute quantities. In order to consume enough fruit to relieve Biliousness, one would also consume a large amount of woody fibre or pulp, which would upset the stomach and impair digestion.

An Ottawa physician discovered a way to get around these difficulties. He pressed the juice from apples, oranges, figs and prunes—and then forced one more atom of the bitter principle from the discarded orange peels, into the concentrated juices. This formed a new compound, having all the curative effects of fresh fruit—and in a highly intensified degree. These valuable tonics and internal antiseptics were added and the whole pressed into tablets.

These are "Fruit-a-tives" the wonderful Liver Tablets you hear so much about. "Fruit-a-tives" cure the most obstinate cases of non-action of the bowels, biliousness, headaches, sleeplessness, nervousness, kidney trouble, rheumatism, sciatica and neuralgia. They are the greatest blood purifying medicine in the world, while their action on the skin, in clearing and beautifying the complexion, is nothing short of marvelous. Ask your druggist for "Fruit-a-tives" and see that you get them. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50. By mail, postpaid, from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa. 118

CHIC STYLES.

Satin Finish For Most Spring Materials—Sleeve Styles.

A satin finish is noticeable on nearly all the spring materials, even on the dress linings and underpetticoats. A satin finished fabric is always more effective than a dull silk and for this reason requires less trimming, which is often a decided advantage.

Judging from the present indications, the fashions this spring are more or less on the elaborate order, with the exception of the severely plain tailored costume and the plain but extremely chic shirt waist. There are ruffles, plaitings, flounces and folds of silk, satin or velvet, and lace and embroidery play an all important part on most of the gowns. Fortunately the lines of most of the styles are good and long and unbroken, so that the trimming following these lines does not seem so appallingly overdone and exaggerated. Materials are also elaborate in design and pattern, but when figured materials are used there is not the same chance for trimming.

The sleeves of the new waists are very attractive. They follow the lines of the arm and are more becoming than the sleeves of last year. They reach, as a general thing, below the elbow and are finished with the flat unlined band of lace or with narrow ruchings or lace, silk or rows of shirrings. There is more than a suggestion of a puff above the elbow, but the trimming lies flat against it or, if put around it, somehow seems to hold it in place.

Sea island nainsook is gaining popularity as a material for underwear. The dainty chemise sketched is of this material. It is trimmed with narrow valenciennes lace and beading.

FASHION STRAWS.

A New Coat For Stout Figures. Dressy Veiling Suits.

The cut of coat for which there is going to be a great demand is tight fitting and half length. It is a little longer in the back than in the front. This coat will be very much affected by women to whom a close fitting jacket is becoming.

Veiling is a favorite material for coat suits, both tailored, demitailored and plain. A stunning suit of blue veiling is trimmed with rows of velvet ribbon, the stripes running around the bottom and around the queer rigot sleeves, which are cut so as to slope up to the inner arm in rounding shape. The jacket is laid in plaits running surplice fashion into a belt in front, and the back widths extend in little coat tails, drooping down under the belt. An edge of small tent squares finishes the front edge of the jacket, being cut right into the goods and finished with tiny braid. These squares lie down over a strip of Persian vesting, with a narrow band of blue velvet beyond it. Each square is tacked down with a blue velvet button, and outside of the blue velvet edge are rows of little white val ruches. Close to this on the velvet is set a row of silver buttons.

Navy, black and light veilings make up beautifully over plaids. Especially black, if of a fine quality, shows well over a black and white checked silk lining. A pale tan or putty color over a brilliant plaid is lovely, and a navy blue over a rich wine plaid is among the prettiest of veiled things.

Slightly trained skirts are to be seen in elaborate costumes for the street.

One can never have too many linen costumes for summer of the shirt waist order. The sketch shows one of the most attractive of these suits. It is of cream linen, trimmed with linen braid. The waist gives the much desired long effect over the shoulders.

Mothers! Try Baby's Own Tablets

"With a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand I feel just as safe as if I had a doctor in the house." This is the experience of Mr. John Young, Auburn, Ont. Mrs. Young adds: "I have used the Tablets for teething and other troubles of childhood and have never known them to fail. Hundreds of other mothers are just as enthusiastic in their praise. Colic, indigestion, diarrhoea, worms, constipation and other little ills, are speedily cured by this medicine. It is absolutely safe—always does good — cannot possibly do harm, and you have the guarantee of a government analyst that the Tablets contain no opiate or poisonous soothing stuff. He Made a Mistake.

Into a Broadway car stepped a man and a woman, both young, well groomed and good looking. There were only two vacant seats, and they were on opposite sides of the car, so, instead of sitting side by side, they were divided. Presently the man at the girl's right hand gallantly arose and stumbled over to the unfortunate young man. "I will exchange seats with you, sir," he said.

The young man hesitated, blushed, but accepted the offer. Everybody was interested and expected to see the young couple strike up a conversation without delay. But they did not speak, and when the conductor came around the man dived down into his pocket for a nickel, and the woman dug around in her purse and brought up another, and they paid their fares independently. An audible sigh went up from the rest of the passengers. The man with the chivalric spirit felt worse than anybody else, unless it was the young people themselves, both of whom understood the situation and blushed furiously.

"Well, I don't care," growled the gallant man finally. "I did my duty anyhow, and he has had the pleasure of sitting beside her even if he doesn't know her."

To Prevent Sore Shoulders.

To prevent sore shoulders of working horses H. E. Cook recommends perfectly fitting collars, fitted to the shoulders by working the horse in them after a thorough soaking of the collars. He would avoid sweat pads under all circumstances, except where they become absolutely necessary because of lack of properly fitting collars.

Water For Horses.

One of the most important items in the welfare of a horse is a plentiful supply of pure, fresh water. Water should be given the first thing in the morning, and it should be offered the last thing at night when the final round of the barn is made.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Smart Neckwear For Summer—Ornamental Stock Collars.

The stiff white collars with lining and tie of the ubiquitous heavy plaid silk are quite new.

Butterfly bows have gone out, and all the new neckwear show rosettes or four-in-hands. Ornamental stock collars are again fashionable. One style is of pink net and white ribbon, reversing the usual color combination, sewed together by opalescent beads.

Embroidered strips sold by the yard for collars and fronts for shirt waists are by no means new, but this year some of the dealers are making the strips on heavier material, so they are less liable to crush, and the machine made designs upon this new material give much the appearance of hand work.

The predominant note of the spring fashions in waists is the use of soft, clinging materials. Crepe de chine and soft silk will enjoy even more favor than they have enjoyed this winter and will largely supplant the lingerie blouse.

Some of the daintiest and most attractive of the season's frocks worn by the younger girls are made in princess style—that is, with the waist and skirt joined, making one garment. Here in the cut is a very attractive one that combines tucks with shirring and is trimmed with the fashionable plaited frills.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Summer Silks That Are Beautiful, but Expensive.

There is a new silk slightly suggestive of the rajah variety, called by the salesmen mirage, but which boasts a high sounding French appellation. The silk is in a two tone mixture, with a dark background over which are shadows of a lighter shade. Changeable silks are not a novelty, to be sure, but this special weave is very original and beautiful.

Venetian foulard is another newcomer in the silk domain that can be appreciated by only the "abominably rich," as it costs $6 a yard and is hard to get at that price. In appearance it is like miroir crape.

Coin spots are again seen in the foulard showing, but strips powdered with small dots are perhaps newer. Strips in two tones are to be popular in wool, silk and cotton fabrics.

A new decoration in skirt trimmings is a shaped flounce covered with tiny pin tucks. Accordion plaited bands so placed that they stand up is another variety.

Paris bands are something different in trimmings this spring. These bands vary from a quarter of an inch to two inches in width and have one straight edge, the other being serrated or finished in an irregular fashion. They are used to trim waistcoats, effects on Eton jackets and pony coats.

The gown seen in the cut is of natural colored pongee in a smart check design showing lines of blue on the ecru ground. Blue ribbon velvet and ecru lace help to make it a very chic little frock.

Newbro's Herpicide

BENEFITED

Miss Clutter's Hair

HERPICIDE

MISS MADELINE CLUTTER

Read her letter about it:

"I herewith enclose you one of my latest photographs, which will show you what Newbro's Herpicide has done for my hair. Since using your remedy my hair is much longer than it was, and it has that lustre to it that one's hair always has when the scalp is in a healthy condition."

(Signed) MISS MADELINE CLUTTER.

3953 Michigan Avenue,
Flat 210. Chicago, Illinois.

The immense popularity of Newbro's Herpicide, particularly among the better class, is due to the fact that it never disappoints. It does all and more than is claimed for it.

Its delightful fragrance, perfect clearness and freedom from grease or oil, appeal to the discriminating, and its cleansing, refreshing and health-giving effect upon the scalp is immediately apparent.

Herpicide makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a silken gloss.

Extraordinarily long hair is a gift of Nature that relatively few possess, but not many would complain if they could save Natures' head covering in its original beauty and luxuriance.

The dandruff germ is the greatest enemy of abundant hair. This is on account of the highly contagious nature of dandruff, which makes it almost impossible to escape the disease without the occasional use of a germ destroying solution.

Newbro's Herpicide is the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It promptly eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair and, (except in chronic baldness) restores the hair to its former health and activity. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Skirt Models That Will Be Popular. The Garter Sachet.

There are a number of new models in separate skirts for spring, which indicate the continued vogue of separate skirts and waists. The plaited skirt is most prominent, with numerous graceful variations. A smooth fit over the hips seems to be the most important point about all these skirts. Knife plaited models made of two tone striped gray wool in dark coloring are very smart. The plaits are stitched flat the depth of the hips, then well pressed to retain the shape and finished around the bottom with a wide, neatly turned hem.

Dainty women are putting delicately perfumed sachets in their corsets under the bust laces. Garter scent bags which fit comically each side of the garter top are a French freak.

In bridesmaids' attire veils and empire wreaths have superseded hats, the wreaths being composed of gold berries and leaves, with a veil of gold or silver gauze floating behind. Another pretty fancy is the wreath of forget-me-nots and tiny button roses tied at the side with a true lover's knot or bow of velvet.

If anything the spring cloths are more supple than ever, and in making them so the manufacturers have succeeded without lessening their quality or tint. As for the colors, the shades are more varied than ever, and the nature schemes are followed most faithfully.

The shirt waist dress in the picture is of linen in a coarse canvas weave that is peculiarly effective and is going to be very smart next summer. The yoke is the new feature.

Indian River, March 25.

To the Editor of Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In your issue of the 21st inst., Mr. W. Curtin of Ennismore is said to have cut 40 cords of wood in five hours. Now, Mr. Editor, I have been a sawyer for 25 years and I have cut as much wood as any man in this county or any other county, and I was never able to cut anything like 8 cords per hour; nor did I ever see it done; nor will I ever see it done. Further I do not believe that it was done. Forty cords of wood, 128 cu. ft. per cord, is a big pile. Did my learned friend see this wood piled and measured? If so, I must, as a fair minded man, believe it. Not otherwise, will I believe it to be a circular saw that he used. I am a man of 57 years, and weigh 196 lbs., and I have made more of these wood cutting machines than any other man in this county, and have also used them, and I will not turn my back to any man for a half day nor a whole day, with the circular saw. I was the first man to make one of these wood cutting machines, which I did 25 years ago. I was never able never able to cut 40 cords of wood in a half day, nor do I believe my learned friend will ever do it again; nor any other man or woman either. There is a woman who can kill coons and bears, but that is play to cutting 40 cords of wood in 5 hours. My hon. friend must have had a good shover along with him and he must be a good filer to keep his saw in order to cut that. I have only seen from 6 to 15 cords in a half day, and 15 cords is a big job to do in five hours.

Will my hon. friend answer these few questions?

Had you a swing on your machine, or do you pull the saw to the timber? Was it poles or 4-foot wood that you cut from? There is just one thing that stops me from putting up $50 that you can't do it again, and that is that I am too busy to leave home at this time.

Now, to finish I say this, if my learned friend did actually cut this 40 cords in 5 hours he is not one of the best, but he is the best, that the country ever saw, and he had the best shover, the man that shoved the timber on the table, along with him.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

I remain, yours truly,

P. G. WALKER.

ENTERPRISING NORTH MONAGHAN FARMER AT SPRING PLOWING

Examiner Special.

Springville, March 30.—North Monaghan breaks the record for spring plowing. On Thursday, Mr. Arthur Bowles, one of the township's most enterprising farmers, was seen out on his farm plowing, in preparation for his spring seeding. On the high ground the frost had left it, and it was comparatively dry. If the present mild weather continues, it will only be a matter of a short time until seeding will be in progress.

Three Families Crowded Into One Small House

Dwelling on Albert Street Which Formerly Housed Four Persons Now Occupied by Twenty-four.

THICKLY POPULATED PART

"Helicon Hall," the idol of the heart of Upton Sinclair, is now of the storied past, but there is in this city at least one house which seems to have been modelled after that famous hall. Three families, totalling 24 persons, are living in a house where formerly a husband and wife and two children, lived comfortably. The house is on the property lately purchased by the C. G. E. and faces on Albert street. Lately three families moved in, and now at each of the windows, which formerly were bare and without blinds, there often appear four little black heads, with often as many childish faces. There are three bedrooms upstairs, and three fairly large rooms on the ground floor, and two very large and capacious barns; thus it may eb readily seen how the eighteen children and the six parents are housed.

If every English family has as many offspring as those in the vicinity of Albert street, no one under the Union Jack need ever fear of the passing of the British race. There are more children within a radius of 75 yards in that locality, than in any other place in the city. They may be cleaned up early in the morning, but towards night there is no doubt of their condition. The street is muddy, but when one sees bespattered urchins running around like animated mud-balls, the average passer by then looks on in wonder and concern for himself.

No one need visit London to view the ideal conditions among the poor of that city. In many parts of this city there are lane arrivals from the old country with rather large families, whose position could not be much worse, except in the important sense, there is hope here, there is profitable work, for industrious persons, and consequent comfort, while in the slums of the great city there is no hope of betterment this side the grave. It behooves these people to make the best of the Canadian summer or there will be many more dependent on charity than ever before.

This condition of domiciliary congestion emphasizes the necessity of a greater number of tenements within the reach of persons of modern means.

Normal School Construction To Commence By Next Week

Contractor Whitham, of Brantford, in the City To-day, and Made This Statement to Examiner—Has Some Trouble in Obtaining Brick—May Not Be Completed Next Year.

MATERIAL PURCHASED HERE

The first sod will be turned for the erection of Peterborough's new Normal School next week. This was the statement made to the Examiner by Mr. S. F. Whitham, of Brantford, the contractor for the four new schools, who was in the city to-day in connection with his contract here. He was accompanied by his son and his superintendent of the building, together with Mr. Henkes, Provincial Architect, and Mr. R. P. Fairbairn, Provincial Engineer.

To-day they went over the ground in company with Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P., to locate the exact site of the new school. In conversation with the contractor, he stated that his policy was to push the work of construction as fast as possible to completion and also to have as much of the work as possible done by Peterborough labour. He will obtain all the material, both for interior and exterior supply, in this city that is available. This, he states, has been his policy throughout the various locations where he has had contracts, and intends to pursue the policy here.

Brick is Scarce

Mr. Whitham is experiencing some difficulty in obtaining brick for the building. The possibility is that he will have to wait for it until the middle of the summer, and if so there will be little chance of completing the erection of the building this year. He is looking into the matter and states that he will avoid all possible delays.

To Begin At Once

The work of excavating for the foundation will begin, Mr. Whitham believes, next week, just as soon as the engineers have decided on the exact location.

The work in Hamilton is progressing rapidly. The construction work has already been begun, as well as in Stratford, and it is Mr. Whitham's intention to proceed to North Bay to begin the erection of the school there. He has four general superintendents to take charge of the work, while his time is occupied in other places. He leaves the city again to-night for Brantford, but will return next week, when he will open up an office here.

Fraserville Man Says He Was Robbed And Maltreated

Strange Story Told to the Police by a Holiday Visitor in the City Thursday Night.

AN UNPLEASANT NIGHT.

Complaining that he had been rudely awakened from sleep in his room, at the American Hotel, by a couple of men, maltreated by them, and relieved of his watch, Walter McIlmoyle of Fraserville, called at the police station after 12 o'clock, on Thursday night and reported his case to police officer Newhall. He said that he had been rather badly used by the men, and that they had taken his Elgin watch, which he was loth to part with.

Officer Newhall wanted him to accompany him back to the hotel, but McIlmoyle refused to go. Newhall, himself, went up to the hotel, but the place was then locked up and everything appeared to be quiet and peaceful.

The story on the face of it, does not appear to be probable, but the Fraserville man seems to be in real earnest while telling it. As yet, nothing further could be learned at police headquarters.

STEALING IS REPORTED FROM A HOTEL

Proprietor is the Loser in This Case, However—Towels, Brushes, etc. are Taken From The Oriental

It appears that there are some persons who abuse good nature. This morning, Mr. G. N. Graham, the proprietor of the Oriental Hotel, reported that persons who use the wash room and lavatories in that hotel do not always respect the proprietary rights of the institution, and the result is that frequently, of late, soap towels, and even hair brushes and combs, are taken from the hotel. Even yesterday, after a new brush had been bought to replace one stolen, the chain which held it was broken and the new one taken. This is certainly annoying, and all the more so when it is known that the persons who do the thieving are not guests of the house, but persons who make use of the accommodations provided, and repay them by stealing the property of the person providing them.

EXCITING RACE AT TORONTO BAY BETWEEN RUSSELL AUTO CAR AND FLEET ICEBOAT

SOME HOLIDAY INCIDENTS RECORDED

Exciting Experience On Good Friday Journey

Mr. J. E. Firth Tells of the Incidents Connected With a Trip Over the I. B. & O. Railway Yesterday Afternoon.

20 MILES ON HANDCARS.

Good Friday, 1907, will be long remembered by Mr. J. E. Firth, representative of the W. B. Hamilton Shoe Co., after his experiences on the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway. He was on his way south in company with Mr. Norman Phillips, representative of the J. M. Linton Co., Montreal, and Mr. Mines, manager of the D. Davidson Co., Hartford. The officials of the road expected trouble from spring freshets, and when the express arrived within two miles north of Gooderham, the tracks were flooded with water to the depth of three or four feet. An emergency handcar had been brought on the train and the passengers had to skirt the swamp, the men carrying the heavy handcar. After an arduous walk of over 100 yards they reached the track again and obtained another handcar. With these two substitute expresses the 20 or more passengers proceeded two miles further to Gooderham, with standing room at a premium. At the latter place two extra handcars were pressed into service and the unfortunate passengers had to take these or miss the train at Kinmount Junction.

The distance is about 20 miles, and the four cars set out in a downpour, the men pumping with as much energy as they could muster. The trip was made in one hour and 25 minutes under circumstances which were most unpleasant and distressing. There were a number of ladies among the passengers, and one and all were utterly drenched. The heavy downpour marred the novelty of the ride, but everyone made the best of it. The employees of the road were very kind and did all they could to assist the passengers.

Mr. Firth describes it as a most unique experience, and has no desire to undergo it again.

SOUTHERN HOTEL NOW NEARING COMPLETION

Work is now being continued on the addition to the Southern Hotel by the brick contractor, Mr. Jas. Rose. When the two chimneys are erected the brick work will have been concluded, and on Monday next the carpenters will commence to construct the roof. The interior work will then be proceeded with, and it is expected that the hotel will be in commission in a short time.

Begins Navigation With A Voyage On Board A Raft

Mr. Chris. Wood, Generally One of the First Down the River, Journeyed on a New Craft Yesterday.

IS BUILDING A SHACK THERE

Mr. Chris. Wood, of the Bank of Commerce staff, is always one of the first voyagers on the Otonabee in the spring, but yesterday he accomplished something new in the line of navigation feats. Instead of journeying down the river in a canoe he lightly floated down stream for about five miles on a raft composed of building material for a small cottage he is erecting for use this coming summer. Mr. Wood spends most of his spare time down the Otonabee in the summer and a shack such as he is building will be decidedly useful. The building will be 9 feet by 17 and 9 feet in height.

The Sheffield licensing magistrates have declared that persons whose three-mile walk is taken on Sunday with the object of obtaining a drink are not entitled to the drink. Only those who walk for the sake of walking are entitled to a drink.

Lord Rosebery has written a letter to the Times protesting against the erection by the London County Council of more lunatic asylums at Epsom. He declares that the town is being ruined by being flooded with a population of insane Londoners.

IN the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: FOR HE IS RISEN, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

Canoe Up-turned; Boys Thrown Into Icy Water

Wilfrid Delaire and Percy Lynch Had a Narrow Escape From Drowning in the Creek Yesterday Afternoon.

CANOE WENT OVER THE DAM

Upset by the capsizing of their canoe into the icy, swollen water of the creek, two boys named Wilfrid Delaire and Percy Lynch had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday afternoon.

The two ventured out in the rushing stream in a canoe at Park street. The swift current was too much for them, however, and as the craft was caught broadside by the swirling water, it overturned, throwing the pair into the water, where they had a hard struggle for life. Fortunately, there was a log stretching out into the stream at this point, which they managed to grasp, and succeeded in dragging themselves out of the water. The canoe continued down the stream, going over the dam at Greene's foundry. Spectators of the accident for a while thought that the boys would share the same fate.

WOMAN LAY DEAD ON THE KITCHEN FLOOR FOR MORE THAN WEEK

Found by the Police Who Had to Force an Entrance to the House—Lived Alone at North End of Water Street—Was Sixty Years of Age.

INQUEST WAS UNNECESSARY

Alarmed at not seeing or hearing anything of Mrs. John Martin, an aged woman who lived alone at 945 Water street, her neighbours notified the police on Thursday afternoon and the search that followed resulted in the finding of her dead body on the kitchen floor. She had apparently been dead for some days.

Mrs. Martin did not live with her husband, having parted from him some years ago, and since that time had been living alone. For some time before Thursday afternoon those living near by had seen no signs of life from her house and grew alarmed, fearing that something had happened to her. An investigation was made but it was found impossible to get into the house without forcing an entrance. The doors and windows were all locked and the keys for both front and back doors were on the inside part of the locks.

It was decided to notify the police, who at once set about to find out something about Mrs. Martin's relatives. It was found that Miss Ellen Fitzgerald, a tailoress with H. LeBrun & Co., was a sister, and she accompanied Police Constable Adams to the house. The officer found it necessary to force the door of the woodshed. Then, by breaking the glass in the door of the summer kitchen he was enabled to draw back the bolt and enter the house.

The suspicions of the neighbours that all was not right, were soon verified by the finding of Mrs. Martin's lifeless body on the floor of the kitchen. She was near a sofa upon which was a blanket, and it is surmised that she had been lying down and when taken ill had attempted to arise and had fallen to the floor and expired. There were no marks of violence on the body, nor anything that would lead to the suspicion that she had met with foul play.

The coroner, Dr. Gray, was called up by telephone, but was too ill to have anything to do with the case. Crown Attorney Wood was next notified, and on learning the circumstances decided that an inquest was not necessary, and that Mrs. Martin had come to her death from natural causes.

The deceased was about sixty years of age, and was an old resident of the city, being known to a large number of citizens. She is survived by one sister, Miss Fitzgerald, and her husband, with whom she had not been living for some time. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon.

BIG DEMAND FOR BABY CARRIAGES

There is apparently a good demand in the city for second-hand baby carriages and go-carts. Recently the Examiner contained an advertisement from a person announcing a baby carriage and go-cart for sale, and before the edition was half off the press the articles had been disposed of. For two or three days, too, after the publication of the advertisement inquiries were made at this office for them. There's a hint there. If anyone has a carriage or go-cart for which they have no use an advertisement in the Examiner will surely find buyers, judging by the number of inquiries received for those already advertised. Another evidence of the efficacy of the advertising columns of the Examiner was furnished yesterday. A ladies' belt was lost, and the owner took the best means of finding it—inserted an advertisement in the want column of the Examiner. Before six o'clock the belt was returned to this office.

25 CENTS FOR TYING THE KNOT

And Then The Minister's Fee Was a Loan From a Friend

In these degenerate days, when marriages for money are becoming so alarmingly common, it is pleasing to find a wedding in which money played a decidedly small part. The ceremony took place one day this week, and the parties are well known in a certain circle in Peterborough. On the morning of the wedding day the bridegroom-to-be got his employer in a corner and borrowed $3 from him, stating that he was going to be married that afternoon.

His employer paid over the three, and, donning a dress suit, graced the wedding with his presence. His money was not in sight, but, an equivalent was in the shape of a supply of the stuff that cheers, and also inebriates.

After the knot had been safely tied, the blushing bridegroom approached his employer and begged the loan of 25 cents.

"Why, I gave you $3 this morning," was the surprised reply.

"That's all gone," replied the young husband, "and I should give the parson something."

A summons at the Yarmouth Police Court against an engineer for breaches of the Factory Act, was dismissed by the magistrates after a solicitor had pleaded guilty on his behalf, because a witness was in doubt about the day on which the offence was committed.

Illegal Duck Shooting Is Reported From Rice Lake

Members of Keene Gun Club Complain That Ontario Government Has Ignored the Request for a Game Warden's Services.

DUCK SHOT IN CREEKS.

Two members of the Keene Gun Club called on the Examiner to-day to protest against what they characterize as gross neglect on the part of the Ontario Government in its failure to appoint a game warden for Rice Lake. They point out that there is considerable illegal duck-shooting going on at that lake at the present time, and, while the members of the Gun Club are anxious to preserve the game and keep the law, they have no means at their disposal for enforcing the law.

They state that the Government has been written to repeatedly in reference to this matter, but no responses have been forthcoming, and there is serious talk of taking the law into their own hands.

The ice is still on the lake, but the creeks running into it are open and the ducks congregate along the shores, and while there are easily shot. The statement is made that both Indians and white men are guilty of the offence of shooting the ducks during the close season, and it is considered an outrage that no one has been appointed to preserve the law on Rice Lake. The Government, according to the information furnished the Examiner, has been asked to appoint some member of the Keene Gun Club to the position of game warden, but these requests have apparently been ignored. At any rate, there is no one at the lake charged with the duty of seeing that the law is preserved.

PLEASANT CELEBRATION OF CHINA WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John Moss of Aylmer Street Commemorate 20th Anniversary of Wedding Day.

An interesting event was the china wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Moss at their residence, 59 Aylmer street, on Thursday evening. The event was the celebration of 20 years of married life, half of which were spent in Peterborough. There were about 40 guests in attendance, and the evening was a most enjoyable one. Piano and violin music afforded amusement for the merry company, and a number of songs were also on the programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss were the recipients of a large number of pretty china presents, testifying to the esteem in which they are held by their friends. Refreshments were served before the guests dispersed for their homes.

EASTER

To-morrow represents the springtide of humanity and nature, the type of resurrection from the dead, both in the realm of spirit and of nature. From the first Easter dates the dogma of the resurrection of the human dead. The Eastertide also typifies the resurrection of nature from the dead state of winter—not the dead state, but the dormant state. There is no more death, the grave ceases to bind and hold, the earth contains no death, nature only sleeps. Now everything springs into new life. As Ovid saith, omnia tuma florent—now all things are blooming. The ice-bound earth releases the dormant root and bulb from the shackles of frost. Everything springs into life. As Easter gives the hope of new life in the spiritual world, so Easter brings new life to the material world. Hope foresees the harvest which is sure to come in both the spiritual realm and the realm of matter. Now the world puts by the sackcloth of abasement, and dons the garment of rejoicing. We are girded with new strength to take on new impulses and old duties with renewed zest.

ON EATING EGGS

With Easter Sunday staring us in the face within twenty-four hours, it is not too early to warn mankind against the sinfulness of eating eggs. The barbarous custom of over-indulgence in eggs one day in the year has the sanction of immemorial usage, but storied wrong, as we have always contended, never made a right.

Much of the responsibility, it is true, rests with the hen. This foolish creature, released from the lassitude and inaction of winter, brings to her self-appointed task, an unwonted zeal. At other seasons she may lay small eggs, or none at all. As the novelty wears off, she loses interest and the laying of eggs becomes perfunctory. The joy goes out of her cackle, and her mind, blunted by the daily routine, is deluded into manifestations of maternal solicitude by door knobs and crockery counterfeits. A victim of ennui, the hen cheerfully abandons the laying of eggs to the sitting on them. Anything, as it were to break the monotony.

But as spring comes round all is changed. The hen forgets. The vernal impulses of nature stir in her veins. Her fancy turns lightly to eggs. She has seen somewhere, perhaps, the noble work of the ostrich. She makes that her model and does her best. The fruits of her efforts are large and frequent. She overstocks the market. Eggs decline rapidly in price — and men and women and little children eat more of them than they should do.

But the egg carries with it its own punishment. From an egg everything. In the good ones we find the beginnings of life. In the bad ones something else. No man may eat miracles with impunity. Surfeit ensues and biliousness. It is sometimes as hard on Easter Sunday to eat that last egg as it is to eat on's word.—Toronto Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The investigation into license administration in Toronto has resumed and in the anxiety to make political capital the administration of licenses in Toronto twenty years ago is being unearthed. This is ancient history, but the case of Dr. Pyne's interference in the administration of the law—his alleged attempt to bulldoze the commissioners into giving a license to a political pet of Dr. Pyne against whom there were registered fourteen convictions for breach of the law, is left severely alone.

It was attempted to show by Mr. Hastings, the license inspector who was dismissed because he was not sufficiently compliant to Dr. Pyne's purposes, that under Liberal rule there was political influence at work. As to his experience in this regard Mr. Hastings testified that he was appointed inspector in 1886 and chief inspector in 1901 and added in answer to the question:—

"Were political influences present while you were in office?"

"Not to any extent. I had more political influence brought to bear on me in the Courtney matter since the change of Government than I had all the twenty years I was in office under the Liberals. I always took the ground that we were running the Board on business principles, and should not consider a man's politics or religion. The Courtney application was refused."

It may be explained that Courtney was the man of many convictions for whom Dr. Pyne wanted a license and when it was refused Inspector Hastings was "fired."

TREE PLANTING

There is nothing in nature that so delightfully diversifies, beautifies and dignifies the landscape as trees. There is nothing that so adds to the beauty and comfort of our streets and grounds as trees. Trees are nature's climatic safety valve, making for regularity of rainfall and the natural conditions most conducive to growth of grasses, grain and all the products of farm and garden. We have in the process of farm-making swept the forest off the face of the earth and we are the worse for it in many ways. We can undo the evil by planting trees along our highways and streets and on parts of our farms and our grounds in the city. Within the past year or two we have opened many new streets and many other vacant streets have been built upon. Trees should be planted at once. Postponement means the loss of, at least, a year—a considerable space in the life of a man and something in the life of a tree. Now is the time to plant trees, or, at least, make preparations for planting them. There is tree-planting and tree-planting—there is planting a tree so that it will grow, and there is planting a tree like one plants a fence post—with almost absolute certainty that it will rival a fencepost in the matter of growth. There is no great art in planting a tree so that it will be reasonably certain to grow and flourish. The art consists in doing it right, with due regard to the conditions which insure tree growth. There are two essential points—one is careful uprooting of the tree to be planted, and proper planting. Trees should be taken up with the object of saving as much root as possible, for it is upon the root, or, rather, the fibres, attached to the roots that the tree's future life depends. There is a delusion that it is necessary to take up as much earth as possible attached to the roots. This may do with a small tree or shrub with but a short shift to the planting place. But in the majority of cases the earth should be shaken off entirely, care being taken to keep the roots moist till planted. By doing this when planting time comes, one can be sure that every root and fibre comes in contact with the earth. Planting a tree to insure growth is an easy matter. First get the tree properly removed with good roots. Then make an excavation considerably larger than the circumference of the roots, and of good depth; fill this about three-quarters full of good rich earth. Pour in water and work thoroughly with a stade to the consistency of mortar used for brick laying. Place the tree roots in the centre of the hole and work gently up and down till the roots are thoroughly embedded in the puddle, then throw in dry earth around the outside of the hole; press this down with the foot till the puddle is forced up against every root, then fill with dry earth to the level of the surrounding soil and the tree is planted and has begun to grow before the operation is completed, for every root fibre has come into contact with the moist earth and every little pump on the rootlets is at work. This may be thought to be a long process. All depends on whether the tree is planted to grow or to die. If the tree is simply to be planted so that it will stand upright with no great care whether it lives or dies, the shorter process is the right one; but if it is desired and decided and determined that the tree shall grow, then the longer process is indispensable. In removing a tree for planting a considerable portion of the root is destroyed unavoidably. As roots are necessary to the support and growth of the top, the top should be pruned away before planting to correspond to the loss of roots. There is nothing gained by leaving too much top. This top may grow for a time—by virtue of the residual sap, but when the roots have to do all the work, with too much top, the roots are overworked and the tree top begins to dwindle and die. But if the top is rather severely pruned back, only such growth as the roots can support in healthy condition is thrown out. Consequently the tree may form top more slowly, but it will be a healthy top and continue to grow and develop into a healthy tree. As to the kind of tree to plant in Peterborough, individual preference cannot always be consulted. When the soil is shallow and underlaid with gravel, the elm is the best tree to plant. It is a surface feeder and sends out its roots laterally wherever there is soil. The maple is better adapted to deeper soils; it is a deeper feeder, sending its rootlets more directly downward. In shallow soils the maple flourishes well till the rootlets reach down to the gravel and then the tree dies, which accounts for the otherwise unaccountable and sudden death of maples of apparently thrifty growth. Arrange for planting trees now. Early spring is the proper time to plant trees. If you wait till the leaves are out to plant them, it is probably the last time you will see leaves on them.

Damage estimated at £15,000 was caused by fire at the timber yard of Griggs, Limited, at Gloucester. The previous evening there was a destructive fire at Ricks & Co.'s timber yard, and both are attributed to incendiarism.

A TORONTO MAN WAS ARRESTED HERE

This Morning's Budget of News From The Police Court

There were three men in the prisoner's box at the police court this morning. Rich. Geary was again in the hands of the law. This was his second appearance in a very short time. He was fined two dollars, to be paid forthwith or fifteen days in gaol, which Richard was forced to accept. He will not get drunk again for a little while at least.

Fred Burley, while intoxicated, disturbed a religious service at the Salvation Army Barracks last night. He pleaded guilty but said he dot do it willfully. Adj. Wiggins, for the Army, said they did not wish to press the case so Burley was fined two dollars on the charge of being intoxicated in a public place. Magistrate Dumble gave him some timely advice before he left.

Wm. Elliott was arrested yesterday on a warrant delivered from Toronto. The magistrate merely left over the charge until the officer from the Queen City should arrive.

Regarding his offence a despatch has the following: "William A. Elliott, who formerly lived at 22 Manchester avenue, in this city, was arrested at Peterborough yesterday on an advice from the local detective department that he was wanted on a charge of stealing $5 from Walter Hallett, of Bracondale. Detective Tipton will go to Peterborough this morning to bring him back."

Horse and Buggy Almost Lost On a Country Road

Big Washout on an Otonabee Thoroughfare Which Measured 12 Feet Across and 4 Feet Deep —Immediate Work for the Township Council.

BUGGY WAS BADLY BROKEN

Apropos to bad roads in the country it might be mentioned that the travellers on the Bensfort road claim that the section of it near Mr Samuel Deyell's woods, in Otonabee, holds the record. The other day a wash out occurred there which left a gaping hole 12 feet across, and 4 feet deep, and it has been suggested by the Examiner's informant, that the only way of fixing it will be to run an alligator into the hole and fill it with stones.

Mr. Perrin of North Monaghan, had an experience in the mud hole recently which he would not care to have repeated. His horse got its feet tangled up in the mud and was only extricated with difficulty, while the buggy was badly smashed. The road there is simply impassable and a notice has been put up to that effect.

This is probably one of the worst roads in Otonabee and should be looked after by the township council at their next meeting before they are called upon to pay damages. It is also learned that a number of teams have had great difficulty in getting through, so deep is the mud. Old residents in the vicinity claim it is one of the worst washouts they have ever seen and believe the council should make haste to have the break repaired, which has the appearance of a canal without a bridge.

Many Immigrants Are Arriving In The City

First Party Brought to Canada Under Salvation Army Auspices Came to Peterborough Yesterday.

HOLLANDERS AMONG THEM

The first steamer load of immigrants brought to Canada by the Salvation Army this season arrived at Halifax this week, and of the several hundred who formed the passenger list of the Vancouver, about a dozen stopped off at Peterborough and the majority of them have been placed in positions already in which they should do well. There were some carpenters among the new arrivals, and these will find plenty of work. Others have gone to farms, while the remainder have been placed to what it is expected will be of advantage to themselves in various lines of work.

An interesting fact in connection with the arrival of these new-comers is that there were, among those who came to this city, three natives of Holland, from Amsterdam, booked through the Army for Peterborough. Two of these were electricians, and one secured a position in the C. G. E. Co., the other going to Toronto to take a position there. The third one was a carpenter and he is yet unplaced. None of these men could speak English, though they knew enough to understand what was being said to them.

Yesterday an immigrant train passed through the city, and early morning the 5.15 C.P.R. train is run in two sections, made necessary by the large number of new-comers who are taking passage either to Western Ontario or farther west still.

Serious Charges That Two Persons Must Face

As Result of Bancroft Wedding James Hawley and Mrs. Fred Lott Arrested on Charges of Bigamy and Perjury.

THE CASE IS ADJOURNED

Examiner Special.

Bancroft, March 28.—As an outcome of a marriage which took place in Bancroft about the 8th of February last, in which the contracting parties were Jas. Hawley and Mrs. Fred Lott, daughter of Mr. Gilbert Beamhour, of this village. Hawley was arrested yesterday morning on two charges, namely, bigamy and perjury. The case was called at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the prisoner pleaded not guilty to both charges.

Rev. J. W. Mitchell, pastor of Knox church, who performed the ceremony, was called.

The marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, the only witnesses present being the father and mother of the bride and two younger sisters. Mr. Mitchell explained that the parties were all strangers to him with the exception of the father of the bride. After hearing this evidence the magistrate enlarged the case until next week.

An information has also been laid against Mrs. Lott, but she was ill and was not able to appear in court.

DRIVER PARNELL HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM AN ACCIDENT

Fred Parnell, one of the drivers of the Fire Brigade had a narrow escape from what would undoubtedly proved a serious, if not fatal accident. He was driving the second team on the way to the fire about noon today and as the wagon was crossing George street at Simcoe he was thrown off the mat by the jar as the wagon struck the slightly raised concrete crossing at the terrific rate at which the horses were travelling. Fireman Sharpe, who was on the seat with him caught him as he was falling to the ground behind the horses' heels and secured the reins, otherwise an accident involving injury not only to the driver, but to members of the Brigade who were riding on the hose wagon behind the flying team, would have resulted.

Why Beauty Fades

Real beauty is rare. It belongs to perfect health. Just as soon as the blood gets thin and watery and the nerves become exhausted beauty fades, wrinkles show themselves, the glow of health disappears and beauty curves give place to leanness and wrinkles. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative, is woman's greatest blessing from youth to old age. A few weeks treatment of this remedy will do wonders for any woman who is pale, thin, weak and nervous.

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Isaac Brock, 117 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 117 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 117 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shot a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

IN speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 117 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long siages with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes:

"I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. The only thing that bothers me is my sight. If I could see better I could walk all over the farm, and it would do me good. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,
Isaac Brock,

When old age comes, it brings with it catarrhal diseases. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people. This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to many old people.

A SKATER'S PARADISE.

Miles of Ice Clad Highways In Northern Holland.

Friesland, the northern province of Holland, is especially described as the true paradise of the skater. Its canals, threading the country in every direction, are in the winter months converted into miles upon miles of ice-clad highways, stretching out in almost every direction as far as the eye can see. The milkman, the butcher, in fact, all of the tradespeople having occasion to travel through the country, use these ice-clad canals in going from village to village.

Expert Skaters.

It is only natural that where there are such tempting stretches of ice the natives should be expert skaters, and this is true of the Frisians. The ordinary skater in this country, though he may have his own special footgear for the enjoyment of the sport, always sees to it that the shoes used are good, stout ones. Not so in Friesland. The expert skater there takes off his shoes and skates in his stocking feet, the only addition to his footgear being another pair of socks. The big wooden sabots ordinarily worn by the Frisian are usually carried under one arm when he is enjoying his skating.

So much do the Frisians think of their iceclad highways that the authorities in each city and village, many clubs and individuals, unite in their efforts to keep them in first-class condition and free from snow in the winter months.

Use Sleds to Carry Kits.

One of the best mediums for the transportation of the small kits one taking a skating trip in Friesland needs is the rudely but stoutly constructed Frisian sled, which can be hired at a small outlay. The other expenses can be made equally small. The food served at the little inns along the canals is clean and wholesome and the prices for meals are reasonable.

Then to add to the pleasure of such a trip, at important crossing points there are refreshment tents, where an invigorating drink of hot spiced milk may be had, or, if the travelers prefer, there are many cozy little spots along the line of canals where they may pause and prepare their own luncheons on the ice—in short, it is difficult to conceive of a winter outing affording more healthful pleasure than skating through Friesland.

Queen of the Barnyard.

Thirty-two million dollars is the contribution of the cows of Canada for this year of grace, made up of twenty-five millions worth of butter sent out of the country to help to feed the artisans of England, and for which they have paid pretty roundly. Of course, this thirty-two millions is not all, by a good deal. Not all the milk was sent abroad, and we at home have been beholden to the queen of the barnyard for butter and milk we used as well as for the millions that come in. So all hail the cow; long may prosperity attend her.—Belleville Intelligencer.

"THE CRUCIFIXION" IN ST. JOHN'S

Sacred Oratorio Presented by Combined Choirs Last Night to a Large Audience.

Before one of the largest and most representative congregations ever brought together in St. John's church, the combined choirs of St. John's and All Saints' solemnly sung the sacred oratorio "The Crucifixion" by Sir John Stainer, at 8 p.m. last night. An hour before, a steady stream of worshippers began to move to St. John's and before 8 o'clock all the available floor space had been filled, including the centre aisle. The service opened with a short service of intercession by Canon Davidson, assisted by Rev. Wm. Major, and the singing of "When I Survey" Passion hymn ushered in the story of our Blessed Lord's trial and death, from the arrest, "And They Laid Their Hands on Him and Took Him" to the last words from the cross "It is Finished."

The chorus numbered about fifty voices whose singing achieved choirally, results of a high order, for some of the numbers are justly esteemed as of more than ordinary difficulty, but skillfully conducted, the choirs met and surmounted them all. Mr. H. Morphet and Mr. Geo. Chandler in the tenor solos were in splendid voice, and have never been heard to better advantage. Mr. Sawers, Mr. Greenhalgh and Mr. Edwards divided the bass solos, and merit great praise for their numbers. The number "God So Loved the World," taken unaccompanied as a double quartette, was exquisitely sung. The organist, Miss Hulten, of All Saints' ably performed her difficult task, and played with skill and expression. To Mr. Richard J. Devey, organist and choirmaster of St. John's, who trained and conducted the whole work, hearty congratulation is offered on the successful representations of Stainer's beautiful composition. His work clearly shows, that skillfully led, we have singers in this city capable of good choral work, and it is hoped that this may lead on to other still heavier standard choral compositions being given. It is understood that the next work to be given, probably in May is another of Sir John Stainer's compositions, "Daughter of Jairus."

EXPERT SIGN WRITER ARRIVES FROM LONDON

Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons are still continuing in the immigration activities. Yesterday an expert sign writer, named Oxley, arrived in the city from London, Eng., to work for the local firm, the sign-writing business of which is growing so rapidly that additions to the staff of artists have to be made constantly.

AN OPEN AIR SERVICE BY THE BROTHERHOOD

Local Assmbly of Brotherhood of St. Andrew Held Open Air Service at Central Park Yesterday

The local assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew held an open-air service in Central Park yesterday afternoon. Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's Church, conducted the service, except the Bible lesson, which was ready by Mr. Chas. Goodacre. Mr. Arthur Kingdon, of St. Luke's Chapter, gave an address on the words, "Is it nothing to you?" and the service was attentively followed by a fairly large crowd. About thirty Brotherhood men led the singing of hymns, "When I Survey," and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." Mr. A. E. Walker presided at the organ, kindly lent by Mr. Williamson, of the Y.M.C.A.

GOOD FRIDAY CELEBRATED AT THE CATHEDRAL

The Services During the Day Were Well Attended.

The services at St. Peter's yesterday were all largely attended. In the morning the Mass of the Pre-Sanctified was sung at 9 o'clock, subsequent to the Veneration of the Cross. At 3 in the afternoon the Way of the Cross was followed, and again in the evening. Rev. Father Galvin, at this last service, preached an eloquent sermon on the passion of Christ, taking as his text, "It is consummated." He dealt with events which led up to the crucifixion, and mentioned the results so far as people are concerned.

Popular Cure For Croup

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for croup will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success. It is wonderfully prompt in relieving the cough, clearing the air passages and soothing the excited nerves. Many mothers who realize the suddenness with which croup comes on keep this great medicine constantly at hand for use in case of emergency.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Kerry Gow

Joseph Murphy's famous play, Kerry Gow, was presented to two large audiences at the Grand yesterday, and Mr. Allen Doone, and his capable company, won unstinted approval in this romantic Irish comedy drama. It is needless to say anything about the play itself; everyone knows the pretty story of the love of the Kerry blacksmith and his colleen, and the villainy of "Mr. Hay, Sir." Suffice it to say, that all the features that have made the play famous were given, including the wonderfully realistic scene in the smithy, and the carrier pigeons, which play such an important part in the development of the climax. Of the acting there can be little but good to say. The mantle of Joseph Murphy has fallen upon worthy shoulders in the person of Mr. Doone, whose acting in the title role was magnificent. Added to his great histrionic ability he possesses the added advantage of having a splendid voice, which was displayed with fine effect in two pretty songs. The supporting company is an excellent one, all the roles being in capable hands.

The house last night was one of the largest since the opening of the Grand opera house, and was a tribute to the enterprise of the management in securing such an excellent attraction.

A Brilliant Musician

Miss. Lena Drohsler Adamson, the popular and talented solo violinist is so well known to the Toronto concert-going public that of her little need be said. Beginning at an early age to study under the tuition of her talented mother, she went later to Leipzig, Germany, and was at once enrolled among the prominent pupils of the celebated teacher and composer, Hansett, and such was his opinion of her, that she played in public during the first year of her stay abroad, an honour which very few are able to attain.

After some years abroad Miss Adamson returned to Toronto and has appeared both in Canada and the United States with marked success.

Miss Adamson will be heard at the Grand Easter Concert at the Charlotte street Methodist church, on Monday night.

PRESENTATION TO HIS HONOUR

Judge Weller Remembered by Members of the Law Association.

At the conclusion of the presentation to Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, in the Law Library on Thursday afternoon, the members of the local law association took advantage of the fact that it was the 77th birthday of His Honour Judge Weller to present him with a set of pipes and smoking material. The presentation was made by Mr. Dan O'Connell, whilst Mr. W. H. Moore expressed the feelings of the members of the law association to His Honour in a neat speech, in which he referred to the many acts of kindnessess and courtesies which had been extended to the members of the bar by Judge Weller. He expressed the hope he would be given a long life in which to hold sway over them. His honour made an appropriate reply, thanking the members of the Association for their kind words and gift and referring to the fact that he had been assisted in his duties on the bench by the manner in which the barristers of this city had conducted their cases.

NEW STRIKE ON SILVER BIRD

Cobalt, March 29.—There is considerable talk here about the discovery of two new veins on the Silver Bird property. Superintendent Gauthier is very enthusiastic about the discovery and intends to commence drifting north and south at once. He feels quite confident that the big O'Brien and La Rose veins will be encountered within a short distance from where they are now working, as the shaft, which is down 107 feet, is full of highly mineralized stringers and small veins which are widening and increasing in value at every shot. The development of the property is being watched with great interest in the camp, as it is so splendidly located, having the O'Brien, La Rose and Colonial mines as its neighbour. The force of men is being increased, and it is the intention of the management to install another boiler, two steam drills and a compressor plant without delay.

ANOTHER STORE FOR MASON & CO.

Have Purchased the Property of Mr. Jas. Edgcumbe on George Street North.

Mr. E. F. Mason has purchased the property of Mr. Jas. Edgcumbe, at the corner of George and Antrim streets, which includes a well-stocked grocery store, a butcher shop and two residences. The transaction involves an outlay of over $12,000 on the part of Mr. Mason. Mr. Edgcumbe, who has occupied the store for nineteen years, has not been in the best of health and will probably go to the west.

This makes three stores owned by Mr. Mason, each of which will be operated under separate management. Mr. D. H. Kerneghan, who has been in the south store for some years, and who is well known as a genial and efficient clerk, will be in charge of the new store. The managers of the three stores will be as follows:

North store—D. H. Kerneghan.
Central store—J. M. Fanning.
South store—W. H. Dayman.

In operating a grocery business on this large scale it is possible to buy directly from the manufacturers, thus saving the middleman's profit, and placing the firm in a position to place before the consumers high quality goods at lower prices than possible under other circumstances. The firm has been noted for the fact that they have always the highest grade of goods in stock and with the enlarged business a continuance of this policy may be looked for.

LARGE NEW SIGN FOR BRANCH OFFICE OF BANK

The South End Branch of the Bank of Ottawa Have Conspicuous Gold Signs.

The branch of the Bank of Ottawa, which has been opened in the south end in the premises formerly occupied by the Ontario Bank, has been made very conspicuous by large, new signs. On the windows, gold letters are prominent. On the two sides of the building two new signs have been placed, and likewise on the roof a large, upright sign faces the south. It is about five feet by six feet in dimensions, with large, raised, gold letters forming the words, "Bank of Ottawa." The background is black, and, as may be readily judged, it is legible from a considerable distance. Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, manager of the Bank of Ottawa, has now a thoroughly equipped branch office in the south end, the industrial centre of the city, which will greatly relieve the head office on George street, and should increase the bank's already large business.

WAS THE VICTIM OF A PRACTICAL JOKE

Thought That He Was Speaking to the Sanitary Inspector and Obeyed Orders

A George street merchant was the victim of a practical joke the other day, which he did not appreciate. Some one called him up by 'phone, and informing him that it was the sanitary inspector, speaking, ordered him to remove the manure from his lawn before five o'clock that day. The merchant obeyed the order, had the manure removed, and next day found out that he had been victimized, and that Mr. Ball had issued no such order. The worst part of it was that he had to pay a man to put on the manure and then to remove it.

CHAS. BICKELL WON A SILVER CUP

At Shooting Contest in Lakefield on Yesterday Afternoon—Large Crowd Attended the Match

The people of Lakefield were given a novel entertainment on Friday afternoon in the form of a shooting match, held in the village, in the rear of the cement works. The event attracted a large number and the warm weather made it an ideal day for a shooting contest. The match was all off hand shooting at a bull's eye at a constant range of one hundred yards. Some excellent scores were made and several of the contestants repeatedly found the highest counter.

The Miller Bros. of Warsaw, were present but the prizes were captured by Lakefield men. The classic event of course, was the contest for a silver cup which was won by Mr. Charles Bickell. Each man had seven shots, and Mr. Bickell's score totalled 20 points. He also won a shot gun in another contest. Mr. Samuel Charleston won a clock, and Mr. Dave Edwards a fine belt and knife.

Great interest was taken by many of the villagers in the results and the scores were closely followed.

Mr. Bickell was a favourite winner and did some excellent shooting.

WEDDING BELLS

SMITHSON--ROBERTSON

Special to The Examiner.

Keene, March 30 — A wedding of considerable interest took place on Thursday evening at the residence of Mr. Andrew Robertson, Villiers, when his daughter, Mary Isabella, was united in marriage to Mr. Sidney Smithson, a former principal of the Villiers public school. The ceremoney was performed by Rev. D. D. McDonald, pastor of the Keene Presbyterian church, in the presence of about 60 of the friends of the contracting parties. The bride was dressed in white silk, and wore the conventional veil, and carried a bouquet of brides' roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Robertson, while Mr. Morley Smithson, brother of the groom, assisted him. After the ceremony the wedding dejeuner was served and congratulation showered on the happy couple, who left for their new home in Peterborough.

Among the guests from a distance were Mrs. John Smithson of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Weir, of Berlin.

MAPLE SUGAR SOLD AT 40 CENTS A QUART

Easter Market Was Not as Large as Was Expected—Eggs Drop a Cent

The Easter market was a good one but would undoubtedly have been more largely attended had the roads been in a better condition. As it was, however, prices were not too bad and the supply of butter and eggs met the local demand. The market should start earlier, the farmers should be in the city an hour earlier than customary and the ladies should be on hand at ten o'clock. The prices of eggs and butter were about the same; eggs 18c., butter 27c. Ancient chickens sold at 60 and 65 cents each, potatoes 90 cents a bag.

Pure maple syrup, the kind our grandfathers boasted of, was offered at 40 cents a quart.

The prices were as follows:

Potatoes, per bag	.85	to	90
Apples, per bag		to	1 50
Onions, per peck	25
Beets, per peck	15
Cabbage, per head	5
Parsnips, per peck	15

COMMITTEE REPORTS WILL BE TAKEN UP

Regular Meeting of the Council Will be Held on Monday Night.

The Council will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday night, when the principal business to be taken up will be the receiving of reports from the various committees, who have been at work all week preparing statements of the work done. Over some of these reports there is likely to be considerable discussion, especially that of the Property Committee, in which the passing of a building permit bylaw, is recommended. There are objections on the part of some of the aldermen to the bylaw on the ground that it does not go far enough in the right direction.

Preparations For The Annual Spring Drive

Much Activity is Reported Among Foremen for the Different Companies Operating Limits.

MEN LEAVING THE CITY.

With the first of the month a number of the lumber companies will despatch the first of their crews of men for the spring drives. Already a number of the foremen for the different companies are picking up their men, and in a few days the number of men who engage in this class of work, and who are now spending a few days in the city, will have taken their departure for the woods again. From the men now here, a few interesting items concerning the movements o fthe different companies and there foremen have been gathered.

Mr. Hugh Regan, Water street north, of the Turner Lumber Co., of the North Shore, after a short visit with his family, leaves for Toronto Monday morning on a business trip for the firm, whose headquarters are in that city.

Mr. Matt. Jamieson, one of the reliable clerks for the Cavendish Lumber company, left this morning for the scene of the company's spring operations, after a pleasant visit with his family and renewing old acquaintances.

Mr. Geo. Jackson, the now well-known representative of the Cavendish Lumber Co., after a well-earned holiday, is busily engaged hiring his usual complement of men to move the winter's cut to the mills of the company.

One of the old and reliable citizens in the person of Mr. Giles Stone, in the employ of the Hall and Graves Lumber Co., North Shore, after a well-earned holiday, is again busily engaging men men for the company he represents for their summer operations.

Mr. Eugene Pinequette, one of the well-known and oldest chefs in the employ of the several important lumber firms, while home on a holiday visit, was extended the glad hand by a number of citizens, who had the occasion to partake of the good things in the shape of eatables put up by this well-known and reliable caterer.

BOYS SET THE GRASS ON FIRE

Brigade Extinguished It With Branches of Trees—About an Acre Burned

About noon to-day the fire brigade was called out to Homewood avenue to extinguish a grass fire, which would have done considerable damage had it not been discovered in time. The fire occurred in a field to the rear of Mr. A. L. Davis' stables, and was supposed to have been started by a boy, as one was seen to climb the fence and get away from the scene as quickly as possible.

When the brigade reached the conflagration they found a man with a pail of water attempting to put out the blaze. His efforts, of course, were fruitless, as about an acre of grass was in flames. No water had to be used as it was extinguished by some branches of trees within a few yards of the stable.

THE AWARD HAS BEEN HANDED IN

Arbitrator Between City and Mr. Bogue Makes His Decision

The Board of Works Committee of the City Council will hold a special meeting to-night at 7 o'clock for the purpose of cleaning up some matters in order to make a committee report on Monday night. The award of Mr. Spence the arbitrator between the city and Mr. Jas. Bogue in reference to the outfall sewer in East City, has been handed in and it is understood will be taken up by the Board of Works.

The Finance Committee met on Tuesday night to pass accounts and prepare a report for the Council meeting on Monday night.

Ill Temper From a Bad Liver

Carlyle justly attributed the bad temper which made him a monster in the eyes of the world to a bad liver. Nothing makes one feel more miserable or more gloomy and discouraged than liver complaint, and consequent billousness and dyspepsia and nothing so promptly and thoroughly sets the liver right and overcomes these ailments as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the great family medicine.

Mr. Ross Craig of Dundas, is spending Easter at home, East City. Mr. Craig, who has been one of the stalwarts of the local Rugby team, says that they are already talking Rugby in Dundas, and that town will have a great team next fall. A concert is being arranged for the purpose of raising funds for the club.

Poultry Netting

We have a special heavy unbreakable chicken fence this year. It costs very little more than the ordinary woven fence and will last a lifetime.

Passengers Complain Of Delay On Port Hope Train

Statement That it Was Held Outside the City Fifteen Minutes This Morning While Fares Were Taken.

THE REASON ASSIGNED.

Passengers on the Port Hope train of the G.T.R. this morning were much enraged over the inconvenience they suffered by reason of the delay of 15 minutes on the outskirts of the city. The whole trouble appears to have been caused by reason of the fact that there is no ticket agent at Fraserville. On occasions like this morning, when there are cheap rates on the railway, the people in the vicinity of nearby stations take advantage of the single fare to come to Peterborough. A great many on such occasions come from Fraserville. This morning there was the usual large number, and the conductor, feeling that he could not sell tickets to all those who took the train at Fraserville, stopped his train some distance out of the city, locked the doors, and proceeded about his business of selling tickets and collecting fares. Many persons who were returning to the city were compelled to put up with this delay, and were stalled for a quarter of an hour to suit the convenience of the conductor, and the railway company. Of course, it is not supposed that the Grand Trunk could afford to carry these people for nothing, but it seems reasonable to expect, that on mornings when there is a crowd at Fraserville, like that of this morning, a man should be authorized to sell tickets at that station.

Chicago Divine To Speak Here To-morrow Night

Rev. George T. Webb, Secretary of the B.Y.P.U. for North America, to Give Address in Murray Street Church.

BROTHER OF THE PASTOR

For those who attend the Murray Street Baptist Church to-morrow night there is a treat in store. Rev. Geo. T. Webb, of Chicago, the General Secretary of the B.Y.P.U. of North America, and a brother of the pastor of the Murray Street Church, Rev. J. R. Webb, will give an address on "The Young People's Movement in America." Mr. Webb was in Hamilton yesterday, giving an address at a convention of young people, and he was prevailed upon by his brother to come to Peterborough and give his address.

In the face of the fact that Montreal and Toronto people were after Mr. Webb's services for to-morrow, Peterborough may consider itself favoured in his decision to come here and, of course, had it not been for the fact that his brother was the pleader, he would probably have accepted one of the other invitations.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS —During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me; and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

LEARN DRESSMAKING IN TWO WEEKS

We teach you everything from the plainest Shirt Waist to the most elaborate Toilette that can be found in the fashion books. We show you how to put together not only the lining, but all the outer goods in Coats, Skirts, Waists, Wrappers, Sleeves, Collars, Children's Dresses, etc. Why spend months at a Dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. For you will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, as there is nothing to be paid in advance, you certainly would not lose anything by trying.

We have taught over 2,000 this way within the past 6 years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect-fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw or pull out of skirt when raising arm.

An evening class will also be taught. In this class we will teach Shirt Waists, Sleeves and Sacques. This course will be $4.00, and hours from 7 to 9.

We will teach in Peterboro from April 8th to April 20th—Hours for Day Class 9 to 5. All wishing to learn be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, on Saturday, April 6th, between 10 and 5 o'clock. This is positively the last class we will teach at Peterboro this year.

REBELS SHOT DOWN BY SOLDIERS

Peasant Rioters Killed Wholesale By Artillery Fire.

LARGE NUMBERS KILLED

Situation Becoming Daily More Aggravated—No Quarter to Be Shown ——Set Fire to Houses—Train Stopped and Looted—Villages Bombarded — State of Siege Proclaimed by the Government.

Bucharest, Roumania, March 30.—The efforts of the Government to suppress the revolt of the peasants have met with only partial success. The troops are acting with increased energy.

Hundreds of rioters have been killed in the numerous conflicts with the soldiers, but as yet there is no sign of permanent amelioration of the situation. On the contrary, the rioters appear to be becoming more bold and determined and yesterday the situation undoubtedly was aggravated.

As an indication of the nervous apprehension existing even in the capital, the new prefect of Bucharest, as a measure of precaution, ordered all shops in the city closed. This order created the impression that the rioters were approaching Bucharest and there was panic until it was learned that these fears were groundless.

At Targovistes, in the Argesh district, a band of peasants attempted Thursday to raid an arsenal and procure a supply of rifles and ammunition. Upon being repulsed by the troops, the rioters set fire to many houses in the town.

Brought to Bay by Troops.

The roving bands of peasants in the district of Teleerman were surrounded and brought to bay Thursday by detachments of troops.

At Vlaschka, a band of peasants were summoned to disperse, refused to do so and opened fire on the troops, whereupon the latter fired three shots at them from a field gun, killing seventy men and wounding many more. According to an unconfirmed version of the encounter, 200 of the peasants were killed.

A squadron of Hussars went to Brabova, came in conflict with a band of peasants, and it is reported that fifty of the latter were killed.

A train running between Bucharest and Komona was stopped by rioters and thoroughly looted.

There is a slight improvement in the situation at Jassy. The streets of the city are empty, and the shops still shut. The peasants there apparently were overawed by the concentration of troops.

Many Slain in Village.

A serious encounter is reported to have taken place at the Village of Papahabestie, in which many peasants were killed or wounded.

The bombardment of the three villages in the Vlaschka district, in which rioters had taken refuge, undoubtedly resulted in a very large casualty list, but the exact numbers cannot be learned. It is known, however, that several hundred peasants were arrested there.

There have been sanguinary encounters in the district of Delj, but details are lacking. The peasants there are riotous, and rumor places the number killed and wounded in encounters with the troops at several hundred.

The authorities are beginning to use artillery to bombard the village where the rioters take refuge.

The peasants committed terrible atrocities in the Buzeo district, and the troops sent thither had orders to suppress the disturbances at any cost.

Eleven Officers Killed.

It is impossible to give even an approximate estimate of the number killed or wounded since the beginning of the disorders, but there is apparently good reason to believe that the reports have not been exaggerated, and that when the totals finally are learned they will be greater than is now supposed. Not less than eleven army officers have been killed or wounded.

It is reported that in Southern Moldavia, where the rioting was temporarily suspended, the peasants intend to recommence their pillaging during the Jewish passover, if the promises made to them by the Government are not fulfilled.

The authorities are doing all they possibly can do to restore order, and some of the measures adopted are severe. Premier Stardza yesterday had both Houses of Parliament adopt a bill authorizing the Government, in view of the grave circumstances throughout the country, to declare a state of siege wherever necessary.

Order Restored in Moldavia.

Bucharest, March 30.—An official report just issued says order has now been restored in Moldavia, that prefects are traveling through the troubled districts quieting the agitated peasants, and that disputes between peasants and landowners are being settled amicably.

THREW BABY OVERBOARD.

Demented Mother Tries to Squeeze Through Port Hole Into Sea.

New York, March 30.—A demented mother threw her 14-months old baby infant into the sea and then attempted to follow, according to the officers of the steamer Konig Albert, which arrived here yesterday from Genoa.

Mrs. Flosena Aquila embarked with her husband and five of her eleven children, at Naples. One son already was in America.

Early in the voyage Mrs. Aquila and the infant daughter contracted measles and were sent to the ship's hospital.

The mother's mind became affected, and Wednesday last she threat the infant through a port hole and attempted to follow.

A seaman saw the body of the child fall from the porthole, and, while the ship was being stopped, attendants found Mrs. Aquila trying to force her body through the port hole. She was rescued.

No trace of the infant's body has been found.

THAW EXAMINED BY COMMISSION

Calmly Replies to Rapid-Fire of Questions.

TO KNOW RESULT MONDAY

Insanity Commission Limits Scope of Enquiry—Thaw Remains Thoroughly at Ease—Counsel Confident of the Outcome—Trial Is Expected to Proceed — Should Not Last More Than Three Days.

New York, March 30.—Harry K. Thaw for two hours on Thursday submitted to a running fire of questions by the three men appointed by Justice Fitzgerald as a commission in lunacy to determine his present state of mind.

The examination was exhaustive and, when adjournment was taken until Saturday morning, no one connected with the hearing would discuss the details of the enquiry.

Thaw went willingly and confidently before the commission and, when the two-hour secret session was over, his attorneys appeared with smiling faces and declared they were more than satisfied with the course of the proceedings.

District Attorney Jerome hurried away from the criminal court building, declining to discuss the commission's work.

Limit Scope of Enquiry.

The most important feature of the proceedings was the decision of the commission to limit the scope of its enquiry to the exact language of the statute—to determine solely the question whether or not Harry Thaw is able to understand the nature of the court proceedings against him and to advise his counsel rationally.

To put Thaw thoroughly at ease, the commissioners addressed their questions to him in a conversational tone and in a casual manner, as though he were in conference with them.

Counsel Well Satisfied.

It is said Thaw answered the questions calmly and went into lengthy explanations.

Referring to the day's proceedings, Mr. Hartridge said:

"Harry came out with flying colors. He remembered more about the case than I did. We are confident of the outcome."

It is said the commission purposes to make Thaw narrate the trial from its beginning to test his memory of what has occurred in court. To this end, it was said he was questioned about the part he took in the selection of the jury.

Report On Monday.

The commission may finish its work to-day and be ready to report to Justice Fitzgerald by Monday.

The jury will report in court once more at 10.30 o'clock Monday morning, and it is the hope of the presiding judge and that of the commission that the matter of the defendant's sanity will be disposed of by that time.

If the commission should submit a report to the effect that Thaw fully understands the nature of the proceedings against him and has rationally advised his counsel, Justice Fitzgerald will simply direct that the trial proceed without making public the commission's findings.

If the report is against Thaw, Justice Fitzgerald will announce the fact from the bench, and if he deems the prisoner's release dangerous to the public peace and safety he will sign an order directing his confinement in some state hospital for the insane, probably Matteawan.

Yesterday being Good Friday, there was no session of the lunacy board, and Thaw spent a quiet day in the Tombs preparing for a renewal of his mental test this morning. The session of the commission will again be private.

Any medical advice which the commission may desire will come from Dr. Leopold Putzel, one of its members.

Thaw's counsel are so sanguine of the outcome of the lunacy enquiry that yesterday they were making plans for the resumption of the trial next week. It seems now that, if the trial is resumed, the defence will probably announce that it rests without further testimony.

If the trial goes on it should not last more than three or four days.

Hamilton, Alienist, May Testify.

From sources assumed to be authentic, it was announced late last night that Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton, alienist, would be called upon to testify to-day before the lunacy commission which is to determine whether Harry K. Thaw is competent to understand the nature of the proceedings in his trial for killing Stanford White and to rationally advise his counsel.

France Warns Morocco.

Tangier, March 30.—M. Regnault, French Minister, accompanied by the commander of the French cruiser Jeanne d'Arc, Thursday presented to Mohammed el Torres France's demands for reparation in the case of the murder of Dr. Mauchamp.

Mohammed el Torres was warned that he would be held fully responsible for the carrying out of the French demands and for any anti-European movement which might result therefrom. The representative of the Sultan offered no objection.

Offers $1,000 to Get Boy Back.

Dover, Del., March 30.—Dr. Marvin, father of Horace Marvin, aged 4 years, who has been missing from his home near here for more than two weeks yesterday deposited $1,000 in gold which the cashier of a local bank, which be paid for the return of the boy.

Clark to Oppose Anderson.

Comber, March 30.—Charles Clark, publisher of The Comber Herald, confirms the rumor that he will run as an independent candidate against Dr. Anderson, the choice of the conservatives of South Essex, at the next provincial election.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Englishman Found on Track With Fear Ghastly Wounds.

Toronto, March 30.—With his neck on one of the rails, with four wounds in his head, and with his clothing partly torn off, Edward Elliott, an English laborer, was found dying at midnight on Thursday on the G. T. R. main line between Port Credit and Lorne Park. A few minutes after being picked up in an unconscious condition he passed away, and from the attending circumstances there are grave suspicions of foul play. The tragedy was discovered by the crew of a freight train coming into Port Credit, the engine being stopped in time to prevent running over the head and neck. While being hurried to Port Credit he died without being able to tell any of the events that led to his death.

A horrible gash in the back of the head, which bled profusely, was in itself sufficient to cause death, while a small hole in the chin had all the appearance of being the result of a revolver shot. This wound was partly probed by the coroner, but no bullet was found.

The post-mortem examination will be held at Port Credit this morning, and it is expected that this will show whether or not murder was done.

ACCIDENT OR SUICIDE.

James Clemett Found Dead With Gas Turned On.

Toronto, March 30.—James Clemett was found dead by the police with the gas turned on in his home at 186 Claremont street Thursday morning. The authorities believe death was due to suicide. Every door and window in the house had been firmly fastened and the gas jet above the bed on which the man lay was turned full on. A note on a sheet of notepaper read: "Dear Myrtle, I wish you were here." and an envelope addressed "Give this to my son James." The dead man was a widower and had three small children placed in children's homes. He had some property and a bank account, and the fraternal societies of which he is a member will conduct the funeral. The neighbors say the man was at times very eccentric, and his death may have been brought about by himself during a fit of temporary insanity.

CANADA THE RIGHT PLACE.

John Burns Strongly Opposed to National Relief Works.

London, March 30.—(C. A. P.)—In the House of Commons Hon. John Burns, speaking on the subject of the unemployed, said there were certain districts where the only remedy was emigration. Men sent to farm colonies generally returned to their own district, but if sent to a place like Canada they are removed morally, physically and industrially from their environment and started on a new life. Rather than adopt a national scheme of relief works, costing a million a year, as suggested by some Labor members, he would resign his portfolio.

POISON WAS BOUGHT.

Important New Testimony Is Expected In Perkins Murder Case.

Cayuga, Ont., March 30.—It is learned on good authority that at the coming trial of Mrs. Perkins, who is charged with administering poison to her husband which caused his death on Christmas Day, new and important testimony with regard to a purchase of poison will be presented by the Crown. It is understood that a Buffalo druggist will testify.

Crown Attorney Murphy, when questioned regarding the source of the poison, declined to make any statement.

28 WERE KILLED.

Theatrical Company In Railroad Disaster In California.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 30.—Twenty-eight passengers, mostly Italian laborers, were killed in the wreck of a Southern Pacific train from New Orleans, near Colton, Cal.

The Florence Roberts Theatrical Co. occupied a special car attached to the train, but so far as reported none of the members was hurt.

Only two of the passengers in the Pullman cars were injured.

Fear Railway Strike.

Winnipeg, March 30.—There is more or less uneasiness here over fear that the Chicago strike may extend to Western Canada.

"I do not think the men of the western roads will go out," said Wm. Whyte, second vice-president of the C. P. R. "Such a step would be just as detrimental to the men as to the railways."

The officials of the local unions in affiliation with the Brotherhood of Trainmen and Order of Conductors also look for an amicable settlement. While admitting they are not seriously affected by the points at issue, inasmuch as these have practically been granted on both the C. P. R. and the C. N. R., they propose going out if a general strike is ordered.

In the event about three-fifths of the membership of 90,000 would be affected. The strike would be only on roads operating west of Fort William and Chicago. About 5,000 employes of the C. N. R., and 11,000 of the C. P. R. would be among members [illegible]

GREAT MANY ICEBERGS WERE SEEN

Lake Manitoba Arrives After a Tempestuous Voyage.

HUGE WAVES SWEPT DECKS

Non-Arrival of Vessel Had Caused Great Anxiety—Was Carrying Over 1,300 Passengers — Two Sailors Washed Overboard in Fierce Storm—Narrow Escapes From Icebergs—Had Hard Time.

St. John, N. B., March 30.—After a terrible experience in one of the worst storms of the winter, the C. P. R. liner Manitoba reached port Thursday forenoon from Liverpool nearly five days overdue. The Manitoba sailed from Liverpool on March 13, having on board 1,343 passengers, which included 50 saloon, 138 second cabin and 1,146 steerage. On the fourth day out from Liverpool the storm, the worst ever experienced by Capt. Evans, was encountered. A fierce gale lashed the seas in fury, the passengers were deathly sick, and all on board put in a most miserable week. Seas continually broke over the steamer, and at times she was practically helpless. The Manitoba ran into a veritable field of icebergs and passed at close range no less than fifteen of them, the steamer during the storm having several narrow escapes. The weather cleared on Saturday last, and although Sunday was rather rough, no further hardships were experienced on the run to St. John.

On March 15, the third day out, one of the crew was lost overboard, falling from the bridge deck while engaged in cleaning. He was Richard Davies, a native of England. A rescue occurred on Wednesday night about 11.30 o'clock, while the Manitoba was off Briar Island. One of the sailors, named Crabtree, an Englishman, missed his footing and was never seen afterwards. A boat was quickly manned and beat about the vicinity for two hours, but without results. Of the total passenger list only 75 are for the United States.

With hardly an exception the passengers are English people of the right class, and look as if they would make valuable citizens.

On arrival here they presented a pitiable appearance, all showing effects of violent attacks of seasickness.

LIBERALS HOLD SEAT.

Suffragists and Tariff Reformers Lose Bye-Election.

London, March 28.—R. D. Holt, Liberal, was elected Thursday to represent the Hexham division of Northumberland in Parliament by a majority of 1,157 over Col. Bates, the Unionist candidate.

The vacancy was caused by the elevation of Mr. Beaumont, Liberal, to the peerage, in succession to his father, the late Lord Allendale.

The campaign was fought with great vigor and was marked by wild scenes of disorder. Many meetings were broken up by the Unionists, who hoped to reverse the decision reached at the general election. The miners of the district, however, voted solidly for Mr. Holt, with the result that the Liberals retain the seat, though their majority was cut nearly in two.

The woman suffragists were active in opposing the Liberal candidate, while the tariff reformers displayed great activity for the Unionist candidate, who announced that though a tariff reformer, he was opposed to any additional tax on food.

FOUR YEARS "SOLITARY."

Murderess Also Expelled From Switzerland For Twenty Years.

Thun, Switzerland, March 30.—Mlle. Tatiana Leontieff, the Russian woman who murdered a Frenchman named Muller at Interlaken in September, mistaking him for M. Durnovo, former Minister of the Interior of Russia was sentenced yesterday to four years' solitary confinement and to 20 years' expulsion from the country.

The prisoner complained she had been subjected to brutality by the examining magistrate and the prison warders, who were unable to deny the charge.

Trying to Get a Reprieve.

London, March 30.—The movement to obtain a reprieve for Horace George Rayner, the young man who was recently sentenced to death for the murder of William Whiteley, which is being conducted here under the leadership of two or three newspapers, is growing.

Names to the petitions to be handed to the Home Secretary are beginning to come in from the colonies and the continent.

A number of women of more or less social prominence are devoting their days to the clerical work necessary to prepare the petitions.

Many of the agitators believe Rayner was insane, while others hold that he was Whiteley's son. Several prominent writers and actors have lent their names to the movement.

Million Pounds For Nothing.

London, March 30.—(C. A. P.)—An article in The Minor by a Radical member, says: "Lord Elgin must go; he has blundered from the moment he went to Downing street. His last blunder caused quite a Liberal revolt in the House of Commons. The last was the subsidy to the C. P. R. It has been paid on the express understanding that a fast mail service will be established between Great Britain and the far east across the Dominion No such service exists, and nearly a million has been paid for nothing.

"It is an open secret that the treasury stoutly opposed the subsidy.

Youngstown, Ohio, March 30.—A locomotive attached to an ore train on the Pittsburg, Youngstown and Ashtabula road, a branch of the Lake Shore, exploded at Lockwood, 30 miles south-east of here, yesterday. The engineer, H. H. Watson, of Meroningtown, Pa., cannot be found, and it is supposed that he was blown to pieces. The fireman and brakeman and a tramp were badly hurt.

BRIDGES ARE IN DANGER.

Serious Floods at Janesville and Clarkstown.

Ottawa, March 30.—The Rideau river is in serious flood, and 200 families are homeless in Janesville and Clarkstown. Communication with Ottawa is cut off.

A funeral car attempted to cross the river and was swept away, with the corpse. The mourners jumped off and saved it.

The heavy rains are not improving matters, and there is fear for the safety of some of the bridges above Ottawa.

Yamaska River In Flood.

St. Hyacinthe, March 30.—The Yamaska River overflowed its banks in the lower part of the city Thursday night, through the breaking of the ice at the rapids. The water was over the first floor of the houses on a few streets, but the damage was not serious.

The ice began to move about four o'clock, near the Grand Trunk bridge, and about two o'clock yesterday morning it was at Rapid Plat, five miles down, where the Light & Power Co. have their works. This will save the city from any damages.

Landslide Buries Cars.

Quebec, March 30.—There was quite a landslide at Montmorency Falls, just to the north of the elevator yesterday. A great body of earth, heavily soaked with water, broke loose about half way up the cliff and crashed down on cars on the siding.

Reports from all stations from Cape Rouge to Montreal state that the ice bridge is still solid, with the water remarkably low for the season.

The ice is in the same condition as La Prairie, where there is no flood as yet.

The ice is still hard at Yamaska but the water is getting higher.

At Three Rivers the ice is solid. The water rose 6 inches since Thursday.

POSTOFFICE GRIEVANCES.

Dominion and United States Postal Representatives Hold Conference.

Washington, March 30.—With a view if possible of arriving at a satisfactory adjustment of questions affecting second-class mail matter entering Canada from the United States, representatives of the Dominion were in conference yesterday with Postmaster-General Meyer, Second Assistant Postmaster-General Shallenberger and other officials.

The action of the Canadian authorities in giving notice of their desire to withdraw from the postal convention with this country, with respect to second-class matter, was the principal topic of discussion.

Various propositions were advanced on both sides, which it is believed will have the effect of bringing the two countries together in an arrangement more acceptable to Canada.

Yesterday's conference was supplemented to one recently had with the Canadian postal officials in Ottawa by Gen. Shallenberger. The Canadian officials here are Postmaster-General Lemieux, Deputy Postmaster-General R. M. Coulter and Mr. Smith of the Canadian Department of Posts.

BRAIN STORM TRAGEDY.

Old Inmate of Elgin House of Industry May Die.

St. Thomas, March 30.—Wm. Brannon, an inmate of the Elgin House of Industry, was attacked by Patrick Murphy, another inmate, who is subject to "brain storm," at the institution Thursday night, and received injuries which, coupled with his advanced age, may result in his death. Murphy has been locked in a room every night on account of insane outbursts, and Brannon was closing the door for the night when attacked. He received cuts and bruises on the head and his hip was fractured. He is in a precarious condition. Murphy has been arrested and will be sent to the asylum. Brannon, who is a veteran of the Indian mutiny, and went through the siege of Lucknow, belongs to Springfield, Ont., and Murphy to Bayham.

AGED MEN AT COURT.

Austrian Emperor Washes Their Feet and Feeds Them.

Vienna, March 30.—Emperor Francis Joseph performed the usual Maunday Thursday ceremony, before a gathering of archdukes, diplomats and state officials. Before washing the feet of 12 aged men, the emperor and the archdukes personally served them with a repast of several courses.

The ceremony was concluded with the bestowal of silk purses containing 30 silver pieces, which the Emperor hung around the neck of each of the old men.

The ages of the 12 men totaled 1,088 years.

Trampled By Team.

Brockville, Ont., March 30.—A possibly fatal accident is reported from Potland, the victim being Joseph Ready, of Perth, who had gone to that place on a visit to relatives. Ready is an invalid from rheumatism, and, after being helped out of a wagon, stood holding the horses while the driver went inside with his grip. The horses, one of which was a colt, became unmanageable, and getting him under their feet trampled him before the driver succeeded in rescuing him. One leg was broken and his head and face a mass of cuts and bruises. His recovery is doubtful.

Fell With Legs On Rail.

London, Ont., March 30.—John McAndrew, a Detroit traveler, had a narrow escape from death Thursday afternoon. In attempting to board a moving passenger train he slipped and fell, with his legs across the rail. The force of his fall raised his feet from the rail, and the trucks, striking them, threw him to safety.

Hit Wife On Head.

London, March 30.—Thomas Garrett is under arrest, and his wife in the hospital suffering from concussion of the brain, the result of a fight, in which her husband is said to have hit her on the head with a chair.

Fifty-Four Killed by Explosion.

Johannesburg, March 30.—Four white men and fifty natives were instantly killed and three whites and sixteen natives were injured by the explosion Thursday night of two cases of dynamite at the Dreifontein mine.

TO BREAK A COLD QUICKLY

Mix half an ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) with two ounces of Glycerine and half a pint of good Whisky. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses. A well-known authority on lung trouble declares that the above formula will cure any cough that is curable. It will break up a cold in twenty-four hours. The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost.

Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up only in half-ounce vials for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ontario—plainly printed thereon. The cheaper oils and those sold in bulk only create nausea, and never effect the desired results.

MADNESS OR DEATH.

The Inevitable Fate That Awaits the Absinth Tippler.

What is absinth? It is prepared by pounding the leaves and flowering tops of various species of wormwood, star anise root, sweetflag root, leaves of dittany and other aromatic plants, and steeping them in alcohol. After eight or ten days the mixture is distilled, and oil of aniseed or some similar essential oil is added. This is the method of producing the genuine absinth, but it varies usually in the direction of cheapening production and increasing profits. Poisonous wood alcohol is used for macerating the vegetable ingredients, and inferior and often injurious herbs are employed. These do not always produce the much desired greenish opalescence, and turmeric, indigo, sulphate of copper and other coloring matters are employed. The consequences of regularly drinking even carefully prepared absinth are in the end ruinous to mind and body. The main difference between the various qualities of the liquor is the rapidity with which deleterious effects are produced. A man can go on drinking the better qualities a little longer before he becomes a mental and physical wreck; that is all. And, whether one drinks to excess or only takes a regular daily dose, the end is the same. The sequence of events and their duration only are different. In the first case the large doses of the liquor necessary to produce any effect speedily render the victim unable to eat food. He is tortured by an unquenchable thirst. Hallucinations speedily follow, and the grave or the madhouse is the inevitable end. The absinth tippler goes to ruin down an easier slope. His earliest symptoms are loss of weight and strength, followed by the development of muscular twitchings and a tottering gait, somewhat similar to that of locomotor ataxia. Then hallucinations set in, accompanied by gradually spreading paralysis, which ends in death. If a person is a regular daily drinker of absinth, whether he drinks to excess or only tipples moderately, ruin of the nervous system, followed by madness or death, is absolutely certain.—Exchange.

SOME NEW YORK FIRSTS.

The first governor was Peter Minuit. He was appointed in 1623.

The first male child born of European parents was Jean Vigue (1614).

The first female child born of European parents was Sarah Rapalja (1615).

The first physician was Dr. Johannes La Montague, who began practicing in 1636 and who for many years was the only doctor.

The first engineer was Kryn Frederick, who was authorized by the governor in 1626 to superintend the construction of a permanent fort on Manhattan Island.

The first meeting room for religious services was (1626) in the loft of the horsepower mill located on what is now South William street, near Pearl. —New York Herald.

The first warehouse was erected in 1626. It was a rude, inartistic structure, one corner of which was set apart as a village store. Here the Indians came for a drink of the white man's "fire water."

A Dutch Superstition.

Live but to learn! When you give a pointed or sharp instrument to a friend he makes return of a penny, so that friendship may not be pierced or cut. I gave a kitten to our washwoman, the daintiest bit of Wilhelminesque ware in this country—aetat thirty-five, avoirdupois 222. She was nearly tickled to death. "I won't thank you for the present," she said, "because the kitten would pine away and die." She then explained that in Holland to thank a friend for a present was always supposed to bring bad luck. Maybe all men these days are Hollanders. The more favors you do them the less they thank you.

FROZEN OUT OF THE LEAGUE

Peterborough Ball Club Were Given a Raw Deal by the Lake Shore Town Clubs.

BOWMANVILLE OBJECTED

The Peterborough Baseball Club has been squeezed out of the Midland League and with them the band of ball tossers led by our old college chum "Bill" Cranmmon. Talking about raw deals, the local club certainly got one yesterday at the hands of the annual meeting of the league, held in Oshawa, at which Port Hope, Bowmanville, Oshawa, Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough were represented. Messrs. A. T. Johnston and Harry Burridge were on hand to look after the interests of the locals, but despite their efforts Lindsay and Peterborough were not allowed to enter the league, which will be composed this year of the four lake front towns.

Bowmanville and Cobourg were the principal objectors to Peterborough and Lindsay entering the league. They raised a howl about an expensive trip to Peterborough, awkward train connections, etc. The matter was discussed for nearly three hours and the upshot was that a vote was whether or not Peterborough and Lindsay should be admitted and the result was that by a vote of 5 to 4 the two clubs were barred out, Port Hope, Cobourg, Oshawa voting against them. The local club's delegates thereupon departed in disgust.

Despite the fact that they will not play in the Midland League Peterborough will have a team that will make them all go some. A meeting will be held on Tuesday night to get things in shape and the team will practice as soon as possible.

MR. REGAN WAS ELECTED TO COUNCIL

Local Caandidate Polled Big Vote—Second in the List

Mr. A. M. Regan, the nominee of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club to the C. L. A. council had no trouble in being elected to a seat on the council at the annual meeting of the association in Toronto yesterday. Mr. Regan polled 179 votes, standing second in the list, which was headed by A. P. Krausman, of Elora. It is a striking tribute to Mr. Regan's popularity that he should be elected by so large a vote from such a big field of well known lacrosse men.

Harry Cameron, the candidate the local club were supporting for the presidency, was elected over Jas. D. Bailey, of Toronto, Waghorne's amendment to make age limit of the junior series 21, was carried. The local club's representatives to the meeting were Messrs. A. M. Regan and W. S. Davidson.

HURTUBISE WON FIRST BOUT

Threw Collings of Central Y. M. C. A. in 2 1-2 Minutes Last Night.

Eugene Hurtubise, Peterborough's big wrestler, had little trouble in winning his first bout in the Canadian wrestling championship at Toronto last night. His opponent in the heavyclass was Collings, of the Toronto Central Y. M. C. A., whom he threw in two and one-half minutes. Eugene will meet Maynard of Buffalo, in the finals to-night. A number of Peterborough people saw the bouts last night and others will go up to-night to see the finals. This is the fourth time Mr. Hurtubise has reached the finals.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE ON THE CENTRAL PARK

Large Number Out in Uniform for the Initial Practice of the Season.

The first football practice of the season was held yesterday afternoon on Central Park, when eight of last year's players were again in harness, and as many more new men on hand. The initial work out showed that many of the old players have not forgotten many of their former tactics, and will develop in a short time into a winning team.

Some of the new men look good to the management and there is little trouble expected in filling up the gaps made by those who have left the city since last year.

The next practice will be held on Monday evening at 6.45 providing the weather is favourable, on Central Park.

THE TONGUE OF A BIRD.

An Organ Which Varies Much in the Different Species.

Few people have given thought to the subject of birds' tongues. Many, even of the amateur bird students, know little of the literature on the subject and still less from personal observation.

Birds must use their bills as hands, and to some extent the tongues supplement such use. Thus nut and seed eating birds extract the kernel from the shell, which is cracked between the mandibles.

The full complement of bones of the tongue consists of eight. The shape varies considerably in different species, and the comparative size very much more, although there is a prevailing general resemblance. The size and development of the various bones control the shape and utility of the organ. Well developed front bones mean a thick, fleshy tongue, such as we find in members of the duck family, while small forward bones usually accompany a small tongue of less importance to the owner, sometimes little more than rudimentary, like that of the pelican.

Among such birds as have occasion to protrude the tongue well beyond the tip of the bill the hind bones are marvelously developed and greatly elongated, for these are the bones on which the tongue is hung.

The edges of the tongues of most birds are more or less fringed, this feature being most noticeable in thin tongues. Most birds have a greater or less number of papillae—small fleshy projections, spinelike in appearance and usually inclined backward—on the upper surface of the tongue. These are of service in working the food backward toward the throat.

Some of the sea birds have very simple tongues, which serve but little purpose. The tongues of the honey creepers have very fine and long feathering, while those of the woodpecker are long, slender and pointed, and the roots of some species curve clear around the back of the skull, up over the crown, and their tips rest at the base of the upper mandible. With the exception of the sapsuckers the tongues of woodpeckers are capable of great protrusion, and the tip is barbed. The sapsuckers, however, instead of having sharp, barbed tongues like those of other woodpeckers, have brushlike tongues as a result of the degeneration of the bristles on their surface into hairs standing out from the tongue rather than pointing backward.

Birds with long bills do not always have correspondingly long tongues. The kingfishers, with their disproportionately large bills, have short tongues. The outer edges of the very long tongues of humming birds are closely rolled up into two tubes lying side by side, by means of which the birds are enabled to suck the nectar from flowers.

A PROGRESSIVE CONCERN.

A Quarter Century's Steady Progress Marked by an Important Milestone

Among the evidences of advancement that have recently taken place in the business world has been the reorganisation and extension of the well known proprietary medicine business of Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, of Toronto.

Its progress has been so rapid during the past few years that it had outgrown its capital, consequently the company has taken out a new charter, with extended powers and enlarged capital. On the board of directors and among the shareholders of the company are some of Toronto's most prominent and enterprising citizens.

The company has built up for itself an enviable reputation throughout the Dominion for integrity of business methods and excellence of products. That great and popular tonic and famous curative remedy, Psychine, has stood the test of more than a quarter of a century's public use and criticism, and is to-day unquestionably the most effective, most successful and most largely used of all remedies for the prevention and cure of coughs, colds, bronchitis, catarrh, la grippe, pneumonia, stomach troubles, and all incipient cases of Tuberculosis or consumption. It has completely proven Dr. Slocum's theory that while the safest and best consumption cure is by preventing and curing the troubles that lead to it, yet consumption in its early stages, and in many cases in its advanced stages, can be cured by proper treatment and the use of Psychine. Thousands of letters on file in the offices of the company prove it. These letters are always open to the inspection of all interested.

Among the other popular and very valuable preparations put up by Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, are Slocum's celebrated Coltsfoote Expectorant, Oxomulsion, Dr. Root's Kidney Pills, and Oxojell. These, together with a number of other remedies which they manufacture make the largest and best line of proprietary medicines in Canada.

The offices and laboratory of the company, at 179 King street west, Toronto, are now undergoing reconstruction and enlargement to meet the rapidly growing business. They have erected in front of their premises one of the largest and most handsome electric signs in Canada.

Their manufacturing plant is most modern and complete. One of its features is an automatic bottling machine that will fill 6000 bottles of Psychine per day. They have also the finest electric emulsifying plant on the continent of America, capable of turning out one gross per hour of cod liver oil emulsion. This is a powerful machine for separating and reducing the globules of the oil into the most minute particles so that it can be readily assimilated by the most delicate stomach.

The enterprise of the company is shown in the fact that they are systematically distributing free samples of their remedy in many large centres, between fifty and one hundred thousand bottles being distributed in Toronto alone.

The company has authorized us to say that any person sending their name and address with this article clipped from this paper, mentioning the name of this paper, and the nature of their trouble, will receive by the return mail a large sample bottle of Psychine, absolutely free of charge. This is an excellent opportunity to test a valuable medicine and we would advise those of our readers who are suffering from throat, lung or stomach troubles to avail themselves of this offer. The company's address is Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, 179 King street west, Toronto.

Kitchener's Many Narrow Escapes.

Lord Kitchener, to whom has just happened his third accident in India, has met with many hair-breadth escapes during his marvellous military career. He has, says P.T.O., been wounded four or five times in battle, he has been twice shot at by Bedouins, and once had a narrow squeak of being hanged as a spy. After the conflict at Omdurman, the Sirdar and his staff only escaped death by the merest luck, for they had hurried into the town before the order to cease firing had been given. In consequence, for several minutes shells were bursting all round the place where the general and his party had taken up their position.

During the campaign of 1886 Major Kitchener—as he then was—was hit in the side of the face by a bullet during a skirmish near Suakin. He was taken down the Nile to the hospital at Cairo, where, despite all the efforts of the surgeons, the bullet could not be located, the X-rays being then unknown. The wound was a healthy one, and very soon healed. The medical officers came to the conclusion that the bullet had worked its way out without being noticed on the passage down the Nile. One day, however, a tasty beefsteak was served to the patient, which he had no sooner attacked than he put his hand to his throat, exclaimed to the attendant, "If there is no bone in the steak, I've swallowed the bullet; I felt it go down." This proved to be the case.

SILVER BIRD is surrounded by the greatest producing mines in the Cobalt District.

SILVER BIRD is absolutely inside property, consisting of twenty acres (patented), being the west half of the northeast quarter of the north half of Lot 3, Concession 6, Coleman.

SILVER BIRD is a mine in full operation, with two 25 h.p. boilers, steam hoist, steam drills and all machinery and buildings necessary to complete an operating mine.

SILVER BIRD

WILL POSITIVELY ADVANCE TO

50 CENTS

ON OR BEFORE

MAY 10TH.

Recent advice received from Superintendent Gauthier states that the shaft is now down 107 feet, that he has opened up two new veins showing much higher values, and that he will immediately commence drifting. He says he expects soon to encounter the Great O'Brien and La Rose vein.

SILVER BIRD

NOW 25 CENTS PER SHARE

Have you bought any SILVER BIRD? If not you had better buy it now. You must buy SILVER BIRD now if you want it at the bottom price. It was 15 cents per share last week. It is now 25 cents per share. It will be 50 cents per share shortly, and before long everybody will be buying it at from One Dollar to One Dollar and Fifty Cents per share. Take our advice and buy now.

SILVER BIRD has advanced to 25 cents per share. Didn't we tell you it would do so? We tell you now it will be selling at 50 cents per share within the next few weeks. Watch SILVER BIRD. It has started and will not stop till it gets above par. Buy it now at 25 cents per share before it advances again. It is sure to do so. Buy it and keep it and you will be able to get One Dollar per share for it within the present year—possibly within six months.

That is our advice. We are in a position to judge. This advance to 25 cents per share is a legitimate, meritorious advance, brought about by recent developments highly favorable to the SILVER BIRD MINE. We believe that SILVER BIRD is a better and safer purchase at 25 cents per share to-day than it has been in the past at 15 cents. If you have any SILVER BIRD shares hold on to them. Don't be induced to part from them. Buy more if you can. Hold them and reap the great profits that are coming to all holders of SILVER BIRD shares.

Remember what we tell you. Everybody will want SILVER BIRD before long, and will be glad to get it anywhere at from One Dollar to One Dollar and Fifty Cents per share. Buy SILVER BIRD. Hold SILVER BIRD. Watch SILVER BIRD.

Considering the inside location of the property, development done, results obtained, low capitalization and the large amount of shares in the treasury, this is unquestionably one of the best bargains (if not the greatest bargain) that have been offered in Cobalt mining shares.

C.P.R. ENGINES TORN AND TWISTED WERE RETURNED TO MONTREAL

Came From Wreck Near Myrtle, Shattered and Fit Only for Junk Pile—Passed Through the City Saturday Night.

TRAVELLING AT 10 MILES.

Like two old Roman battering rams returning, dismantled and disabled, from a futile assault on Suguntum the two engines numbers 759 and 1488 which crashed into each other on the C.P.R. near Myrtle last week, passed through the city Saturday night on their way to Montreal, and probably to the junk pile. The large concourse of people at the station Saturday night waiting for the local had a chance to see the result of that terrific impact which resulted in the loss of two lives and thousands of dollars in rolling stock.

Badly Damaged

Both the engines were battered and twisted out of all shape, and were in fact only skeletons of their original forms. Pilots and tenders gone, engineer's cabs dislodged, pipes, etc., torn off the tops and the iron work in a condition that left no doubt as to the awful force that collided.

In the cab of engine No. 759, which was going east at the time of the accident, there was a ghastly remembrance of the death of fireman Chas. Jones. On the inside there is a sheet of iron from the windows to the floor and on the back that is the side next to the tender there is a dent in the iron against which his limbs from the hips down, were jammed by the engines locking together. Thus he met death with the upper part of his body free but his legs held in a terrible vice.

Where Harry Howe Died

When a train is running, the brakesman usually sits on the fireman's side of the cab and directly in front of him, and close beside the rear of the boiler. On engine 1488 this place was pointed out as the position Brakeman Harry Howe occupied and where he met his death. He was, it is believed, pinned against the corner of the boiler and met an awful death.

These gaunt old engines with their grewsome wounds on all sides have perhaps seen their last ride, and it was a costly one as far as human life is concerned. They were taken to Toronto when separated and there were prepared for the road and sent east to Montreal. The order given was to proceed no faster than 10 miles an hour. Thus they were one day in coming from Toronto to Peterborough, arriving in the city Saturday night on the way freight. With them was a flat car loaded with twisted and broken iron, wheels and even the tender of one of the engines. The trip continued on after the local passed through the city and two engines will likely be consigned to the scrap pile in the C.P.R. yards.

GEORGE STREET BUSINESS MEN FINED FOR BREAKING BY-LAW

Messrs. J. M. Greene, Lang & Maher and Wm. H. Robertson Had to Answer for Allowing Boxes to Remain on the Sidewalk---"A Good By-law," Mr. Dumble Said.

Bylaw No. 1164, which concerns the opening of boxes, packages, etc., and the leaving of them on the sidewalk, occasioned the presence of some of our business men before Magistrate Dumble this morning. Mr. J. M. Greene was the first to face His Worship. He pleaded guilty to the charge. On the 26th of March a whole carload of New Scale Williams Pianos were carted from the cars to his store and, of course, they blocked the sidewalk for some time. It was during the afternoon that this blockade occurred. A fine of $5 was imposed.

Messrs Lang & Maher were charged with having emptied a small case of clothing on Saturday last. Mr. Moore appeared for the firm. P. C. Meharry was first called. He said that on Saturday morning a box remained on the street in front of the "Daylight Store" for nearly an hour. Mr. Moore asked, "Did you not warn the boy, or object to his act?"

"No," was P. C. Meharry's reply.

Mr. Maher was sworn. He related the circumstances connected with the case. He received the box by express and had to sign for it. The boy has received instructions as to what he should do, but after Good Friday he mistook Saturday for Monday, and hence the mistake.

Mr. Moore asked how long a merchant could leave a box out during the prohibited hours. Mr. Dumble replied that the bylaw was known to everyone.

Mr. Moore—"Can one cross the sidewalk with a package?"

Mr. Dumble replied that it was not his duty to draw nice distinctions between different cases. It was a clear violation of the bylaw, and he fined Messrs. Lang and Maher the usual "fiver."

Mr. W. H. Robertson was also taxed the limit. Mr. C. Clementi tried to explain matters, but it was useless.

Chas. Brandon pleaded guilty to having been drunk in a public place. Two dollars in ten days was the greeting he received. He said he would go back to the farm for it and bring it in some time.

MEAT CLERK LOST ENDS OF TWO FINGERS

Saw Accidentally Slipped While Cutting Some Meat—Was Employed With Mr. H. P. Kennedy.

While sawing meat at Mr. H. P. Kennedy's meat market on Saturday morning, Mr. Harry Naylor met with a painful accident, which will keep him from his duties for some time. The meat saw accidentally slipped, and cut the ends of the first and second fingers of his left hand. The wounds were dressed by Dr. King.

On account of the accident Mr. Kennedy was somewhat short-handed for help in his store on Saturday, as Mr. Naylor was one of his chief clerks.

PRESENTATION MADE TO MISS MABEL RICKEY

By Classes at All Saints' Sunday School Yesterday Afternoon — Presented With a Splendid Book

After the children's service at All Saints' church, yesterday afternoon, a pleasing event took place when Miss Mabel Rickey was presented with a morocco bound hymnal and Bible combined. The presentation was made by Rev. Mr. Major who spoke on behalf of the Sunday school in laudatory terms of Miss Rickey's faithful work in connection with the children. The school, he said, would greatly miss her and all the scholars joined in wishing her every happiness.

The presentation was made before before the assembled classes, and, needless to say, Miss Rickey was agreeably surprised. She replied in a few words, thanking the members of the school for their kindness and saying that she would always remember the classes in All Saints.

THE BRANTFORD DUFFERIN RIFLES HERE ON MAY 24th

Big Military Day Planned for Peterborough---The Visiting Regiment One of the Finest in the Province---Is Eight Company Strong---Other Regiments Expected.

The visit of the Peterborough Rangers to Brantford on the 1st of July last year will be reciprocated according to a local military authority, and the people of this city will be given an opportunity of seeing the crack Dufferin Rifles of Brantford this year. Col. Miller gave this information to the Examiner to-day, and also stated that there were other Ontario regiments expected to visit here during the year.

The Dufferin Rifles are one of the finest regiments in the Province, and will no doubt make a fine impression on Peterborough. They will be here on the 24th of May, so that the colonel expects to have the local regiment as efficient in drill as possible before that time.

The Brantford regiment is eight companies strong, so that about 400 soldiers from that city are expected. It is in command of Col. Ashton, who took charge after the death of Col. Cameron some time ago.

OTONABEE WATERS FLOWING AT A NORMAL HEIGHT

While the people along the Rideau and the Ottawa Rivers, are living in momentary dread of a flood, with the recent sudden increase in the level of those rivers, there is a very different state of affairs existing along the Trent Canal and the tributary waters. The water at the present time is at its normal height and, while during the latter part of last week, there was a busy time for the lock-masters and other officials on the canal by reason of the fact that the water was showing a tendency to be unruly, all danger of a flood is past—it fact it can hardly be said that there was any such danger—and the river is now running peacefully, and likely to continue so.

GARBAGE AND BEAUTY

This year nature co-operates with man in the promotion of early spring cleaning. The snow and ice have disappeared early, and there is nothing to prevent the prompt cleaning up of the streets and private premises of the city. There is double reason for attending to this matter promptly and avoiding delay. The health of the city depends, in a very large measure, upon the thoroughness with which premises are cleared and put into sanitary condition. We may argue that we have been visited with no epidemics, but that fact is no assurance that, with the favouring conditions represented by festering filth, when warm weather comes, we shall not have our visitation. A man objects to insuring his buildings because he has not suffered from fire. But the argument is destroyed by the fact that others, who felt as safe as he, have so suffered. Other cities have suffered from epidemics of filth diseases, resulting from lack of cleanliness, and Peterborough's turn may come. Sanitary science tells us that cleanliness is the price of health, and that disease is the penalty of dirt. It is, therefore, wise to take the precaution of having the city put into a cleanly condition, not only for the sake of health, but for the sake of being clean—in the interests of both the health of our citizens and the beauty of the city.

We have a naturally beautiful city, fine residential streets, studded with fine lines of fine trees. But it is necessary, in order to have the beauty complete, to secure perfect cleanliness and neatness in detail. Our Horticultural Society contributes to this end by offering prizes for the best attempt to convert unsightly residence surroundings into places of beauty. But this enlists the efforts of only a few. What is needed is general co-operation. This can be best secured by the civic authorities showing an example and providing the means—making it reasonably easy for householders to keep their premises clean and neat, thus overcoming apathy and indifference by legitimate compulsion.

Last December, Ald. Elliott wisely advocated the adoption of a system of garbage collection, and thus opened the way to the adoption of what, if carried out, would prove to be one of the best, wisest and, from all points of view, most profitable enterprises ever adopted or entered into by the city. But, so far, nothing has been done to effectively bring about the adoption of so desirable an enterprise. Why, one fails to find any good reason.

Matters less pressing, matters of comparatively minor importance, have enjoyed the attention of our aldermen. Provision has been made for street watering, quite in advance of the necessity. This promptitude is not to be objected to, but to be heartily commended. At the same time, the street watering could have waited till the far more pressing necessity of spring cleaning was provided for. Now the season is upon us, and, so far as this matter is concerned, three months have been wasted without anything indicating anything like practical progress having been accomplished.

Our civic authorities have been tremendously busy over peanut civic politics. They have paid their "littles of mint anise and cummin, and neglected the weightier matters of the law." While they might have been devising a garbage collection bylaw and organizing a system, they have been "sitting up nights to secure the enforcement of a comparatively frivolous and vexatious bylaw relating to projecting signs, and have shown a zeal not very far removed from persecution. Business citizens have been harried and hustled and ordered into removing projecting signs. What earthly harm can the existence of these signs do, compared with the evil effects of household filth being allowed to remain polluting private premises? A farmer goes to a circus, though the day might better be spent in housing a field of grain threatened with storm and destruction. The civic authorities, instead of attending to a pressing matter involving the health and beauty of the city, busy themselves in the mighty work of prosecuting business citizens for the heinous offence of maintaining a hanging sign, prosecuting a small boy for leaving a delivery wagon on the pavement, or a merchant for leaving a packing case on the sidewalk for a few minutes.

WHY NOT?

The province of Ontario possesses large areas of timber still under the control of the Crown. The Whitney Government is strong on public ownership and paternalism of various forms. Why should it not extend its paternalism to the farmers of the country, and the people of moderate means, who are practically prevented from building by the prohibitory prices of lumber. Great lumbering concerns, if they do not form combines, act in beautiful concert in providing for the maintenance of high prices of lumber, which, as a consequence, is a necessity, with the price of a luxury. It has been suggested that if the Government established two or three saw mills to cut Crown timber, the product could be sold at cost price, and thus the public, under the rank of millionaires, could afford to build a barn or a house. The Government at one time proposed to develop the water powers of the province, and sell the product at cost price. This was not quite so generous as Mr. Whitney's proposal to make Niagara power "as free as air," but it would have been quite a boon in the way of providing cheap power. Then, why not a government saw-mill? The members of the Government party are quite adepts at log rolling; then why not go a step further and build saw-mills. That would be one way of providing cheap lumber and helping build up Ontario.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Toronto the Good boasts the possession of a mile of bar-rooms. The long thirst should find its "occupation gone."

When spring comes, and the furnace gives place to the electric fan, we get the cheerful intelligence that coal drops fifty cents per ton.

The members of the Press Gallery, Ottawa, are on strike—they refuse to "strike" the old-fashioned, eight-day, sulphur matches provided by the authorities for the use of the journalists.

One not familiar with the vagaries of American judicial proceedings, can't understand why Thaw, the murderer of Stanford White, the architect, is so anxious to prove himself sane. In any country where justice is made the instrument of law, he would, if sane, have to suffer the death penalty for the crime he committed.

The Detroit News proposes that the United States shall hand over the Philippine Islands to Great Britain in exchange for the West India Islands. We could not consent to this without the "consent of the governed," and the subjects of the West Indies would not readily endorse the swap. Earthquakes are bad enough.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease and give the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials:

The Council will hold its regular monthly meeting to-night when the principal business taken up will be the receiving of reports from the various committees. STRANGERS' TEA AT Y.M.C.A. SATURDAY

A Large Attendance of New-Comers to The City.

A very large congregation greeted Rev. George G. Webb, at the Park street church yesterday morning. He preached a practical sermon on Christian culture, much to the delight and profit of a most appreciative audience. At night the church was crowded. The Easter music by the choir displayed much wisdom and much care in preparation, and was well rendered. The three addresses, filling in the service of song, by Rev. A. H. Brace, were appropriate to the day. These song services are proving of much interest to the congregation. The ordinance of Baptism followed and in the first of a series of like services,

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 1. — A further squeezing of the shorts in U. P. S. was the feature of to-day's market. Opening at 179, this issue declined to 177 1-2 and then with a rush rose to 189 3-4, the high for the day. Trading was on a much larger scale than on Friday.

The general list after hesitating during the first two hours grew strong after noon and scored some smart advances. Union Pac., Copper and Smelting were the leaders in strength while some of the minor issues like the Erie, B.R.T., and the steel stocks showed a good tone at advancing prices. The buying looked like short covering although it was reported from the floor that some good buying was taking place. Call money was easier at 4 per cent.

In the last half hour C.P.R. sold off five points but the general list held the advance pretty well and closed firm.

UNEXPECTED DEMISE OF MRS. BRECKANRIDGE

Talented Indian River Lady, Daughter of Mr. Jno. Duff, Died Yesterday

The death of Mrs. Wm. Breckenridge, of Indian River, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duff, of that village, has cast a gloom over that section of Otonabee in which she lived, and has aroused a feeling of sympathy for the bereft parents and sisters, who not long ago lost, by the hand of death, their only son and brother. The deceased's maiden name was Annie, and she had scarcely been married a year to Mr. Wm. Breckenridge, of Indian River, who survives her. Her death last night about 6 o'clock, at the early age of 27 years, was due to confinement, and she leaves an infant daughter only a few days old.

The deceased was a talented musician and was much beloved by all who knew her for her excellent character. She was a member of the Baptist Church near Indian River and took a deep interest in the work of the church. Besides her parents, two sisters survive, Mrs. David Andrews, of Parkhill, and Miss Lilian, at home.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of her father to the Westwood Cemetery for interment.

DOG POISONER IS AT WORK AGAIN

The dog poisoner is at his work again in the neighbourhood of Dublin and Union streets and this morning a spaniel belonging to Mr. W. Outram, Union street, was poisoned with strychnine. Fortunately, however, a veterinary was summoned and managed to save the animal. This is the sixth canine that has been poisoned in this vicinity and the residents are up in arms. Three of the dogs which died were valuable collies. It would not be well for the coward who is doing the work if any of the dog fanciers in the neighbourhood were to get a line on his identity.

Had a Nasty Bronchial Cough

AS AN AFTER EFFECT ON PNEUMONIA—NOTHING PROVED EFFECTIVE UNTIL WE USED

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Many a mother can say, as does Mrs. Harker, in the following letter, that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, has proved a friend to her in time of colds, with the little ones.

Mrs. Walter Harker, Sydenham, Frontenac county, Ont., writes:

"Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, has proved a friend to me in times of colds with my little ones. I have tried many others, but have found none just as good. My little boy, about a year old, had pneumonia and was left with a nasty bronchial cough, but Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is helping him wonderfully and I am sure it will cure him.

"We have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with splendid results and have great faith in all of Dr. Chase's medicines."

It may not have occurred to you that both bronchitis and asthma are diseases of the nerves of the bronchial tubes and lungs and that is why severe attacks of coughing are brought on whenever these nerves are irritated by changing temperature, the breathing of dust or emotional excitement.

It is by its remarkable facility for soothing the nerves and sheathing the delicate membranous linings with a protective coating that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has proven so thoroughly effective as a cure for bronchitis and asthma. Its power in these disease is unquestionable.

Relief from coughing comes almost immediately and by persistent use a cure is gradually and certainly brought about.

When the system is greatly run down it is advisable to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in order to assist in restoring vigour to the wasted nerves.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

"HEALTH" COMPLAINS OF THE FLYING DUST

Correspondent Points Out That City Council Should Take Some Action to Protect the Citizens.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—For three long days we have been swallowing dust and untold myriads of microbes with no watering cart in sight. Our city boss sagients forget from year to year that there is such a thing as dust until the fact is borne in upon their benighted minds by its actual presence, then they commence to make preparations, while we in the meantime take our medicine. One would suppose that they were in league with the fine tar cordial vendors. I don't mind paying the street watering tax, but for heven's sake deliver the goods.

Yours, etc.,
"HEALTH."

ARE YOU SUBJECT TO HEADACHE?

If you are, and have never tried Burdock Blood Bitters it will pay you to profit by the experience of others and give it a trial.

A healthy stomach, right acting liver and bowels that properly perform their important duties, will render anyone free from headache. If these organs are not in perfect condition, headache must follow. The proper course is obvious—restore the stomach, liver and bowels, to health, and headache cannot exist. For this purpose no medicine equals

It removes the cause of the headache by its splendid cleansing, strengthening and tonic properties, whereby the entire system is brought into healthy action. Miss Celina Dubal, Letellier, Man., writes: "I suffered for fifteen years from sick headache. To the advice of a friend I owe my complete cure, and it is with great pleasure that I testify to you that I have not suffered since using your wonderful remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it as an efficacious remedy for sick headache, which caused me so much misery.

EASTER DAY SERVICES IN CITY CHURCHES YESTERDAY

Bright Musical Services Appropriate to the Spirit of the Day Were Held in the Different Places of Worship.

GOOD MUSIC A FEATURE.

Yesterday, beyond the fact that the weather was a little chilly, was an ideal Easter day, and, as a result, doubtless, of the bright sunshine and the associations of the day, the city churches yesterday were filled at all the services held. At the eleven o'clock service in St. John's church every pew was filled and seats had to be placed in the aisles for the accommodation of those for whom there was not room in the pews.

In all the churches in the city music appropriate to the day formed an important feature of the services, and the large congregations in the different churches were privileged to listen to what was in all probability, the best Easter music ever heard in Peterborough. The choirs, under their respective leaders acquitted themselves most creditably, and the bright and tuneful music rendered yesterday was a factor contributing in no small degree to the success of the Easter services.

In the majority of cases the sermons yesterday were preached by the rectors and pastors of the respective churches, exceptions being in St. John's where at both the morning and evening services sermons were preached by Ven. Archdeacon Warren, of Toronto, Mark street Methodist, where Rev. J. G. Brown, of Lakefield was the preacher and in the two Baptist churches, in which Rev. George T. Webb, of Chicago, brother of the pastor of the Murray street Baptist church was heard.

LANGFORD AND SHEEHY TO GET THE INSTITUTE CONTRACT

Collegiate Institute Committee Met on Saturday and Decided to Recommend This to the Board of Education This Week.

WILL COST ABOUT $51,000

The new Collegiate Institute will cost, outside of the plumbing and heating and furnishings, about $51,000. The Collegiate Institute Committee of the Board of Education met on Saturday night to open the tenders for the erection of the building, and it is understood that the committee will recommend to the Board at its next meeting, which will be heard on Thursday night, that the tender of Messrs. R. Sheehy and W. Langford, which was the lowest submitted, be accepted.

This tender calls for a sum slightly over $51,000, which the committee considered reasonable, and, as a result, if the board ratifies the recommendation which will be made to it, the contractors will be given the contract for the building, and work will, it is expected, be commenced in the very near future on its construction.

It is understood that there were a number of tenderers for the work, but that which will be accepted was the lowest. The contract for the plumbing and heating was not let at the meeting on Saturday night.

PALE FACES

By Some Thought to Denote Refinement.

"What a mistake!" said Mr. McDermid, of the firm of McDermid & Jury, our leading druggists. "In place of refinement, pale faces denote disease.

"A bloodless face indicates impoverished blood, pure and simple.

"What is the result? A weakened condition of the entire system, the development of humours, disfiguring eruptions and finally a general collapse.

"I wish your paper would tell every pale man, woman and child, yes, and every feeble old person, that I am so sure that our famous cod liver oil preparation, Vinol (delicious to taste and without oil) will make rich, red blood, create strength and restore them to a normal condition, that I will pay for all the Vinol they take, if it does not succeed.

"Why am I so sure? Simply because I have seen it succeed so many times that I don't believe it can fail. You see it contains in a highly concentrated form all of the vital principles of cod liver oil, without any grease to upset the stomach. We know that it is fresh, and actually does contain the fifty odd medicinal curatives taken from fresh cods' livers, and it 'is the real thing,' as the boys say. We do not ask you to take our word for it, but simply try it on our guarantee." McDermid & Jury, druggists. Vinol is also sold at the Market Drug Store, the Ormond & Walsh old stand.

CORNELIUS WALL WAS DISCHARGED AT COURT

Accusation of Stealing $31 Was Not Substantiated

Mr. Con. Wall was discharged at the Police Court to-day. He was accused of having stolen $31 from Frank Sullivan on March 25 while the latter was asleep in the American Hotel. As Mr. McWilliams, counsel for the accused, stated, Mr. Sullivan must have been dreaming, as there was no strong evidence offered at all. In fact, it was very weak, and a dismissal was apparent by the outcome before the case was all heard.

GOOD REPORTS RECEIVED.

The County of Peterborough Sunday School Association met this morning at the Y.M.C.A.

Reports were presented from the Field Secretary, Rev. G. A. McLennan, Norwood, and the treasurer, A. J. Johnston, Peterborough on the work of the year. It was reported on behalf of the committee having charge of the district conventions that one meeting was held in Smith in June, and others at Keene, Westwood, Warsaw and Havelock in November. The first was addressed by Mr. E. A. Hardy, of Toronto and local workers, while the others were addressed by Mr. Thos. Yellowlees, of Toronto and Mr. R. Lees, of Peterborough, and local speakers.

Arrangements were made for the holding of a series of rallies during the last week of May and the secretary was instructed to write the Ministerial Association of the city with a view to securing their active co-operation in making the meetings a success, and also to endeavour to enlist the sympathies of the clergy throughout the county.

THE SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

Good Crowds at Easter Day Services in George Street Methodist Church Yesterday

Large congregations attended the Easter services in the George street Methodist church yesterday, commencing in the morning at the sunrise prayer meeting. The congregation at the evening service was particularly large, the church being packed. The singing at all the services was an enjoyable feature, the song service at night being most attractive. A ladies' quartette composed of Mrs. Doidge, Miss Maguire and the Misses Casty was heard in a very pleasing selection, and solos were sung by Miss Rennor and Miss Chasty. Sermons were preached at both services by the pastor.

A MYSTERY OF HIS MAJESTY'S MAILS

The vagaries and peculiarities of females, are food for the small wits of the irreverent; but the vagaries and peculiarities of the mails are not to be despised. A gentleman this morning received a circular fromt he Edmonton, Alta., Board of Trade. Being a printed circular, the enclosing envelope was not sealed. Inside was an Edmonton letter addressed to "Miss Kirkpatrick, 168, 34th street, Chicago." This letter could not have intentionally have been put into the envelope with the circular and must have in some mysterious way, worked itself inside during transit.

Ill Temper From a Bad Liver

Carlyle justly attributed the bad temper which made him a monster in the eyes of the world to a bad liver. Nothing makes one feel more miserable or more gloomy and discouraged than liver complaint, and consequent billousness and dyspepsia and nothing so promptly and thoroughly sets the liver right and overcomes these ailments as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the great family medicine.

TWENTY YEARS' WAIT FOR CROSSING THAT COMES NOT

A George Street Resident Has a Complaint That Council Which, He Says, Ignores His Request for a Street Crossing.

DISCRIMINATION ALLEGED.

After having been sending petitions for a street crossing for twenty years, and after having received promises from successive chairmen of the Board of Works that the request would be granted, and to find that the crossing has not yet been laid is is the experience of Mr. Dale, George street, whose request for a crossing was presented to the Board of Works at its last meeting. Mr. Dale is naturally feeling that he has been not fairly dealt with by the city fathers. He stated to the Examiner that he had been promised by different chairmen of the Board of the Board of Works during the last 20 years that if he sent in a petition to the Council his request would be granted. He did as was suggested, but still there is no crossing. This is made all the more aggravating by the fact that on the same street, a little below his residence another resident asked for a crossing and inside of twenty-four hours it was laid. Mr. Dale explains that there is no sidewalk on his side of the street and he has no means of reaching one except by crossing the street, often in the mud. The practice of referring his petitions to the Board of Works and City Engineer, and then doing nothing further with it until he petitions again, is very annoying to Mr. Dale, and, it would seem, naturally so.

He claims that in consideration of the fact that he has been a taxpayer in the city for the last twenty years he is deserving of better treatment than has been accorded him by the Council and the Board of Works.

THE GOOD WORK OF THE B.Y.P.U.

Rev. Geo. T. Webb, of Chicago, Delivered a Striking Address in Murray Street Church.

EQUIPPING CHRISTIANS.

The Baptist Young People's Union is not kept up simply for the purpose of having an extra devotional duty each week, but because of the work it is doing in preparing, training and equipping the young Christian for efficient service in the work of God.

The above sentence contains the keynote of the address given in Murray street Baptist church last evening by Rev. Geo. T. Webb, of Chicago, General Secretary of the B.Y.P.U. of North America, and a brother of the pastor of the church, Rev. J. R. Webb. The edifice was filled at the evening service and the general secretary's masterly exposition of what the B.Y.P.U. stands for and the work it is doing was listened to with deep interest and it will no doubt have a potent effect in directing attention to the work of the church among young people and increase the interest in the efforts of the local branch of the Union.

Not The Present Alone

At the outset Mr. Webb pointed out that many things should not be looked upon and judged from what they are, but from the viewpoint of what they would be. In one respect this was true of the Baptist Young People's Union, for it had to be admitted that in many places the work being done by the local societies did not seem to be of great importance. But if the ideals of the B.Y.P.U. were right then it was the duty of the church to assist in striving to attain these ideals. The young people's movement in the Christian church was comparatively new, said Mr. Webb. It did not date back more than a quarter of a century and for several years after its inception it was not conducted on an organized basis. The B.Y.P.U. had been formed sixteen years ago and the movement has since grown rapidly and at present it is provincial, national and international in its character.

A Great Change

There had been a great change in the complexion of church work during the past ten years. Year by year more attention was being paid to the business of Christianity and business methods were being introduced in the management of the church and as a result the work of God was being carried on more effectively than it ever had been in the past. It had been found that trained service was what was required and colleges and universities were endowed in order that men might be trained for the Christian ministry. But trained ministers were not alone sufficient to make the work of the church successful. Trained lay workers were also needed and it was in equipping young men and young women for efficient service in the work of the Master that the B.Y.P.U. should be recognized. The Sunday school was an important factor in the evangelization of the young and leading them to profess Christ before men. The Sunday school was the evangilizing force and the B.Y.P.U. was the training school where the young Christian was fitted for efficient service in God's kingdom.

The speaker dwelt on the great work the B.Y.P.U. had done and was doing to-day in a degree greater than at any time past.

The movement was great and far-reaching in its scope and its influence and sphere were constantly extending. The B.Y.P.U. was training thousands of young men and women for efficient service in winning the world for Christ. Without the equipment thus given they would be able to accomplish but little. Mr. Webb closed by urging the young people to take a greater interest in the work of the local society and the older members of the church to give their assistance, interest and advice.

SPLENDID EASTER DAY SERVICES

Those in St. Luke's on Easter Sunday Were Most Successful Ever Held—Good Collections.

There was a good gathering at the strangers' tea at the Y.M.C.A. last evening, when Mr. Chas. Coleman presided in the absence of Mr. Harding. The majority of those present were young men who have recently come from the Old Country. All expressed deep gratitude for the way they had been treated by Canadians, and particularly the Y.M.C.A.

The tea was provided by the ladies of St. Paul's Church, Mrs. W. H. Meredith acting as convenor.

The Easter services at St. Luke's were marked by great enthusiasm. They were by far the best ever held. A large number of communicants took their Easter Communion. The celebration at 7 and 8 o'clock and at noon were attended by 256 communicants. At the morning prayer the rector preached a sermon on "The Proofs of the Resurrection," and at the evening service he gave the congregation an Easter motto, "Be thou faithful unto death."

Miss Ruth Dawson sang at both services appropriate Easter solos and was never heard to better advantage. Her rich voice gave a wonderful inspiration to the words. The anthem at the morning service was, "He Is Risen!" Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., took the bass solo and Miss Dawson the soprano solo. At the evening service the anthem was, "Why seek ye the living among the dead," in which Miss Lulu Scott sang the soprano solo in excellent voice. The duet was sung by Misses Lulu and Edith Scott.

The offertory was the largest on record, $468.14 being given by the people as an Easter offering.

The Easter vestry meeting will be held to-night at 8 o'clock.

UNVEILED MEMORIAL TABLET AND CROSS

In Memory of the Late Rev. J. W. R. Beck and Mrs. Beck in St. John's Church on Sunday.

On Saturday afternoon, at the 5 o'clock service in St. John's church, a memorial service was held for the late Rev. J. W. R. Beck, and Mrs. Beck, and a very handsome brass mural cross, erected by Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, in memory of her father, the late Mr. Beck, was unveiled in the chancel, and in the church, a tablet in memory of Mrs. Beck, also presented by Mrs. Dennistoun, was unveiled. During the service memorial prayers were offered, and in a short address the rector referred to the late Mr. Beck, who was rector of St. John's from 1856 to 1889, and whose work during that time is still evident by its results. Mr. Davidson also referred to the late Mrs. Beck, whom he characterized as one of the most indomitable women workers the church had ever seen. The church on Saturday was attended by a large number of friends of the late rector and his wife.

MR. ARTHUR ASH'S FIRST YEAR IN BUSINESS

A Prosperous Record in the Electrical Business—Outside Orders Increasing.

Peterborough seems to be a favourite place to send to by outside places for an electrician. Oshawa, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay Barrie and Bobcaygeon, have all engaged the services of Peterborough's electrical expert on various kinds of electrical installing. Recently Mr. J. A. Ash, the electrician, of 136 Hunter street, has had quite a number of good commissions from Cobourg and other places, and the best evidence of satisfaction is that he has had repeat orders to fill later on for wiring, several large places of business. Mr. Ash has just completed his first year in business with every encouragement of a growing trade.

OBITUARY.

Besides her husband, one son and five daughters, all living at home, survive. They are David, Phoebe, Christina, Bessie, Agnes, and Janet. The late Mrs. Nelson was born in Otonabee and was a daughter of Mr. Sylvester Fife of that township. The funeral took place this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

HARRY THAW IS BUSY MAKING PLANS

Hopes to Be Free By Next Sunday.

EASTER IN TOMBS PRISON

Prisoner Now Believes Trial Will Go on, and Thinks He Will Be Acquitted — Makes Arrangements For Dining Out—Attends Easter Services — Evelyn Nesbit Visits Him—Favorably Impressed.

New York, April 1.—Easter Sunday for Harry Thaw in the Tombs was made more cheerful by a visit from his wife, to whom had been granted a special permit to pass the afternoon with her husband.

When Mrs. Thaw left she spoke for the first time since the tragedy last June to reporters.

"Harry grows more cheerful and satisfied with the way his affairs are progressing every day," she said.

"Like all the rest of us, he is perfectly confident that the commission will find him sane and that the trial will go on. He even talked of being free next Sunday, and he planned how we would dine together."

Thaw attended the Easter services conducted by Rev. Dr. Sanderson in the morning. None of his counsel visited him yesterday. He will consult with his lawyers to-day, as to probable developments before the commission, which convenes at 10 o'clock Tuesday.

The plans of the commission to submit a report to Justice Fitzgerald today were upset late Saturday by an appeal by Jerome to be allowed to produce more witnesses.

Adjourned Till To-morrow.

The commission thereupon adjourned until Tuesday, when it will hear experts called by the district attorney.

Chairman McClure served notice, however, that the witnesses must confine themselves to facts and opinions which deal with the present condition of Thaw and must not go into details of his past or future.

Thaw was under direct examination by the commissioners for more than three hours, and then for forty-five minutes he was under cross-examination by Jerome. This cross-examination was allowed by the commission only after a vehement protest by the prosecuting officer that he had not been allowed sufficient latitude in the enquiry.

Seizing his first opportunity of interrogating the defendant, Jerome attempted to go into Thaw's past life, but objections by Thaw's counsel were sustained by the commission, which held the district attorney to the direct issue before it—whether Thaw is capable of understanding the character of the proceedings against him and of rationally advising his counsel.

CASE THAT LOOKS MUCH LIKE MURDER

Italians Suspected of Having Done Elliott to Death.

LURED HIM TO THE WOODS

Inquest Opened at Port Credit—Supposed Man Was Shot First and Body Afterwards Laid on the Track—Had Bullet Wound in Chin and Three Stabs in Chest — Evidences of Severe Struggle.

Port Credit, April 1.—An inquest was opened Saturday at the Wilbur House, Port Credit, by Dr. Sutton, coroner, of Peel County, upon the body of Edward Elliott, who died shortly after being found on the Grand Trunk on Thursday night, near Lorne Park.

There is a very strong suspicion that Elliott's death is the result of foul play and a theory is advanced that he was lured to the woods, shot and then placed on the railway tracks.

An examination of the body reveals a hole under the chin, which may have been caused by a bullet. The hole is sufficiently large to allow a lead-pencil being inserted. There are also two or three wounds on the chest, which appear to be the result of a fight or struggle.

At 1 p. m. a jury was sworn in and the body viewed. Dr. Sutton adjourned the inquest until Wednesday morning, to allow of a post-mortem being made. This will be undertaken by Dr. Sutton of Port Credit, a son of the coroner.

No trace whatever has been found of the man who were in the handcar which passed the train, the conductor of which discovered Elliott dying on the track. It is known that bad blood existed between Elliott and several other Italian laborers who were working with him in the section gang.

All the indications point to the occupants of the handcar as the perpetrators of the crime, if, as is suspected, a murder has taken place.

KILLED ON TRACK.

Accident on the Pennsylvania Railway, Near Buffalo.

Buffalo, April 1.—While returning from hunting four boys were run down and instantly killed by a light engine on the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks near the eastern city limit Saturday night. A passing freight train drowned the noise of the approaching engine. The dead are: Anthony and Frederick Phillips, aged 19 and 16 years, brothers; Hugh Ramsy, aged 14, and Otto Metin, aged 11.

MAY NOT RECOVER.

Hon. J. W. St. John Lies in a Critical Condition.

Toronto, April 1.—Small hope is entertained for the recovery of Hon. J. W. St. John, Speaker of the Legislative Assembly.

All yesterday friends and attendants anxiously awaited fresh news.

During the afternoon his condition was so critical that relatives were advised by telegraph and telephone that the end was near.

He lay apparently very close to death, and oxygen was administered artificially in order to sustain life.

Between five and six in the evening the patient rallied, his heart beat more strongly and his general tone showed great improvement.

At one o'clock this morning Dr. G. W. Clendenan was in the room when the patient wakened and smiled, seeming as cheerful as usual. His pulse was 120. He fell asleep again in a minute or two.

Only since the operation for appendicitis has it been discovered that Mr. St. John is suffering with diabetes.

Perishes In Theatre Fire.

Lockport, N.Y., April 1.—Albert Phillips, 21 years of age, operator of a moving picture machine in the Arcana Theatre, was burned to death Saturday night. Phillips was in the box of the machine when it burst into flames. In the panic that followed Phillips was forgotten.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR LACROSSE

Peterborough to be Grouped With Strong Toronto Twelves—A Great District.

P. McDONOUGH THE TRAINER

All indications point to a big revival in lacrosse in Peterborough this year, and lovers of the game may expect a great season for the national pastime. There is all kinds of material in Peterborough for a team that will make them all go some. The team will be found in the intermediate C. L. A. ranks, a series in which the fastest class of lacrosse will be found, and with the large number of good good players in the city, the Peterborough team should be well up in the running for the silverware.

Secretary Regan of the locals, who by the way is being congratulated on all sides on his splendid record in connection with the C. L. A. council, while in Toronto attending the annual meeting of the C. L. A., interviewed the management of the Maitlands, Young Torontos and the Toronto Junction team. He found them quite willing to take Peterborough in a district with them, so that undoubtedly the locals will be found in undoubtedly the fastest district of the C. L. A. Lacrosse enthusiasts will thus have an opportunity of seeing some decidedly fast games.

An effort is being made to secure McDonough, the great home player of the Beavertons, to act as coach, and play with the locals. McDonough is one of the prettiest stick-handlers playing lacrosse to-day, and would be a decided acquisition to the locals. It is thought that McDonough will come to Peterborough all right.

The club will start practicing as soon as the weather will permit in order to be in good shape when the season opens.

ATTENDING ANNUAL MEETING OF THE O.A.F.A.

Mr. J. E. Sullivan in Toronto To-day for That Purpose on Behalf of Midland League.

Mr. J. E. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the Midland Football League, is in Toronto to-day attending the annual meeting of the O. A. F. L., and is representing the Midland League. Mr. Sullivan will oppose the proposed amendment to the rules and regulations which states that a professional may play with or against an amateur without impairing the status of the latter. He will also make an attempt to get permission for the winners of the league to play off for the Ontario championship.

HURTUBISE IS CHAMPION ONCE AGAIN

Defeated Walzard of Montreal in Handy Fashion on Saturday Night.

Eugene Hurtubise, Peterborough's big wrestler, is once more amateur heavyweight champion of Canada for the fourth year in succession. On Saturday night he won the final bout in the Canadian championships in Toronto, winning handily from Snowden Malzard, of Montreal, in two minutes. Eugene had no trouble in winning the bout. A Toronto despatch says: "Hurtubise, the well-known rugby player from Peterborough, won a clean cut victory. The big Frenchman applied his famous bear-hug to Malzard of Montreal. Mr. Hurtubise has won four championships in the heavyweight wrestling class, a record of which he should be justly proud. He has held the title of amateur champion of Canada for four years."

SUFFERED EIGHT YEARS FROM KIDNEYS
Doctor's said Female Trouble.
Mrs. Charles Lewis, Collingwood, Ont., writes: "For eight years I suffered from Kidney Complaint, and until twelve months ago doctors' said I was suffering from 'Female Trouble.' Last November (1906), I was seriously ill, resulting I believe from kidney troubles. Finding doctor's medicine doing me no good, I persuaded my husband to purchase a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, after having read of a case somewhat resembling mine. I commenced taking them according to directions (not taking the doctor's medicine), and on second day a swelling commenced in my feet, legs and body. The following day I was so changed and swollen my husband, in alarm, hastened to Mr. Johnson's drug store, who told him to tell me he thought the pills were drawing something out of the blood, and to keep on taking them. I did so and after taking them a week, the swelling disappeared leaving me with a complexion free from pimples, tired, weary feeling gone, constipation, from which I suffered for years, gone, pain in the back, gone, and a general feeling of joy and light heartedness, I have not felt since a child, took place in me.
My sister-in-law (Mrs. Bryan), seeing the action of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the change for good they accomplished in me, sent for a box and they completely cured her. When there is an opportunity of telling people what Doan's Kidney Pills did for us, we always take advantage of it, and tell them to give them a fair trial."
Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, for sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

NO TRUTH IN THAT REPORT ON JOHNSTON

Three Wanderer Players State That the Story That He is Dying as a Result of Injuries Received is False.

Three of the Wanderers hockey team have arrived in Montreal from their trip to the West, Stuart, Glass and Blatchford, and a despatch from Montreal states that all three players expressed great indignation with regard to the report printed about Johnston being in a dying condition. "Nothing in it at all," said Blatchford. "Every one of the players was fit and well a day after the match." Stuart and Glass, who had seen Johnson only a day ago, gave the same report. No one of the three bears any marks of the fray.

These games will be keenly contested as the teams going into the finals depend upon the issue.

The roller skating rink will open for the season to-night, and following to-night it will be open for six nights in the week, with the band in attendance every night. It is just a week since the ice was on the floor at this rink, and during the interval the floor has been put into first-class condition, the sand-papering machine from Toronto having been used to bring the floor in proper condition for skating, and that this has been accomplished will be the verdict of those who try it to-night. It is expected that this rink will prove as popular with the young people of the city this season as it did last year.

As to Taxation.

"You say stupidity is taxed?"
"Well, it is the same thing. If you are shrewd you aren't taxed."

As You Look At It.

"Have you any bad habits?"
"Well—er—I get married occasionally."

The Account Settled in Full.

At a salon in Paris some years ago the Sieur d'Almerie was one of a group to whom he was imparting an account of his pedigree, which he claimed was derived from the pharaohs of Egypt. Just then the late Baron de Rothschild approached the group, and one of its members called out: "Baron, come and let me make you acquainted with the Sieur d'Almerie. He comes from pharaonic stock, and you ought to know each other." "Yes," said the baron, bowing gravely and addressing D'Almerie, "I believe our families had some transactions in time past." "Yes," rejoined D'Almerie, "we have a record that your people when leaving the country borrowed a considerable amount of jewelry from my people, for which I should now like to be repaid, with interest." "I remember the transaction," said Rothschild, "but the account was settled at due date. Your fathers received a check on the Bank of the Red Sea."

AGED DUMMER PIONEER RESIDENT DEAD

Late Richard Batten Lived 71 Years in That Township—Buried on the Farm Upon Which He Lived.

There passed away on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, a pioneer resident of Dummer township in the person of Richard Batten, a man who had spent his full life of 71 years, a farmer in the southern part of the township. His death, on Saturday evening, was due to a paralytic stroke, which he received on the morning before. During the past winter he had not been in his usual good health, but for a month or two previous to the stroke which caused his death, he had been feeling much better. He was a man well and favourably known throughout Dummer, and was a successful farmer.

The deceased was born in the year 1836, on the same farm he has lived on all his life. He married Emma White almost 50 years ago, who predeceased him about 18 years. Surviving him are five sons, three daughters and one sister. The sons are Wm., the Massey-Harris agent, Bert, Richard, Jacob and Herbert; the daughters are Mrs. A. P. Curveth, Mrs. William Darling, Mrs. John Darling, all of Dummer; and the surviving sister is Mrs. Ernest Grant, of Bruce county.

The late Mr. Batten has been a life-long Liberal in politics, a Methodist in religion, and a member of the Orange order for 40 years. He was a subscriber to the Examiner ever since the paper was published. The funeral took place this (Monday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock, to the third line cemetery of Dummer, and the remains of the old pioneer were laid in the earth not more than 250 yards from the spot where he was born and has lived his lengthy life.

Popular Cure For Crough

Anyone who has tested Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for croup will not hesitate to pronounce it an unqualified success. A man who enjoys his social glass should take Bu-Ju.

THE BEDLESS 10,000 OF LONDON

Brigadier Bard Tells How They Seek to Find Places in Which To Sleep.

INTERESTING ADDRESS GIVEN

A wonderfully realistic picture of the conditions existing in the slums of London was given by Brigadier Bond, editor of the War Cry, the official organ of the Salvation Army in Canada, at the local barracks yesterday afternoon. The brigadier was editor of the Social Gazette of London, Eng., for a number of years, and is therefore well qualified to speak on the slum life of that great city. His subject yesterday was:—"London's Bedless 10,000," and proved of the greatest interest to the large audience that had assembled. Brigadier Bond is a fluent speaken with a power of making his audience see things as he has seen them, and with a descriptive ability that brings clearly before the mind of the hearer the picture that he is portraying.

In commencing his lecture, the speaker said that in placing the number of London people that had no beds to sleep in at 10,000, he was making a very conservative estimate, and went on to quote figures which proved the truth of this statement. It had been found by inquiry that some of these people had not slept in a bed for as long as thirty consecutive nights.

He referred to the expedients they used to get a little sleep. At 12 o'clock they would be turned away from the benches in the parks, and then would seek all kinds of places to obtain rest. The speaker gave examples of the places selected by these people. One man, he stated, had slept for many nights in a hollow tree in one of the parks; another had managed to get some slumber under the shelter of an old parasol, while a third made use of a vault in an old cemetery as sleeping quarters. The police regulations that they should be driven away from the park benches might look cruel, but, the speaker stated, there were good reasons for this step. It was not an uncommon thing for these people to fall into a coma if allowed to remain on the benches, and perish from cold and exposure before they could be discovered and aroused.

They were not all men and women, either, the speaker stated, as many children were found in London with no bed in which to sleep, and, in illustrating this statement, the brigadier gave some experiences along this line that he had met with while engaged in the social work of the Army.

Speaking of the work of the Salvation Army in connection with these people, the editor of the War Cry said that every night, as Big Ben chimed 12 o'clock, the officers of the Army sallied out into the byways and highways of the great city, distributing tickets to the unfortunate creatures whom they met, and which entitled them to a lodging and breakfast at one of the Army's shelters.

Speaking of the difficulty which many people in London had in getting employment, the speaker related his experience along this line. So many people had come to him and stated that they could not secure work that he decided to try for himself, and his experiences, as related yesterday, were decidedly interesting. He told of his unsuccessful attempts to get work as a sandwich and dock hand, etc., and of his ill-luck in selling papers, all of which had led him to the conclusion that it was a very hard thing to secure employment in London if a man was out of work.

In conclusion, the speaker referred to the good work the Salvation Army was doing in London in caring for the poverty-stricken element of the slums.

Brigadier Bond was given a very hearty welcome to the city. He addressed a meeting on Saturday night, and spoke at all three services yesterday.

ANNUAL VESTRY MEETING TO-NIGHT

At St. John's—A Presentation Will be Made to Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun.

To-night the annual vestry meetings of the three Anglican churches of the city will be held. That at St. John's will be of an unusually interesting character, by reason of the fact that at it a presentation will be made to Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, on behalf of the congregation of the church with which they have been identified, and in which they have been prominent for a number of years. In view of this fact, there will in all probability be an extraordinarily large attendance.

TWENTIETH WEDDING DAY CELEBRATION

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Little of Douro, near the village of Lakefield, was the scene of a pleasant time on the occasion of the celebration of their china wedding on the night of Good Friday. A large number of guests were present and many beautiful pieces of chinaware testified to the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Little are held by their friends. The evening's programme consisted of music, songs and games, and a delightful time was the result. Refreshments were served during the evening.

NORMAL SCHOOL SITE SOUNDINGS

Excavating to Begin To-morrow—Some Contracts Have Been Let

On Saturday, the Government engineers with Mr. S. F. Whitham selected the exact grounds upon which the Normal School will be situated, and to-day, soundings were taken to obtain the exact condition of the soil. The building will be erected on the lower ground of the site selected, providing this is found to be suitable, and free from quicksand, water, etc.

Mr. Whitham returned to Brantford on Saturday evening, and will be in the city again to-night, so that, it is expected, the excavation will begin to-morrow in earnest. Mr. Archibald Archambault, city, has the contract for this section of the work. Mr. Jno. Moss, who has the contract for the stone work on the four schools, expects to commence the work by the latter end of the week or on Monday of next week. Longford stone has been secured for the schools.

The contract for the finishing of the interior of the building here has been let, to the Mann Shingle and Cheese Box Co.

CONGREGATION WILL APPOINT DELEGATES

St. Paul's Will Name Those Who Will Represent Congregation at Meeting of Presbytery.

Next Monday night there will be a meeting of the office bearers of St. Paul's church, at 7.30 in the school room, and following this meeting there will be a congregational gathering, at which representatives will be appointed to attend the meeting of Presbytery on the following day, to state the case for the congregation, in connection with the resignation of Rev. Dr. Torrance, presented at the last meeting of that body.

REV. MR. BRIGHT AT Y.M.C.A. MEN'S MEETING

"Hidden Sins" Was the Subject of the Address.

Yesterday afternoon Rev. A. Bright gave a very thoughtful, pointed and impressive address at the evangelistic meeting for men at the Y.M.C.A. His subject was "Hidden Sins," based on the verse, "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper, but whoso confesseth them, he shall have mercy." Man's way and God's way of dealing with sin were strongly contrasted, the address concluding with an earnest appeal to men to accept Christ.

Miss Thornton, of Orono, sang a solo before the address, which added much to the meeting.

CITY WARDS HAVE BEEN REVISED

New Boundaries Defined by the City Council at Last Night's Meeting—Some Opposition.

FIVE WARDS NOW AS BEFORE

The City Council decided last night to change the boundaries of the different wards of the city. There was opposition on the part of some of the members of the Council to this step, but a motion along that line carried.

The Mayor brought the matter up saying that if a change was to be made it should be done then.

Ald. Johnston remarked that it had been said that the proposed change would have an effect on the election of Separate School trustees. He moved that Mr. H. Carveth, who has been connected with the Board and who was present last night, should be heard.

Mr. Carveth did not think the change would affect the trustees.

Mr. T. B. McGrath agreed in this opinion.

Ald. Phelan could not see any reason for changing the wards. If a return was made to the ward system of electing aldermen the change in the wards could be made then.

Ald. Elliott said that if a change was made he would be glad to see the wards reduced from five to four.

Ald. Stevenson was in favour of the change. He had failed to find any one who was opposed to a redistribution of the wards. He moved the following resolution, seconded by Ald. Johnston, which was carried:—

"That the wards of the city be revised, to be as follows:

"South Ward—All that part of the city lying south of Sherbrooke street.

"North Ward—All that part of the city lying north of McDonel street.

"East Ward—All that part of the city lying east of the Otonabee River.

"Centre Ward—All that part of the city lying between Sherbrooke and McDonel streets, and between Bethune street and the Otonabee River.

West Ward—All that part of the city lying between Sherbrooke and McDonel streets, and between Bethune street and Monaghan road."

EASTER SUNDAY SINGING WAS EXCELLENT

The Choir of St. Peter's Cathedral Surpassed Themselves in Choral Solo Work.

Special mention should be made of the splendid singing at St. Peter's Cathedral on Easter Sunday. The choir excelled themselves and Mrs. Geo. Scott under whose able leadership the singing was rendered, is deserving of especial credit. At 10.30 a.m., His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, sang Pontifical High Mass and the choirs' singing was in their best style. Solos were taken by Misses M. Moher, A. Simons, L. Hallihan, E. Primeau, J. Clancy, A. Primeau and N. Simons and Messrs. F. Pope, Jos. Wyer, H. Brady, J. Picard and E. Keon, the quartette effect being exceptionally fine. During the offertory the Regina Coeli, by Lambilotte, was rendered.

In the evening musical vespers were sung, Misses A. Simons, E. Primeau, J. Clancy, A. Primeau and Mr. F. Pope taking solos. Miss Lavina Hallihan sang in her usual finished style, Laudate Pueri, accompanied in the chorus by sopranos and altos. O, Salutaris, duett, by J. Wiegand, was exquisitely rendered by Messrs. E. Keon and H. Brady. The "Tantum Ergo" was sung by the full choir. The excellence of the duet and the effort of Miss Hallihan has seldom been equalled in the hymnals at the Cathedral. Miss M. Doherty was most efficient as organ accompanist.

At the Children's mass at 9.15 a solo rendered by Miss Nellie Hallihan with chorus by convent scholars under the direction of Sister St. Fergus, deserves particular mention.

NEED NOT TAKE DOWN SIGNS YET

Council Decides Not to Enforce the By-law Until Another Meeting is Held to Consider it.

The overhanging sign bylaw, which was to have come into force yesterday, will not be enforced until the next meeting of the Council, at least. It came up at the meeting of the Council last night, having been left until then from a meeting held two weeks ago. When the matter was arrived at last night, Ald. Stevenson said that he understood that a number of the merchants were to have been present to take up the question with the Council.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that no action be taken and that the bylaw be rescinded.

Ald. Leary was of the opinion that the bylaw should be enforced.

Finally Ald. Morrow withdrew his motion in favour of one by Ald. Bradburn, to the effect that the matter be left over until the next meeting of the Council for consideration and that the merchants be asked to be present at the meeting. This motion was seconded by Ald. Morrow and was carried, so that owners of signs may allow them to remain up for a week longer, anyway.

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way:

She has been feeling "out of sorts"

Mme Josephine Rinville

for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Madame Josephine Rinville, Mastai, Que. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered for four years with female troubles—inflammation of the stomach and fallopian tubes which caused me violent pain and often torture, so much so that I could not walk at times and attend to my daily duties. Life was misery to me. I was so blue and despondent I did not know which way to turn for relief. I had tried the doctors but they did not help me. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought a bottle. I am glad that I did so, for I am well and strong to-day and the world looks bright, for I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

LEARN DRESSMAKING IN TWO WEEKS

We teach you everything from the plainest Shirt Waist to the most elaborate Toilette that can be found in the fashion books. We show you how to put together not only the lining, but all the outer goods in Coats, Skirts, Waists, Wrappers, Sleeves, Collars, Children's Dresses, etc. Why spend months at a Dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. For you will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, as there is nothing to be paid in advance, you certainly would not lose anything by trying.

We have taught over 2,000 this way within the past 6 years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect-fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw or pull out of skirt when raising arm.

We will teach in Peterboro from April 8th to April 20th. Hours for Day Class 9 to 5. All wishing to learn be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, on Saturday, April 6th, between 10 and 5 o'clock. This is positively the last class we will teach at Peterboro this year.

WINNING MISS EDITH.

By James Heclow.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

"Why so glum?" asked Carl Brayyas Millie hurried up. "You look as though you had just come from the funeral of your best friend."

"I come from the burial of hopes," she said. "I had a perfectly horrid time with Aunt Edith this morning."

"Doesn't she want a nephew-in-law?" he asked, growing grave.

"When I told her that I had known you for some time and that you wanted permission to call, she answered that I must have shown how much I cared."

"That's no crime," he said softly.

"Not that," she agreed, "but she said that if I had known you long enough to care for you and you had not sought her permission to pay attention to me you were not the sort of man to make a good husband and that I must never see you again."

"But she never goes into society," he protested, "and we were in love with each other before it ever occurred to us to ask permission of her to do so."

"I told her all that," answered Millie, "but it did no good. When Aunt Edith has her mind made up, there is no use trying to change it."

"There isn't?" he said, with a snap of his determined jaw. "I'll land the old lady yet. You watch me. So don't worry, dear. I'll make her like me whether she wants to or not. Don't you think I can?" he asked as her face did not clear.

"You're a dear," she said hesitatingly, "but Aunt Edith is awfully stubborn."

"But you don't know how fascinating I can be to old ladies," he insisted. "Sometimes I think I should have done better had I given up my business to become a book agent selling something that appeals to old ladies."

"Aunt Edith hates book agents," she said dolefully.

"Well, I'm not one yet," he laughed. "It will all come out all right."

Millie took comfort from his confidence, but Carl was by no means as certain as he tried to appear. Miss Edith Ormsby was not a person to be easily won. She lived in the past. Life had stopped for her when the man she was to marry was killed in a railroad wreck.

She had become a recluse in the handsome house at the foot of the Claire street hill. When her sister died and left her little daughter to Miss Edith's care, she had lightened a little the rigors of her life, but she had never gone into society, and she was still of the belief that an honorable suitor first made application to the parents of the girl he loved before he sued for her hand.

When Millie confessed that she loved Carl Bray and he had asked that he might see the old lady, she gasped, realizing what would happen, but she had conveyed his request bravely enough, only to be met by a rebuff.

She had been ordered never to see Carl again, and Miss Edith had departed to interview Drina Newhall, who chaperoned Millie when she went out in society.

Carl left the girl with a heavy heart, though his parting was a laughing assurance that all would come right. Almost unconsciously he turned his steps toward the hill. He had half promised to drop over and see how the new coasting bob was working. He and his two small nephews had put a lot of work in the construction of the bobs, and today was the first time there had been a chance to use them.

The Claire street hill was the recognized coasting point. There were no intersecting car tracks, teamsters were used to watching the point, and there was but little traffic.

He found the small boys aglow with pride. By cunningly weighting the sleds the bobs had turned out the fastest on the hill, and Carl readily fell in with their suggestion that he try their speed.

He had made two trips and was preparing for the third when he noticed an old lady standing watching the boys. There was a wistfulness in her eyes that appealed to him, and he stepped up.

"Won't you try a ride?" he asked pleasantly. "The hill is in splendid shape."

"Nonsense!" was the energetic reply. "I have not ridden on those things since I was a little girl."

"All the more reason you should seek to renew the pleasure," he smiled. "It's great fun."

"The last time I coasted down this hill was in the winter of 1872. I was nineteen then."

"Be nineteen again," he pleaded, held by the look of longing in her eyes. "It's helped me wonderfully today. I'll be careful. Will you come?"

Carl had spoken the truth when he told Millie that he was successful with the old ladies. There were a genial frankness in his manner and an honest look in his face that won regard and confidence. For a moment the old lady hesitated; then with a little laugh she stepped off the curb.

"If any one sees me I shall tell them that you hypnotised me," she warned as, smiling with excitement, she took her place on the seat. Carl took the tiller, and Ben and Bobby gained a running start before they threw themselves on.

They shot down the hill with an easy motion that deceived as to the speed. The trees lining the sidewalk flew past, and twice Carl forged ahead of some other sled, and his passengers echoed the triumphant shouts voiced by the boys.

She rose reluctantly as they at last came to a stop. Her eyes sparkled, and there was a soft flush in her yellow cheeks. "I was nineteen for awhile," she smiled at Carl. "I did not imagine that I should enjoy it so."

"Try it again," he urged promptly. "I'll help you up."

For a moment she wavered; then, accepting the proffered arm, she started back up the hill. They stood chatting at the top while waiting for the boys to drag up the heavy bobs. She told of the old days, while he listened with respectful attention, and once or twice she even joined his good natured banter as some of the boys they had passed came along.

Then the boys arrived with the bobs, and a second time she carefully tucked her skirts about her and prepared for the swift descent. This time three sleds started out together to race. She entered into the spirit of the occasion and nearly lost her balance looking back to see how far behind they were leaving their competitors.

So intent upon the race was she that as the bobs came to a stop she never noticed the horrified young woman standing on the sidewalk until a shocked "Auntie!" attracted her attention.

"Don't you say a word about my rheumatism," she ordered briskly. "This young gentleman has given me back my youth, and you don't have rheumatism when you're only nineteen."

"Want to have a ride, too, Millie?" laughed Carl. His passenger faced him quickly.

"Do you mean to say that you are the young reprobate who has been trying to steal my girl away?" she demanded.

"You've got it all wrong," he explained. "I'm not a reprobate, and I'm not trying to steal Millie. We never expected to leave—that is, unless you want us to."

"And this was all part of a plan to gain my good humor?" she went on.

"Believe me," he said earnestly, "I had no idea who you were. It seemed to me that you wanted to take a trip, and it had done me so much good that I wanted you to try it."

For a moment her sharp eyes searched his face. Then she put out her hand.

"I believe you, Carl," she said. "Suppose you come home with Millie and me and talk it over. I suppose that even courtships are different nowadays, so I shall not hold that against you."

Carl lingered in the hall to struggle with his overcoat and to whisper to Millie. "I told you so." Miss Edith heard the soft sound that followed, but she only smiled indulgently, for Carl had won two hearts instead of one.

Courtroom Repartee.

The following anecdote is related of Judge Thornton, who was chief justice of the court of common pleas in New Hampshire and judge of the superior court of the state in the eighteenth century.

While he was presiding in the common pleas a counsel who was making the closing argument to the jury in a protracted case on a warm afternoon discovered that the presiding judge on the bench was absorbed in reading a book, and his associate was soundly sleeping by his side. The advocate turned to the jury and, with indignant emphasis, remarked, "Gentlemen, my unfortunate client has no hope but in your attention, since the court in their wisdom will not condescend to hear his case!" Of course there was no sleeping on the bench after that, but Judge Thornton looked up from his book and remarked: "When you have anything to offer, Mr. ——, which is pertinent to the case on trial the court will be happy to hear you. Meantime I may as well resume my reading."

Doubtless He Did So.

A certain young preacher was much disliked by his congregation for his foolishness and conceit. He considered himself greatly persecuted and, meeting an old German friend of his on the street one day, began to tell his woes, ending up by saying: "And Mr. Brown, the church warden, actually called me a 'perfect ass.' My cloth prevents me from resenting insults, but I think I should refer to it in the pulpit next Sunday. What would you advise?"

"Mein friendt," said the old German, with a twinkle in his eye, "I know not, but I t'ink dat all you can do will pe youst to bray for dem as usual!"—Lippincott's.

New Brunswick's Premier.

Hon. William Pugsley, New Brunswick's new Premier, is of English-American descent. His ancestors lived in New York State prior to the revolution, but then settled in Nova Scotia. William Pugsley was born at Sussex, N. B., and educated there, and graduated with honors from the University of New Brunswick, being called to the Bar of his province in 1872, and made Q. C. in 1891.

He was first elected to the Provincial Legislature in 1895, at a bye-election, and re-elected in 1896 and 1890. He was Speaker of the Legislature from 1887 to 1889, when he was called to the Executive Council and appointed Solicitor-General, which office he resigned in 1892. In 1896 he ran as an independent for the House of Commons in St. John city, and three years later again entered the Legislature, and accepted office as Attorney-General in the Tweedie Government.

Like his predecessor, the new Premier of New Brunswick was regarded as a Conservative supporter until the Hon. A. G. Blair was made Minister of Railways.

Frenchmen Balk At Checks.

Frenchmen have never cared for checks. They do not understand them. A few days ago a French journalist who had received a check on a well known London bank showed it to me and asked me what he ought to do with it.

"Has it any value?" he asked.

"Why, certainly," I said. "You simply indorse it on the back, take it to your banker, and he will give you the amount written on it."

But he seemed somewhat skeptical, and I could see that he would much have preferred a postal order. But at last a serious attempt is to be made by Parliament to teach the Frenchman how to make use of the check. It will, however, require the sanction of a special law before the masses will believe that there is any real good in the system. It is proposed to introduce the check with the assistance of the postoffice and to issue check books for a sum not inferior to $20.—Paris Letter.

A Boer Water Finder.

In South Africa a cousin of General De Wet has been performing wonders in locating water. The Boer had been steadily building up a small fortune as a water finder before the war broke out and at the outbreak of hostilities had on hand an order respecting ten farms in General Botha's district. He fought in the war and was taken prisoner and deported. During his term of captivity he earned $1,500 in finding water for the British Government. The medium employed is his own secret. He first tried all sorts of twigs, but found none successful so he set to work and built himself a little contrivance of his own. It is with this that he locates a spring.

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, Thomas Beecham, St. Helens, Lancashire, Eng.

Sold everywhere in Canada and U. S. America. In boxes 25 cents.

WANDERING WORKERS.

Many Skilled Mechanics Like to Travel Over the Globe.

In New York may be found skilled mechanics who have been wandering over the globe for half a lifetime. There are few trades in which a skilled man with the mastery of several tongues cannot earn a living in almost any considerable city of the world.

Most of the mechanics who move thus freely about the world are continental Europeans. Woodcarvers, stonecutters, electrical workers of various kinds and garment cutters are among the mechanics that move about most freely.

The great temptation to such a wanderer is the trip around the world. The thing is not really difficult. He can cross this continent profitably in a few months, with a stop at Chicago and perhaps another between Chicago and San Francisco. A stop of a few weeks or months at San Francisco will put him in funds for the voyage to Australia.

There are four or five Australian cities in which a skilled man is sure of profitable employment. After Australia there are the great Anglo-Indian cities.

The journey to Europe can be made with a stop at Cairo if one chooses to make a little detour, and then Paris awaits one only a few hours beyond the end of the Mediterranean. Here are cheap living and good wages. In a few months one is more than equipped for the voyage to New York.

One has only to keep sober and know how to save money in order to make such a journey around the world with entire success. It does not mean uncomfortable living. In fact, the journeyman must be well dressed and must present a good appearance to get on. At the height of the season hardly any city has enough skilled garment cutters, for example, and the wanderers are always welcome when they reach a new town.

Why Tears Flow.

All human emotions, however slight they may be, either decrease or increase the circulation of the blood. Those emotions that bring tears cause the blood vessels around the eyes to expand, thus flooding the lachrymal or tear glands with blood. The tear glands always secrete a little to keep the eyes cool and moist and carry off specks of dust through the nasal passages, but the extra supply of blood increases this secretion to such an extent that it cannot go off in the usual way, so overflows.

Von Moltke at Cards.

Count von Moltke, Germany's great field marshal, never lost a battle, and it annoyed him to lose a game of cards. A biographer says of his old age: "The family were trained to let him win if they could without his noticing their maneuver, and they would reckon up the sums to the smallest amount. 'It is really wonderful that I have won in spite of my bad play,' he remarked to me once rather suspiciously, but he abided by the result."

A Free Hand.

"You sketch with a free hand, Miss Brownsmith," remarked the professor who had been critically examining her portfolio.

"Entirely free," said the young lady as she cast down her eyes in soft confusion and waited for the professor to follow up the opening.

Liberal.

The new pastor of a country church said to one of his deacons, "I find that Brother Linkum has very liberal religious views."

"Yes," replied the deacon, "Brother Linkum is more liberal in his views than in his contributions."

Back So Lame Could Not Walk

DOCTOR'S EFFORTS WERE IN VAIN BUT CURE CAME WITH THE USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

It is not always the doctor's fault when he tries to give temporary relief instead of lasting cure. Sometimes patients demand it.

The thorough, far-reaching and lasting effects of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are well illustrated in this case, in contrast with the doctor's failure to even bring relief:

Mr. Geo. Tryon, Westport, Leeds Co., Ont., writes:—"For two years I was completely laid up with lame back, and could neither walk nor ride. I tried many treatments and the doctor put on a fly blister, which only increased the suffering and did not do me the slightest good.

"A friend told me about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and I had not finished the first box before I was completely cured. I have never had a lame back or kidney trouble since, and it has been the means of selling dozens of boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. We are never without them in the house and think there is no medicine like them."

The urea, uric acid and other poisonous waste substances which are left in the blood after the process of digestion has taken place are eliminated from the system by the action of the kidneys. Failure of the kidneys to perform this important work of filtration means a poisoning of the whole system, and consequently the most painful of diseases, such as Bright's disease, lumbago, backache and rheumatism.

The cause of such ailments are most promptly removed by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This great family medicine has a combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels which is not possessed by any similar preparation. The whole system is quickly and thoroughly cleansed and the vital organs invigorated by this treatment. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

FIGHT WITH REBELS

Women Take Up Arms and Join Husbands Against Troops.

STAND CAVALRY CHARGES

Hand to Hand Fighting Between Peasants and Soldiers—Troops Beaten by Men With Scythes and Forks—Grape Shot and Shells Succeed—Many Riot Leaders Arrested—Whole Villages Were Razed.

Bucharest, April 1.—Field guns loaded with grape shot, according to the official reports, are winning against the revolutionary peasantry, whose arms are mostly hay forks and scythe blades.

The insurgents were able to hold their own against the troops at close quarters and even withstood cavalry charges, doing terrible execution with long pronged forks and scythe blades strapped to long poles, but the slaughter since the troops used artillery appears to be terrifying them into submission.

In the district of Vlashiea, where the outbreak was particularly serious, large numbers of insurgents have surrendered and have denounced their leaders to the authorities with the result that many of the latter have been arrested. The Government hopes that with the leaders in jail the undisciplined bands will soon abandon the field.

The self-styled "generals" usually turn out to be country school masters and village priests.

Numbers of women are fighting in the insurgent ranks, and many of them have been found among the killed, side by side with their husbands, sons and brothers.

Pitched Battle Fought.

Details of the attack by the peasants on Galais show that a pitched battle was fought. The insurgents, who were several thousand strong, began the assault at midnight, carried the outer earthworks by storm and captured a suburb, which they set on fire after pillaging it.

Three battalions of infantry attempted to stem the peasants entry into the city itself, but the fork and scythe armed rustics fought desperately, hand to hand, and had almost routed the troops when the governor ordered field guns loaded with grape shot to be fired at the insurgents, who wavered and then fled. The fire of the guns wrought great havoc on the retreating masses.

Whole Villages Destroyed.

Artillery was used at Cucuesti, Valocicle and elsewhere, and in some instances whole villages are said to have been utterly destroyed by fire of inch shells.

It is semi-officially stated that in many districts the peasants are repairing the damage done to property and restoring stolen goods to their owners.

Disturbances are reported from Putna in Moldavia, and many cases of plundering, incendiarism and armed conflicts in Wallachia.

A number of peasants have been killed or wounded by troops at Langa and Catulele. At Calicea, in the centre of the disturbed area, all the ringleaders have been captured.

The communes of Hueresani, and Pegeni are in full revolt, and troops have been despatched there. All is quiet at Vlascha, Coverlie and Roman.

According to yesterday's official report, there was no fresh rioting anywhere in the districts in which there were outbreaks, murder, pillage and incendiarism by peasants last week. The disorders were vigorously suppressed, and the revolt stopped at all points, and troops are following up the bands of plunderers.

Killed in a Runaway.

"You Will Suffer all Your Life."

SAID ALL THE DOCTORS

Half a dozen of the best physicians told Mr. Baker that he had Chronic Rheumatism, and would have it as long as he lived. One day Mr. Baker read in a paper of a man who had Rheumatism just like him—who had been told by doctors that his case was hopeless—and who had been completely cured by GIN PILLS.

The two cases were so much alike that Mr. Baker decided he would invest 50c in a box of GIN PILLS and give them a trial.

It was the best investment he ever made. Before the first box was taken, he felt better all over, so he got another. He took that and bought a third, getting better all the time.

Hinesville, May 8, 1906.

I have been greatly benefitted by your Gin Pills, and all who have used them in this neighborhood speak very highly of them.

One of my neighbors, Mr. K., who suffered for years with Rheumatism and who has spent hundreds of dollars with specialists without receiving the slightest benefit, was entirely cured by two boxes of Gin Pills. He is proclaiming their virtues from the "housetops."

Yours truly, D. L. BAKER.

We don't even ask you to buy Gin Pills—but to try them at our expense. Write us, mentioning this paper, and we will gladly send you a free sample of these wonderful Kidney Pills that cure Rheumatism. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg, Man.

Sold by all dealers—50c. a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50—or sent on receipt of price. 84

CREW HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Were Rescued From the "Greenland" Just as She Foundered.

St. John's, Nfld., April 1.—The sealing steamer Greenland, which became disabled on the sealing grounds early this week has sunk. All the members of her crew were rescued by the steamers Newfoundland and Erik.

The news of the loss of the Greenland was brought here Friday by the sealing steamer Algerine, which put in here from the sealing grounds with a broken rudder.

The Greenland was abandoned on Tuesday. The gale which accompanied the severe blizzard of last Tuesday and the two following days, repeatedly drove her with terrific force against ice floes, with which she was surrounded.

On Monday an attempt was made to give the vessel steerage way in a sheet of open water, but the sails were blown away and the craft again became helpless. The gale dashed the broken propeller and shaft against the hull and forced open the stern, through which the water made its way to the hold.

The men kept the pumps working steadily, but could not free the hold. The decks had been crushed by the heavy pack ice and the crew saw that the steamer could not be kept afloat long.

On Tuesday more ice was encountered, and it was decided to abandon the Greenland and go on the ice floes. The boats which had escape damage were provisioned and the crew was about to leave the vessel when the sealing steamer Newfoundland was sighted.

The Newfoundland bore down upon the sinking steamer and took off the men. The Greenland foundered shortly after the rescue.

DOES NOT OWN CANADA.

Montreal Journal Utters Note of Warning to Mother Country.

Montreal, April 1.—Referring to The London Globe's remark that the arrival of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the middle of the intercolonial conference would be an insult to the mother country and to the other countries, and that such conduct would show that Canada might find a better qualified premier, The Presse says:

"What would those English cockneys say if we were to retort in somewhat the following terms: 'If the mother country has no more consideration for the political struggles and the working of parties which the constitutional system authorizes in Canada, as well as in England, Canada will see to have an ungrateful and unjust mother replaced by something more rational.'

"All the people in Canada, English as well as French, are far from holding such a view, but by dint of foolish things the London politician will finally lead us towards it. Those gentlemen should learn once for all that Canada is not their property, but ours, and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier established that point with great eloquence and clearness before the House last night. Canada never asked for a conference, but ceded to imperial besetting, of which it was the cause. On that point we are in no way indebted to the other colonies, who refused to accept the representations of Canada for another date, although we love and respect them as sisters in every way. They wished to have full play. Let them have it; but it is only fair that we should have the same. However, we are happy to see that the Prime Minister has found his way clear to start on April 5."

Youth Arrested for Forgery.

Chatham, April 1.—James Simon, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, informed the police department Saturday, that J. Parry Wiers of Charing Cross, had forged a cheque for $375.

Wiers, who is 23 years of age, and said to be active in Epworth League, Sunday school and church circles, was found in the Garner Hotel, and arraigned before Police Magistrate Houston, to whom he pleaded guilty. He was remanded until Friday for sentence.

Wiers said he came to Chatham with no intention of committing the forgery. He had $359 or $16 less than the amount received from the bank.

To Extradite Bribers.

Ottawa, April 1.—Saturday's Canada Gazette contains a despatch concerning a supplementary agreement in regard to the extradition of criminals between Great Britain and the United States, which adds bribery and criminal offences against the bankruptcy law to the list of offences for which offenders may be extradited from one to the other.

The operation of this arrangement is suspended so far as Canada is concerned so long as the present act respecting the extradition of fugitive criminals remains in force.

TO LIMIT ARMAMENTS.

Great Britain Demands Subject Be Discussed at Hague Conference.

London, April 1.—Great Britain has made a formal and official request upon Russia to include in the program of the next Hague conference the question of the limitation of the expenditure on armaments, and through her ambassadors and Ministers she has notified the powers of this action.

This was done some days ago and up to the present time the Foreign Office has not been advised of any opposition to Great Britain's proposal.

Neither has Great Britain learned the nature of the negotiations that have been going on in St. Petersburg between the ambassadors of Germany and Austria and Emperor Nicholas, but it is believed the exchanges have had to do with the form in which the subject of disarmament should be introduced, and that they have not been aimed at keeping it off the program.

The reports emanating from the continent that Great Britain and the United States would withdraw from the conference if their wishes to discuss the limitation of armaments were not complied with, and that Germany and Austria would follow a similar course if Russia included this question in the program, are stigmatized by officials of the Foreign Office here as pure inventions.

"That any power would thus break up the conference, which doubtless will render much good to the cause of humanity, because all its wishes do not meet with favor, is incredible," said a foreign official Saturday.

Great Britain, supported by America, Japan and Italy, will continue to press her point, with every confidence in a successful outcome.

TOOK PLACE OF STRIKERS.

Judgment In Suit of International Iron Moulders Union.

Cleveland, April 1.—Action against the Altman Manufacturing Company, of Canton, Ohio, charged with importing alien contract labor into the United States for the purpose of breaking a strike, was dismissed by Judge Taylor in the Federal Court. The case has been in court three years. The counts were nulled on recommendation of the Department of Justice at Washington.

The suit was instituted by the organization of the International Iron Moulders of America. It was alleged that when the moulders were on strike at Canton the employers imported several hundred foreigners from Canada to take the places of the strikers. The ground on which the nolle was based was that while the men came here from Canada, and although they had not taken out naturalization papers they had been employed previously in the United States.

DECOYED FROM HOME.

Hamilton Girl Made Victim of White Slave Traffic.

Buffalo, April 1.—A white slave case, the second in a week, is engaging the attention of the district attorney's office of Buffalo. An 18-year-old girl named Annie Mathieson, whose home is in Hamilton, Ont., is the complaining witness. The accused parties are a man called "Soldier Mac" and a Tonawanda saloonkeeper. The prosecuting officials are keeping the whereabouts of the girl a close secret. Whether she is here in jail, or at a hospital somewhere, or confined in Tonawanda, can't be learned.

The girl's story is that she was lured from her home in Hamilton by the man called "Soldier Mac," who told her she could secure a good position at a place in Tonawanda. She was at the place for a time. She finally escaped one night by jumping out of a window with her clothes on her arm. She was taken under the care of the police.

ENGLAND ON DOWN GRADE.

Jesuit Priest Scores the Entente Cordiale With France.

London, Eng., April 1.—Father Bernard Vaughan was exceedingly bitter in his condemnation of society Saturday in the fourth of the Lenton discourses, which he is delivering at the beautiful Church of the Immaculate Conception in Farm Street.

"Is it true," declared the preacher, "that, with the exception of certain towns in Ireland, all the big towns in the United Kingdom are on the down grade? Ireland still gives the Empire pure women and brave men.

"If England and Ireland were weighed in the balance before God, it would be a bad day for England.

"England and France, in this entente cordiale embrace, are slipping down a slimy incline, and the end, if we do not rouse ourselves, must be the bottomless pit."

JUDGE NEARLY A VICTIM.

Cheque Book and Pocketbook Turn Bullet Aside.

Ripon, Wis., April 1.—Mrs. W. H. Ogden, following the conviction of her husband for larceny of old iron, Saturday evening shot Justice of the Peace L. E. Nohlin in the court room, but the bullet was deflected by a cheque book and a pocketbook, saving his life.

She fired four other shots, three going wide of the mark, and one striking Charles Kashuba over the heart. He may die.

Mrs. Ogden was arrested.

Three Suicides at Falls.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 1.—An open letter found on the Third Sister Island just above the Falls yesterday morning, and signed "Tamai, 17 Concord street, Brooklyn," reads: "I will commit suicide in this fall."

Other letters found are addressed to parties in New York and Indianapolis.

James Lisle, of Valleyfield, Que., a visitor here, reports having seen a man go down the upper rapids Saturday morning. He wore a blue jumper, and struggle fiercely to get out, but was swept to death.

If the Brooklyn man carried out his threat to commit suicide this will make the third life lost by going over the Falls since Friday night, a record unprecedented here.

DUNCAN GETS FOUR YEARS.

Former Bank Manager Goes to Penitentiary For Forgery.

Berlin, April 1.—John F. Duncan, ex-manager of the Bank of Commerce at Ayr, who pleaded guilty to charges of fraud, forgery, and theft, his total defalcations amounting to about $15-000, was sentenced on Saturday by Judge Chisholm to four years in Kingston Penitentiary on each of three charges, sentences to run concurrently. His Honor expressed great sorrow for the prisoner.

Spain Welcomes King's Visit.

Madrid, April 1.—The approaching meeting of King Alfonso and King Edward, at Cartagena, is creating much comment, the close understanding between Spain and Great Britain being the subject of general welcome.

Every Spanish warship available will proceed to Cartagena to meet the British squadron of seventeen vessels, and a gala banquet has been arranged to take place on board the Spanish battleship Numancia.

Dowager Queen Christina, Premier Maura and the foreign and marine ministers will accompany King Alfonso to Cartagena.

Policeman Held For Robbery.

New York, April 1.—Patrolman George Dawkins of the Brooklyn police force was arrested Saturday night on a charge of robbing John Farley of $12.

According to Farley, he invited Dawkins to take a drink. They had a misunderstanding in the saloon, and when they reached the street, Farley says, Dawkins seized him and took $12 from his pocket, threatening to club him if he made an outcry.

Dawkins was held in $2,000 bail for examination to-day.

Car Cleaners Stopped.

London, April 1.—The lid was on tight in London yesterday. Even the car cleaners were prevented from pursuing their usual employment, though the oilers were allowed to work.

Street Railway Indicted.

Newark, N. J. April 1.—The North Jersey Street Railway Company was indicted by a grand jury on Saturday charged with maintaining dirty and unsanitary cars, providing useless fenders and allowing its cars to be overcrowded.

The indictment was returned to Chief Justice Gummere, who warned the jury a few days ago not to be influenced by public clamor against the company.

In its indictment the jury declared that "The indignation and protests of a long-suffering public, which have been interpreted by the court as 'public clamor', have not influenced the grand jury in its consideration of this question.

Justice Gummere dismissed the jury without thanking them.

Spain Plans Army Reform.

Madrid, April 1.—King Alfonso has signed a decree dissolving the present Parliament, fixing upon April 21 for the election of a new Chamber of Deputies, and May 5 for the election of Senators. The new Parliament will be opened May 13.

Another decree signed by His Majesty creates a national defence committee, which is to overhaul thoroughly the present army and navy organizations.

THOUGHT COLD WOULD TURN TO CONSUMPTION

READ HOW DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP CURED

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 28th, 1906.

The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs: As I am one of the thousands that have been benefited by your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought it my duty to give you a description of my case. "I am 19 years of age and was always in the best of health until last spring when I caught a severe cold by going about with wet feet. It settled in my chest and all the remedies I tried would not stir it. My friends began to fear it had turned to consumption and were advising me to go east and see a specialist. One day my father brought home a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I laughed at the idea of it being any good and refused to take it, and only as a last resource would I. When I had finished one bottle I had only a slight cold left and before I had taken a quarter of the next I was as well as ever I was, if not better, so you can see what a God-send this medicine was to me. I never fail to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to my friends and they all use it. To show my full appreciation of this remedy I will gladly answer any letters in reference to it. Believe me. Sincerely yours,

Miss Winnifred D. Smith.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

SNAPSHOTS OF LA MODE.

Semimade Frocks in Lawn and Lace For Slim Purses.

The girl who wants a dainty white muslin dress at small expense and trouble will do well to purchase in the shops one of the skirts that are all made and ready to put on the waistband and to be seamed up the back. A charming skirt of this description is in fine white lawn, with a deep tucked ruffle at the bottom. Above this ruffle is a band of insertion, which trimming also outlines the seams. Material for the waist is included in the pattern, which in a very good department shop is 2 cents less than $3. Black lace dresses come in this semimade state, as well as colored and white nets and chiffons.

It takes only a half yard of the frilled edged lingerie trimming for the front of a shirt waist. Of course cuffs and collars may be added of the same dainty adornment, but the smart tailored waist is finished with a band and worn with stiff embroidered linen collar and cuffs of the material, either plain or edged with a plaited frill when they are of the turned back order.

There is a silk that comes in white grounds with lustrous satin finish, with hair lines of black or delicate colors forming stripes or checks, and also in brocaded patterns, which washes perfectly and is an ideal for dainty summer dresses.

Broderie anglaise will again continue the great run of popularity it has been enjoying for the last few years.

The voiles this year are fascinating in checks and plaids. The very chic model pictured is of this fabric in several shades of gray.

MODISTIC MATTERS.

Shirt Waist Shoulders Broad—Useful Spring Frock.

Broad shoulders characterize the first of the spring shirt waists. The smartest design for a linen shirt waist is made with three deep plaits on each shoulder back and front. At the back the plaits taper toward the waist. The regular shirt waist sleeve is used, finished with a straight cuff. The stitched plaits and broad shoulder line give this shirt waist an air of newness. The neck is finished with a band, and an embroidered linen collar of the stiff kind is worn.

The lingerie waist will be much in vogue; still there will be a great demand for tailor made linen waists.

A practical and pretty dress for spring is of smoke gray voile trimmed with the same shade of taffeta intricately embroidered with soutache. With the blouse and skirt goes a short jacket of taffeta almost entirely covered with braiding and so cut that the sleeves and body appear to be in one, and the sloping shoulder line is unbroken. The collar and chemisette of this frock are of embroidered batiste of a cream tint trimmed in real valenciennes, a narrow central plait being bordered on each side by fine lace edged plaitings of batiste.

Stiff linen collars are embroidered with a tiny flower in black and other shades besides the omnipresent Scotch plaid.

The waist that can be worn over a separate yoke is one of the latest developments of fashion. The model illustrated is well adapted for washable materials, wool and silk. The cuffs are adjustable, so that the sleeves can be long or short at will.

MILLINERY FORECASTS.

Hat Shapes Still Prevail in Headgear. Narrow Braids.

The newest veil is circular in form and made of brussels net with a border of chantilly lace or of ribbon trimmed plaitings.

Among the spring shapes in straw, flat, narrow braids are more in evidence than the fancy silk straws that have reigned for several seasons.

Hats with wide brims that taper to nothing in front and widen out in some cases to extravagant widths in the back are shown in models of both straw and straw and mallnes. Bell shaped crowns and brims that roll up high at the left side and are very narrow elsewhere make chic little hats, especially where their severity of outline is softened by ostrich plumes, which, by the way, show no signs of abdicating their place as the most popular hat trimming.

Small and easily molded shapes of leghorn and panama straws will be extensively worn this spring. These hats are bent without rule or reason into becoming lines. No shapes are, however, worse traps for the unwary than these same simple ones of the small type, for unless their lines are exactly right the individual who wears them is apt to look as grotesque and ridiculous as in the small shepherdess shapes or the brimless polo caps that prevailed for a short time some seasons ago.

Black and white effects are favorites in the outing class of chapeaux.

The negligee illustrated is not a specially new effect, but one whose comfort has been well tried. It is made of flowered challis with bands of silk, and when worn over a smart lingerie petticoat is very fetching.

INDIAN APPLIQUE.

This Work Is Similar to Carrickmacross Lace.

This is somewhat similar to Carrickmacross lace, inasmuch as the pattern is appliqued on net. The materials, however, are much coarser and the work required not so fine, so it is quickly worked, and really charming things can be produced, such as sofa and pincushion covers, table centers, etc., while a little ingenuity might see its possibilities as a dress trimming.

Another recommendation to this work is its cheapness, only rather fine book muslin and mosquito net—which can be purchased for a quarter or a little over per yard, double width—being needed. The square meshed filet net, however, makes an admirable background and could be appliqued with other materials and colored silks. Trace a design on the muslin, tack this to the background and be very careful at this point or the pattern will slip when working. When this is done run round the outline of the pattern and work with buttonhole stitch or an oversewing stitch, taking this last well into the muslin and using a fairly coarse thread.

The illustration shows the second method of working. When finished cut the superfluous muslin away very carefully with a pair of sharp scissors close to the outline threads.

Becoming Jewelry.

To insure beauty jewels must be worn with regard to color. Take, for instance, highly colored gems such as rubies and sapphires. They could not be worn with any shade of red. Soft colors should always be selected in such cases—turquoises, pearls or diamonds.

The woman with dull eyes must never wear diamond earrings, for these stones will make them appear duller. The pearl softens the face more than any other jewel.

Another stone which is equally becoming is the opal. A stone called tonkinoise, which is a pure blue, makes a sallow skin many shades lighter.

"I tell you, neighbor, ST. GEORGE'S BAKING POWDER makes fine cake and pastry."

"Of course you said so—but Baking Powder is one of the things that a baker must try for himself."

"That's right! What's the use of buying the best pastry flour, creamery butter and rich milk—and then have one of those alum baking powders ruin the baking."

St. George's Baking Powder

is a pure Cream of Tartar baking powder. I know it by the way the paste rises. You have eaten my Cakes, Pies and Fancy Pastry for years. Have you ever known them to be quite so light and flaky—and taste so good—as they do now? It's all due to ST. GEORGE'S."

"Yes, neighbor, we old fellows have found out about Baking Powders by practical experience. And ST. GEORGE'S is the best baking powder I've ever tried—not only for bakers, but for home cooks as well."

TO REFOREST SPRUCE.

Paper Required For Printing Daily News May Run Short.

A Timber Valuator writes regarding the pulpwood situation: "In view of the growing scarcity of forest products many substitutes have been offered and suggested to take the place of wood for building material, yet, notwithstanding the near approach to a timber and lumber famine, and the high prices now being paid for lumber, it is still the cheapest, safest and best building material. Brick, cement and steel have been experimented with to a considerable extent, but nothing has yet been discovered or invented that will serve to check the increasing demand for lumber as a building material. When I was a boy rags were used almost exclusively for making all kinds of paper, but to-day I have it from good authority that 85 per cent. of all the paper manufactured is made from wood pulp, chiefly spruce. I was recently given a list of ten newspapers the daily issue of each of which required the product of a well-timbered acre of spruce. To one that knows approximately the total amount of raw material available it does not require much of a mathematician to figure out how long it will require to exhaust the supply at the present rate of consumption.

Almost Denuded of Trees.

Pulp mills on the west side of Lake Michigan have been getting their supply of spruce from Ontario for several years. Going east through Ontario and nearing the Ottawa River we gradually run out of the pine belt and find the spruce timber predominating through the Provinces of Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and the State of Maine. But, like the Western States of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, they have become almost entirely denuded of spruce, even that suitable for pulpwood, with the exception of the Province of Quebec, which is now producing more pulpwood, pulp and paper than any other Province or State. Within the past two years there have been established seventeen pulp mills or rossing plants north of St. Lawrence River, the products of which are shipped to New York and other eastern markets. I would suggest that the Forestry Associations give some attention to the reforestry of spruce pulpwood as well as to the reforestation of pine, or some day we may be short of "news" paper.

BORN NEAR BRANTFORD.

Distinguished Leader Commenced Education in Industrial Indian School.

As is generally known, Dr. Oronhyatekha was a full-blooded Indian, his parents being of the Mohawks, whose reservation is near Brantford. His English education was begun in the Industrial School, near Brantford, established for the training of young Indians, and supported and maintained by the New England Co., whose headquarters are in London, England, wherein he acquired the rudiments of an English education. His desire for knowledge took him away from home, and for a time he studied at the Wesleyan Academy, at Wilbraham, Mass. Being without means, he had at the outset of his career an opportunity of developing those qualities of self-reliance, perseverance, and resolution that have been such essential factors in the success that has since attended his efforts.

Canadians had reason to honor Dr. Oronhyatekha. His genius could not be traced to an origin in the old lands across the sea. Oronhyatekha was a Canadian by birth. So are other able men. But Oronhyatekha was Canadian by ancestry. In this double sense of birth and ancestry he was a unique representative of his country, perhaps the greatest Canadian of his time.

The life of Oronhyatekha has left its memorials in clothing for children who would be naked, in food for orphans who would be hungry, in comfort for widows who would be in want if the genius of this Indian chief had not carried the blessings of insurance into lives and homes that would have never been reached by the activity of the old line companies.

Great Boon In Trade.

Mr. J. S. Larke, Canadian Trade Commissioner to New South Wales, reports to the Trade and Commerce Department that there is a great boom in trade in Australia. The total trade of the Commonwealth for 1906 was £112,850,000, as compared with £95,187,768 in 1905. The imports were £44,600,000 in 1906, as against £38,346,781, while the exports grew from £56,841,035 in 1905 to £68,250,000 last year.

The prospects for 1907 are good. The harvest of New South Wales alone produced 24,000,000 bushels of wheat, which will allow of 13,000,000 bushels being exported.

The New Zealand drought has been broken, and trade prospects, which had been very poor, are now improved.

Mr. Larke says he is distributing catalogues furnished by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, especially as regards rubber goods, saddlery and carriage materials, engines, machinery, brushes, glassware and brass goods. He, however, does not expect much result unless Canadian firms appoint direct agents.

For Family Colds.

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear.

It is always easier, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty-three years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will buy no other.—L. Elsley, Nassagaweya, Ont."

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family. If it does not cure, you get back all it cost you. We take all the chances. Neither you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c. is the price. All dealers in medicine sell 503

HURRY FUNERALS.

Odd Orders That Are Sometimes Given to Undertakers.

"Life and death both are strenuous in New York," said an undertaker. "We get orders sometimes that shock us.

"Not long ago we had a call from a family who asked us to make a hurry up job for the reason that they had arranged to sail for Europe two days later, and they didn't want to postpone the voyage.

"What would you think of a woman who asked to have her husband buried as quickly as possible on the ground that a few days before his death they had agreed to a separation and that she would like to put away the deceased before the newspapers heard of their marital trouble? That is exactly what happened.

"Then there was this case: An elderly aunt, who had been an invalid more than a year, passed away. We were asked to arrange for the funeral on the day of her death, and when we demurred unless there was some important reason we were informed by a nephew that they were anxious to know what was in her will, as the matrimonial chances of a niece depended upon what she was to get.

"Some time ago a man came into our office and said that his mother-in-law had just died and that he would like to send her body south as soon as possible because his wife wanted to attend some sort of function three days later.

"In the good old days in some parts of the country it used to be the custom for friends of the family in which a death occurred to sit up with the corpse. In a case given to us a few months ago we were asked to send a couple of genteel appearing employees to the house to keep the vigil. We did it, but I confess to you it seemed to me rather heartless."—Exchange.

Chaucer's Face in a Stone.

In a geological branch of the British museum the visitor is shown a wonderful specimen of natural imitation in a small "ribbon jasper." This stone, the material of which is not unlike that of other banded agates, has upon its surface a perfect miniature portrait of the poet Chaucer. Every detail is startlingly correct. There are the white face, the pouting lips, the broad low forehead and even the whites of the slightly upturned eyes. The attendants say that it is utterly impossible to convince even some of the educated visitors that it is not an artificial production.

The Snow Flower.

A traveler in Siberia tells us about a wonderful plant found in the northern part of that country, where the ground is perpetually covered with a coating of frost and snow. It is called the snow flower, and the description of its birth and its short life reads like a fairy tale. He says it shoots out of the frozen soil on the first day of the year and attains a height of three feet. On the third day it blooms, remaining open for only twenty-four hours. Then the stem, the leaves and the flower are converted into snow—in other words, the plant goes back into its original elements. The leaves are three in number, and the flower is star shaped. On the third day, the day the bloom appears, little specks appear on the extremities of the leaves. They are about the size of the head of a pin and are the seeds of the flower. It is said that some of these seeds were gathered once and taken to St. Petersburg, where they were buried in a bed of snow. The first of the following year the plant burst forth and bloomed just as it does in Siberia.

Utility of Censors.

"When Maxim Gorky dined with me," said a literary New Yorker, "he talked about the Russian censorship.

"He said that in the course of the Russo-Japanese war he had occasion in an article to describe the headquarters of one of the grand dukes. He wrote of these headquarters, among other things:

"'And over the desk in his highness' tent is a large photograph of Marie la Jambe, the beautiful ballet dancer.'

"Before this article could appear the censor changed that sentence to, 'And over the desk in his highness' tent is a large map of the theatre district.'"

RAYNOR NOT TO HANG.

Whitsley's Slayer Saved by Popular Agitation For Reprieve.

London, April 1.—It was announced Saturday that as a result of the popular agitation in favor of a reprieve for Horace G. Raynor, who on Jan. 25 killed William Whitsley, the well-known merchant of Westbourne Grove, the Home Secretary, Mr. Gladstone, had advised the King to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment at penal servitude.

The King almost invariably acts on the Home Secretary's advice and therefore Rayner's reprieve may be regarded as an accomplished fact.

The exercise of the royal prerogative of mercy is probably to a great extent due to the strong revulsion of public feeling against nursing a dying man back to life only to reserve him for the hangman's rope, together with the painful situation of the prisoner.

Woman Awed Thieves.

Cornwall, April 1.—Three young men broke in the door of A. H. McDonald's house, east of this place, on Friday and threatened to shoot Mrs. McDonald, who was alone, unless she gave them money. She drove them off with an axe.

That night three men stole a horse and rig near Summerstown and drove several miles, until the whole outfit fell into a culvert on the G. T. R.

Chief of Police Smyth sent out an alarm, and Constable Uren of Bainsville yesterday arrested Joseph Paiement, William Poundon and George McGranahan of Montreal as the men wanted.

Laurier Entertains Bryce.

Ottawa, April 1.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier entertained the British Ambassador, Rt. Hon. James Bryce, at luncheon yesterday. Some of the Cabinet Ministers were present, including Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. A. B. Aylesworth and Hon. W. S. Fielding.

To-night the Ambassador will address the Canadian Club at the Russel House, and there will be a distinguished audience, including the Governor-General and the Premier.

Was Hush Money Used?

Hamilton, April 1—J. Bidwell Mills, near whose residence the late Constable Barron was shot, has written a somewhat sensational letter to Mayor Stewart.

He charges that the reason more active steps were not taken to investigate the affair is that money and influence have been used to hush the matter up.

He scouts the idea that the murder-

My friends told me I looked like a living ghost and advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got two boxes and within two weeks I had improved wonderfully and after finishing the fourth box I was completely cured. They are the greatest pills I ever used and I can recommend them to all sufferers."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills act directly on the disordered heart and nerves, and restore them to healthy action. They have no equal for reviving and strengthening the heart beat, invigorating the nervous system, and acting as a food for the blood, improving its quality, making it rich and red.

EVELYN TO TESTIFY ON SANITY

Lunacy Commission Send Thaw's Wife a Subpoena.

THAW KEEPING CHEERFUL

Jury Excused Until Thursday When Report As to Sanity of Prisoner is Expected—Jerome Is Wary As to His Movements—Wants to Call More Alienists—Juryman Kick For More Pay.

New York, April 2.—It is probable that the Thaw lunacy commission will report on Thursday. The case was adjourned last week until yesterday, and when the jury was called before the court Justice Fitzgerald adjourned again the case until Thursday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

Should the commission find that Thaw is insane within the meaning of the law, the trial will be stopped, but if it finds otherwise the trial will continue.

When the hearing was interrupted by the lunacy proceedings the defence was submitting its case in surrebuttal and Dr. A. Allan McLane Hamilton, the alienist, was on the stand. If the trial is resumed it will be taken up at that point. It is doubtful if the defence will call any other witnesses, although it has been said that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw would be recalled to repeat her story of the Hummel affidavit. As soon as the defence rests, the summing up will begin and will, under the agreement made between attorneys, last for two days.

Wife a Witness.

When Mrs. Evelyn Thaw made her daily visit to her husband in the Tombs yesterday she was met by a process server, who handed her a subpoena directing her to appear before the lunacy commission to-day. Mrs. Thaw apparently had not anticipated this move, and she appeared very much disturbed.

"Do they expect me to give evidence against my husband?" she asked.

She was told that her presence probably was desired merely as a matter of routine, but this did not seem to reassure her.

District Attorney Jerome declined to make known his purpose in calling Mrs. Thaw before the commission.

The members of the Thaw jury have drawn up a petition to Justice Fitzgerald asking him to allow them $5 a day for jury services instead of the customary allowances of $2.

Jerome's Experts.

It was reported yesterday that when the lunacy commissioners resumed its hearing to-day Mr. Jerome will call as his witnesses Drs. Pilgrim and Gregory of this city, two of the alienists engaged by the defence, and will endeavor to prove by them that Thaw is now insane. Dr. Pilgrim is head of the New York State Lunacy Commission, and Dr. Gregory is in charge of the Psycopathic ward of Bellevue Hospital. Both of them are said to have had several conversations with Thaw during the trial.

AGRARIAN PROBLEM.

Russian Parliament Has No Hope of Making Any Changes.

St. Petersburg, April 2.—The discussion of the agrarian problem to which the first Russian Parliament almost entirely devoted its legislative activity began in the Lower House yesterday. Over a hundred speakers signified their intention of participating in the debate, to which, according to the plans of the Parliamentary leaders, only one day per week will be devoted. Neither the Constitutional Democrats nor the Socialists have much expectation of arriving at practical results during the present Parliament. They are convinced that any measure involving the compulsory expropriation of land, which is the basic principle of all the Liberal solutions, will immediately be vetoed by the Emperor and be regarded by the Cabinet as a justification for the dissolution of Parliament. But the House was forced to begin the discussion of the agrarian problem as a concession to the peasant constituents of many of the members.

THE POLICE USE HOUND IN THE SEARCH

May Trace Port Credit Murderer By This Means.

NEW EVIDENCE TO-MORROW

Smells Bloodstained Shirt and Starts Off On Trail—Follows It Along Track and Down a Gulley—Then Leaps a Stream—Police Ware Dilatory—Fresh Story of Strange Italian.

Port Credit, April 2.—A pedigreed bloodhound was yesterday put on the scent at the scene of the murder of Edward Elliott, after four days of masterful inactivity on the part of the crown.

With a man's life to be legally avenged, red tape and financial considerations are holding back those who might act.

The tracker, "Bob," the property of Joseph Ernest, Toronto, was sent in leash from the bloodclot beside the railroad track, two miles west of Port Credit, where early Good Friday morning Elliott's body was discovered. First he was given the scent of Elliott, from a piece of bloodstained shirt the victim had worn. The bloodhound, held in leash by Ernest and followed by County Constable Peel sniffed his way rapidly north of the G.T.R. tracks, bounded down the gulley at the side, then continued west for 200 yards close to a rail fence. With his nose to the ground, the animal, descendant of a full-blooded Kentucky man-hunter, leaped a stream of water and tagged his way through the fence and beyond into a sloped meadow. Beside a log and a bush he stopped, disconcerted. There the trail seemed to end.

Lost the Trail.

Despite the fact that the county constable and the dog's owner put him again on the trail from the scene of the crime, he could pick up no other line. "If that dog had been here two days ago, we would have gone far to solve this case," said the constable.

The facilities Port Credit affords for efficient detective service are not splendid. The place where Dr. Sutton performed his post-mortem is a dingy shed in rear of an hotel.

The chief "evidence" so far—the bloodstained clothes of Elliott, lay yesterday on the plain ground, covered with a wooden soapbox. Any wide-awake murderer could abstract them at night. A heavy storm would probably soak all the blood out of them.

Until he was taken there Sunday the constable had not visited the place where Elliott's body was found.

"What's the use; there's no money in it for me. I get only 25 cents for each subpoena I serve," is how he puts it.

The dog was sent out after the constable, Coroner Sutton and Constable Broddy of Brampton, had talked things over.

New Figure In Case.

A crown officer has discovered a new personality in the puzzle. He was told Sunday that a strange Italian—not any of the section gang—was watching Elliott drinking in the hotel. This man disappeared the night Elliott was killed.

Elliott was not known as a particularly hard drinker, but used liquor quite occasionally. Some in Port Credit say that he was intoxicated before he left that place on the night of his death. His going there to cash a discharge cheque does not indicate that he was leaving the Grand Trunk's service. It often happens that when a man wants money before the month is up, he gets a discharge cheque cashed, and is promptly rehired.

The Cause of Death.

Dr. Arthur Sutton, who conducted the post-mortem on Saturday, was confined to his bed yesterday. He points out that the deceased had evidently been stabbed in the chin and on the breast with a sharp instrument, apparently a stiletto, but none of these wounds were sufficient in themselves to cause death. The most serious wound, obviously inflicted by some blunt weapon, such as a shovel, was in the back of the head, and from this a clot of blood formed on the brain.

The following jury has been empanelled: W. Hare, foreman; D. Collins, A. Blowers, J. Carruthers, R. Skinner, W. Newman, R. Parkinson, W. Rundles, A. Hare, R. Pear, John Burns and W. McCarthy.

JUMPED IN THE RIVER.

Body Found at Belleville of Man Chased by the Police.

Belleville, Ont., April 2.—A body was found in the harbor yesterday afternoon which is believed to be that of the man who, in November last, attempted to criminally assault a little girl named McKeown in this city. The body had been a long time in the water. The man who assaulted the little McKeown girl was frightened away and jumped in the river, but was believed to have gotten out. He was recognized as being from Lindsay. The body found this afternoon had in one of the pockets a receipt for a postoffice order sent to a Mrs. Berry, of Lindsay.

Scratch Kills Canadian.

Detroit, April 2.—Rev. George A. Robson, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Landing, is dead, from blood poisoning, the result of a slight scratch on his hand from a rusty poker.

Mr. Robson was a Canadian by birth, 33 years of age, and came here from Hartford, Conn., last December. He leaves a widow and two children.

Negro Was Lynched.

Durant, I. T., April 2.—Jim Williams, a negro, charged with committing criminal assault on Lillie Misner, white, near Colbert, I. T., Saturday afternoon, was lynched at Durant Sunday night by a mob of a thousand people. Williams was hanged to an oil derrick and his body riddled with bullets. Deputy United States marshals and local officers pleaded with the mob and threatened it with their slivers, but to no avail. The girl positively identified Williams.

BITLIS IS VISITED BY A 'QUAKE

Turkish Armenia Visited By a Severe Earthquake.

MUCH DAMAGE IS FEARED

Inhabitants Have Been Rendered Homeless—Obliged to Encamp In Snow—Dreadful Hardships—Loss of Life Not Yet Fully Known—Town Is Densely Populated, But Not Many Europeans.

Constantinople, April 2.—The report that a severe earthquake, accompanied by loss of life, has occurred at Bitlis appears to be confirmed, but the number of deaths is unknown. Beyond a brief message from the missionaries at Bitlis reporting that the town is badly damaged, that they are homeless and that their people are encamped in the snow, which in places is 25 feet deep, no news of the disaster has reached this city.

London, April 2.—The situation of Bitlis, which is built on a rocky slope, with houses constructed of stone, having flat, earthen roofs, caused people here to fear that a great amount of damage has been done. It is described as a picturesque, densely populated town, having but few Europeans among the population. A British Vice-consul is stationed there, but at present he is absent on leave. Instructions have already been sent to the local authorities to afford relief to the inhabitants, but there is no doubt that outside help is needed.

MAY APPEAL TO KING.

Prince Edward Island Not Satisfied With Subsidy Plan.

Montreal, April 2.—"The new arrangements for provincial subsidies do not lessen the dissatisfaction in Prince Edward Island," declared Alexander Martin, M. P. for Queen's, Prince Edward Island, yesterday.

"The Dominion Government," said Mr. Martin, "refuses to abide by its contract of union with Prince Edward Island with respect to continuous communication.

"On the other hand, the Dominion, under the provision of the act of 1873, which admitted Prince Edward Island into the union, exacts its pound of flesh from the province.

"Previous to the union the province built 200 miles of railway at the cost of $3,250,000. Canada was made a present of this road and the steel [illegible] interest at 5 per cent. on the cost of construction, and that every year since 1873.

"This interest is $147,000 a year—a great drain on the province. The province claims that, not only should the interest cease, but that Canada should refund all that has been paid under this heading since 1873.

"The agitation in Prince Edward Island is beginning. An appeal to King Edward will follow; and unless the Dominion shows more desire to conciliate the people, Prince Edward Island may yet ask to revert to the position of a crown colony."

MADE A GREAT SHOW.

Large Quantity of Paving Materials Prey to Flames.

Toronto, April 2.—There was a somewhat spectacular fire last night in the plant of the Dominion Paving and Contracting Company, situated at the head of Shaw street, near the C. P. R. tracks. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from a passing locomotive, which ignited the dry grass in the vicinity of the storehouse, a large wooden structure. This building was soon in flames and as a large quantity of oil was in storage, it make a fierce blaze for a couple of hours. The structure was completely destroyed.

The fire broke out shortly after 6 p. m. and was under control before 8.30. Owing to the deep mud the fire brigade experienced much difficulty in placing their engines.

There was a large quantity of oil and other materials in the yards. This material was saved.

"KILLED" HIS WIFE.

Caught While Heading For the Canadian Border.

Newport, Vt., April 2.—Dwight Niles, of Newport, for whom the authorities had been searching since Saturday night, when he is alleged to have shot and killed his wife, was arrested at Richford yesterday and placed in the local lock-up. Shortly afterward he cut his throat with a jack-knife, but it is believed that the wound will not prove serious. Arrangements were made to have him brought here on the noon train, and it was expected that he would be given a hearing this afternoon.

Niles, who is said to have shot his wife at her father's home after she had refused to return to live with him following a separation, disappeared after the shooting. He headed for the Canadian line and Sunday boarded a freight train on the Canadian Pacific Railway, bound for Montreal. The conductor had heard of the murder, and becoming suspicious when the train reached Richford, notified the authorities. Niles made no resistance when arrested.

PETERBOROUGH TUESDAY APRIL 2 1907

A movement is now on foot to secure a change in the site of the Normal School, the belief being that the present site is inappropriate and unsuitable. The proposal is to secure land immediately south of the Dixon Park, the present proposed site, and induce the Government to erect the building on the new site.

An interesting feature of the annual vestry meeting of of St. John's Church last night was the presentation, on behalf of the Sunday School and congregation, to Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, of a handsome Grandfather Clock in recognition of their many years of faithful and efficient service in the Church and Sunday School.

Customs reports for the month of March issued to-day give the information that the average receipts during that month were considerably over $1,000 a day for 26 working days of the month. The total receipts for the month just closed amounted to more than $31,000.00, which is considered a good record.

Normal School Site Question Brought Up Once Again

Ald. Leary Objects to the Site Situated in Dixon Park—"We Would Never Forgive Ourselves If We Allowed It To Be Built There."

ALD. MORROW AGAINST IT

"It Would Mean Delay," He Said—Special Committee Visited the Vicinity This Morning—Options to be Secured on Lots.

The Normal School site question is not yet decided, although Contractor F. S. Whitham was ready to begin work this morning. The matter was re-opened at the meeting of the Council last night by Ald. Leary, who spoke strongly against the building of the school at the back of Dixon Park. He was anxious to see the Council secure the property on the brow of the hill.

Ald. Morrow opposed the step on the ground that it would mean delay, and for other reasons.

Ald. Leary had his way, however, and, on motion, a committee was appointed to look into the matter and call a special meeting of the Council if necessary.

This committee visited the property this morning and interviewed the owners.

Ald. Leary introduced the matter, expressing himself as being strongly against building the Normal School in the hollow of Dixon Park. The land on the top of the hill could be secured for $4,000 or $4,500. It would be an everlasting disgrace to have the school built behind the hill, and he was sure that they would never forgive themselves, nor would the citizens ever forget them if they allowed it to be done.

Ald. Bradburn and Wilson said that the expense of buying the land necessary would be great. A committee, they said, had gone into the matter.

Ald. Leary moved that a committee, composed of the chairman of the Property Committee, Ald. Bradburn, Morrow, Phelan, Wilson and the Mayor, be appointed to look into the matter, and that a meeting of the Council be called if necessary.

Ald. Morrow could not see what difference it would make. The committee had gone into the matter, and he did not think they would change their prices in any way. It was a question of whether the Council was prepared to vote $7,500 or not.

Ald. Leary's motion, which was seconded by Ald. Bradburn, was carried.

Ald. Morrow said that if there was to be any change in the site they should choose another site.

The special committee in company with several members of the Board of Education visited the vicinity this morning and went over the ground thoroughly. It was decided to secure options on the lots in question and two of the members of the council were authorized to do this at once. Until this is accomplished it will be impossible to do anything further. Those who visited the spot this morning were of the opinion that a site near the brow of the hill would be better than in the hollow of the park, but the question of what price would have to be paid must be settled before any steps can be taken.

A GREAT SUMMER FOR ADVERTISING; TON OF POSTERS GOES UP IN THE CITY

With the opening of April there will be a ton of posters placed on the billboards of the city, and Mr. Walter Stocker is erecting several new boards in order to be in a position to post all the paper which the advertisers who use this method of giving publicity to their goods have sent out. April first is the date on which the spring advertising matter is posted, and this year more billboard advertising will be done than ever before. It is of interest, too, in this connection, to note that not only will there be more billboard publicity, but that there has never been a spring when newspaper advertising space was in such demand. Few, if any of the large billboard advertisers depend on that form of publicity alone, the very great majority using it as supplementary to their newspaper advertising.

All the large soap, hat and other advertising, which has become familiar to those who watch the billboards will be seen again this year.

HORSES AND DRIVER TUMBLED OFF THE BRIDGE INTO THE CREEK

One Horse Got Frightened and Pulled Everything Into the Water Near Hamilton's Foundry---Some Willing Hands Assist in the Escape.

FUEL & CARTAGE CO'S TEAM

A team of horses and driver struggling in the cold waters of Patterson's creek was the scene which a large number in the vicinity of the Wm. Hamilton Works witnessed yesterday afternoon about five o'clock. The horses belonged to the Fuel and Cartage Company and were being driven across the bridge over the creek to the rear of the foundry when the accident occurred, which, although the outcome was not very serious, looked dark at one time for the safety of one of the animals.

In crossing the bridge which is not protected by any railings one of the horses shied at something and by its non-behaviour fell off, pulling the other horse, the wagon and driver into the creek.

The water in the centre of the stream where the team fell in was about 7 feet in depth and with one of the horses below the surface and the other crowding it down, its safety was unlooked for. A number of employees of the foundry saw the predicament the outfit was in and came to the rescue. The team was finally unhitched from the wagon, led to the shore and up the bank to safety.

Little damage accompanied the accident and outside of an extra cool bath the driver and horses were none the worse for their tumble off the bridge.

TAXES IN ARREARS MUST BE PAID

$3,466.61 is Yet to be Collected According to Official Statement.

At the Council meeting last night the tax collector, Mr. W. J. Green, presented the following statement:

Total amount on roll...	$125,742.68
Total amount collected...	119,141.32
Balance to be collected	$ 6,601.36

To this must be added estimated interest to November 15, of $89.02, also $350 additional to unpaid taxes at end of roll, making a total still to be collected of $7,040.38. From this must be deducted the dog taxes paid to the city ele k last May, $290; also discount at August 1 of $1,874.74; also estimated credit on back of roll of, say, $1,400, or a total of $3,573.77. This leaves still to be collected a total of $3,466.61. The tax collector wishes it distinctly understood that unless all in arrears of taxes do not pay within the next few days, legal proceedings will be taken. He is now sending out the last notice, and if not complied with the defaulter will have to appear in the Police Court.

MARCH CUSTOMS RECEIPTS EXCEEDED $1000 A DAY

The Growing Trade of Peterboro' Given Evidence to in the Receipts at the Local Customs House.

OVER $31,000 LAST MONTH

An average receipt of $1,228.41, for every day of the twenty-six working days of the month of March, is a good record for the Peterborough customs house, and it was attained last month. The total receipts for the month were $31,938.76, as compared with $30,405.79, for the corresponding month of 1906, an increase of $1,532.97 over the same month last year, a record which is very gratifying indeed.

These figures furnish proof of the fact that the trade of Peterborough is enjoying a steady growth, a growth which is emphasized all the more by the recollection of the fact that a few years ago the total receipts for the year did not amount to more than those reported for the month of March of this year.

THEY WILL ASSIST THE BOARD

A Committee Appointed to Try to Secure Sewerage for Dickson Co. Property.

At the meeting of the City Council last night a communication was read from the Board of Health stating that the Board had appointed a committee to look into the matter of how the Dickson Co.'s property on Waterford street was going to be sewered, and asking the Council to appoint a small committee to act with them in the matter. When the question came up in the Council there was a difference of opinion as to what committee the matter should be referred. Someone suggested the Board of Works, but Ald. Duncan thought that body had enough to do at present.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow, that a special committee, composed of Ald. Bradburn, Elliott and Phelan, be appointed.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the matter be referred to the Property Committee.

Ald. Wilson's motion was carried.

AN HOSPITAL MEDAL WHICH AN EXAMINER ADVERTISMENT FOUND

Evidence as to the efficiency of the Examiner's advertising columns is being furnished in abundance. Here is the latest. A young lady was visiting in the city for a few days last week and on Saturday afternoon, with the streets crowded with pedestrains lost her hospital medal, a gold ornament which she naturally prized very highly. She immediately came to the Examiner office and ordered an advertisement inserted. Events proved that this was a wise course. The issue of yesterday contained the advertisement and this morning at nine-thirty the lost medal was returned to this office.

CITY TEAMSTERS WANT MORE PAY

Ask the Council That Their Remuneration be Increased to $4 Per Day.

The corporation teamsters want a raise in pay. At the meeting of the Council last night a petition was read from 36 teamsters asking that the pay for team and driver per day be increased to $4. They pointed out that the cost of feed, harness, etc., has increased, and that in other towns and cities the teamsters are paid the sum asked for. The present pay is $3.25 per day. There was a large delegation of teamsters present at the meeting, and, on motion, they were heard.

Mr. Brisbane spoke on behalf of the teamsters, referring to the fact that the price of feed and everything in connection with the teaming business had gone up. In other places he said, the teamsters were receiving $4.

Mr. Fitzgerald also spoke in favour of the request.

Ald. Leary said that the Council could not consider the matter any way but favourably. They must see that they cannot go at $3.25. He had 8had a team in the employ of the corporation, and had gone in the hole as a result.

Ald. Elliott spoke in favour of the request, saying that it was a reasonable one.

Referred to the Board of Works.

LAKEFIELD LADY WHO IS A GREAT, GREAT GRANDMOTHER

She Is 99 Years of Age and a Representative of Five Generations—Her Sons From Western Ontrrio Pay Her a Visit.

A UNIQUE DISTINCTION

This morning Mr. Thos. Sage, who had spent a few days visiting his aged mother in Lakefield, left the Munro House for his home in Wroxeter in Western Ontario. Mr. Sage's mother is 99 years of age and holds the unique place in the Sage family of a great-great-grandmother. Mr. Thos. Sage is the fourth member of the family and is, himself 74 years of age. His brother, George, of Clinton, is at present visiting his mother at Lakefield.

This family tree holds the distinction of being one of the few families who can boast of having hale and hearty representatives of five generations, and the circumstance is probably unparalled in the province.

CHIMNEY BLAZE BROUGHT OUT THE BRIGADE

Had Been Burning Several Hours—Babcock Extinguisher Put Out the Fire.

The fire brigade was given a lively run last night about 8 o'clock to the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, where a fire was supposed to be in progress. A chimney in the Mervin block, over the Chinese laundry, was burning out, so that no water was necessary. By means of the Babcock extinguisher the fire was put out after it had been in progress during the greater part of the afternoon and evening.

VESTRY MEETINGS RECORD A YEAR OF PROSPERITY FOR CITY'S ANGLICAN CHURCHES

At the annual Vestry meetings held in the three Anglican churches in the city last night, the reports of the past year were presented, and showed that in every respect the year 1906 had been the most successful in their history. The memberships of the churches had increased, the financial resources were satisfactory and from all standpoints the year 1906 will be recorded as a year in which the Anglican churches of Peterborough made most satisfactory and gratifying progress.

An interesting feature of the meeting at St. Luke's was the announcement that the Rector would be given an assistant to help him in the rapidly growing work of the parish.

THE ANNUAL MEETING IN ST. JOHN'S

Satisfactory Financial Statement Presented—Demand for Sittings Beyond Accommodation—Officers Elected.

The annual Easter meeting of St. John's Vestry was held in the school house last night, with a large attendance of members. The Rector occupied the chair and after prayers the business of the meeting was entered upon.

After the reading of the minutes of last and adjourned vestry meetings, Mr. R. Fair, People's Warden, presented the Warden's statement of the finances of the year. This statement showed the receipts, including credit balance from 1906 of $495.85, to have been $5,012.61. Disbursements $4,608.19, leaving a credit balance of $404.19.

The report stated that sittings in the church were at a premium and it was impossible to accommodate all applicants.

The report also referred to the valuable services rendered by the organist and choirmaster, Mr. R. J. Devey, quite outside his official duties, in connection with the Brotherhood of St. Andrew and other church organizations.

A motion was adopted voting Mr. Devey a substantial honorarium as a recognition of the indefatigable services rendered in the capacities mentioned.

The report of the Church Warden was referred to the auditors.

Election Of Wardens

After a warm tribute of thanks to Mr. C. H. J. Mitchell, for his services during the past year, the rector appointed as his Warden, Mr. D. Hughes Charles.

Mr. C. H. J. Mitchell, the retiring Rector's Church Warden, was unanimously elected People's Warden.

Mr. W. H. Walkey, was unanimously re-elected vestry clerk for the coming year.

Messrs. H. Rush and W. R. Morris were appointed auditors.

The Vestry adjourned for two weeks.

GENERAL ACTIVITY AT ALL SAINT'S

Annual Vestry Meeting Held Last Night Most Satisfactory and Encouraging.

The annual vestry meeting of All Saints' congregation was held last night. Rev. Wm. Major presided, and a large number of the members of the church were present. From the various reports of the different societies, it was evident that the people are taking a deep interest in church affairs and are anxious for its success. The following read reports: Mr. A. E. Wilson, for the Boys' Brigade; Mrs. Gilbert, for the Chancel Guild; Miss Aggie Sabine, for the Girls' Guild; Mr. J. D. Manley, for the Sunday School; Mrs. Smith, for the Women's Guild, and Mrs. Gilbert, for the Woman's Auxiliary. The rector's report contained a general statement of the condition of the parish. He also reported on the Poor Fund, Choir Fund and Lectern Fund. All these statements were most satisfactory and showed that there is a general activity among the whole congregation.

Mr. Frank Wise, the People's Warden, read the warden's report, which was referred to the auditors.

The next business was the election of church wardens. The rector's warden for the ensuing year is Mr. Jas. Mulholland the people's warden, Mr. Jas. Edgar. The lay delegates to the Synod were chosen as follows:—Messrs. J. H. McClellan, Jas. Edgar and G. L. Maugha. A special Finance Committee was also elected to co-operate with the wardens. The members of this are Messrs. Adam Dawson, T. H. Hooper and W. Butler.

The report of the Junior Auxiliary included mention of the donation of a white marble font, which was dedicated one week ago. It was a handsome ornament and was procured through Mr. T. W. Moore.

Mr. Adam Dawson moved a vote of thanks to the rector for his excellent services during the past year and for his many considerations and

ONE ENGLISHMAN WHO WAS WELL TREATED BY CANADIAN

In view of the fact that recently considerable has been heard respecting unfair treatment accorded Englishmen by Canadians, who are said to take advantage of their lack of knowledge of conditions here, the following story from the Clinton News Era will be read with interest, showing as it does that all the Canadians are not of the class sometimes described by indignant Englishmen, and indicating, too, that some things depend on the Englishmen themselves. The article referred to is as follows:—

It is not a usual thing for a man to pay hired help more than the man agrees to work for, and when such a thing does happen it is worthy of mention. Last spring Mr. James Southcombe got an English immigrant boy—a mere lad—who agreed to work a year for $100 and his board. The boy faithfully put in his time, and proved to be an exceptionally reliable and competent worker. He left a few days ago for the West, much to the regret of Mr. Southcombe, but his employer showed his appreciation of him by giving him $50 more than agreed upon.

HON. MR. EMMERSON WILL SUE OFFENDING NEWSPAPERS

Toronto World and Fredericton Gleaner Will Have to Defend Suit for Libel for Publishing Alleged False Statements.

HE WILL OFFER TO RESIGN

Toronto Globe Special.

Ottawa, April 1.—Hon. H. R. Emmerson telegraphed to-day to counsel in Toronto, and Fredericton, N.B., to institute at once legal proceedings for libel against the Toronto World and The Fredericton Gleaner, which published statements last week derogatory to Mr. Emmerson's moral character.

These statements, he declares, are false and libellous.

The same action will also be taken against the Halifax Herald and all other newspapers which have published the alleged libel or the same statement.

When the House meets to-morrow afternoon Mr. Emmerson will make an emphatic denial of the truth of the story published in The Gleaner, and reproduced in the Toronto World, and will state that the law will be invoked to clear the aspersions cast upon his character.

It is also understood that he will offer to Sir Wilfrid Laurier his resignation as Minister of Railways and Canals, so that the Government may in no wise be embarrassed by the present unfortunate situation and by the slanders circulated against him.

WEDDING BELLS

WELCH-RICKEY

A very pretty and quiet wedding was solemnized at All Saints' Church by the rector, Rev. Wm. Major, this morning at 7.15 o'clock, in which the contracting parties were Miss Mabel Adelaide Rickey, daughter of Mr. Geo. Rickey, and Mr. Ernest Alexander Welch, son of Mr. Thos. Welch, of Otonabee. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a few immediate friends, and the young couple were unattended. The bride was charmingly attired in a suit of grey lady's cloth with hat to matot and wore a pearl necklace and pendant, the gift of the groom. After the wedding they left on the local train for Port Arthur, where they will reside.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful presents, giving evidence of the esteem in which she is held by her many friends. Mrs. Welch was a staunch member of All Saints' Church, and was connected with the Ladies' Guild, the choir and Sunday School, of which she was pianist. She will be greatly missed by a host of young friends, who extend to her every happiness in her married life.

A large, beautiful clock was received from the Senior Girls' Guild, and individual remembrances from the members of the choir.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDED THE OPENING

Floor of Roller Rink in Excellent Condition for the Skating.

The Charlotte street roller skating rink opened last night for the summer season with a large crowd in attendance. The floor which has been clear of curling ice for more than a week was completely dried and was in excellent condition for roller skating. Messrs. Sheridan & Henderson, the managers, have secured an electric motor planing machine from Toronto and will soon have the floor as smooth as it is possible to have it.

The band was present and furnished excellent music for the many skaters. The rink will, from now on be open every morning, afternoon and evening during the summer with a band in attendance during the evening.

WATER WAGON OUT FOR THE FIRST TIME

Was Hailed With Delight by the Merchants This Morning.

All doubts as to the arrival of spring were dispelled this morning when the water-wagon made its first appearance of the year and waged warfare on the dust that has been making a miniature Sahara of George street for the past few days. The appearance of the sprinkler in the business section was hailed with delight by the merchants, whom the dust has greatly inconvenienced, while the general public were equally pleased. Ald. Duncan, chairman of the Board of Works, said that the delay was not the fault of the Board.

FOR PREVENTION OF STRIKES

A bill under the title of the "Industrial Desputes Investigation Act" has passed both the Commons and the Senate and will doubtless become law. The industries covered by the act include all that may be fairly classed as public utilities. This act applies to strikes and lock-outs in all mines or public service utilities, including agencies of transportation or communication, such as railways whether operated by steam, electricity or other motive power, steamships, telegraph, telephone lines and gas and electric light, water and power works. It also contains provisions whereby a dispute in any industry or trade whether belonging to the classes specified in the Act or not, may be, on consent of the parties brought within the provisions of the Act.

The Act provides for the constitution of boards of conciliation and investigation, to deal with any dispute between employers and employees which cannot be settled without recourse to a strike or lockout. Two of the members of the board are to be appointed on the recommendation of the parties to the dispute, the third member by the two so appointed, or by the Minister of Labour in case they fail to agree. The boards are given power to summon witnesses, take evidence under oath, compel the production of documents and to commit for contempt; in short, are given all the powers of ordinary courts in dealing with civil matters.

The members of the board are to have it in their power to effect a settlement of the dispute between the parties. If they fail to effect a settlement then they are to report fully upon the cause and nature of the dispute and make the recommendations which in their opinion would lead to its settlement on a fair and equitable basis. Until disputes have been referred to the board and the board has fully investigated and reported upon them, it is made an offence for employers to lock their employees out, or for the employees to go on strike. After a dispute has been made the subject of a reference to the board and the board has made its recommendations the parties are free to accept or reject its findings.

The Act makes it an offence for any person to incite others to declare or continue a strike or lockout prior to or pending a reference of a dispute to a board of conciliation and investigation under the Act. If this great purpose of the bill—the prevention of actual strikes—is attained, it will be a very fortunate thing for labour, capital and the public at large in Canada. Experience may determine that changes are desirable just in the same way as experience in the past in the Government's efforts to prevent or terminate strikes has made changes in the previous laws very necessary. It is a splendid indication of the Government's sincerity in wrestling for some years with a problem that has hung like a dark cloud over the industrial future of the Dominion. One of the first essentials to industrial progress is settled conditions of labour, without which it will be difficult to secure capital to turn to account the many opportunities that present themselves. The passing of this measure is a good omen; it represents the general desire of the Canadian people to avoid strikes and at the same time to see that justice is done to each party to an industrial dispute.

The Mail and Empire gets much comfort out of meagre materials. It asserts that George Graham's policy is gradually alienating his supporters. This wholesale assumption is founded upon the fact that the Seaforth Expositor does not favour Mr. Graham's proposition to supply free school books. Extracting sunbeams from cucumbers, is easy, compared to the organ's large optimism.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Ottawa Electric Railway Company rather discredits the saying that corporations have no souls. It has raised the salaries of its employees ten cents per day, without being asked. It may be added that this line of action is not patented, nor copyrighted, and any street railway company is at perfect liberty to follow the example of the Ottawa company.

The Railway Commission has issued a summary report of accidents upon Canadian railways covering the period from February 1, 1904, to March 31, 1903. During that time 402 persons were killed and 142 persons were injured. The casualties on the great railway systems are given as follows: On the Grand Trunk 167 were killed and 40 injured, on the Canadian Pacific 185 were killed and 59 injured, and on the Canadian Northern 27 were killed and 24 injured. Of the total killed 109 were trespassing on the track, 42 were killed at level crossings, 38 employees were killed while shunting, and 15 passengers were killed while attempting to board trains while in motion. Fifteen passengers and nine employees were killed and twenty-five passengers and three employees were injured in head-on collisions. From rear-end collisions seventeen passengers and fifteen employees were killed. Of the total fatalities seventy-three were passengers, 168 employees and 161 are classed as "other persons."

Ottawa comes into the line light rather strongly these days. Not to mention occasional political scandals, the capital is generally doing something to get itself talked about, and not always to its discredit, either. The other day the Street Railway Company raised the salaries of its employees without being solicited, and a day or two ago it "broke" the record for generosity of its citizens, by raising $203,000 for a new Y.M.C.A. building in the space of fourteen days, or an average for that time of over $14,500 per day. While a great deal of this result is to be attributed to the Christian spirit of the citizens of Ottawa, the fact of the money contributed being a good investment, may have accounted for a good deal of the open handed liberality manifested. For the past thirty years, the Young Men's Christian Association has been doing a work in Ottawa, whose value has been splendidly recognized by the contribution of $203,000 for its purposes. The work of this organization is no longer considered as antagonistic to, but, on the contrary, cooperative with, the work of the churches. The churches, moreover, may perhaps attribute a great deal of their increased interest they take in the younger members of their congregations to the influence of the Y.M.C.A.

MANY GRANOLITHIC WALKS TO BE CONSTRUCTED THIS YEAR

Board of Works Outlines Its Programme at Meeting of the Council Last Night---Report Was Adopted---All Sewer Work to be Done by Day Labour.

The Board of Works Committee through its chairman, Ald. Duncan, presented a lengthy report at the council meeting last night. It included a long list of streets upon which granolithic sidewalks are to be constructed this season. The only clause upon which there was any discussion was that enacting that all sewers should be done by day labour. There was opposition to this on the part of some of the members of the council, who thought that tenders should be asked for and the City Engineer tender as well. If his tender was the lowest or as low as the lowest tender the work could then be done by day labour. The matter came to a vote and was a deadlock, the Mayor giving the deciding vote in favour of the original report.

Following is the report:—

Granolithic Sidewalks

That notice be given of the intention of the Council to construct granolithic sidewalks on the following streets or parts of streets as local improvements under section 678 of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1903, and the other provisions of the said Act and bylaws of the city relating to local improvements and applicable thereto, the number of annual assessments to be twenty, namely:

Bethune street, west side, from London street to McDonel street.

Dalhousie street, south side, from Stewart street to Rubidge street.

Maitland avenue, west side, from King street to Charlotte street.

St. Joseph street, west side, from Charlotte street to Gilmour street.

Babb's Lane, west side, from Gilmour street to Homewood avenue.

That notice be given of the intention of the council to construct sewers as local improvements on the following streets or parts of streets, the number of special assessments therefor to be thirty, namely:—

Rogers street, from Hunter street north to the northerly limit of lot No. 3, east of Rogers street.

Robinson street, from Mark street to Burnham street.

Paterson street, from Park street to the westerly limit of lot No. 21, plan No. 50.

Stewart street from McDonel street to a point 167 feet south of McDonel street.

Downie street, from London street to Smith street.

Smith street, from Downie street to Reid street.

Reid street, from Smith street to Stewart street.

Dublin street from Water street to a point 115 feet east of Water street.

Driscoll Terrace, from Hunter street to Cricket Place.

Cricket Place, from Driscoll Terrace to the eastern limit of Cricket Place.

Thomas street, from King street to Bolivar street.

Harvey street, from Smith street to Antrim street, and on Antrim street from Harvey street to Water street.

That petitions for the construction of sewers as local improvements on the following streets being sufficiently signed, be granted:—

Parnell street, from Park street to the westerly limit of Parnell street, on Park street, from Parnell street to Romaine street, and Romaine street from Park street to Aylmer street.

Benson avenue, from Smith street to Dixon Park.

Hart avenue, from Paterson street to a point 180 feet south of Paterson street.

Park street from Rink street to Albert street, and Albert street, from Park street to Lafayette avenue.

That petitions for the construction of granolithic sidewalks as local improvements on the following streets, being sufficiently signed, be granted:—

Harvey street, east side, from Smith street to Antrim street.

Dalhousie street, north side, from Rubidge street to Reid street.

Inverlea street, north side, from Water street to the easterly line of lot No. 42, plan No. 70.

Inverlea street, south side, from Water street to Dennistoun avenue.

Charlotte street, north side, from 8 feet east of the line between lots 3 and 4 north of Charlotte street, and west of George street to 44 feet 4 inches east of the said line.

Charlotte street, south side, from 3 feet east of the line between lots 3 and 4 south of Charlotte street and west of George street to 44 feet 4 inches east of the said line.

Reid street, south side, from Smith street to Victoria avenue.

That upon the Dickson Company furnishing an agreement approved of by the City Solicitor, consenting to the city grading and water tabling the street herein referred to and putting it in a safe and proper condition for traffic to the satisfaction of the City Engineer, and agreeing to pay the cost of such as certified by the said Engineer, the Board recommend that the Council pass a by-law consenting to the registration of a plan showing a street 45 feet wide on the property at the corner of Burnham and Hunter streets.

That the Chairman and Engineer be instructed to have the streets watered as soon as practicable, especially in the central district.

That the following part of streets be taken from the southern street watering district and added to the central district:—Sherbrooke street, from George to Aylmer street; King street from George to Aylmer street, and Aylmer street from Charlotte to Sherbrooke street, in lieu of streets added to the southern district, and that the contract for the southern district be awarded to W. J. Collins at a price not exceeding $450.

That a charge of $17.56 against Mrs. Burns for a sidewalk be written off.

That the city clerk be authorized to have the notice of the intention of the council to construct local improvements served in accordance with the law and that the city treasurer be authorized to pay the expense on the certificate of the clerk.

Sewer By Day Labour

That all sewers and drains to be constructed during this season be constructed by day labour under the supervision of the city engineer.

After some discussion on the last clause, Ald. Broadburn moved that the sewer work be let by contract and that the city engineer also tender and if his tender is lower than those of the contractors or as low as the lowest, then the sewers be done by day labour. Ald. Elliott seconded the motion.

A vote on the amendment showed six in favour of the amendment and six against it. The Mayor voted in favour of the Board of Works report,

Word has been received in the city of the death in Edmonton, Alta., of John Long, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Long, of Edmonton. His death, which occurred on March 25, was caused by typhoid fever.

The deceased is survived by three brothers and three sisters. They are Bert and Arthur, of Edmonton; William, of Buckhorn; Florence and Ida, and Mrs. Sam. Jordan, of Peterborough. Messrs. Harry and Jas. Long, of this city, were uncles, and Mrs. Tully and Mrs. Wm. Hinchcliffe, of Peterborough, were aunts of the deceased, who was unmarried.

Grace Coughlin and Jas. Sullivan were very good, as was also Charles C. Patterson.

NO JUNK LICENSE TO THE UNLEARNED

So Said Magistrate Dumble This Morning at Police Court—C.P.R. Conductor Fined $20.

John Barnes, conductor of the way freight which blocked George street sometime ago for 8 minutes, 3 minutes beyond the limit, was fined $20 to be paid in 10 days. Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the defendant.

Three drunks occupied the prisoner's box this morning. Two pleaded not guilty and were remanded until this afternoon at 4 o'clock, the other, Benj. Hobson, admitted his guilt and was fined $2 and costs, to be paid at once.

John Boig, a local junk dealer had a complaint that the Jews on Charlotte street, stole some rubber and lead from him on Sunday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock. The information accused Abraham Low, but the latter was innocent, so a new information had to be drawn up against one of the Mandelt Bros. There was a little fun in court as the Orientals tried to explain matters regarding the case. It will be heard "again soon."

Some mention was made regarding entering purchases in the junk books and Magistrate Dumble stated that no dealer should be given a license who could not write English well.

AWARD HAS BEEN HANDED IN

Mr. Jas. Bogue Entitled to be Paid $1,818 by the City in Connection With the East City Sewer.

THE DIVER'S REPORT GIVEN

The award of Mr. A. W. Spence, the arbitrator between the city and Contractor Jas. Bogue, in connection with the latter's claim for extras in the building of the outfall sewer in Ward No. 5, was read at the meeting of the council last night, and gives Mr. Bogue the sum of $1818. The matter had been in dispute for some time but as both parties agreed to accept the award of the arbitrator, it is settled at last. The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

The full report of Arbitrator Spence is as follows:

Pursuant to the terms of an agreement of reference made on Feb. 25, 1907, between the corporation of the city of Peterborough and James Bogue, contractor of the said city, with respect to claims for extras, detentions and interest in connection with this contract, for the construction of an outfall sewer in ward No. 5 of the city, I beg to report I had a competent diver examine the cast iron outlet pipe into the lak The report of the diver I herewith transmit.

Having also carefully considered the evidence adduced before me with respect to levels previously taken, as well as the plan, profile and specifications submitted, I award and order that the said James Bogue is entitled to be paid by the said corporation the sum of one thousand eight hundred and eighteen dollars, in full satisfaction and discharge for all extras, detentions and interest claimed by him; and I further order that the corporation pay my fee and costs as arbitrator, as per bill attached, and the said Jas. Bogue pay the costs and expenses of the diver, amounting to $27.

Respectfully submitted.

A. W. SPENCE,
Arbitrator.

M. Mulcahey of Lindsay, the diver employed, wrote as follows to Mr. Spence:

Acting under your instructions, I made an examination of sewer pipe, under the waters of the Little Lake, and found that the joints connecting the pipes were properly connected, and also sufficient bearing under the pipe to support it. In my opinion, the work has been well done. At the end of the pipe I found a considerable quantity of sawdust, on top of slabs and other refuse. This does not now interfere with the discharge of the sewer.

MR. AND MRS. R. M. DENNISTOUN HONOURED BY ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

A Pleasing Feature of the Annual Vestry Meeting Last Night Was Presentation of Handsome Grandfather Clock in Recognition of Valued Services---An Address Accompanied the Gift.

Last night another link was forged in the chain of farewells being cast around Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun, or—as one may vary the figure—another link broken in the ties that bind them to Peterborough. But these ties are not broken, except in a material sense, for in spirit they are renewed and strengthened.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun, were the subjects of a delightful demonstration of the deep feeling of respect and affection that exists between them and the congregation of St. John's. A large number assembled in the School House at the conclusion of the meeting of the Vestry, Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun, and also Mrs. James Dennistoun, and the Misses Dennistoun being present.

The Rector, Rev. Canon Davidson, called the gathering to attention and, in a few feeling words, spoke of how hard it must be for Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun to undergo so many farewells and to break so many fond associations; but this was offset by the feeling that their work and the associations they had formed, were appreciated. They will feel that they will go from Peterborough with the best wishes of all. Mr. Dennistoun had lived his life in Peterborough as the representative of high principles, and the man who has principle behind his actions, need not look back with regret on his past. They had had many breaches in the church circle, which were keenly felt, but none more so than that they were now contemplating. He also feelingly referred to Mrs. Dennistoun's connection and associations with St. John's church. Rev. Mr. Davidson called upon Dr. Boucher to read the following address, as putting into form, in part, the feelings of himself and the congregation:

address to Mr. dennistoun

R. M. Dennistoun, Esq.

Dear Mr. Dennistoun,—We, the rector, church wardens, congregation, Sunday school teachers and pupils of St. John's, Peterborough, take this means of expressing, as fully as words will permit, our deep appreciation of the loss to be sustained by your departure from Peterborough, necessarily involving the severance of your relations with the church, Sunday school and congregation of St. John's.

The nature of the loss we feel, though its extent cannot be measured by words, is only partially indicated by recalling the fidelity of your services in all the relations of church activity. Your greatest work has, perhaps, been done in connection with the Sunday school. In the capacity of teacher of the Men's Bible Class for nearly a third of a generation, your work has borne fruit, visible in part, in the strong and vigorous chapter of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, now a valued part of the church's organized equipment, and your services as superintendent of the Sunday school have been of the most faithful nature.

As church warden for two years, as lay delegate to Synod, as chairman of the Building Committee for the schoolhouse extension, and as a much-sought advisor in all emergencies, you have had practical evidence of the confidence of the congregation of St. John's in your ability and zeal for the promotion of the several interests of the church, and it is our greatest pleasure, at the present crisis in our mutual relations, to testify that the confidence reposed in you has been abundantly justified by the faithfulness and value of the services you have so freely and successfully given.

When we recollect all these things, when we recall that your material aid in support of the work of the church has also been generously extended, and when we add, as we may well do, that your life amongst us and in the community has fulfilled our ideals of a Christian gentleman, our sense of loss is indeed great.

What adds to the poignancy of our regret is the departure, at the same time, of Mrs. Dennistoun, who, perhaps in a less public and active way, has also won our hearty appreciation of her good work in very many ways in the interests of the church. As daughter of the late revered Rector, her departure represents, to many of us, the severance of especially significant ties.

We thus emphasize our loss through your departure from Peterborough, for it is only by dwelling upon what we thereby lose that we can best voice our sense of the great services you have rendered, and of the large place both yourself and Mrs. Dennistoun have had in the church life and activities of St. John's and in the hearts of the congregation.

We trust and pray that in your new home the lives of both may be prosperous and happy—honourable and good we are sure they will be—and that the exercise of the same qualities which have marked your lives and ennobled your characters in Peterborough will win for you, in your new place of residence, as many and as warm friends as you leave behind you in Peterborough and dear old St. John's.

As a memorial of our good wishes and high regards, and as a memento of St. John's Church, Sunday school and congregation, we ask your acceptance for yourself and Mrs. Dennistoun, of this grandfather's clock.

(Signed on behalf of the congregation,)

J. C. DAVIDSON, Rector.
CHAS. H. J. MITCHELL, Rector's Warden.
ROBERT FAIR, People's Warden.

Peterborough, April 1, 1907.

Mr. Dennistoun, who seemed to be deeply moved, in reply, said that the words of the address and the sentiments expressed, and the magnificent clock presented, were more than ample reward for anything he and his wife had done, even had it been much greater than was so kindly intimated in the address. The clock would be their proudest and most cherished possession, and he hoped that in the future some little chap of the clan Dennistoun would be able to proudly point to it, and say, "This is grandfather's clock." It was hard to say farewell and to gather up words to give effect to one's feelings upon such an occasion. He spoke for his wife and himself, when he said that their feelings of gratitude and appreciation were too deep for words to express. As the work for St. John's was referred to, that was finished, but their work for the church was not finished; other places would present other opportunities for usefulness. His work with the young men had been his delight. He had tried to live up to the belief in the necessity of continuous and progressive work for the young. He had tried to carry this out, both in connection with the Sunday school and the Children's Aid Society. He was glad to see the Sunday school with which he was so long connected, in a flourishing condition. He was also glad to bear testimony to the faithful and fruitful work done by the Sunday school teachers, whose sacrifice and deeds were worthy of more direct recognition than was generally given them. The address had referred to the work of his wife, and he was free to say that nothing that he had been able to do would have been done without her encouragement and influence. She was a true daughter of the Church, and a true daughter of St. John's. Her heart and dearest wishes had been with St. John's, and this attitude had been a lesson and incentive to himself. It was hard for her to say good-bye. She had been baptized in St. John's; both he and she had been confirmed there, and married there, and there never would be, nor could be, any church so dear to them, and containing so many good friends, as St. John's. While it was hard to part, they did so with the feeling that they carried with them only the good wishes of the people of St. John's.

The present referred to was a magnificent grandfather's clock, in a mahogany case of massive and chaste design, standing about seven and a half feet in height. It was provided with gilt dial to mark the hours, and a superposed dial indicating the moon's phases, and a cathedral gong. It is a very beautiful piece of horological workmanship, and will endure from generation to generation.

During the evening Miss Helen Davies brightened the happy proceedings with two beautifully sung solos.

At the conclusion of the presentation ceremonies the assembled people took the opportunity of personally saying good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun, who can certainly carry away with them a deep sense of the warm place they hold in the hearts and affections of the people of St. John's.

SESSION APPOINTED SOPRANO SOLOIST

The chairman of the board of managers, of St. Andrew's church called to-day and drew attention to a slight error in the report of the appointment of a soloist in St. Andrew's. The report made it appear that the managers had appointed the soloist whereas the praise service is under the supervision of the session and accordingly yesterday's appointment was made by the direction of the ruling elder Mr. Wm. Fowler, and with the consent of the minister. Of course it is needless to say that the managers, elders and people are much pleased with the appointment.

BE NO PERMANENT ASSESSORS

Property Committee's Recommendation to That Effect Was Defeated By Council.

BUILDING PERMIT QUESTION

The Property Committee's recommendation to the effect that the present assessors be appointed permanently, and that they be required to countersign building permits, met with strong opposition when brought in with the report of the Committee of the Whole last night. The majority of the members were strongly against the appointment of permanent assessors, and, after a short discussion, it was moved by Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. Leary, that the clauses referring to the appointment of permanent assessors and requiring all building permits to be countersigned by them, be struck out. In doing so, Ald. Morrow said that enough expense had already been put on. The motion carried by a vote of 8 to 4. The amended report was passed by the council later as follows:

1. We considered the bylaw to provide for the issuing of building permits, and amended it to provide that it will not apply to alterations and repairs the cost of which do not exceed $100.

2. We recommend that the contract for the rental and care of the refuse ground be awarded to Thos. Williams for the ensuing year at $400 for the year.

The manufacturers of DIAMOND DYES, for their own interests, and for the welfare and protection of the ladies of Canada, find it necessary to denounce the reports circulated by makers of common and imitation dyes that their products are put up according to the formulae of the DIAMOND DYES. Such claims made by makers of worthless dyes are dishonest and misleading.

To insure complete success in home colouring work, buy only the time-tried and reliable DIAMOND DYES.

This month The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P.Q., will send free to any address new Diamond Dye Booklet and pretty Souvenir Card for Baby. You should have them.

Because his wife would not let him give their infant son a coat of green paint in honour of St. Patrick, James Coombs, of Darien, Conn., went out and painted the town another colour on Sunday and was arrested. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coombs cried in court Tuesday, when Judge Wilmott fined him $7 and costs on one count and gave him 30 days in jail on the second. Recognizing the patriotic spirit that prompted Coombs to paint his boy, Judge Wilmott remitted the fine and suspended the sentence of imprisonment.

EXCELLENT CONCERT GIVEN BY CONSERVATORY TALENT

A Delightful Musical Programme Presented by Talented Artists at Charlotte Street Church Last Night.

WORK OF CONSERVATORY.

When the Peterborough Conservatory of Music gives a concert the public expects something above the average and they are not often disappointed. The excellence of the work being done by the Conservatoyr is so well known that it seems superfluous to refer to it here. It was expected that the Easter concert given by the Conservatory of Music at the Charlotte Street Church, under the auspices of the Young Men's Guild, would be a success, and such it proved to be. The function took place in the Sunday school hall and a large number enjoyed the splendid programme that was given. Those who contributed were Mr. Henri J. Lautz, of Toronto, tenor soloist; Miss Lena Drechsler Adamson, of Toronto, violiniste; the Conservatory orchestra, the Conservatory Madrigal Club. The accompaniste was Mr. T. George, whose accomplished work at the piano added greatly to the pleasure of the evening. Mr. Lautz is, perhaps, the peer of any tenor soloist ever heard in Peterborough. He has a splendid voice of great range and rare sweetness and which shows the effects of the excellent vocal training he has had. In his several numbers last night he was listened to with delight, and encores had to be frequently responded to.

Miss Adamson at once won herself into the favour of her audience by her charming playing. Her numbers, some of them exceedingly difficult compositions, were beautifully rendered and hearty applause evinced the appreciation of those present.

The Conservatory orchestra shows constant improvement, and Mr. Gliddon must be complimented on the praiseworthy organization that he now directs. Credit is also due the members of the orchestra for their excellent work. The playing of the orchestra was a feature of last night's concert. The Madrigal Club as usual was a great favourite and was never heard to better advantage. There is now little room for improvement.

The accompaniste Mr. George was [illegible] and his work also elicited admiration.

FIRE ESCAPE BY-LAW IS OPPOSED

Aldermen Thought it Should be Carefully Considered Before Being Passed.

The bylaw introduced by Ald. Johnston at the meeting of the council last night to compel the owners of all three story buildings, in which there are more than ten persons at any time, and from which there is only one means of exit, to provide fire escapes of iron or steel, was opposed by Ald. Morrow and Bradburn. Ald. Morrow said that he had not had time to consider the bylaw, and moved seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that the matter be deferred for one month.

Ald. Bradburn thought that the City Engineer should be allowed to use his discretion in the matter. He said there were many buildings where a fire escape was not necessary and where a ladder would do as well. He referred to places which had smaller places near them, on to the roofs of which the occupants could make their escape in the case of a fire.

Ald. Morrow's motion was not passed, but a motion to leave the matter over until the next meeting was carried.

CHILDREN SAID TO HAVE BEEN BADLY USED

Mr. Geo. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, went to Havelock to-day to investigate two cases of alleged ill-use of children by their parents. The families live near Havelock, and complaints have been received by the authorities here to the effect that the children were being ill-treated and neglected. Mr. Cochrane will visit the homes to-day, and if he finds that things are not as they should be it is likely that the population of the society's shelter here will be increased by the addition of a number of children.

PLATE GLASS WINDOW BROKEN WITH STONES

Boys Playing on the Street Corner do Considerable Damage.

Since the snow has melted from the earth, the children playing on the street corners have taken to throwing stones instead of snowballs, so that plate-glass windows are somewhat in danger. The other day a large window in the butcher shop at the corner of Rubidge and Dalhousie streets, occupied by Mr. R. W. Carter, was broken with stones thrown by some small boys. These "little ones" should be warned by their parents to exercise more care when participating in their games on the city streets.

THE FIREMEN HAD NO COMPLAINT

Expressed Themselves as Satisfied With Rules and Regulations of Brigade.

THE REPORT WAS PASSED

The anticipated kick on the part of the members of the fire brigade, against the action of the council in passing bylaws providing for the appointment of a foreman for the fire-hall, and for the government of the fire brigade, did not materialize last night, although Chief Rutherford and other members of the brigade were present at the meeting of the council. The matter was discussed at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole held down stairs, and the representatives of the brigade were summoned before the committee and given a copy of the rules and regulations, with which they retired to the Mayor's office to read over the bylaw. The result was that they expressed their satisfaction with the rules governing the brigade.

It was decided to take the matter up in Committee of the Whole and Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, read his report, which was approved of by the committee. The only discussion was over the clauses providing for the appointing of a foreman, and that dealing with the rules and regulations of the brigade.

Ald. Stevenson asked if there was any kick on the part of the firemen. He had heard it stated that the whole brigade would resign if the clause were passed.

The Mayor said that no kick had been made to him.

Ald. Morrow wanted to know if the appointment and the consequent expense was necessary. They had an engineer already.

Ald. Johnston explained that the appointment was made in order to have the fire hall in better order; there had been mismanagement, he said, in the past.

Ald. Phelan asked how there had been mismanagement.

The chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee explained that in the past the council had some authority, and the brigade had some authority, and between the two some things had not been attended to.

Ald. Bradburn asked if it were the intention to look after the entire wiring system of the city.

"As far as it is possible," replied the Fire, Water and Light chairman.

Ald. Leary said that the least the committee could have done was to have invited the chief of the brigade to be present when the appointment was made.

Ald. Phelan agreed with the statement.

Ald. Morrow said that he had read the bylaw carefully, and he thought that the committee had made it most complete. The only question in his mind was whether or not the expense could be avoided. He thought if they advertised for tenders to look after the system they could get a man who would do the work for $150 or $200.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that chief Rutherford and the firemen be heard in connection with the report.

The deputation consisted of Chief Rutherford, Firemen J. Metheral, J. Gibbs and C. Butcher.

Ald. Johnston read the clauses in connection with the fire brigade. He said that it was not taking away any authority from the Chief in connection with fires; he had as much authority as he ever had. There had been no change whatever in connection with the bylaw giving the rules and regulations of the fire department.

The brigade were given a copy of the regulations and afterwards expressed themselves as well satisfied with them. The report in its entirety was carried when presented in council.

INSCRIPTIONS ON MEMORIAL TABLETS

Erected by Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Dennistoun in Memory of Their Parents.

As additional information it may be mentioned that the inscription upon the handsome brass Celtic mural cross erected in St. John's, is as follows:

"John Walton Romeyn Beck, M. A., Rector of Peterborough, 1856-1889. Canon of St. Alban's cathedral. Born at Albany, N. Y., 13th July, 1827. Died, Peterborough, Canada, 7th December, 1889."

This cross and the mural tablet, erected to the memory of the late Rev. J. W. R. and Mrs. Beck, were placed by their daughters, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun. The inscription on the mural brass tablet is as follows:

"In loving memory of Margaret, widow of the late Rev. Canon Beck, M. A., born August 1st, 1826, at Newbridge, Ireland. Died Feb. 24th, 1903, at Peterborough, Canada. 'She hath wrought a good work.'"

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS.—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

WAS HONOURED BY HIS FRIENDS

Mr. Harry Roddy Presented With Fountain Pen on Leaving for the West.

Mr. Harry Roddy, the pitcher of the champion Charlotte street guild baseball team, was made the recipient of a presentation from the members of the guild baseball and hockey teams on Saturday night on the eve of his departure from the city. Mr. Roddy has been of the greatest assistance to the ball team, his clever pitching being responsible, to a considerable degree, for the many victories won by the club. The members of the two teams gathered at the residence of Mr. Roddy on Saturday night and presented him with a gold-mounted fountain pen and a suitable address. The address was read by Mr. N. E. McWilliams, the manager of the ball team, while the presentation was made by Mr. Fred Heselip.

Mr. Roddy left yesterday for Fort William, where he has secured a good position.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BASEBALL CLUB

Will be Held To-night—Big Attendance is Looked For.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough senior baseball club is called for to-night at 8 o'clock at the Little Windsor Hotel. All those interested in baseball are asked to be present. The prospects before the team this year are very bright. Although the club has been frozen out of the Midland League, the fans may rest assured that they will see some first-class ball this season.

COW BOYS' LIFE TOLD IN MOVING PICTURES

A Refined Entertainment at Scott's Coliseum Last Night—Illustrated Songs

The re-opening of Scott's Coliseum last evening attracted a large number to that popular amusement house where a refined programme of moving pictures and illustrated songs was presented. The feature of the evening was a stirring western drama read from the canvas in moving pictures. The various scenes were very interesting, picturing in a realistic manner life in the West, when the Indians and their enemies, the daring cowboys, roamed the unsettled wilds. The pictured drama was all that could be desired, and elicited warm applause from the audience. The illustrated songs were of a pleasing character, and particularly the one entitled, "When the Whip-poor-will Sings, Marguerite."

LACROSSE

NO MEETING.

The meeting of the Executive of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, called for last night, did not materialize as there was not a quorum present. The many attractions last night were responsible for the small attendance.

• • • •

Grouped with the Maitlands, Toronto Junction and Young Torontos in the intermediate C.L.A. series, the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will have their work cut out for them and will be able to give the people of Peterborough the fastest lacrosse seen here in years. There is the greatest enthusiasm being evinced in lacrosse this year, and the fans are delighted with the prospects of a fast team. With the players now residing in the city, and with the addition of Paddy McDonough, the crack Beaverton home player, the team will be one of the strongest that ever wore Peterborough colours. Lacrosse has always been popular in Peterborough, and with the rosy prospects before the club, the season of 1907 should be one long remembered in lacrosse circles.

FOOTBALL

About twenty football sports assembled at the Central Park last night and participated in an excellent practice. The boys are rounding into fine shape and with the new material turning out the Quakers should be able to chose a winning team. The next practice will be held to-morrow night at 6.45.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE FROM NOISY CORNERS

Cement Company's Whistle Has Commenced to Blow—Personal Items.

Noisy Corners, Otonabee, April 2.—Mr. Harry Hatherly visited his sister in Norwood last week.

The community around Noisy Corners is becoming more city-like since the whistle at the cement company's new blue clay fields has begun to blow.

Mr. Wm. Hatherly lost a valuable cow last week.

The roads in this vicinity are in a very bad condition this week and even some spots are actually dangerous to occupants of vehicles.

Miss Lilian Hatherly has been visiting friends in Cavan during the past two weeks.

Mr. Michael Hallihan brought home a fine herd of cattle the other day, which he purchased from Mr. Robert Hefferman of the eighth line of Otonabee.

Messrs. Robert Scully, Louis Hatherly and Alex. Turner shipped a quantity of hogs last week.

ABOLISH DEATH PENALTY.

Bill to Be Shortly Presented In British Parliament.

London, April 2.—Horace C. Rayner, the young man who shot and killed William Whiteley, the well known merchant, on Jan. 24, and was sentenced to be hanged, has been reprieved, Mr. Gladstone, the Home Secretary, having advised the King to commute the sentence to penal servitude for life. The newspaper editorials yesterday morning generally proved the action as accurately reflecting public opinion, although the ground of the Home Secretary's decision is admittedly based more on sentiment than law. The opportunity is taken advantage of to discover phases of similarity between the Rayner and Thaw cases. The sheriff of Hull is quoted as saying: "Thank God for a Thaw and a Rayner, who are prepared to give their lives to rid the world of such pests to society as White and Whiteley."

The reprieve has raised the question of the abolition of capital punishment, a bill for which is expected to be shortly presented to Parliament.

Lloyd's Weekly News suggests that the numerous reprieves in recent years promise the early abolition of capital punishment in this country.

IS SOMEWHAT BETTER.

Speaker St. John Makes Splendid Battle For Life.

Toronto, April 2.—Mr. Speaker St. John continues to defy prophecy

Despite the alarming reports of his condition throughout yesterday afternoon, and the expected fatal termination of his illness, at an early hour this morning he was resting calmly, and his condition seemed slightly improved.

It is a magnificent battle for life which Mr. St. John is making.

On the one side is united the dangers resulting from the Speaker's hazardous operation, and the malign influences of an hitherto unsuspected internal disease.

On the other side is united the vitality which comes from a body which has known not abuse or excess, together with the vitality which is born of a strong genial spirit undepressed.

The patient has been conscious all through his illness, and retains his customary cheerfulness, despite great bodily weakness.

He is under continuous medical supervision, and although the end seems very near, yet with the wonderful vitality shown by Mr. St. John the apparently inevitable may yet be avoided.

OLD OTONABEE RESIDENT PASSES AWAY

Mr. Jas. Hayes, a Remarkable Veteran Resident, Passed Away at the Ripe Old Age of Ninety-five.

In the sear and yellow leaf of old age, Mr. Jas. Hayes, almost a centennarian, passed away at eight o'clock last night, at his home in Skibbereen, Otonabee, in his 95th year. His death did not come entirely unexpectedly as his recent illness combined with feebleness and old age, was considered as his last struggle.

The late Mr. Hayes, as stated above, was about 95 years old and came to this country when he was a young man. His native county in Ireland was Cork, and when in later years he became proprietor of a hotel near Keene it was known far and wide as the Cork House. He was married over 60 years ago, and has lived all those years in the township of Otonabee, where he was as well known for his geniality, honesty and warm-heartedness, as was his home by its name, Skibbereen, and as in early days the Cork House was famous as one of the best hostelries in the county. As stated by one of his friends of manhood years, he is about the last of the old Otonabee stock of men who built up the township and splendid homes for themselves. His hotel was very prominent at the time of the building of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway. This was some fifty years ago, and for some 20 years he was proprietor in which capacity he made and strengthened many friendships.

Later he moved to within three miles of Peterborough, to Skibbereen, as he named the locality, and has dwelt there during the past 35 years. Four sons and three daughters remain to mourn his loss, they are Daniel, James, John, of Denver, Cornelius, of Sudbury; and Mrs. Dan Kelly of Asphodel, Miss Ella at home, and Miss Hannah, in Denver.

In religion the late Mr. Hayes was a Roman Catholic, and in politics a Reformer. He was a staunch friend of the late Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., and he had many friends who esteemed him for his honesty and generosity, and that geniality which is strongest in many Irishmen. His course was run, but his demise will be learned with general regret by many friends, young and old.

As yet no funeral arrangements have been made.

POSTAL CONCESSIONS.

Rates For Second Class Matter In States Reduced.

Washington, April 2.—At a conference between Postmaster-General Lemieux of Canada and Postmaster-General Meyer of the United States here yesterday, an agreement was reached to amend the postal convention existing between the two countries insofar as it affects the transmission of newspapers and periodicals, known as second-class matter, between the two countries.

Canada accepts the tentative proposal of the United States that second-class matter mailed in one country and addressed to the other shall be subject to a rate of one cent for each four ounces or fraction thereof on each bulk package, prepaid by stamps after fixed.

The rate agreed upon is substantially the transient second-class rate, which the individual citizen of the United States now enjoys, the exception being that publishers of the United States have an additional privilege of mailing in bulk packages, at the rate named, separately addressed newspapers and periodicals intended for delivery to subscribers at one postoffice.

The cost also to publishers in the United States will be at least fifty per cent. less than if the postal union rate should be applied.

Postmaster-General Meyer endeavored to obtain a continuance of the old agreement until congress shall have had opportunity to legislate upon the question of second-class postage, but it did not appear thus to maintain the status quo, and the new agreement therefore was entered into for the protection of American publishers.

SUCCESSION DUTIES.

$95,000,000 Received In Britain During Year 1906.

London, April 2.—It is now known that the receipts from death duties during the fiscal year just ending beat all previous records. The total, in round figures, will be $95,000,000. Since the passage of Sir William Vernon Harcourt's Finance Act twelve years ago the total receipts from death duties have exceeded $1,000,000,000. The largest sum paid on one estate was $4,500,000, on that of George Smith, generally known as "Chicago Smith," who lived at the Reform Club at an average rate of 10 shillings a day.

The Treasury has issued the budget figures for the financial year ending March 31, showing a total revenue of £155,036,486, against £153,878,886 for the previous year. There is a surplus of £1,157,559, due to an unexpected increase in the death duties, which are the chief contributory towards the £2,050,000, the amount by which the revenue, as estimated by the Chancellor of the Exchequer last year, is exceeded.

kindnesses. The vote was unanimously supported.

THE MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR IN HISTORY

At Annual Vestry Meeting In St. Luke's Last Night Reports of Last Year Were Reported

The temporal affairs of St. Luke's Church were discussed last night at the annual vestry meeting. The rector, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, was in the chair After devotional exercises the vestry clerk, Mr. T. H. Adams, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were confirmed. The people's warden, Mr. Frank Adams, read his annual report of the finances of the church. Comparing it with former years it was the best presented. The people had shown greater liberality than ever, and especially the Easter offerings were by far in excess of any previous year in the history of the church. In the report mention was made of a new furnace placed in the rectory, and bath room, sewer connection added to the rectory.

Messrs. F. J. Jameson and E. A. Peck were appointed auditors.

Proceeding to the election of church wardens, the rector regretted very much that Mr. Frank Adams felt compelled to decline re-election. For eight years he had been in office and during this time he had with untiring energy and great efficiency done his duty. But for the reasons stated to him privately he thought that Mr. Adams should be relieved. Personally the rector felt very much grieved at severing the happy relations between him and the people's warden, as such, terminated, and he hoped that Mr. Adams would accept from him as a mark of personal esteem a morocco-bound Prayer and Hymn Book, to remind him of their pleasant associations together. Mr. Adams, in accepting the gift thanked the people for their assistance.

The rector referred to the loss sustained by the removal of several families, such as Mr. R. B. Rogers. He referred also to the good work done by Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer and Mrs. H. Bennett, Mr. G. G. Pratley, who had also left the parish.

The rector outlined his plan of enlarging his work and stated that he had engaged Mr. T. H. Perry, B.A., to assist him in his duties. His plan was cheerfully approved by the vestry. He referred also to the great help that had been given the church, financially, by such a generous and trustworthy friend as Dr. George Burnham, who on more than one occasion had manifested his interest in St. Luke's and St. Mark's by substantial contributions.

Co. J. Z. Rogers was elected people's warden. The rector appointed Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald his warden, in succession to Mr. G. F. Warde.

The rector and Mr. E. A. Peck were appointed a committee to prepare a suitable testimonial of appreciation for Mr. Frank Adams, the retiring warden.

It was moved and seconded that Rev. E. A. Langfeldt be requested to tender the thanks of the vestry to Dr. George Burnham for his generous gift on Easter Sunday.

Messrs. H. Nesbitt and Arthur Kingdon were re-elected assistant wardens. Mr. T. H. Adams was re-elected vestry clerk at the same salary. The Advisory Board was elected as follows: the wardens, assistant wardens, Messrs. David Spence, F. J. Jameson, E. A. Peck, H. C. M. Potter, Frank Adams and G. R. Browning.

The meeting then adjourned to meet at the call of the rector and wardens.

Subsequently, at a congregational meeting, Messrs. G. F. Warde, Frank Adams and Wm. Manlece were elected lay delegates to the synod.

The rector and Mr. E. A. Peck were elected to prepare an address of congratulation to His Grace, the Archbishop, upon his elevation to the Primacy.

The meeting then adjourned.

SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL BY ECHO CAMP CLUB

Held in Foresters Hall Monday Night—Young Men Were Capable Hosts and Splendid Entertainers.

One of the most enjoyable social events of the season was the annual "At-home" held Monday night in Foresters' Hall, under the auspices of the Eko Camp Club. The young men who are members of this club have the reputation of being excellent hosts, and the manner in which they entertained their lady and gentlemen friends on this occasion more than warranted this general opinion. The affair was a success in every way. About sixty couples were present and the evening was passed most pleasantly at cards and dancing.

The Hon. Secretary was L. B. Ramsden, whose efforts to make the "At-home" an event long to be remembered, were eminently successful. Mr. L. F. Rumney made an efficient pianist. Messrs Mordell, Funk and Greig also rendered excellent music.

EASTER MONDAY AT HOME BY C.M.B.A.

Number of This Order Entertained Their Lady Friends in the T. A. S. Hall.

Another Easter Monday social was that held in the T. A. S. Hall, in which the members of the C.M.B.A. were "At home" to their lady friends. The hall was thronged with a jolly gathering and the ladies speak enthusiastically of the manner in which they were entertained. There were at least eighty-five couples present who enjoyed themselves at progressive euchre, followed by luncheon, a musical programme and a little hop. The prizes in the euchre contest were awarded as follows: Ladies—1st prize to Miss M. Lynch, a quartered-oak table; 2nd prize, to Miss M. O'Brien, china five o'clock tea set. Gentlemen — 1st prize, won by Mr. C. Giroux, gentlemen's umbrella; 2nd prize, to Mr. P. Garvey, a handsome pipe.

Dainty refreshments were served by the gentlemen, Mr. L. Potvin being the caterer, and his work was of the usual excellent quality. The musical numbers were greatly appreciated. Miss Lavina Hallihan rendered several vocal solos, as did also Mr. Hugh Brady. A chorus, composed of Messrs. Geo. Ball, H. Brady, J. Cunningham, Koon, and Misses Ball, J. Lynch, Miss Moher and Miss Fitzsimmons, sang several times and were well received.

The gentlemen in charge of the "At-home" were Messrs. Jos. Hickey, Jos. Picard, John Lynch, J. Hanrahan, W. Grady, Geo. Ball, Jas. Doris, and Mr. M. J. McDonnell, chairman.

The event was a decided success and speaks well for the thoughtfulness of the members of the C.M.B.A., who proved themselves capital hosts.

SPECTRE ALARMS A WELSH HAMLET; AN ACTIVE SPIR

Recently Married Man is the Victim of Supposed Visits an Unwelcome Ghost---Takes Form of His Mother Who is Alive and Well at Present Time.

Examiner Special.

London, March 30. — The freaks of a so-called spectre are alarming a hamlet some forty miles from Cardiff, says the London Mail. The ghost has been paying unwelcome attentions to a well-known inhabitant of the hamlet who was recently married.

The trouble commenced by his finding himself lying on his bedroom floor beside his bed one morning. Naturally, he put this down to the nightmare. The morning after, however, on awaking, he found himself at the other end of the room, and he then became somewhat uneasy. His wife on both occasions had slept peacefully.

The third night both kept awake, and their vigil was rewarded by a sight of the mysterious visitor, who appeared shortly after the traditional hour of midnight. A trustworthy correspondent ascertained from the victim that the spirit took the form of his own mother, who is still alive and well. He says that his mother opposed his marriage with the lady of his choice very strongly, and he thinks that the nocturnal visits are acts of revenge.

In order to drive forth the unwelcome intruder the victim persuaded several of his male friends to remain in the house one night, but although the ghost appeared as usual to the young man, his wife and his mother-in-law, the other watchers were quite unable to discern the strange presence.

The young man's mother-in-law declares that on one occasion she approached the spectre, "who said, quite distinctly, "Well, what do you want?" She also says that she temporarily lost the power of the right side of her body at the meeting.

The victim declares that it has several times accompanied part of the way to the vill where he is engaged as a sol His comrades are frequently turbed by the appearance of spectre at times, and believe firmly in the victim's veracity. vicar of the parish and several ers have visited the house and t in vain to elucidate the mystery

Zutoo

Regarding your Zutoo Tablets I beg to say: I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called "cures" on the market, till warned by my physician to discontinue their use on account of their bad effects on the heart. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a "sick" or "nervous" headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never fail to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for "sour" stomach as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost.

SMART STYLES.

Theater Gowns in Pastel Tints—Blue a Favorite Spring Color.

A charming theater gown is of palest pastel broadcloth—a chiffon broadcloth of the finest quality. The uneven hem is of taffeta and joined to the skirt with Persian embroidery in pale shades run with gold threads. The same embroidery is used around the deep U shaped opening of the bloused bodice, which is slightly surpliced. The guimpe is of maltese lace; also the inner short sleeves.

Vests are seen on a great many of the new gowns. One in a black and white striped cloth has a vest of coral chiffon. Checks or plaid suits have vests and collars of black moire, braided in soutache braid.

Blue is worn a great deal. It is a satisfactory color and becoming to almost every one. Royal and sapphire blue and what are known as ecclesiastical shades are among the popular blues. There is also a Nattier blue, which takes its name from a color used in some of Nattier's pictures, that is very much liked.

CREAM VOILE FROCK—5565, 5219.

Just one word more about furs before the season for pelts is over. The saddle muff is one of the late Richmonds in the field. The muff proper is not so large, but the fur on one side hangs flat, with rounded corners like a saddle blanket. Sometimes the flat hanging end is finished with a tail fringe, sometimes with a frill of lace.

The afternoon frock illustrated is of cream voile. About the bottom of the plaited skirt are rows of white braid. The lace yoke is surrounded with medallions of braid, held together with fancy stitches. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHIMS OF THE MOMENT.

Modes in Evening Wraps—Blouses of Tinted Chiffon.

For long loose coats nothing is better in the way of material and color than tan satin finished broadcloth. Tan in the chamois shade is adapted to wear with every kind of gown. It does not jar with a single color and is even more fashionable this season for evening wear than the all white coat.

Unless it is fur lined every evening wrap should have an interlining of lamb's wool as far down as the waist. Broadcloth feels heavy, but silk linings, even with a flannel interlining underneath, do not make up in warmth the absence of a high necked bodice.

Winter's High Living Tells in the Spring

Too hearty eating and drinking—late hours—too little exercise—pass unnoticed in frosty weather, but you feel the effects now in a "sagging" of your whole system.

A teaspoonful of Abbey's Salt every morning in a glass of water will clear out the bowels, tone up the stomach, quicken the action of the liver and kidneys and make life worth living.

vets patterned with delicate flowers. A charming draped effect is carried out in ciel blue chiffon velvet, with cross over fronts that fall straight to the waist bordering a vest of lace. The sleeves are short and quite plain except for a cuff of lace insertion bound on either edge with bands of velvet, which in turn are edged with Spanish lace ruffles.

The child who persistently throws the bed covers off while sleeping needs just such a protective garment as the one illustrated. It can be made either with or without feet and from any material that is used for nightgowns. A pretty Scotch striped flannel is perhaps the best choice.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION'S TREND.

New Lace Berthas—Long Gloves With V Shaped Gore at Wrist.

There are lace berthas of every description. The newest are composed of sequined net, and they have straps that go over the shoulders. The upper part of the arm is left bare between the strap and the bertha frill, which forms the sleeve and falls to the elbow. Other accessories of dress are to be found in fichus of silk, lace, chiffon or net; also in lace collars and in floral adornments.

There is no probability that glove expenditure will be less. Tan gloves are replacing black for the street for general wear, and there is no doubt that dealers believe the demand for long gloves is to continue, even if sleeves should be lengthened. To provide for this contingency the newer gloves have V shaped gores inserted in the outer seam from just above the wrist, allowing fullness sufficient for the glove to slip easily over the coat sleeve.

There is only one really fashionable way to make the severe shirt waist. It is a compromise between the blouse and the perfectly plain waist of other days. The new waist is laid in fine tucks at the shoulders in groups of five or eight, with a tiny box plait, unstitched, between the tucks.

The gown illustrated is of Nattier blue chiffon broadcloth. The waist is an exceedingly attractive one, giving the effect of the overblouse, which is so much liked this season, while in reality it is all in one, the lace portion being closed invisibly at the left of the front and the waist itself at the center. The skirt is six gored and cut in circular style, finished with tucks at the front edges. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Invisible Patches on Curtains.

Cut a piece of the required size out of an old one, and dip it in starch. Then press it on the curtain with a hot iron, and you will have the defective spot well mended until washing day, for it comes round again. Do not iron your curtains, for ironing breaks the threads. Instead, mangle and shake them out. Any creases which remain will soon disappear when they are hung up.

Skimming Soup.

Grease may always be skimmed from hot soup with a small piece of ice. This is very useful when making broths for invalids or children for immediate use. The grease hardens immediately when touched by the ice and clings to it long enough to be removed to a cup or basin, when it slips off and the ice may be used again.—Good Housekeeping.

LOUIS XVI. TABLES.

CURIO SHOPS RANSACKED IN SEARCH OF THESE TREASURES.

The Tables Almost as Scarce as the Dodo—Reproductions of the Original Can Be Made by a Good Cabinetmaker.

The smart drawing room of the moment is not complete without a tricoteuse or Louis XVI. embroidery and knitting table. Consequently every woman who keeps up with the fads of the day is ransacking old curio shops in search of such treasures or, failing in the quest—for these tables are almost as extinct as the dodo—is having a reproduction of the original made at a good cabinetmaker's. The reason for setting up these tables in the drawing room may be traced to the recent craze for copying Louis XVI. embroidery, for you will recall that it was in his time that the silly vogue for unraveling gold lace and braid for fancy work reached such a craze that ladies went about from salon to salon carrying with them their embroidery and were not above demanding from their admirers the sacrifice of gold lace from the coats they were wearing. Wool work and tapestry were then, as today, the favorites of the French lady, and Marie Antoinette must have often sat by her tricoteuse occupied with her needle while Mme. Campan read to her. The table of this unfortunate queen was ornamented with the lilies of France, and a dolphin formed a trophy on the lower ledge. The less aristocratic of these little worktables are more simple in design, but all have a special charm, and an aroma of romance still seems to cling about their fragile woodwork.

The tricoteuse is oblong—indeed, almost boat shaped—and is usually made of mahogany. The upper tray is surrounded by an upstanding piece of wood generally bound with brass and about one or two inches high, thus insuring the working implements against the danger of being swept off. One side of this little ledge is fitted with hinges to be let down by the fair embroidress when sitting at her work. Beneath the top is a drawer opening from either side. Under this drawer is slung when the table is used exclusively for knitting a large bag fashioned from handsome brocade.

Whatsoever that be within us that feels, thinks, desires and animates is something celestial, divine and consequently imperishable.—Aristotle.

HERE AND THERE.

A Fascinating Cotton Fabric—Millinery Notes and Dress Hints.

A material that will be popular next summer is flowered cotton tulle. It comes in a variety of patterns on white and tinted grounds. Another idea that allows of an attractive change is a tulle dress in white over a slip of flowered organdie, which gives the same effect as that of the expensive printed tulles.

It is a fact worthy to be noticed that hats are being built with as much regard to the side and back effects as to the front. And any number of ostrich feathers are prominent on the spring millinery.

English flannels in soft pale colorings in checked and striped effects are to be very much worn. A striped suit running to a mixture of olive and black threads so woven that they make only a faint striping on a white ground is fetching.

These flannel suits are made with the new tight fitting little basque coats which are fitted and boned down. They come only slightly below the waist line and button with one button over a tiny double breasted vest set in and trimmed with a dash of color.

The costume illustrated is especially adapted for between season wear. The coat is one of the smart fitted affairs, with a narrow vest of contrasting material. The skirt is made after one of the new models that give a panel effect. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Hint Worth Taking.

Often that which appears to be a most perfectly tailored skirt will grow to hang with a twist or the plaits will fly back farther on one side than on the other. It nearly always turns out that the stitching upon plaits or gores is run up one side and down on the side opposite. The natural inclination followed even by the women that do the work for good tailors is to stitch down from the top on one side and, turning the skirt most easily in the machine, to stitch up on the other. Instead all of the work should run up or all of it down, preferably down. Without taking this care a skirt may sag, and the greatest amount of fussing and pressing will never get the "warped" quality out of it.

Radical Change in Nervous System

STRENGTH OF NERVES AND VIGOR AND HEALTH OF BODY FULLY RESTORED

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The process of revitalizing a nervous system which is on the verge of collapse, must of necessity be slow, but the results are certain and highly satisfactory when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used.

It took 41 boxes to cure Mr. Branton, but the cure is in many respects a most extraordinary one, as you will realize by the following description:

Mr. William Branton, Victoria street, Strathroy, Ont., writes: "Before using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, my nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, hands and feet cold, my digestion was poor, and I had jerking of the limbs. The first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken 24 boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves. I would strongly recommend it to all suffering from nervousness."

Paralysis in some form is the natural result of neglected diseases of the nerves, but paralysis, instead of coming on suddenly, as is generally supposed is almost invariably preceded by months or years of warning symptoms.

Sleeplessness, headache, failing memory, loss of vigour and energy, stomach troubles, weakness in the mornings, dizziness, weak heart action and despondency are some of the indications of exhausted nerves, which gradually and certainly yield to the reconstructive influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, or, if neglected, lead to paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

New nerve force must be added to the body and this can best be accomplished by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which is sold at 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 6

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

WHEN ELSIE WAS LOST.

By Morris Cooke.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

"Is there room?" Elsie looked apprehensively at the crowded car.

"Easy," laughed Taylor. "Here in New York we don't call a car crowded until there are people sitting on the roof." He helped her aboard the platform and stepped aside to let two other women on, swinging himself on to the step just as the car started.

Elsie looked back nervously at Taylor and called warningly, "Do not get lost, Tom."

He waved reassurance, and then some one in leaving forced her to step well into the car. This prevented her from knowing that Taylor had dropped off the car step to let some passengers alight and that the conductor had given the go ahead signal before he could swing himself back on again. Two other men regained the step, but Taylor was left in the street saying things about the traction company and all its employees.

All unconscious Elsie rode until the end of the run was neared, and the crowd thinned out before she was able to see that Tom was not on the car. She beckoned the conductor.

"There was a gentleman on the rear platform," she said.

"Lots of 'em," agreed the conductor.

"But this one had a blue tie and a derby hat. Do you remember where he got off?"

"I'm not here to look after men in blue ties," he said crossly. A crowded run is not conducive to politeness. "Where do you want to get off?"

"That's just the trouble," she explained. "You see, my aunt moved this morning. There was a fire in the apartment house in which they lived, and they had to change. It's uptown somewhere, but my cousin did not have time to tell me just where. He had just met me at the train."

"Better go over to the police station," he counseled. "Your folks will send out a general alarm probably, and then word will come to the station. May be there's some one where they used live that can tell you."

"That's so," she said, brightening. "It's on Central Park West."

She named a number, and the conductor rang the bell. "Take a crosstown car to One Hundred and Tw[illegible] fifth street," he said. "Transfer south on Eighth avenue. That's in the sixties somewhere."

"THEY DIDN LEAVE NO ADDRESS," HE LAUGHED.

Elsie dropped off the car with a word of thanks and hailed a car coming in the opposite direction. Not until the conductor stood in front of her did she realize that she had given Tom her handsatchel containing her pocketbook.

This conductor was less pleasant than the first one and refused to accept her story. There was no one else in the car, and with crimson face she alighted. She did not know how far it was but she had a general idea of the direction, and she started bravely out.

The wind blew coldly from the river, and she drew her coat [illegible]s and she plodded along. Six Hundred lamp post told her that [illegible] had been and Twenty-fifth st[illegible] undecidedly; reached. She paused then, with sudden determination, she hailed a passerby.

"Eighth avenue [illegible] street with the "Keep going. It's [illegible]n't—is this Elsie elevated on. Yes [illegible] Linton?" he broke in sudden recognition. "Will!" she cried, [illegible]now you with that mustache on." [illegible] you're older too." he said grimly, "before having [illegible] get out and hustle and losing the [illegible]loved."

"I suppose [illegible]d. losses," she [illegible]rst," he corrected. "I've "Only [illegible]ote found the girl I love. just this [illegible]e you doing here alone?" But wh[illegible]d. "Been visiting and got he dem[illegible] lost?" she explained the situation, Rap[illegible]row clouded. and [illegible]Bellevue burned last night," "[illegible]Pretty well gutted. There ma[illegible]s a caretaker who will know wh[illegible] your aunt went. Let's go over [illegible]e."

whisked her on board the car, she settled back with a sigh of [illegible]f. It was so comfortable to be [illegible]an care of again, and there was a [illegible]w briskness in Will Benton's manner that brought comfort.

When the Benton Milling company had failed he was an idle and none too resourceful fellow. Now he spoke and acted with decision, and she was sorry that she had said "No" when he had put the all important question to her.

Their arrival at the transfer point interrupted her day dream, and as they changed to the Eighth avenue car he became more talkative. He sketched for her an outline of his struggles, a bare outline of his experience to which her own mind added the embellishments, and almost before she knew it he was signaling the conductor.

The Bellevue stood a smoke stained and gaunt wreck of what had been a fashionable apartment house, and a fire patrolman in the lobby was the only sign of life.

"They didn't leave no address," he laughed. "They were in too much of a hurry when they left. Only the doctor thought of that. The others just went to the hotels or to friends. The furniture is all here. They had insurance, and they can't move it until the adjusters get through. Try the postoffice."

The substation gave no better result. The carrier declared that he would not be permitted to give an address, but admitted that as yet he had received no instructions for forwarding mail.

At the police station the desk sergeant telephoned headquarters, but no alarm had been registered yet. "Maybe it will come in," he counseled. "Why don't you go and get dinner and come back? I may have something for you then."

"That's so," laughed Benton. "You must be pretty hungry after all this walking. Let's go down to the circle and have something to eat. It will do us both good."

Across the table Elsie's depression vanished. Will kept chatting of everything except her portion, and it seemed like old times back home when a party of young people ran up to town for the theater and had supper afterward.

It was not until the coffee was reached that he became serious again.

"What shall we do," he asked, "in case the alarm has not been sent out? I think you had better go to a hotel, wire your mother and wait for her answer. There's a hotel up the street here. I know the proprietor, and he will see that you are well looked after."

"It will be so lonesome," she said, with a little shudder. "It is the first time that I have ever been in New York, and it is all so strange."

"I used to live down in this section of the town," he said. "There is a minister I know—I don't want to seem to take advantage of your plight to repeat my proposal, dear, but—I should be the happiest man in New York if you would say 'Yes.'"

For answer her hand stole across the table and clasped his. "You are sure it is love and not pity?" she asked.

"It has always been love," he said. "I never accepted your decision, and it has helped to make a man of me."

"Let us go," she said simply. But Benton understood.

Half an hour later they emerged from the quiet rectory.

"Shall we stop at the station?" laughed Will.

"Auntie might be worried," she said. And they turned their steps toward the green lights. The desk sergeant smiled as they approached.

"They're waiting for you just around the corner," he said, naming an apartment hotel. "They were in here just after you left. I told them you were coming back. Miss Linton, isn't it?"

"No," said Will proudly, "Mrs. William Benton now."

And as they descended the steps Elsie hugged his arm.

"I wish," she said, "we could find that conductor that found you for me, Will."

"It's not every conductor," he laughed back, "who puts a girl off a street car into matrimony, bless his heart!"

SIMPLE MAGNIFIER.

An Experiment With a Drop of Water In a Goblet.

Take a glass goblet in which the lower part is shaped out at the sides and, holding it by the stem, incline it toward you, after having poured a little water into it, so that the water will collect in a large drop in that part of the goblet that is not shaped out.

Now, if you will hold the glass as shown in the illustration and look at the tablecloth through the drop of water you will find that you may easily count the threads, for the drop of water takes the form of a double convex lens, as shown in the small figure A, and that, you know, is what is called a magnifying glass, or single microscope. This same drop of water will enable you to examine in detail the different parts of a plant or of an insect, parts that you would hardly be able to see with the unaided eye.

Look through the part of the goblet that is shaped out. That, you will find, is concave on the inside and concave also on the outside. It is therefore a double concave lens, as shown in the small figure B.

The threads of the tablecloth, looked at through this water lens, are so much diminished in size that you can hardly see them, which demonstrates that a double concave lens makes an object appear smaller than it really is.

That explains why the eyeglasses of long sighted persons are double convex, with thin borders, while the glasses of nearsighted persons are double concave, with thick borders.—Chicago News.

THE CAREFUL KING.

A Story of a Persian Monarch That Points a Moral.

Once upon a time a certain king of Persia went out hunting with all his court. The chase that day happened to be long, and the king became very thirsty. But no fountain or river could be found near the spot on the plain where they rested for a short interval. At last one of the courtiers spied a large garden not far off. It was filled with trees bearing lemons, oranges and grapes. His followers begged the monarch to partake of the good things in the garden.

"Heaven forbid that I should eat anything thereof," said the king, "for if I permitted myself to gather but an orange from it my officers and courtiers would not leave a single fruit in the entire garden."

The higher in life a person is the more careful he should be, for all his faults are copied by those beneath him.—Chatterbox.

Mysteries of Planting.

The devices adopted by nature for securing the planting and distribution of seeds are very interesting. Some seeds have wings, so that they may be carried away as far as possible in falling from the parent plant. Others, like those of the milkweed and dandelion, may be said to be provided with balloons, inasmuch as they are made so light by feathery appendages that they are readily drawn up to great heights by warm currents of air. Astronomers used to mistake the floating seeds of the milkweed for meteors until a noted star gazer set his telescope at a near focus and was thus enabled to examine the floating vegetable germs that passed across the field of view. Certain burs are seed vessels that are provided with tiny hooks in order that they may catch in the fur of animals and be carried afar.

Queer Crabs.

There are some queer crabs in the world. The soldier crab of Bermuda carries heavy shells up the hills. A shore crab on the Cape Verde islands may be seen running along like a piece of paper blown by a strong wind. There are crabs in Ascension island that steal young rabbits from their nests, and the robber crab of the Philippines cracks cocoanuts and eats them.

CHAMBERLAIN A WRECK.

Complete Break Down of the Great Tariff Reformer.

There is no doubt that if Joseph Chamberlain were now the man he once was, the attitude of the Unionist party would be such as to overthrow Arthur Balfour out of hand. The fact is that Chamberlain, big man that he is, has become a physical wreck, and his collapse is most unfortunate for his party.

Try as they will—and, have done—followers of Chamberlain who insist that he is not down and out physically cannot explain away the photograph of their leader published recently.

Loans Upon a Stick.

This shows the aged but until lately vigorous champion of protection in his private grounds near Birmingham. Chamberlain, as the picture reveals, is in a pitiable state of feebleness. His wife, who was Miss Endicott, of Boston, is seen supporting his heavy steps. The leader, whose advocacy of a new tariff was the undoing of Balfour and Toryism, totters along in the pictures leaning upon a stick. The whole effect of the snapshot, which was caught by the newspaper's enterprise, shows Chamberlain to be, beyond argument, an utter physical wreck.

Yet Chamberlain's idea has the upper hand. Tariff reform is still the bone of contention between Arthur Balfour and the majority of the Unionist party. The latter are dissatisfied with the late Premier's lukewarm policy—that attitude of philosophic doubt and intellectual expectancy that broke down his adherents fealty when they looked for positive and strenuous action.

Fiscal Regeneration.

The policy of semi-protection with regard to the tariff is looked upon by the majority of the Unionists as the only sign of hope for the fiscal regeneration of the British Isles, and for the empire as a whole. Bread and butter and the means to pay the income tax seem to Tory politicians to depend upon adopting the policies brought forward and fought for by the now crippled Chamberlain.

That this is true is demonstrated by the party election last week of members of its executive and finance committees. Before the election Mr. Balfour, in his smooth and even lackadaisical style, urged the delegates—even besought them—to elect members of the party's councils with a regard to the candidates' position as Unionists rather than as Protectionists or Free-Traders.

Repudiates Balfour's Plea.

The result is a plain repudiation of Balfour's plea. The party has chosen nineteen Protectionists out of twenty members of the Executive Committee of the Unionist party, and put four Protectionists on the Finance Committee of five.

Balfour, indignant at being so flouted, caused the secretary to make it known to the delegates that unless he receives from now on the loyal support of all Unionists, irrespective of their views on tariff reform, he will retire, not only from the leadership, but from political life.

If there were any other leader to whom the Unionists could turn, Balfour's political history could be written from this date, but there is no one to whom his party can look. Chamberlain is physically incompetent and the Tories must follow Balfour unless and until some other statesman arises to lead them out of the wilderness.

The Catamaran.

While it is rarely employed by Europeans as a method of travel, even in emergencies, the catamaran of the Madras fishermen of India is by all odds the most extraordinary of water vehicles. It consists simply of three logs lashed together and flush with the surface of the water. On these a fisherman (sometimes two or more fishermen) stands and with a single oar paddles himself far out to sea. A Madras fisherman will venture out when boatmen will not launch their craft, and even in weather when boats cannot be launched he will go through the surf and out to ships with letters for the delivery of which he gets a few pence. In order to catch their ships a few belated travelers have been known to trust themselves on catamarans. They are united in the statement that the ride on the logs was the most nerve trying experience they had undergone in a land that holds a new thrill for the stranger at every turn. The sea and an occasional ducking have no terrors for these natives, not even the extremely young, and in reality the catamaran is not entirely to be scorned, for it is after all nonsinkable.

STOMACH TROUBLES

To wrong action of the stomach and impaired digestion a host of diseases owe their origin.

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body, and then stomach troubles start to appear.

Thus you become thin, weak, nervous and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vigor are lost and in their place come dullness, dizziness, loss of appetite, depression and languor. The great point is to get the stomach back into good shape again so it can properly digest the food, and the easiest, quickest and best way to do it is by the use of

Miss Lizzie Furlotte, Jacquet River, N.B., writes: "I was very much troubled with my stomach and did not know what to do. I consulted several doctors, got medicine from them, but all to no purpose, and was constantly growing worse. One day I had the good luck to meet with a friend who had been troubled in the same way as myself. My friend told me of the wonderful cure Burdock Blood Bitters had made with her and advised me to try a bottle. I did so, and what a happy change the first bottle made. I took two more and am completely cured, and I shall ever sing the praises of B.B.B."

IF EVERYBODY knew how much cheaper good soap really is, there would n't be another pound of poor quality soap sold anywhere.

"SURPRISE" Soap not only does better work and does it easier and quicker than poor quality soap, but it lasts longer and it costs less in the end.

Then "SURPRISE" never hurts the hands nor injures anything you use it on. It is a pure, hard soap, and those who try it never go back to ordinary soaps.

Sometimes people think they ought to use good soap for fine work and cheap soap for common laundry, but after trying "SURPRISE" they realize that it pays to use the best all the time. Same price you pay for other kinds.

COOKING MEAT.

The Proper Methods of Roasting, Broiling and Boiling.

If housewives understood more fully the processes of broiling, roasting and boiling, there would be less complaint of tough, tasteless meat. The principles underlying all three methods are identical. The difference lies in the medium employed. In all the object to be attained is to first quickly sear the exterior of the meat, thus coagulating the surface albumen and effectually sealing the juices. The cooking then proceeds more slowly to a finish, the time required hinging, as a matter of course, upon the size of the cut.

In broiling and in roasting, which are in reality the same, the name depending upon the nature of the piece of meat, this hardening of the exterior is accomplished by exposing the meat to the direct action of the heat, which must be intense enough to sear the surface at once. When it is not, the juices seep out, leaving the meat tasteless and sacrificing its nutritive qualities.

In boiling meat surface coagulation is attained by immersing the meat in boiling water and keeping up the temperature for a minute. One of the preliminary rules of boiling, one which should be indelibly impressed upon every cook, is that water cannot be heated to the proper temperature for boiling (212 degrees) in an open vessel nor in one with an indifferently fitting cover. Another point equal in importance to the first is that when water begins to boil a quicker fire than is absolutely necessary to keep it boiling results merely in wasting the water in the form of steam and so hardening the exterior of the meat as to prevent the heat penetrating to the interior.—Housekeeper.

A HIGH WINDOW.

Artistic and Practical Method of Treating It.

Where there is a high window in a room it generally presents a difficult problem in decoration. There are many ways of meeting the condition, of course, and the illustration presented herewith shows one way that is particularly effective and artistic. A woman whose recessed casement window was too high for an ordinary window seat had the carpenter build two steps and put the seat on top with the above satisfactory result.

Encourage His Hobby.

Women would find men much easier tethered to their own firesides if they would encourage their husbands in some peculiar hobby, and forgive the little extra trouble the brushing up afterward gives them. The encouraging of a hobby certainly implies self sacrifice on the part of the wife, but, if she is wise, she will give her "man" a corner of the home as his own den where he can bestow his properties, make as much litter as he chooses and work out his leisure in the pursuit of his harmless hobby.

Perhaps it may take him many hours to turn a soap box into a corner cupboard, but do not laugh at the work of art when it is finished. Praise it rather. It is better for a man to do such things in his odd hours than attend a horse race, bet, drink and lose his situation. His example, too, will lessen the labor in the training of your family, for his eye will be on the young people, and they will in "helping father" learn to find home the most blessed spot on earth.

Fitting Waist Linings.

When fitting the waist lining pin the front edges together to form a seam toward the outside, being careful to have them even at the top. A seam of three-eighths of an inch is allowed at each side of the front, and only this much should be taken up in pinning. A certain indication that too much alteration has been made or that it has been made on the wrong seam, is when the grain of the lining material pulls out of shape. The pattern is planned to have the grain of the goods run in the lines that will best fit in to the figure. For this reason every section is marked with a line of small perforations, and in cutting the lining these perforations must follow a lengthwise thread of the material.

DESPERATE WEST.

Grim Tales of Hard Weather and Fuel Famine.

The severe weather and the scarcity of fuel which have been experienced in the West this winter have striking illustration in the collection of news paragraphs appended:—

A prominent ranchman of Scull Creek, Mr. Duncan, was married recently to a Miss Buchanan. After the wedding he and his bride drove out to their ranch, and on their way they got lost and were out all night. Both were badly frozen, and it is said that Mr. Duncan will lose both feet.

At Claresholm, Alta., the farmers took down their fences and let the starving cattle range among their straw stacks. In that town the citizens paid to have feed hauled to the poor brutes, and the police looked after the feeding and herding of the animals.

At Craik, Sask., a farmer who had come miles to get coal and was unsuccessful, burst into tears when he realised that he must go back to his family with no help in their need. J. C. Phillips, another farmer, has been burning manure; E. Shipman has burned wheat for months, while T. Brant, in the town of Craik, tore down his barn and sheds for fuel.

Overcome With Cold.

Near Cartwright, Man., Messrs. N. Canfield and D. Askew set out one night in the intense cold in response to a summons for Mr. Askew for veterinary purposes. The team of horses got off the trail, although they wandered for a long time near it. In the course of their aimless roving the horses went over a bank into a ravine, and it was with the utmost difficulty that they were got out. Then they were unhitched from the cutter, and while this was being done they got away. Mr. Canfield set out to overtake them, while his companion undertook to follow the telephone line to Cartwright. He followed a spur, however, which led to the house of H. B. Thompson. The latter immediately went in search of Mr. Canfield, whom he finally discovered lying beside the cutter in an almost lifeless state. He had exhausted himself with the horses and returning to the cutter was overcome with the cold. He was in its grip for nearly eight hours, and his feet, head and hands were severely frozen. His feet may have to be amputated.

Odd Fuel For Fires.

The town authorities at Davidson seized the supplies of bridge lumber and ties. The schools, churches and business houses were closed. The leading hotel, the Great West, kept up its fires with straw. At Caron farmers burnt their fences, and families "doubled" up" in their houses so as to save firing. The citizens of Pense, Sask., found it necessary to use heroic measures to relieve the fuel situation. After burning oats, grain, etc., until they were tired of it, sixty men gathered around a train and demanded a car of coal of the conductor, in charge of several such cars. As the people refused to allow the train to proceed until they had secured a supply the car was taken off. A committee, including the coal dealer, took charge of the unloading, and full payment was made for all the fuel taken.

The Swift Current Sun says:—Jim Reagan reached town on Saturday from Kircaldie's ranch, 70 miles northwest of here. He was five days on the road, and two days and one night on the prairie without food or fire. He unsaddled his horse and let it go, and covered himself with his saddle blanket. The horse came back and woke him up. He put the saddle on her and followed her afoot, and she brought him to Mahoney's more dead than alive. His underwear was frozen so stiff that it had to be cut off. His face was also badly frozen.

Wood, But No Matches.

In North Dakota a young woman living alone on a homestead was discovered to have perished of cold, while the stores were packed with fuel. The mystery of the tragedy was explained when it was seen that there was not a match in the house.

In Macleod the long and but shortly-interrupted cold weather has done some deadly work among the range stock. It is pitiable to see huge four-year-old steers that should be fine beef, staggering from cold, hunger and exhaustion. With their feet frozen and eyes red with blood they go about looking for a place to lay their weary bones—a place that many have already found, and which many more will find soon whether the cold continues or not. The town has been compelled to employ a rider to herd the stock from the town. He is kept riding all the day. Range cattle came in by hundreds and some took possession of the sidewalks, which they refused to give up to any passer-by. Several persons had narrow escapes from those desperate roamers of the plains, exasperated, not by the acts of the persons they seek to punish, but driven to desperation by the cold and want of food and water. Although staggering in weakness they show a decided malice towards the race that has neglected them. They have come from as far north as Red Deer.

Whole Train Frozen Stiff.

The following is an extract from a letter recently received from a visitor in Medicine Hat, caught in the blockade:—"It is so heavenly mild here after the long cold months for the chinook has come. And the 'gas to burn' is just the nicest arrangement; the houses are so warm without any trouble at all. Me for Medicine Hat for winters! About the blockade—we were 41 hours coming a 16-hour journey. I never had anything send shivers to my soul the way that white prairie did. We saw wolves sometimes, and one morning herds of antelope were close to the track. At Moose Jaw it was 55 degrees below, and the whole train was frozen stiff, water, gas, all."

An historic issue of a paper is that of the Cardston Star, which was printed during the worst week of the blockade on yellow wrapping paper, provided by the merchants of the town.

To clean the kitchen walls first pour some kerosene in a basin, then take a soft cloth and dip it in the kerosene and wash a part of the wall with it, then wring another cloth out of nice hot water and go over the spot just cleaned with kerosene and lastly wipe with a clean dry cloth. You will be surprised at the results. It is the easiest and most satisfactory way of washing painted kitchen or bathroom walls.

FARMING FOR PRISONERS.

Use of the Jail For the Insane Is Condemned by Inspector.

The 39th annual report of the inspector of prisons and reformatories was presented to the Legislature last week, the annual statistics of which showed 44 jails and 13 lock-ups in the province with a total expenditure of jail maintenance of $158,174 for 1906, against $163,268 in 1905. The cash revenue of the jails was earned at Perth, Whitby and Woodstock, amounting to $115, with an average cost for each prisoner of 22 cents per day in every county jail in Ontario, against 25 cents in 1905. In 1906 there were 10,810 committed to jails, a decrease of 225. Notwithstanding this decrease the fact remains, Inspector Rogers points out, that with a population of a little over 2,000,000 there were nearly 11,000 persons during the past year committed to the jails of the province. The number of insane committed during 1906 were 309, against 396 in 1905.

Of those committed during the year, 3,837 were married and 6,973 single. There were but 25 per cent. who could be labelled temperate, against 26 per cent. the previous year. Less than 16 per cent. could not read or write.

Tendencies to Crime.

"It may be safely averred," the report says, "that the tendencies to crime change with conditions. It is becoming more and more apparent that the old deterrent forms of punishment are impotent as a factor in reformation, and that the temperament, environment and associations of each prisoner when studied help vastly in the work of reformation, which should be the grand policy pervading the treatment of all prisoners serving sentence. Punishment to a certain extent is necessary, but regeneration of the unfortunate subject of crime should be the main object. Before any change can be effective. The use of jails for the insane i ple how usefully prison labor can deprecated, and the report shows that employed. the Government offers material promise that this practice will cease, and those mentally afflicted will be sent directly to the asylums. In Australia there are reception houses for the purpose of confining those temporarily demented from where, after a certain time, they are either discharged or sent to an asylum, after proper medical pronouncement.

The inspector urges the establishment of a large industrial farm at some suitable location, and that all prisoners from the unorganized districts west of North Bay, instead of being transferred to the Central Prison, be sent thereto. During the past three years it has cost the Government to bring prisoners from Kenora, Port Arthur and other remote points to the Central Prison, $10,000 for 328 prisoners.

Waste of Public Money.

It is also suggested that it would be a waste of public money to try and remodel many of the old antiquated jail structures, and in the end be disappointed. The modern jail building, without the heavy stone work, with steel equipment, latest heating apparatus, ventilation as approved by best scientific methods, and every other convenient, sanitary and up to date system, is the jail of the future, and the one that will be the cheapest, all things considered.

The inspector points out the necessity of keeping first offenders apart from hardened and habitual criminals, and persons awaiting trial should be treated in every way as innocent persons until the ruling of the court declares otherwise.

The inspector recommends road-making and all sorts of outside work on city or town property where it does not come into competition with honest labor, and points to the improvements at Riverside as an ex-

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 228 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.

Wainwright's Experiment.

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay.

Copyright, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

It was noon. The July sun blazed down over the hayfields and flickered across the group of men who lolled beneath the trees enjoying their first rest after a morning of toil. Wainwright sat a little apart from the others and mopped his forehead. The muscles of his arms and shoulders ached from unaccustomed labor. Yet as he looked at the close cut field his feeling was one of pleasure.

Two months before as assistant professor of political economy in an eastern college he had longed to put certain problems to the test, to learn from actual experience those things which other men were content to take from the text books. So while his brother professors spent their vacations in Europe or at the seashore Wainwright tramped the highways of New England, knapsack on back and notebook in hand. Routine and conventionality were forgotten. And so much is man a part of his mode of living that after his first two weeks on the road not one of Wainwright's old confreres would have recognised him. His clothes had lost their hall marks of good tailoring and become frayed and dusty. His shoes were out at heel, his hat almost rimless and his face tanned to a deep bronze.

But Wainwright was young and vigorous and had a keen relish for adventure. He liked the freedom of the highway, the quest of picking up odd jobs at the scattered farmhouses along the route, the deep sleep of the travel weary in dim, sweet scented haylofts or, oftener still, in the open, with the stars shimmering through the branches of the trees.

It was the harvest season. There was work in plenty, and in time Wainwright quitted his hand to mouth vagabondage for the sobering occupation of harvester on the Rolfe farm, where he was to receive a dollar a day and bed and board. The first morning's labor had proved more exhausting than he had anticipated, but Wainwright kept on doggedly, though each hour added fresh blisters to his hands and made the scythe seem heavier to wield. The midday rest brought an ecstasy of relief.

"This," thought Wainwright as he stretched himself in the shade—"this is worth a dozen hotel verandas!" The rustle of leaves, the talk of the men near by and the drone of insects through the warm air all blended into a confused murmur. An unconquerable drowsiness stole over him.

"Won't you have some dinner?" said a voice beside him, and Wainwright, opening his eyes, looked up at a girl who might have been Priscilla, so demure was her blue dress and white kerchief. She wore a frilled sunbonnet, and Wainwright wished that he might see the face it hid, but his desire remained ungratified, for after serving him the girl turned her attention to the next man and from that went impartially down the line. The men fell to at once. Wainwright alone stared after the sunbonneted figure that tripped across the field and took the orchard path leading to the Rolfe farm.

That night as he took his seat among the harvesters that clattered around the Rolfes' supper table he saw with quickening interest that the girl of the noon hour was flitting about the kitchen, passing huge platters of bread and stone jugs of foaming milk. Wainwright had leisure to observe that she had brown eyes and wavy brown hair coiled low upon her neck.

When supper was over the other farm hands strolled off toward the barn. Wainwright lingered.

"Your daughter must be a great help to you," he ventured.

"My daughter!" laughed Farmer Rolfe. "Why, she ain't my daughter! She's the hired girl, though I will say," he added, "that if ever I'd had a daughter I'd ha' liked one like Mary Carter. She's as quick and handy as she can be, and my wife thinks a heap o' her. Took to her from the first when the girl come from over by Coopersville way lookin' for work. She's so slim and slight you wouldn't think she could do much. But, land, she's a hustler!" Indeed, so absorbed was Mary in her work that Wainwright only saw her at mealtimes. Even then she merely stopped for a pleasant word or nod.

But one Sunday night when Wainwright sat alone on the back porch strumming at a guitar a white dress glimmered in the doorway, and presently Mary came out and sat down.

"Please don't stop!" she cried as Wainwright smothered the last chord of a college glee. "I'm very fond of music!"

"What else are you fond of, I wonder?" thought Wainwright, and he deftly led her on to speak of herself. She was fond of reading, she confessed, and knew many of the poets by heart. Her taste in literature was as simple as it was fine, and the more she spoke the more Wainwright wondered, for she seemed utterly content with her present occupation.

"Any work that is done well is beautiful," she declared earnestly, and, though her allusions to herself were delicately reticent, Wainwright found it easy to picture her primitive life, primitive and yet not humdrum. Her love of nature and beauty forbade that.

"What a wonderful country it is," mused Wainwright, "where even the rustics have ideas of their own and a vivid way of expressing them." Mary's personality was the most challenging and illuminating one that he had discovered so far, and descriptions of her covered several pages of his notebook.

In the days that followed he found that if he helped Mary with the supper dishes the longer they would have to sit on the porch in the cool of the evening. So while she splashed the suds he polished plates and cups and quoted his favorite authors. Afterward they would stroll together down the orchard path, watching the first stars and listening to the eerie notes of the whippoorwill, a pleasant state of affairs destined to end abruptly, for Wainwright returned from the fields one evening to find Mrs. Rolfe alone in the kitchen. Mary was gone.

"Had a letter from one of her folks," said the farmer, "and she went right off. Wouldn't take a cent of her pay 'cause she left so sudden."

Wainwright looked blank.

"Didn't she leave any address?" he queried.

"Said she'd write," answered Rolfe laconically.

"But wasn't there any message?" persisted Wainwright.

"Not a word," said Farmer Rolfe cheerfully.

Mrs. Rolfe had some of her famous biscuits for supper, but Wainwright had lost his appetite. He stood on the back porch in the afterglow, and everything seemed strangely deserted. Mary had gone, and something of the joy of living had gone with her. Existence seemed suddenly very tame and dull to the young professor. He was conscious of emotions not classified in his notebook.

"I must have overworked," he said listlessly to himself as he sat on the Leffingwells' veranda a week later. It was sundown. A breeze swept up from the Hudson, and a tall glass of lemonade tinkled pleasantly in Wainwright's hand.

Mrs. Leffingwell, of whose house party he was a guest, sat near him in a wicker chair and chatted irrepressibly.

"We've had an inkling of your exploits," she said, "and will expect a full account of them. Tonight there's a girl coming to dine who's awfully fond of that sort of thing. She spent the summer working on a farm where she met the most extraordinary young harvester that— There she is now!"

Mary, in a white lace dress, was coming slowly across the lawn.

"You didn't leave me any message," said Wainwright reproachfully the moment after their hostess had left them alone together, "but I have one for you. I wonder if you will care to hear it?"

"You might try and see," suggested Mary demurely.

When dinner was at its gayest, Mrs. Leffingwell turned to Wainwright.

"Do you think," she said, "that your experiment was a success?"

Wainwright's eyes met Mary's in a comprehending flash.

"The greatest I've ever had," he answered, smiling.

STONING A TIGER.

The Punishment of a Man Eater That Killed a Tibetan.

Fifty years ago tigers were very common even in the high hills of western Tibet, writes C. A. Sherring in his account of that country. At the present time, however, owing to the increase of population and the general spread of cultivation, they have become rare, and the appearance of a man eater who carried off a poor old woman on the slope of Chipla created consternation.

On the following day there were gathered together a hundred grim men, armed only with axes and stones, for they had not a gun among them.

Fortune favored the brave, for the tiger was found asleep under a rock. At once each man dropped silently into the cover of the brushwood and piled a heap of stones near to his hand, while one of the most trusted of the party was commissioned to stalk to the top of the rock and drop a huge stone on the sleeping brute.

So well was the work done that the stone fell true on the tiger's back, and immediately, with a roar, the wounded beast sprang up and, seeing his enemies, who leaped from their cover, charged the line.

But a hundred men, desperate as to consequences, throwing stones with might and main, are not to be awed or turned from their purpose lightly. The stones broke the tiger's teeth and went into his mouth, and his body soon became a mass of wounds.

Turning, he tried to escape and took his pursuers up hill for a mile, but wherever he paused and whatever he did he could not escape the pitiless rain of missiles. The blow on his back, first given, effectively checked his speed, and finally, worn out, he came to hay under a great cliff.

The rest was easy. He was immediately hemmed in, and the stones were showered on him thicker than ever and hurled with redoubled energy. As he sank down the villagers rushed in and dispatched him with their axes.

A RHETORICAL TRIUMPH.

Sheridan's Speech in Connection With the Hastings Trial.

Answering a correspondent who asked about the speech of Sheridan in connection with the Warren Hastings trial, the London News says:

"That immense oratorical triumph was certainly not reported in the notes in question, for the Oude speech was not delivered during the trial. Sheridan pronounced it in the house of commons in the year before the trial in moving that the Oude charge should be one of the articles of the impeachment.

"No speech recorded in our history ever had such a reception. The entire house and all in the galleries violated the traditions of parliament and set a precedent that remains unfollowed by clapping furiously and continuously. Pitt, fully conscious of the extraordinary state of excitement disclosed by this breach of decorum, moved the adjournment on the unparalleled ground that 'the minds of members were too agitated to discuss the question with coolness and judicially.' Sheridan had spoken for five hours and forty minutes. No full report of the speech exists. The best appeared in the London Chronicle for Feb. 8, 1787.

"The fame of the speech was such that when the trial came on £50 was gladly paid for a seat in the hall on the day of Sheridan's speech as a manager of the impeachment. Macaulay's account of that speech, which is both misleading and inaccurate in several respects, at least permits us to know the fact that the speaker was publicly embraced by Burke on resuming his seat. At a later stage in the trial—six years later, in fact—Sheridan delivered another speech which was described by one of the auditors as an extraordinary rhetorical triumph."

Thousands of Women suffer Untold Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from Kidney trouble.

Mrs. Thos. Craig, Almonte, Ont., writes: "I was doctoring for six months for kidney trouble and my back was so lame I had to lie in bed. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and in one week I was able to walk with very little pain, and in five months my back was as strong as ever.

THE ALIENISTS DIFFER IN OPINIONS

Jerome's Experts Contradict Witnesses For the Defense.

TOMBS OFFICIALS TESTIFY

Dr. Hamilton on Thaw's Mental Condition—Says He Is Not Capable of Understanding—District Attorney Wins Point — Jailer and Other Prison Officers Think Prisoner Rational—Report To-morrow.

New York, April 3.—The commission in lunacy which is enquiring into the present state of mind of Harry K. Thaw yesterday allowed Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton to testify as to what he knows of Thaw's mental condition. This action was taken over the continued protest of the defendant's attorneys.

Dr. Hamilton declared Thaw to be incapable of realising the nature of the charges against him.

Michael J. Delehanty and Franklin J. Sheridan, Tombs guards; Mrs. Emily S. Walker, probationery officer, and Rev. John A. Wade, Episcopalian chaplain, and Rev. Luke J. Evers, Roman Catholic chaplain at the Tombs, testified that Thaw had always seemed to them to be rational.

Dr. Austin Flint expressed the opinion that Thaw was suffering from paranoia, with original delusions of persecution now passing into delusions of grandeur, and Drs. William Mabon, William Hirsch, Albert Warren and William B. Pritchard coincided in this belief. All are prosecuting experts.

Dr. Graeme M. Hammond, who was a consulting alienist for the defence throughout the trial, talked with Thaw every day of the trial. His comments on the trial were pertinent and rational always.

Dr. Smith Ely Jelliffe, a member of the defendant's corps of alienists, said that at the time Thaw killed White he suffered from insane delusions, but they seemed entirely to have disappeared.

Dr. Britton D. Evans added his testimony for the defence, to the effect that Thaw is perfectly rational.

Adjournment was taken at 6.30 p.m. until 10.15 a.m. to-day.

The commission expects to be able to report its conclusions to Justice Fitzgerald early Thursday morning.

FAVORED BY SUICIDES.

Many Young Women Go to Pretty Spot to Die.

St. Petersburg, April 3.—A despatch to the Gazette from Viborg, Finland, says a curious suicidal mania has lately, at short intervals, driven 16 victims to self-destruction in the picturesque Imatru waterfall. The suicides were hysterically inclined young women who wanted to die in romantic surroundings.

Their bodies were washed away by the roaring Wuoksen River and rarely recovered, and then in shockingly mutilated condition.

The latest victim was a young girl, who had traveled especially from Moscow to commit suicide in the waterfall. A coachman seized her clothing as she was going over the edge of the precipice, but the material gave way, and she disappeared with a shriek in the torrent.

Mobbed By Germans.

Hamburg, April 3.—Eight English longshoremen were badly injured and many others were slightly hurt Monday night in a fight with local locked out longshoremen.

The Englishmen had been on an excursion, contrary to warnings, and were assailed on their return to the ships in the harbor, on board which they were housed in order to keep them from clashing with the locked-out men.

A mob fell upon the Englishmen with stones and a strong force of police had to be hurried to the scene.

Girl Fatally Stabbed.

Elmira, N.Y., April 3.—Because she would not marry him, James Terry, aged 28, fatally stabbed Katharine Stird at Salt Point, near Watkins Monday afternoon. Both are Italians employed in the salt works there. The girl died early yesterday morning. Terry escaped.

SETTLED COLDS.

DANGEROUS BECAUSE HARD TO CURE.

An Offer to the People of Peterboro' From Our Well Known Druggists, McDermid & Jury.

Our well-known druggists, McDermid & Jury, claim they have a cure for colds and coughs and if it fails they will refund your money. The remedy is Vinol, and we have heard such wonderful results from it that we advise every person in Peterborough who is suffering from a cold or cough to try it on their guarantee.

A hard cold and hacking cough may be the means of undermining your constitution and terminate in consumption. Cough syrups, while they temporarily allay the paroxysms of coughing, owing to the opiates they contain, upset the stomach and do not cure the cause; old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions are so nauseating that few can take them.

Vinol is delicious to take, and contains all the active curative principles of cod liver oil in a highly concentrated form, and it is, therefore, the greatest specific known for coughs, colds and bronchial troubles.

You would not eat an egg, shell and all. For the same reason you should not take old-fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions, just to get the medicinal curative elements which they contain.

The Vinol manufacturers separate them for you, throw away the useless oil and give you in a delicious, concentrated form, all the healing and life-giving elements which are to be found in fresh cods' livers. That is what gives Vinol its wonderful powers to cure coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles, and makes it the greatest tonic reconstructor known to medicine. McDermid & Jury, Druggists. Vinol is also sold at the Market Drug Store (The Ormond & Walsh Walsh Old Stand).

MONTREAL TO FRONT.

Large Increase In Customs Revenue In Canada's Premier City.

Montreal, April 3.—The fiscal year 1906-7, which has just closed, has been a banner one in the history of the Port of Montreal, the collections of Customs duties on imports having been greater than ever before since Montreal became a Customs port, which is quite a number of years.

The heaviest month in this year was November last, with $488,063, and March just ended was a good second, with an increase of $207,577.90 over March in 1906. December last was the poorest month, when only $1,107,-148.75 was gathered in for the national treasury.

The increase for the nine months just ended over the corresponding months of the previous year totals $1,502,598.25. Total collections for the same months were $11,427,595, against $9,925,067 for the previous fiscal year.

SEAT WITHOUT VOTES.

S. J. Donaldson Takes His Place in Saskatchewan Legislature.

Regina, Sask., April 3.—For the first time in the history of Canada, a seat was given to a member in a Legislative Assembly without the polling of votes.

The Saskatchewan Legislature yesterday afternoon declared that Samuel J. Donaldson, Provincial Rights candidate in Prince Albert district, was duly elected.

The decision of the Legislature was made on account of the revelations showing the most brazen crooked work in the election of Mr. Donaldson's opponent, among the acts being the marking in the bush by deputy returning officers of enough ballots to give the Government candidate a clear majority.

A BOMB IN THE CHURCH.

Anarchists At Work In City of Genoa.

New York, April 3.—The Herald has received the following despatch from Genoa:—While the Jesuit Father Passivich was preaching in the Church of San Siro here Monday some one threw a bomb in the main door. It exploded and caused a tremendous panic, but no one was injured.

After the commotion Father Passivich resumed his sermon, first saying a Te Deum in thanksgiving for their escape.

Investigation by the police showed that the bomb was filled with nails and iron wire, and led to the arrest of the authors of the plot.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION.

Italian on Railway Work Meets Death Near Ancaster.

Hamilton, April 3.—Tony Panzini, an Italian employed by Nicholson and Riley, contractors, on the Hamilton-Brantford Electric Railway, was killed yesterday evening by an explosion at Herring's Mills, near Ancaster. Panzini was engaged blasting rock. A charge of dynamite did not go off as quickly as he thought it should and he started towards the spot where the charge was set to see what was the matter. He got within a few feet of it when there was an explosion, and he was blown about a hundred feet. He was unconscious when assistance reached him and died shortly afterwards.

ROYAL MOTHER IN DANGER.

Queen Cristina Has Serious Attack—Sacraments Administered.

Madrid, April 3.—Queen Cristina, King Alfonso's mother, is confined to her bed with a very severe attack of grip, her temperature reaching 40 degrees centrigrade (104 degrees Fahrenheit). She has received the last sacrament, and her physicians refuse to make any prediction as to the progress of her illness.

Queen Cristina, who is 49 years old, was about to go to Cartagena with King Alfonso to meet King Edward. Her illness, coming at this time, is especially unfortunate, owing to the interesting condition of Queen Victoria, her daughter-in-law.

FOUR VILLAGES ARE RAZED

Priests Release Insurgents From Their Oaths—Terrible Effect of Artillery Fire—Bulgarians Attack Towns—Reports May Be Exaggerated—Women and Children Abused—Bitter Against Neighbors.

Belgrade, Servia, April 3.—It is reported that a band of Bulgarians have attacked the old Servian towns of Rudnik and Topilcha, burning thirty houses, killing seven men and maltreating a number of women and children. Increasing bitterness is being displayed here toward the Bulgarians owing to the belief that while the powers have called the attention of the Governments of Servia and Greece to the atrocities perpetrated by Servian and Greek bands, they have made no protest to the Bulgarian Government against the actions of Bulgarian bands.

Released From Their Oaths.

Bucharest, April 3.—The Metropolitan of Bucharest will issue shortly a pastoral letter releasing the peasantry from the oaths which they took on enrolment in the insurgent forces. This is expected to assist in the work of pacification, many fanatical rustics having sent in word that they could not cease plundering until absolved from the oaths.

Quiet continues to prevail in Moldavia, but the troops will remain under arms until the peasants resume the cultivation of the land. Agitation is still rampant in some of the Danubian districts and mountainous regions of Valsela.

Four villages in Mehodintzi are reported to have been razed by artillery fire with considerable loss of life. Some reports say that hundreds of peasants were killed or wounded. Investigations of similar sensational figures regarding casualties, in the case of previous bombardments, have always proved them to be greatly exaggerated.

More Agrarian Disorders.

Nishni-Novogrod, Russia, April 3.—Agrarian disorders have broken out in the Sergachevsk district. In an encounter with troops Monday fifty peasants were wounded and a rural guard killed.

THE RAILWAY MURDER.

Elliott Was Stabbed and Struck On Head With Shovel.

Port Credit, April 3.—The crown has at last decided to take a hand in the unraveling of the mystery surrounding the death of the English sectionman, Edward Elliott, who met his death two miles west of here early on Good Friday morning.

At the inquest to-day a member of the provincial detective staff will be in attendance to watch proceedings and follow up any clue which may be unearthed. It is certain that evidence will be produced to prove conclusively that Elliott came to his death as a result of foul play.

Dr. Sutton, who performed that autopsy, is ready to swear that the wound in Elliott's chin was caused by some sharp instrument, either a knife or a stiletto, and that the gash on the back of the head was in all likelihood inflicted by a blow from a shovel.

County Constable Peer made a trip into the city yesterday to subpoena Jas. Batty, the conductor of the way freight who found Elliott alive by the track and brought him into Port Credit.

He arranged with Michael Basse to act as interpreter for the four Italians known to have passed the spot shortly before Elliott was picked up. Harry Gallagher, the man with whom Elliott left the section camp at Clarkson to come into the city, will be brought here to-day from Hamilton to testify, and Constable Peer is of the opinion that this man will be able to throw some light on the matter.

Dr. Sutton will open the enquiry at 2 o'clock this afternoon, assisted by High Constable Broddy of Brampton and County Crown Attorney W. H. McFadden of Peel County, at the Wilbur House.

He was a resident of Winnipeg and leaves a widow and grown-up family.

CITIZENS UNITE IN HONOURING A WORTHY GENTLEMAN

Peterborough's Foremost Citizens Do Honour To Fellow-Citizen

Brilliant Gathering at the Oriental Hotel Last Night, When Mr. R. M. Dennistoun Was the Guest of Honour at a Complimentary Banquet.

TRIBUTE TO HIS WORTH

Representative Citizens Who Unite in Expressing Regret at the Departure of One of the City's Most Professional Men for the West.

Never before in the life of Peterborough has a complimentary banquet been tendered to a citizen as successful, in every way, as that given last night to Mr. R. Max Dennistoun, on the occasion of his leaving Peterborough for the West. Whether regard be had to the worth and merit of the honoured guest, the high character of the representative gathering present, the spontaneous and overflowing enthusiasm of tribute, the character of the excellent addresses, and the material arrangements and accessories of the feast, the occasion was unique and set apart, par excellence. Mr. Dennistoun has been the honoured object of many farewell tributes and attentions, and we have said good-bye to two departing citizen who, by virtue of personal worth, qualities of character, in both private life and his public relations, has so efficiently, faithfully and satisfactorily discharged the duties of citizenship in all the associations citizenship involves. His Masonic brethren, his comrades in arms, his legal confreres, his co-religionists of St. John's Church, were, as the chairman pointed out, under some more or less defined obligation to take, so to speak, official cognizance of his departure, but the splendid company that gathered around the banquet board last night was under no fraternal or other compulsion than the respect due to the obligations of a common citizenship. The gathering, which was a spontaneous tribute, a voluntary ovation, of which the object has special reason to be proud, and to hold in pleasant remembrance, was, as Mr. Dennistoun remarked, composed of the best elements of Peterborough citizenship—and largely composed of the friends of his school and boyhood days.

The banquet was laid in the dining hall of the Oriental Hotel, and the appointments and menu were in keeping with the high character of the hotel's cuisine and service. The mural decorations of the hall—flags, bunting and shields, were in Turner & Sons' best style, and during the discussion of the menu the Opera House orchestra provided excellent music, and during the evening Mr. Harold Jarvis, Canada's greatest tenor, sang in splendid voice and with superb finish several stirring songs, which were received with great applause, and did much to heighten the enjoyment of an otherwise supremely enjoyable occasion.

The speeches of the evening were exceptionally good—largely inspired, of course, by the main subject—that of the guest was in particularly good taste, modest and appreciative. Altogether, the banquet was a splendid success, and no man could sever his residence relations with Peterborough under more auspicious and gratifying circumstances. Mr. Dennistoun has abundant reason to remember with pleasure, pride and satisfaction, his farewell night with his Peterborough fellow-citizens.

Letters of regret at not being able to be present were read from the following: Messrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Perth; T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Rev. Dr. Torrance, John Finlay, M.P.P.; Robert Stuart, John Stuart, Chicago; F. H. Dobbin, Col. H. C. Rogers, W. H. Robertson, Wm. Anderson, M.P.P. for East Peterborough, and H. R. H. Kenner.

The Toast List

"The King," proposed by the chairman, was honoured with loyal enthusiasm.

As vice-chairman of the banquet, Mr. P. Campbell proposed the toast to the Governor-General of Canada.

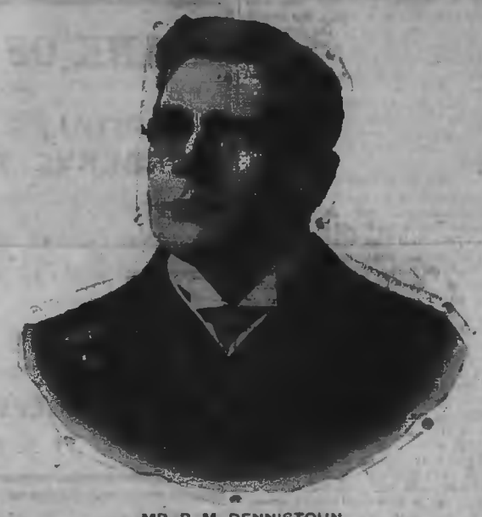
WORTHY CITIZEN TO WHOM HONOUR WAS DONE BY HIS FELLOW-CITIZENS LAST NIGHT



MR. R. M. DENNISTOUN,
Who was last night tendered a complimentary banquet by the citizens of Peterborough,

A PETERBOROUGH MAN LEFT THE CITY TO-DAY FOR HIS HOME IN PETERBOROUGH

To-day, at noon, Mr. Harry A. Linton left Peterborough, Ont., for his old home in Peterborough, Eng., where he expects to visit for some time. On Friday next he sails from St. John, N. B., on the Empress of Britain, the same steamer on which Sir Wilfrid Laurier has taken passage.

Mr. Linton is not certain whether he will return to Peterborough or not, as he expects to enter business on the other side of the Atlantic. His departure from this city is regretted by a large number of friends, whose only consolation is that he is going to a city of the same name as our own city, even if, in our minds, it is not as important. The last time Mr. Linton came out to Canada he left his native home on the day of the Peterborough Fair there, and had the unique experience of arriving in this city on the date of the Peterborough Fair here.

Brakeman Secures $700 For Injuries Received

Mr. Geo. W. Frost, Who Lost an Arm While Working on G. T. R., Gets a Settlement From the Company.

SATISFACTORY CONCLUSION

Mr. George W. Frost, who some months ago lost an arm by an accident in the G.T.R. yards here, has secured a settlement from the company and will receive about $700.00 for his injuries and the consequent impairment of his physical constitution.

On the 22nd of September Mr. Frost, a yard brakeman for the G. T. R. at Peterborough, lost his right arm through rather an extraordinary accident while shunting cars in the Peterborough yards. He was applying the brakes at the end of a moving train of six cars when through some unexpected jerk, he was thrown upon the track and between the rails, being hurled to the ground in such a manner that his head was facing the moving cars, with one arm over one of the rails. Six cars passed over him, and beyond the inevitable loss of his arm, his injuries were comparatively slight.

He brought suit against the railway company through Mr. N. Ferrar Davidson of Toronto, and the case was ready for trial, and was in fact, set down for the assizes which open here on Monday next. Several rather novel points arose in the litigation, and the defendants were contending that these could have been no jerk, beyond what is usual in shunting cars, and must have been the man's own fault, or else a pure and simple accident for which they could not be held responsible.

For the plaintiff it was urged that the mere fact of his being thrown to the ground so forcibly as to turn a somersault, and be flat upon the ground before the cars overtook him, was evidence of the very severe and unnecessary jerk. It was also urged that under the Railway Act, a series of cars being shunted is "a train," and the company have no right to move such train without having an engine attached to it and in shape to be controlled by air brakes, and that when they do fail must bear the brakes they practically take the responsibility of accidents.

These questions would probably have lead to a long litigation, which would probably not have stopped short of the Supreme Court, and Mr. Davidson for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. H. Biggar, K. C., for the defendants, got together personally and arranged a settlement, which it is understood will give the plaintiff in the neighbourhood of $700, besides his costs. As the outside limit of his claim under the "Workman's Compensation Act," would be between $1500 and $1600, or less, the settlement must be regarded as a reasonable one, especially as Mr. Frost will have the benefit of the use of the money at once, when he most needs it, instead of having to wait for the termination of what may have been a long litigation.

HOUSEBREAKERS WERE NIPPED IN THE BUD

Local Police Quickly Capture Young Fellows Who Attempt to Break Into the House.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, Fred Burley, William Wallace and Frank Fountaine, while enjoying a smile in one of the local bar-rooms, were arrested by P. C.'s Newbill and Adams for housebreaking. Coincident with this event, Magistrate Dumble was hearing the cases of two drunks who had been remanded from the morning session. Accordingly, the mill of justice was given a few more turns and the three housebreakers were given a hearing.

It seems, from the evidence, that on Monday night these young men broke into the house of Mr. Alex. Walker, East City, forcing the door and telling him to keep quiet, or they would shoot his block off. In the resulting melee, Mr. Walker made good, and the would-be robbers were routed. They were proven guilty and fined $15 to be paid by the three of them. It was learned later that Wallace and Fountaine paid over $7.50 each, which is rather easy for such an escapade. The two drunks had to pay the usual $2, on the testimony of the police who arrested them, thus substantiating the general opinion that the local police do their duty well.

SOME EXTRACTS FROM MR. DENNISTOUN'S SPEECH AT LAST NIGHT'S CITIZENS' BANQUET

"I am particularly pleased, Mr. Chairman, that you were selected to preside at this gathering.——We have been opposed to each other in many warm political contests and I appreciate your references to this phase of my life."

"I can honestly say that when the political contests were over we returned to Peterborough and buried the hatchet until the next election, and I want to say, gentlemen, that's the only way I can or could play the political game."

"I am more pleased to see friends of my youth here than I would be to see many well known outsiders, because I would rather take your good wishes than those who do not know me."

Contract Let For New C.P.R. Line

Road From Peterborough to Victoria Harbor Will be Built by Toronto Construction Company and Will be Commenced at Once

TO COST OVER $3,000,000

It will be good news to Peterborough citizens to learn that the contract for the construction of the new C.P.R. line from this city to Georgian Bay has been let and that work will be commenced at once. The Toronto Globe of to-day has the following in reference to it:—

The Canadian Pacific Railway completed a contract yesterday with the Toronto Construction Company for the building of a branch of the railway between Peterborough and Victoria Harbour. The deal involves in the neighbourhood of $3,000,000, and the line to be constructed will be over one hundred miles. Work will be started immediately. The same company have practically finished the construction of the line between Bolton and Parry Sound, and many of the labourers there will be employed on the new work. It is expected everything will be completed in a year.

It is possible that the road may be carried to Havelock instead of Peterborough in the end. The local traffic in the vicinity of the latter place might justify its entry, but on the other hand the heavy grades to be overcome would make it an expensive undertaking. In any event the new line will almost parallel the Grand Trunk Railway's line between Peterborough and Midland.

Cattle Poisoning Case Is Reported From Douro

Mysterious Death of Cattle the Property of Mr. Wm. Forsyth—Arsenic Poison the Cause of Death.

NEIGHBOURHOOD EXCITED.

Examiner Special.

Warsaw, April 2.—What is considered a mysterious case of cattle-poisoning took place on the farm of Mr. Wm. Forsyth, who resides about four miles south of here, last week. It appears that Mr. Forsyth left his cattle out in the yard and fields on Friday, and everything seemed all right in the evening, but the following morning, on going out, one was found lifeless and two others so nearly so that they only lived a short time. Dr. Johnston was called from Peterborough, and a post-mortem examination held, which showed that the animals had died of arsenic poisoning. As Mr. Forsyth has never had the drug about the place, it is hardly probable that the dose was given accidentally.

It is evident that the person or persons who were so active at poisoning last November, are still in the business, as on Tuesday night an attempt was made on a valuable collie, which, however, did not prove fatal.

WEDDING BELLS

HUNTER---MONCRIEF

At St. Andrew's manse yesterday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, a quiet wedding was celebrated, when Miss Annette Moncrief, daughter of Mr. Geo. Moncrief, of Smith, was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Hunter, a son of Mr. R. H. Hunter, of the same township, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. G. Potter. They will reside in Smith.

Easy in Lindsay

The Lindsay Post says: In Peterborough the business men are not permitted to open boxes or bales of goods on the street on Saturday, or after 12 o'clock on other days, and offenders are actually fined. In Lindsay, a merchant can throw out a few boxes or trunks in the morning and have his boy play with them all day on the pavement without it costing a cent.

OBITUARY

THOMAS TARGETT

A particularly sad death occurred at the Nicholls Hospital at 1 o'clock to-day, when Thos. Targett, but lately arrived from England, passed away. With his family, he landed at Halifax on March 23, and arrived in Peterborough on the 25th. The following day he was taken ill with pneumonia, which resulted in his demise to-day. The deceased was born in Teffont Magna, Wiltshire, England, and was 46 years of age. He was married 20 years ago to Annie Hillier, who, with a son, William Herbert, and a daughter, Florence Kate, will mourn the sudden loss of a kind father in a strange land, where they had come to build up a home. His mother also lives in England.

The deceased had several relatives in this city, Mr. H. Hillier being a brother-in-law. The funeral notice will be given later.

William Simpson Shot Two Years Two Months Old Children and Attempted to Take His Own Life

MRS. SIMPSON UNINJURED

Examiner Special.

Montreal, Que., April 3.—William Simpson, a young farmer, was brought to the city this morning suffering from self-inflicted bullet wounds, and if he recovers will have to face the serious charge of having murdered his two young children. The tragedy occurred yesterday afternoon at Simpson's home, three miles from Hudson Heights. Simpson first shot his two-months-old child, and then the other, two years old, both of them girls. He afterwards turned the gun on himself. Mrs. Simpson was present at the time, but beyond threatening her and robbing the revolver at her, her husband did her no injury.

The Husband's Jokes.

If you want to help the man you are going to marry to be strong and true, show him that you believe he has every good quality. You will raise his own self respect and bring him to the level you tell him he occupies.

And don't make the mistake of thinking it is all going to be paradise. You are going to marry a man who will come home tired, cross and fagged, and he won't find relief for all his trials in a caress and a few tender words, as he did before marriage, when they were more of a novelty. He would rather have his dinner, though he may not confess it. When he has been fed and comforted, however, he will be ready for this tenderness, and the fact that he did not feel demonstrative when his stomach was empty will be no sign that he is not still in love.

Believe in the man you take as your life's partner. Be gentle with him. Don't contradict him when he is tired. Let him think he is having his own way in his own house. Feed him with what he likes and laugh at his jokes. Herein lies the secret of a happy home.

All Ready.

The gambler armed him for the fray.
With a look of deep abstraction
He deftly stole four aces away.
"Now, let's begin," I heard him say;
"I've cleared the deck for action."

CITIZENS UNITE IN HONOURING A WORTHY CITIZEN

and the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario, and referred to the honour which he felt at being asked to propose this important toast. It was honoured in the usual patriotic manner.

Following a solo rendered by Mr. Harold Jarvis, Mr. Jas. Stevenson, ex-M.P., proposed the toast to the House of Commons, and in doing so he referred to the occasion, which he characterized as an extraordinary one. He belived that the House of Commons was doing its best to advance the interests of the country as a whole. All present, he was sure, were thankful that the completion of the Trent Canal had been promised; and, in many other respects, this section of the country had been favoured by the establishment of public works which had resulted beneficially to the communities affected. Referring to the guest of the evening, Mr. Stevenson recalled the fact that they had gathered to say farewell to one of the city's foremost men, a gentleman whom all delighted to honour, and one whom every citizen would be sorry to see leave Peterborough. In the history of this town and city, the names of three families stood out prominently, as representing men to whom great credit was due for the part they had played in the material advancement made by the community. These were the names of the Hall, the Conger and the Dennistoun families, one of the members of the latter being the gentleman who was the honoured guest of the evening. Mr. Stevenson wished Mr. Dennistoun all the success possible to attain in his new home, and expressed confidence in his future success.

Mr. R. R. Hall

In responding to this toast, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., thanked the gathering for the hearty manner in which it had been honoured. In Ottawa, while attending to his duties as a representative of this riding, he had met a number of men who were members of the House of Commons with Mr. Stevenson, and and they had all spoken in the highest respect of that gentleman. The name of Stevenson was one beloved in Ottawa, he said. It was, he remarked, a painful duty to say goodbye to his old friend, R. Max Dennistoun. Mr. A. Stevenson, the guest of the evening and himself, had been called to the bar together nineteen years ago, and that was a most glorious day for those three young men. (Laughter.) After living in the same town, and having associated with him for these nineteen years, it was hard to part from him. He was glad, however, that it was such men as Mr. Dennistoun who were going to the West—that was the kind of men needed there—and it was not hard to understand how that after having seen the golden opportunities afforded in that growing and prosperous portion of the Dominion, that its charm had proven irresistible to Mr. Dennistoun. The West, he said, needed men of high ideals and of upright moral character like Mr. Dennistoun, to build up a stalwart country, which would be truly Canadian in its tastes and ideals.

Not only would Mr. Dennistoun be missed in Peterborough, but the departure of this good wife would also be deeply regretted. In church and social life she had been a lady who was sought after and had taken her full share of duties, and many would sorrow at her departure from Peterborough. In fact he did not know of two persons who, in leaving the city, would give occasion for such universal regret.

"Our Guest"

Hon. J. R. Stratton, chairman, on rising to propose the health of "Our Guest" was very warmly received. He said that in the course of his life he had had his share of honours, his moments of satisfaction and pleasure, but never before had he felt more honour and enjoyed more pleasure than in presiding over that present gathering. In the course of his life he had had many pleasant duties to perform, but never in relation to any public or semi-public duty had he performed it with more heart-felt pleasure than proposing the toast he asked leave to propose—that of the guest of this delightful occasion. They were met as citizens to honour Mr. Dennistoun. There had been in reference to him many important gatherings in the past few weeks, but of these none were more important and significant than that occasion. We were not surprised that his Masonic brethren, bound by especial ties had joined in honouring Mr. Dennistoun on the occasion of his severing this fraternal relations. We were not surprised when he was honoured by the 57th Battalion, who stood shoulder to shoulder at the banquet in which a farewell was said to a fellow soldier, who had done his duty from a private in the ranks to the high position in authority he had reached. We were not surprised when his fellow members of the bar honoured an associate who had upheld the best traditions of the profession to which he belonged. We were not surprised that last night the congregation of St. John's, the communion with which he was associated, had honoured Mr. Dennistoun, but the church in which he held so prominent a place and which owed so much to the services he had given and to his example among them as a type of a Christian gentleman could not well do less than they had done. There was another society which had enlisted Mr. Dennistoun's activity, the Children's Aid Society, and if the poor and neglected children which had been benefitted and made happy could express their feeling of the work he had done in this direction, it would be the strongest testimonial he could have. Mr. Stratton pointed out that in all these several instances there was a certain sense of obligation to honour Mr. Dennistoun as they had done. But on the present occasion there was no compulsion to do honour to a citizen, to a man who in relation of his life in Peterborough had won the respect and esteem of every citizen. There was no compulsion in respect of this banquet except the mutual obligations of citizenship, and that fact—the spontaneity of the tribute invested this occasion with the highest significance and importance. And Mr. Dennistoun was well worthy of this exceptional honour. He had, from his youth up, by his manner of life and his associations in various relations with the community established a claim to the very highest respect, and without flattery it could be said of Mr. Dennistoun as Tennyson said of the late Prince Consort:

* * * * * *

* * though all this tract of years,
He wore the white flower of a blameless life.

Reference was made to Mr. Dennistoun's faithful and efficient services as a member of the town council. In politics he took from time to time an active part, and the speaker had had many a keen contest with him on the stump, but he had always found him an honourable opponent, who fought fairly and in the keenest of the battle never struck below the belt. No more worthy citizen had lived in Peterborough, or departed from our midst. He had not sought political honours in parliamentary matters, but Mr. Stratton playfully remarked that it had been only his political principles which kept him out of Parliament. No man in Peterborough stood higher in the esteem of the people of the community. Mr. Dennistoun had a wide range of sympathy. Not only in the more serious interests of the community did he take an interest, but he had a warm interest in manly sports. He would be missed on the golf links and no more would his wight winged dingby tempt the temperuous turbulance of Mud Lake. In fine, he bettered everything he touched. He always set a good example as a man and a citizen—always acted the manly part and was in every respect a gentleman in every department of citizenship. We were not selfish, but we envied Winnipeg the possession of such a citizen. In conclusion Mr. Stratton said:—"Gentlemen I ask you to charge your glasses to the the brim and drink deep to the health of the guest of the evening—a scholar, a gentleman and a jolly, good fellow—all round and through and through."

The Guests' Reply

In rising to respond to the toast in his honour, Mr. Dennistoun was greeted with rounds of applause, the whole gathering rising and singing in a most enthusiastic manner — in a way which left no doubt as to the genuineness of the feelings which were behind the words, "For He's a Jolly, Good Fellow."

Mr. Dennistoun, in his opening sentences, said, "Mr. Chairman, Mr. Vice-Chairman, and gentlemen, I assure you that to stand here, as I do to-night, and look around this room, and see represented here all that is best in this city of ours, and to remember that you are met here to extend your good wishes to me, it is enough to overwhelm me, and it is with great difficulty that I express what is in my heart on this occasion. The hearty way in which you have honoured the toast to my health will live long in my memory, I assure you, and I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you, Mr. Chairman, and the Vice-Chairman, and Secretary, as well as the members of the committee for your part in this splendid farewell demonstration. I am particularly pleased, Mr. Chairman, that you were selected to preside at this gathering, and for the reasons you have mentioned.

"We have been opposed to each other in many warm political contests, and I appreciate your references to this phase of my life. I can heartily say that when the political contests were over, we returned to Peterborough, buried the hatchet until the next election, and attended to our business; and I want to say, gentlemen, that's the only way I can, or could, play the political game."

Continuing, Mr. Dennistoun said that he could not take all the flattering things which had been said to himself. His mind went back to the days of his boyhood, when his grandfather told the tales of the early days of the settlement of Peterborough. The latter had handed down these traditions to the speaker's revered father, and he felt in making these reflections on the past that he was representing not himself, but the family whose name he bore.

If he had any hall-mark, it was that of Peterborough, for his father and mother were born here; his wife was born in Peterborough, as he was himself, and his children were born here. He would like to know if anyone in the room had as good a pedigree as that?

His youth was spent in the schools and Collegiate Institute of Peterborough, and here he had formed the friendships of his life. He was more pleased to see gathered around the board scores of men whith whom, as boys, he had associated, and he was more pleased to see them, the friends of this youth, there than he would have been to see many from outside who had not known him in his early days and with whom he was not so intimate. He would rather take with him their good wishes than those who did not know him so well.

It was a fearful wrench, he said to pull out the hundreds of little roots which anchored his affections to the home of his birth. There would be to him only pleasant memories of his life in Peterborough.

Mr. Dennistoun referred to his relations with the members of the legal profession in Peterborough and said that they had always been of the most pleasant character. The members of the profession, he had found, were all gentlemen, and there were none who were not his personal friends. His relations with the citizens, as a whole, too, were of the most pleasant character, and he had found that, when occasion demanded it, they could drown their personal feelings for the general good of the city.

The question had been asked him frequently as to why he had decided to leave the East and go to the West. That, he remarked, was a difficult question to answer. Men engaged in commercial pursuits occupied a different position from those practising a profession. The former placed themselves in touch with the outside world by reason of the fact that their products found markets outside the community in which they lived. In the professions, however, the work done by those practising them was done in a comparatively limited area, and if a member of any of the professions desired a larger sphere than that afforded in the particular community in which he lived he had to seek it by a removal, and, while he thought it might be presumption on his part, he had decided to go to the West and settle in Winnipeg, which, he believed, in a short time would be the commercial metropolis of Canada.

"I am," said Mr. Dennistoun, "going to make the attempt, and if all fails I can still come back here." (Hear, hear.) In concluding his excellent speech, Mr. Dennistoun said: "In saying good-bye, I am simply shaking hands with you as men of affairs, men who travel, and I take it for granted that you will be passing through the West, and assume that you will not pass through Winnipeg without looking me up, and I shall again have the pleasure of renewing your acquaintance and entertaining you, unless you should all decide to come at once.

"I thank the gentlemen for the very kind reference to my wife. She is a brave woman, and I can assure you that in deciding to take this step she is standing behind me, and I am satisfied that I shall do much better out there as a team than as a single horse, and, in conclusion, I can only say, 'God bless you.'" Mr. Dennistoun resumed his seat amid deafening applause.

Following Mr. Dennistoun's speech Mr. Jarvis was again heard with delight, his selection being, "The Death of Nelson," and as an encore, "Boots Who Has."

Mr. D. O'Connell

In proposing the toast to "Municipal Institutions," Mr. D. O'Connell referred to them as being of great importance from the fact that the municipality was an institution embodying a class of persons entrusted with the money of the public. Ample justice, he believed, had been done by the governing bodies of this country. Subjects of national importance had been entrusted to both the Provincial and Dominion governing bodies, but the speaker considered that the problems left in the hands of the municipal governments were of far greater importance. The greatness of a city, commercially, depends largely on the class and the abilities of the men in whom the people of that city place their trust, and he believed that the municipalities which are going to be the centres of prominence in our country depend upon the judgment and energy of those in whom the people put their trust for the next ten years to come.

Peterborough, said the speaker, has natural and artificial advantages unexcelled by any other city in the Province, so that its future greatness now rests solely with the abilities of the men in charge of its affairs.

He next referred to the departure of Mr. Dennistoun — the honoured guest of the evening. During his own professional career in the city, which covered a period of some ten or twelve years, Mr. O'Connell had been more or less active, but the professional career of the guest of honour, he said, had been exceedingly active. They had fought against each other the legal battles of their respective clients, and they had put forward as strenuous fights as they possibly could, but the moment the battle was over the hatchets were buried, their friendships were as strong as ever.

Mayor McWilliams

After the toast to the Municipalities was heartily drunk, the Mayor rose to respond. He was pleased that the Council, which had been working strenuously for some time, could now afford to take a night off to enable him to be present at the banquet on behalf of the citizens, and to pay a tribute to the departing citizen. Few men, he said, have devoted more time to the public interests of Peterborough than Mr. Dennistoun, and in making that statement, he believed he was expressing the views of the citizens. Mr. Dennistoun had been in the city council a few years ago and had used this best energies and abilities for the advancement of the municipality. Even when the had severed his connection with that body he still had taken an active interest in the city's welfare. He felt that his departure was not more keenly felt than that of his estimable wife who had done so much good in Peterborough.

The speaker next referred to the dominating feature which prevails, not only in municipal politics, but also in those of a national character—Municipal Ownership. He spoke of the construction by the government of railways and canals and the managing and operation of them. The characteristic dominating the present age was governmental management of great business enterprises and he believed a country could be wrecked or developed by the men the people place at the head of affairs as their representatives. He mentioned the success which has accompanied the taking over of the water works by the city and stated that the council's object was to place as many of the public utilities in their hands as possible.

In concluding his address the Mayor extended his regrets on behalf of the city for the departure of one of Peterborough's most prominent citizens and hoped that he and his family would meet with success in their new home.

Warden McNutty

The County Council was represented by Warden McNutty, who also spoke in response to the toast on Municipalities. It afforded him a great deal of pleasure, he said, to be present as a citizen of the county to join with the citizens of the city in doing honour to such a prominent guest as Mr. Dennistoun. The guest had always been recognized as one of the foremost citizens of the county as well as the city and in doing honour to him the county was doing honour to themselves. He assured Mr. Dennistoun that on leaving Peterborough he was carrying away with him the best wishes of the whole county.

It was a pleasure for him to be present on behalf of his colleagues of the county council and with all sincerity he hoped on their behalf that the departing citizen would realise his expectations in his new home in the metropolis of the Canadian West.

Every move, said the Warden, to advance the interests of the county and city, had been jointly made and as illustrations referred to the Trent Canal deputation, the National Dairy Show, the Normal School and the Armouries. It was gratifying to him, he said, to have the privilege of representing a population of over 21,000 and to show that the county considered the city's interests to be the interests of the county as well. In conclusion he remarked that the great loss which Peterborough has sustained by Mr. Dennistoun's departure would be a gain to Winnipeg.

Mr. L. M. Hayes

The toast to the Financial, Agricultural, Manufacturing and Mercantile interests, was ably proposed by Mr. L. M. Hayes. They were interests, he said, in which all were concerned, and which should be respected by everyone. In referring to Mr. Dennistoun's departure, he stated that as a brother practitioner who had been associated with him for a number of years, he knew that the city was losing a fast friend and a Christian gentleman.

Coupled with this toast were Messrs. Jno. Crane, D. Hughes Charles, representing the financial interests; Ed. M. Elliott, the agricultural; W. H. Denham, T. F. Matthews, E. G. Patterson and W. H. Maldrum, the manufacturing, and Robert Fair, the mercantile interests of the city.

Following this toast was a song entitled "Nobody" by Mr. W. S. Davidson, so heartily received that he was called upon to respond to an encore.

The Learned Profession

The "Learned Professions" were then honoured by Mr. W. H. Hill and responded to by Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Father McColl, Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt on behalf of the church; Messrs. E. A. Peck, D. W. Dumble, W. H. Moore and Magistrate Edmison on behalf of the Law; Doctors Boucher, Halliday and Carmichael on behalf of medicine and Mr. Jno. Belcher on behalf of the Civil Engineers.

Mr R. M. Dennistoun proposed the toast to the chairman and with the singing of God Save the King, the banquet was brought to a fitting close.

COMPLICATIONS ARISE FROM JUNK DEALER'S CASE

Tuesday's Case Has Been Somewhat Transformed and More "Police Court" May Result.

There was no session at the Police Court to-day, but a little more light was thrown upon the junk dealer's case that was heard yesterday morning. Mandall Bros. had to pay John Doig $10 for a quantity of rubbers and lead which the former were alleged to have stolen, but if the statements made by Wm. Duncan, Chas. Colvin and Mandall Bros. are true, a mistake has been made. As told to the reporter by these men, Doig brought some questionable junk (rubbers, etc.) to Wm. Duncan's on Sunday afternoon when Mr. Duncan was not at home. He then said that the Jews had stolen his stuff from his own barn, and he had the Jews arrested. This morning they stated that he sold the original rubbers to Mr. Geo. Stevens, and thus the affair in taking on many complications. Mandall Bros. say that they will take the case to court.

MR. ELLIOT'S CHARACTER NOT DAMAGED

Arrested Here for Theft and Taken to Toronto—Case Was Dismissed.

Wm. A. Elliott, the man who was arrested here the other day and taken to Toronto to answer a charge of theft, returned to the city last night with a clean character. It appears that a rumour had gotten abroad that a theft charge had been laid against Mr. Elliott, but instead of that it was merely a charge of non-appearance in court. The accused successfully explained to the Toronto court that the reason he had left the city was that he had obtained a position in Peterborough and had overlooked attending. The matter was satisfactorily settled yesterday and Mr. Elliott is again at his work in the city.

A Toronto despatch says:—

For not obeying a summons, Wm. A. Elliott was arrested and locked up at Peterborough. The complainant explained that he had paid the accused for turning out some window and door sashes, which proved to be the wrong size. The matter was not rectified to Hallett's satisfaction and Elliott said the reason was that he had been ill of pneumonia.

Shortly afterwards matters were rectified and the case was dismissed.

JOHNNY CANUCK.

(Our Ideal.)

Johnny Canuck is the boy to win,
He starts by loving his mother;
He kisses her cheek and he strokes her hair,
And vows there's never another.
She hates tobacco, and cards, and gin,
He answers her sending, "I'm yours to win."
Here's to Jack and his mother!

Johnny Canuck is the boy to win,
When it comes to a case of voting,
He knows his mind and he knows his man,
He's alive and shrewdc at noting.
He holds that to stand by a wrong is sin,
So he votes for the right, and he votes to win.
Here's to Jack and his voting!

Johnny Canuck is the boy to win,
When off he goes a-courting,
His girl is sweet, and his heart is true,
And keen in love's pursuing.
He runs no risks, keeps his hand well in,
He's dead in earnest, and woos to win.
Here's to Jack and his wooing!

Johnny Canuck is the boy to win,
On foot or in the saddle.
He's not a morsel afraid of work,
With hammer, or plough, or paddle,
Give him his task, show him how to begin,
He'll master the job, and he'll work to win.
Here's to Jack and his paddle!

Johnny Canuck is the boy to win,
On march or in the trenches.
When shot and shell go whizzing by,
His brave cheek never blanches.
When the captain falls and the ranks grow thin,
Johnny fights on, and he fights to win.
Here's to Jack in the trenches!

Johnny Canuck is the boy to win,
Whenever he's left on duty.
Has a big, kind heart and a level head,
And a good man's love of beauty.
To all who need him he's next of kin,
He lives for the right, and he lives to win.
Here's to Jack at his duty!

Toronto. Camilla Sanderson.

The above patriotic poem, from the pen of Miss Sanderson, a former Peterborough lady, appeared in the Toronto Globe, of Saturday, March 23rd. In the former poem published in the Examiner written by Miss Sanderson, a mistake occurred. In the last verse the word "trust" should have read "seed."

RECEIPTS FROM T. A. S. ST. PATRICK'S CONCERT

Statement Made by Committee in Charge Names Net Proceeds at $200.00

The concert held under the auspices of the T. A. S., on the 17th of March, was a decided success, as the report of the committee showed. It was presented on Sunday last at the regular meeting and showed a balance of about $200 to the Society's credit. This should be most encouraging and reflects credit upon the T. A. S., as a whole, but, especially on the young men who formed the managing committee. Of course those who took part in it as entertainers, deserve mention, and in fact all those connected with it, are responsible for this new success. As was stated in a previous issue the dramatic section of the Society may be under its own charge next year, and as such should achieve even greater results, both histrionically and financially.

BIG DROP IN PIANOS

AT THE

J.M. Greene Music Co.

Why the Mechanism of a Piano is More to be Considered Than the Tone:

1st—Because it matters not how beautiful the tone if the manufacture has not above all other qualities considered durability. A question often asked by the meditative buyer is: How long will the tone of the Piano under consideration remain? Will it become metallic or panny, or will it become more pleasing to the ear? Those are only reasonable questions for the intelligent buyer to inquire into. If a Piano needs a Tuner to doctor it, every time it is moved there is something seriously deficient in the construction. This should not and need not be the case. If a Piano becomes tinny or panny, as is often termed, there is a reason. It should not be, and need not, if the Piano is constructed on the right principles. There are, it is too true, too many manufacturers of Pianos, as well as manufacturers of other Goods, who are satisfied or trying to make themselves believe the old way good enough for the present time. Surely the manufacturer who reasons this way need not be surprised if he should find his trade falling off. The progressive and intelligent Piano Maker should keep in mind what the thinking, intelligent public are demanding to-day. How would the musical public like to go back to the Egyptian, thirty centuries before Christ, when at that time the people were content to have an instrument known to them as the Clavichord?

Those are thoughts that suggest themselves to the manufacturers of the To-day Wonderful New Scale Williams Co., of Oshawa. This progressive and enterprising Company have accomplished what the musical critics of this country claim for

THE OFFICIAL BOARD'S APPRECIATION

Uxbridge Methodist Church Board Expresses Regret at Departure of Mr. John Tisdale to Peterborough.

The North Ontario Times, of Uxbridge, in a recent issue has the following reference to a gentleman who has become a citizen of Peterborough: At a meeting of the official board of the Methodist church the following resolution was carried unanimously. It was moved by Mr. T. C. Nicholls, seconded by Mr. S. F. Chapin, that this official board meeting of the Uxbridge Methodist church learns with deep regret of the departure of our fellow member, Mr. John Tisdall, from our midst. For about thirteen years, Mr. Tisdall has laboured with great success in our church, occupying successively the positions of class leader, Sunday school teacher, president of the Epworth League and superintendent of the Sunday school, and has also been very useful in every department of church and Sunday school work. We bear cheerful testimony of his zeal, worth and attainments and high Christian character, and the thanks of this official board are hereby tendered Mr. Tisdall. We feel very keenly the loss we are sustaining by his removal and we congratulate the Methodist church of Peterborough on the splendid acquisition they will receive. We believe that every man, woman and child in our church has been encouraged and blessed by his noble efforts. Our prayer is that God may grant to him success in all his future undertakings and we assure him that we shall always hear with pleasure of his prosperity.

Immense Quantities of Gold and Other Minerals Yielded in a Decade—Great Wheat Production.

5,000,000,000 BUSHELS

Examiner Special

London, March 30. — Remarkable figures which enable one to realize the immense wealth which is every year produced from the 11,314,000 square miles which comprise the British Empire, are contained in the Statistical Abstract of the British Empire, just issued in the form of a yellow book.

Calculations from the figures contained therein show thatt within the past ten years the Empire has yielded to its inhabitants the following:

Coal	£976,000,000
Diamonds	55,000,000
Gold	288,000,000
Silver	10,000,000
Copper	28,000,000
Tin	64,000,000

In addition to these items which represent a total wealth of £1,415,000,000, the Empire has also provided within the ten years the following valuable products:

Iron ore, tons	115,000,000
Pig iron, tons	95,000,000
Wheat, bush	4,850,000,000
Barley, bush	970,000,000
Oats, bush	3,400,000,000
Maize, bush	370,000,000
Wine, gallons	110,000,000
Tea, pounds	3,600,000,000
Coffee, pounds	420,000,000
Raw sugar, cwt	560,000,000
Rubber, pounds	103,000,000
Cotton, pounds	12,000,000,000

This by no means exhausts the wealth that is produced from and on the land of the Empire. Among its other possessions are:

Horses	7,000,000
Horned cattle	119,400,000
Sheep	152,000,000

It is interesting to note that the sheep produce between them 872,000,000 pounds of wool every year.

FIRST DRILL OF THE RANGERS

Initial Turnout Last Night Was a Large One—Men are Enthusiastic.

The first drill of the 57th Regiment for the year was held last night, and the turnout was remarkably good considering the earliness of the season. About two hundred men were on hand, and many recruits were taken on the strength of the regiment.

There was only a short drill last night, the time being taken up in fitting up the men. A few minutes were spent in squad drill, after which the men were dismissed until next week.

The prospects before the regiment this year are very bright, and there will be no difficulty found in keeping the regiment up to its numerical strength. The officers and men are very enthusiastic over their work, and everything points to a most successful season.

BIRTHDAY PARTY AT SALVATION ARMY HALL

Adjt. Wiggins Innovates a New Form of Social Evening.

A novelty in the line of socials will be held in the Salvation Army Barracks on Thursday night, instituted by Adjutant Wiggins. Every year, the adjutant holds a birthday party in whichever corps he is in charge of, and they have always been great successes. It fact, it is the anniversary of his own birthday, but he had made it a social evening for all the members of the corps. Everyone who attends brings a little contribution, generally the same number of cents as there are years in their age. A musical programme will be presented, and everyone will be made to feel at home. Refreshments will be served by a committee of ladies, and the audience may mingle in social intercourse.

A large number of the members of the corps and outsiders should be present and assure a hearty good time.

CARD OF THANKS

Having disposed of my grocery business, (corner of George and Antrim streets) to Messrs. E. F. Mason & Co., I desire to thank my many customers and friends for the kind patronage so freely given during that owing to impaired health and some other considerations, I have arranged to sever my connections with a business that has had my unceasing care and attention, and that has grown with the growth of the city. I take this means of expressing my thankfulness, as it is impossible to call and do so in person. I also wish to say that the business has been acquired by, and is in good hands, and I am sure that every care and attention will be given in the future, as I have tried to give in the past. I bespeak for my successors a trial and a continuation of the patronage so kindly favoured to myself, and feel assured that in larger hands, there will be substantial advantages to the customer.

The Subject Was: Resolved That Manufacture is More Benefitial Than Farming.

Last evening the regular fortnightly debate was held in the T. A. S. hall by the debating society. The attendance was fairly large and encouraging. The subject was resolved, that manufacturing is more beneficial to a community than farming. The subject was treated generally and some good speeches resulted. Mr. Jos. Maher and Mr. Frank Hayes upheld the affirmative side and were opposed by Mr. Sam Anglesey and Mr. Jos. Begley. Mr. Jas. Fox acted in the capacity of chairman in a very satisfactory manner.

The decision was left to the chairman to award and his favour was given to the afirmative party. Next Tuesday evening is the date of the next debate.

A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering from loss of strength.

YELLOW FEVER THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Mr. E. T. Hammet, Formerly Manager of Bank of Nova Scotia Here, is Dead.

Mr. J. H. Ferguson, local manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has received the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. Eldridge T. Hammett, the assistant inspector of the bank, a gentleman well known and respected by many Peterborough citizens. His demise occurred on Monday at Trinidad, caused by an attack of yellow fever. Mr. Hammett was in Trinidad in the interests of his bank.

Mr. Hammett was the immediate predecessor of Mr. Ferguson as manager of the bank's branch in this city, coming here from Halifax in February, 1905, and remaining in charge of the bank until July of the same year, when he was promoted to the position of assistant inspector.

While in Peterborough, Mr. Hammett and his wife, who resided at 14 Murray street, made many friends. Mr. Hammett was a member of the Peterborough Club, and also of the Golf Club. He was an enthusiastic and expert golfer. The deceased was noted for his intense loyalty to his bank, which won him the respect of his superiors and resulted in rapid promotion.

The late Mr. Hammett was born on February 1, 1870. He is survived by a wife and one child, residing in Moncton, N.B.

Dandruff is Caused By A Germ That Saps The Hair's Vitality

It is now a settled fact that dandruff is caused by a germ. Falling hair and baldness are the result of dandruff. Dr. E. J. Beardsley, of Champaign, Ill., got hold of the new preparation, Newbro's Herpicide — the only one that kills the dandruff germ. He says: "I used Herpicide for my dandruff and falling hair and I am well satisfied with the result." Dr. J. T. Fugate, of Urbana, Ill., says, "I have used Herpicide for dandruff with excellent results. I shall prescribe it in my practice." Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Physicians as well as the general public say so. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1. He has experienced a satisfactory growth in his business and in order to keep up with its demands has found it necessary to add another chair. All this is evidence that satisfactory work has been done in the past by Mr. Lewis and his staff.

MISSION SUNDAY WAS OBSERVED

An Interesting Programme Presented at Charlotte Street Methodist Sunday School.

Last Sunday afternoon the session of the Charlotte street Methodist church Sunday School was one of special interest. It was Missionary Sunday, and was in charge of the Missionary Committee of the Epworth League, the president of which society, Mr. Horsley being the leader. Special music was provided for the occasion by the Sunday School Orchestra, and a special feature of the musical service was a selection by a male chorus. A paper was read by Miss Mary Collins on Missions, and other papers were read during the session by Miss Lulu Bushnell and Mr. Ira Moore, whose subject was, The famine in China. The secretary of the school, Mr. Percy Hamilton, read the report of the school for the past quarter, which showed that the total attendance was 4,795, the average being 307, and the largest attendance on any one Sunday was 418, with the smallest, 316. The total collections amounted to $1,321.70, the average per Sunday being $10.21. The largest was $16.30 and the smallest, $7.99. During the quarter there were 179 visitors to the school. The average attendance of teachers and officers was 37. The following classes were reported as having the honour of contributing the largest collections in their respective divisions:—Mr. Cunningham, Miss Emmerson, Miss F. Wilson, Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, Miss Coe, Miss Morrow.

THE FLYER TO RUN TO BELLEVILLE

This is a Rumour That is Afloat in G. T. R. Circles.

There is a rumour in Grand Trunk Railway circles to the effect that a sleeping car will be attached to the flyer, and that instead of Peterborough being the end of the route, the run will be continued to Belleville. The flyer arrives in this city about 10.05 p.m. from Toronto, and has proved to be of great assistance to the people of the Midland district on the G.T.R. line. The return trip is made at 7.20 a.m., when it leaves for Toronto.

The purpose of extending the run to Belleville is that it may connect with the evening express, which passes through the lake towns from Toronto to Montreal. The connection would be made at midnight, and should be a further boon to those using the railway between Belleville and towns between there and Toronto. In the event of this project being carried out, travellers could take the flyer and connect at Belleville with the main line, instead of going by an earlier train to Toronto and there making connections.

It certainly looks like another forward step in completing a good train service between the main line and this branch, and there are many who would like to see its inception.

Dilapidated Farm Labourer Complains Of Ill Treatment

Frozen Fingers Were Uncared For —Sent as a Vagrant to Jail by the Magistrate to Await Further Developments.

WAS NOT PAID HIS WAGES

Charles A. Renoy, an English labourer, on the farm of Mortimer Hailey, near Westwood, when brought before County Magistrate Edmison, this morning on a charge of vagrancy, complained that he has been ill-treated by his employer. He was brought to the city this morning by High County Constable Cochrane, who arrested him at Hailey's residence last night, and was sentenced to one month in the county jail, there to await further developments.

He claims that he has been ill-used at the place where he worked and that he hasn't received the money due to him. His fingers had been frozen during the winter, and were not properly cared for, so that he has been unable to work for some time. It is probable that the case will be looked into by the authorities to get at the facts bearing on the case.

KILLED WHILE LYING ON THE TRACKS

Walter Drummond, Supposedly a Peterborough Man Killed in Houpt, Minnesota.

The following is a copy of a letter received by Chief Rossel from a man in Houpt, Minn., regarding the death of Thomas Drummond:

Houpt, Minn., March 28, 1907.

To the Chief of Police or Postmaster at Peterborough, Ont., Canada:

Gentlemen, — No doubt you will be somewhat surprised to hear from me, being a total stranger to you, but the reason is that a man was killed on the M. and I. R. R. not far from this village, and was buried at Northbome, Minn., 8 miles from here.

Now, I am not interested in any way, only I heard some woodsmen say that he formerly lived in your city, Peterborough, Canada. If such is the case, it might be doing some good to let his people know it, if they still live there. All that was found on his person was a postal card, addressed to Tom Drummond. I am informed that he was some time known under the name of Tom Dennes.

Now, gentlemen, if you think this worth your consideration please look it up. The man was a stranger in a strange land, and I presume, without friends or money.

Enclosed, find clippings from newspapers.

Yours truly,
DAVE McALLISTER,
Houpt, Minn.

YUONG MEN'S GUILD DISCUSSED EXCURSION

St. Andrew's Young Men Will Run Usual Trip to Stony Lake Again this Year.

The Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church met last night, and discussed the question of the annual excursion which will be held in all probability, about the end of June. The trip this year will be taken to Stony Lake as usual, though the route has not yet been decided on. There was a good attendance of the members last night and an interesting discussion on matters of moment to the Guild resulted.

A modest account of $1,292.50 has been presented to the city of Toronto by William Bennett, deputy registrar, East Toronto, as follows: "In account with Peter Ryan, registrar of the eastern division, to copying 1342 instruments relating to that part of the township of York known as Northeast Rosedale, annexed to the city of Toronto on the first day of January, 1906, said instruments containing 12,925 folios at 10 cents per folio." The communication has been referred to the city solicitor.

TWO BREAKS IN THE WATER PIPES

The Stores in the Neighbourhood Were Flooded—Break Being Repaired.

The Water Commissioners are having trouble with their water pipes these days. Yesterday morning a pipe broke in front of the Times Bookstore, which resulted in the cellar of the establishment being flooded and damage done to the paper stock. A staff of men were placed to work at once and the break was repaired as soon as possible. The water had to be turned off in the meantime, and people in that section had to do without the fluid.

This morning a break occurred in front of the Bee Hive, and the cellars of the stores in the neighbourhood received an over-dose of water. The pipe is being repaired as quickly as possible.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE MOON

Full Moon, July 5th, 1906—"It shall be established firm as the moon and as a faithful witness."

The Examiner is indebted to Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, for the above photo of the moon taken by him on July 5th, 1906, with his own telescope, and for the facts of the following article:—The mean distance of the moon from the earth is 240,000 miles, which is comparatively speaking a very short span for the modern telescope to bridge. The moon, therefore, because of its close proximity to the earth can be studied very satisfactorily.

Its physical features are accurately known. The origin of the moon, however, is a matter of discussion. There are many theories entertained, some regarding it as a direct child of the sun, others that it was formed from nebulosity, while others again hold that it was thrown off from our earth, while the latter body was in a plastic state. Whatever may have been the origin of the moon there is no question as to the cause of the wonderful configuration of the lunar surface, which is very rough, and mountainous, individual conical mountains, ring mountains and great mountain ranges some of which rise abruptly 27,000 feet from the lunar plains. At the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, Peterborough section to be held on Friday evening, April 5th, in the Y.M.C.A. hall the President, Rev. Dr. Marsh in his inaugural lecture address to the Society will deal with "The Telescope" and his lecture will be illustrated with limelight, its construction and how to use it. The lecture will be interesting and instructive and will, no doubt be a fair sample of the many lectures members of the Society will have the privilege of hearing from time to time. The meeting commences precisely at 8 o'clock when the President will give the exact time to a fraction of a second, by stellar observations of that day both of sederial time and mean time. To this meeting the members of the Society cordially invite their friends and those who desire to join this society, as this will be the last opportunity of becoming charter members. The membership fee is only $2.00 a year, for which the members receive during the year six to eight books giving current astronomical data and information, and will virtually place them in touch with the entire astronomical world. If you read the above and are interested you are invited, but please be seated at 7.57, as the lecture will begin sharp at 8 o'clock.

A CANADIAN INVENTOR'S EXPERIENCE

An Interesting Incident by a Famous Patentee.

Mr. William Wilson, of Craigie Villa, London, Ont., the inventor of the Wilson Fruit Case, now adopted by the Canadian Government, tells an interesting experience which shows the healing and antiseptic value of Zam-Buk, the herbal balm. He says, "I had two poisoned wounds on my leg, which were very sore and inflamed. They caused me much pain and suffering, and although I tried several salves they refused to heal. Zam-Buk was recommended and I applied some. It acted splendidly and in a very short time healed the wounds.

"At another time I sustained a nasty cut. Zam-Buk took away the soreness almost instantly and soon closed and healed the wound. I have also used Zam-Buk for other injuries and I have no hesitation in expressing my high opinion of its value; it is, without doubt, a splendid household balm!"

Zam-Buk cures blood poison, cuts bruises, old wounds, running sores, ulcers, boils, spring eruptions, scalp sores, eczema, itch, barber's itch burns, scalds, and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or from Zam-Buk Company, Toronto, for price. Remember, it is purely herbal!

TATE OPTICAL CO'Y

G. N. BABCOCK, Eye Specialist

412½ GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS —During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

THE BASEBALL CLUB UNDERWAY

Officers Were Elected at Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Bright Prospects.

PLAY INDEPENDENT BALL

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club was held last night at the Little Windsor Hotel, and judging by the enthusiasm displayed, the season should be a flourishing one. There is all kinds of material in the city for a fast club and while the nine will not be found in the Midland League ranks, games will be arranged with the best amateur teams in the province and some fine ball may be expected.

There was a good attendance of those interested in baseball and great interest was displayed in the game. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

Hon. President—Mayor McWilliams.
President—Harry Neil.
1st Vice-President—Wm. Rudkins.
2nd Vice-President—D. B. McRae.
Manager—A. Johnston.
Sec.-Treas.—R. M. Glover.
Asst. Sec.-Treas.—Fred D. Craig.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Neil, Glover and Johnston.

The prospects for the season were discussed and it was decided to play as many exhibition games as possible. The Otonabee Navigation Company are arranging for cheap trips from Toronto during the season and the club will benefit by these inasmuch as they will be able to bring teams down from the Queen City without much expense.

A double header has already been arranged with the Aretics one of the strongest teams in Toronto for the 24th of May.

The team will begin practice on Saturday on the Murray street grounds and any players wishing to turn out are cordially invited to do so.

FALL RIVER TEAM IS COMING HERE

Champion New Englanders Will Line Up Against the Peterborough Quakers.

Word was received yesterday from Mr. J. A. MacPherson, of the Toronto Scots by the secretary of the Quakers that the champion Fall River team of New England, would play in Peterborough on their tour through Canada. The offer made by the Peterborough Quakers after their reorganization meeting was acceptable to Mr. MacPherson, their Canadian representative. The Fall River team will play here on Wednesday, May 29th, according to the schedule arranged. They come here from Toronto and go direct to Montreal. The game will be the finest exhibition of Association Football ever seen in Peterborough and many lovers of the sport are anxiously awaiting to see the match.

BASKETBALL MEN TO PLAY AT FOOTBALL

Challenge of Combined Team Accepted by the Others.

The basketball men have decided to enter the football arena and next week will probably see a great game. Lang's and Dobbin's teams jointly threw down the gauntlet to Best's and Richardson's men and immediately the challenge was accepted by the latter. Many of the players have never seen a real football so that the contest will no doubt be of the burlesque variety. The date of the match has not yet been arranged but will be decided upon to-night at the conclusion of the basketball games.

The teams will be chosen from the following players:—

Challengers—E Best, G Robertson, Lang, Dobson, Elliott, Dobbin, Cressman, Turner, Brass, Loomis, Campbell, Sherwood.

Challenged—R Best, Weatherstone, Darling, Staunton, Huston, Emmerson, Richardson, Fitzgerald, Yelland, Wallace, McRae, Culley.

ATHLETIC CONTEST ON THE TWENTY FOURTH

Silver Trophy Donated by Mr. J. J. Howden, to Be Competed For.

The Harriers Club intend holding a grand athletic contest on the 24th of May. This was the decision reached at the meeting last night, and although arrangements have not been altogether completed the prospects are that the day will be an important one in athletics.

Mr. J. J. Howden has kindly consented to put up a silver trophy for the contest, to be presented to the athlete making the highest number of points.

The club also decided to begin next Wednesday evening their out door sprinting.

fined to the Y.M.C.A. Harriers, but will be open to all amateurs of the city and vicinity, the cup and sports, however, to be controlled by the Y. M.C.A. The executive will meet shortly and draw up the schedule of sports for the trophy. The advisability of forming football and baseball teams were also considered.

A team composed of five men will in all probability be sent away in the fall to compete for the coveted Penman trophy, which is put up for track competition each year to year.

WHITCROFT'S WORK WAS SATISFACTORY

A special despatch from Kenora states that the Kenora Hockey Club has disbanded for the season and the players have been paid off. Whitcroft, of Peterborough, the despatch adds, will return next year, having given the best satisfaction by his work.

ANNUAL MEETING OF O. A. F. L.

Held in Toronto on Easter Monday—Mr. J. E. Sullivan Tells the Foot Ball Men a Few Things.

LEAGUE STRICTLY AMATEUR

The Midland League representative, Mr. J. E. Sullivan, to the O.A.F.L. annual meeting in Toronto on Monday, has returned home after successfully placing before that body the unfair manner in which the Peterborough Quakers were turned down in connection with Ontario championship games last year. His objections to this treatment, according to the Toronto press, were the features of the meeting.

Mr. Sullivan was elected to the Match Committee of the Ontario League, so that next year it is possible that the winners of the Midland League will be treated better.

The amendment regarding allowing professionals and amateurs to play with or against each other was turned down so that football, at least, will be strictly amateur in the Ontario League. The chief amendment which passed is that the referee will be required to toot the whistle twice in case of rough play, after which he shall decide which team gets the free kick.

Mr. Wm. Melroy, president of the Midland League, was elected one of the vice-presidents of the O.A.F.L.

THE GOLF CLUB MAY HOLD A BALL

In Order to Provide Funds for the New Fence Around the Club Property.

A meeting of the members of the Golf and Country Club will be held in the Montreal Bank chambers, Ontario Bank branch, on Thursday night, for the purpose of considering the advisability of holding an entertainment in order to raise funds to build a fence around the club property. It is probable that a ball will be held for this purpose in the near future.

BASKETBALL

The semi-finals of the spring basketball league will be played at the Y.M.C.A. to-night, and two exciting contests are looked for. At eight o'clock Best's team plays Dobbin's and at 9 Richardson's bunch lines up against Laing's. The winners of these games will play off for the championship honours next Wednesday evening.

FOOTBALL

The Peterborough Quakers will hold a full practice to-night at 6.30 o'clock. All interested in the game are requested to be present.

COATES CO'S BY-LAW TO BE WITHDRAWN

Will Not be Included When the Bill Comes Up Before Committee.

The City's Private Bill will come up before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature for final approval on Thursday and the Mayor and City Solicitor Hall will go to Toronto to look after the city's interests.

There will be a change in the Bill inasmuch as the council Monday night decided to withdraw the clause relating to the Coates Company. It is hoped that the negotiations with that concern may be resumed in a short time and the clause giving authority for an execution of an agreement with the company may be introduced then.

It is stated that Mr. Gouin, Premier of Quebec, will leave on a trip to Europe at the end of the month.

ACCUSES U. S. PRESIDENT.

Harriman Was Asked For Funds to Save Party.

New York, April 3.—A sensation was created here yesterday by the publication of a letter written in December last and addressed to Sidney Webster of New York and signed "E. H. Harriman." In it the writer says:

"As to my political instincts to which you refer in your letter of Dec. 18, I am quite sure I have none, and my being made at all prominent in the political situation is entirely due to President Roosevelt, and because of my taking an active part in the autumn of 1904 at his request and his taking advantage of conditions then created to further his own interests. If it had been a premeditated plot it could not have been better started or carried out.

"About a week before the election in the autumn of 1904, when it looked certain that the state ticket would go Democratic and was doubtful as to Roosevelt himself, he (the President) sent me a request to go to Washington to confer upon the political conditions in New York State. I complied, and he told me he understood the campaign could not be successfully carried on without sufficient money, and asked if I would help them in raising the necessary funds, as the National Committee, under control of Chairman Cortelyou, had utterly failed of obtaining them, and there was a large amount due from them to the New York State Committee."

Skater Dies As the Result of Peculiar Accident.

Vandergraft, Pa., April 3.—Abner McGary, a wealthy merchant and retiring president of Vandergraft Council, is dying at his home as a result of an accident in the Apollo roller skating rink.

McGary, who is a good roller skater, notwithstanding he is fifty years old, tripped and fell. Immediately behind him was a woman weighing over 200 pounds. The woman fell on McGary, and in a moment he was crushed under a mass of struggling skaters.

When McGary was reached he was unconscious. An examination developed that the man's pelvic bone was crushed and he had sustained other internal and dangerous injuries.

Seeks Mrs. Mason For Gems.

Windsor, April 3.—A son of John R. Swindon of the Flying Roller community says that he will apply to Chief of Police Wills for a warrant for the arrest of "Mother Elinor," Mrs. Mason, to recover $10,000 worth of jewels she is said to be wearing and which belong to the Swindons.

The rings were obtained by the elder Swindon during his 35 years' service in the British army in India. One ruby is said to be an inch in diameter and to be worth $1,500. It is said Lewis F. Newman, a Toronto mining stock broker, would like to find the woman and get from her $300 which he lent to her while she was in Toronto last winter, pretending to negotiate a big Cobalt deal.

There is little hope that Mrs. Mason will be caught.

Big Canal Open In 8 Years.

Kansas City, Mo., April 3.—Representative Edgar C. Ellis, who has just returned from the Isthmus of Panama, said Monday night:

"In eight years ships will be going through the Panama Canal. It will cost $500,000,000, but we will build it.

"The army has got hold of it and can do it. I always was convinced that it could not be built by contract."

Busse Defeats Dunne.

Chicago, April 3.—The most intense campaign in municipal politics that Chicago has experienced in many years closed last night with the election of Frederick A. Busse, the Republican candidate for mayor, over Edward F. Dunne, his Democratic rival and a candidate for re-election Busse's plurality was between 15,000 and 18,000 votes.

STEPMOTHER'S CRIME.

Father Finds Wife Had Drowned Them Deliberately With Herself.

Dover, N.J., April 3.—Shongum Lake, a small body of water four miles from here, was the scene of a triple tragedy. When Otto Britting arrived home late Monday he found that Mrs. Britting had gone out with two of his children, a boy of nine months and a girl of three years, to a neighbor's Later the bodies of all three were found in the lake. When they were taken out of the water it was discovered that the mother was in a stooping posture, with the boy under one arm and the girl beneath her, the garments of both children being pinned to her own.

AUSTRALIA TO LEAD?

Canada Too Nervous to Be the Hope of the Imperialists.

London, April 3.—(C. A. P.)—The Aberdeen Free Press says: The dislike of Canada for anything which may drag her into irksome responsibilities or fetter her autonomy is likely to be one of the dominant factors of the coming conference. Rightly or wrongly, Canada is extraordinary nervous on this point. The colony which seems likely to lead in the direction of strengthening the Colonial Conference, crystallizing it into a permanent body, is Australia.

Dies In Jail From Kick.

Toronto, April 3.—Fannie Catone, aged 59, who was committed to Toronto jail a few days ago, died at that institution last night.

When sent to jail deceased was suffering from a kick on the head, received, it is alleged in a fight with a woman named Lond. Both were intoxicated at the time, and the victim was given thirty days in jail.

Crown Attorney Drayton, on learning that the woman was dying, went to the jail yesterday to take her antemortam statement, but she was in a state of semi-consciousness.

Winnipeg, April 3.—Yesterday's arrivals of immigrants totalled 600. A special of nine coaches came in the morning, and nine coaches carrying immigrants were attached to No. 1, the transcontinental express. Two other specials are en route from Montreal and will arrive to-day. They will carry 620 passengers, of whom 600 are British and the remainder Scandinavians.

A WEALTHY MANITOBA FARMER

Tells How He Spent Three Thousand Dollars in Search of Health.

Physicians were entirely baffled by the case of Mr. Robert Squires of Shoal Lake, Man. He owns a thousand acres of land in the west, and said he was willing to give it all to be restored to health. His trouble started with an ordinary cold that was neglected. Let Mr. Squires tell his own story:

"I have spent over three thousand dollars in my search for health; have travelled from place to place looking for suitable climates. I came to the conclusion that climate made no difference in curing throat or lung troubles. At the health resorts consumptives die there as at any place else. I determined to find a home remedy. I think I tried everyone of the so-called cures for consumption. The only remedy that ever helped me was Psychine, and a significant fact about Psychine is that it is not a cure all, like the others, but specially for throat and lung diseases. Psychine was the last remedy I tried, and I wish it had been the first. My case was a very bad one and no hope was held out by any one of the eminent medical men that I would get better.

"A friend advised me to use Psychine. The first few bottles gave great relief from coughing and seemed to ease the pain in the lung. Within a month the cough and night sweats had disappeared and I had greatly regained my strength. I used ten bottles but my case was a serious one and I didn't begrudge the cost for I was completely cured, after medical men had pronounced my case hopeless. My lungs are now sound, and no sign of disease whatever is apparent.

"ROBERT SQUIRES,
"Shoal Lake, Man."

Thousands of others have borne similar testimony to the power of Psychine to not only cure coughs, colds, la grippe, catarrh bronchitis, chills, night sweats, but also consumption and all wasting diseases. It strengthens the stomach, aids digestion and builds up the entire system. It is a never-failing remedy.

Psychine, pronounced Si-keen, is for sale at all drug stores, at 50 cts and $1 per bottle, or at the Dr. T. A. Slocum Co., Limited, 179 King street, west, Toronto.

THE MINISTER RESIGNS PORTFOLIO

Hon. H. R. Emmerson Gives Up His Portfolio.

HE ENTERS LIBEL ACTIONS

Denies Absolutely the Charges Brought Against Him—Will Meet His Traducers In Courts of Justice—Much Sympathy Shown for Retiring Minister—No Word From Mr. Hyman—Customs Bill Passed.

Ottawa, April 3.—The rumors and gossip which have been circulated in the press, and particularly around the corridors of the Parliament buildings, during the present session have at last assumed the shape of a concrete charge against a Minister of the Crown, and as an immediate result the Prime Minister announced yesterday afternoon that Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, had placed his resignation as a member of the Cabinet in his hands for presentation to his Excellency. Extending beyond the ranks of Government supporters, sympathy was expressed in the House yesterday with Mr. Emmerson when he made his statement as to the reasons which had actuated him in arriving at his decision.

Unequivocal Denial.

While in unequivocal terms he denied the truth of the allegations made against him, he also expressed his personal feeling of relief that at last something tangible had been placed before the country, that at last he would have an opportunity of meeting his traducers face to face, and to give the lie to those who, to use his own words, had been circulating "damnable untruths" about him and stabbing him in the dark. "I know," said Mr. Emmerson, "that all in the ranks of my political opponents are not my enemies," and it was significant that the remark drew a round of applause from the Opposition benches.

Suspend Judgment.

While not claiming to be more than human, he asked that the House should suspend its judgment until such time as the tribunal before which he intended to bring his accusers had delivered its decision, and he announced, in this connection, that already he had commenced legal proceedings against the newspapers which had published statement casting his character. A poor man he joined the government, and a poor man he left it, having sacrificed in the interests of Canada natural opportunities which, had he followed his profession, would at least have enabled him to lay the foundation of an independence.

Appeal to Courts.

Strong in his own sense of right, he was willing that this matter should be dealt with by the courts of the land, and in resigning his portfolio he was actuated by the desire that nothing should prevent the leader, his honored and revered leader, attending to those important matters which required his presence in London. In the interests of his constituents and his country he was willing to sacrifice himself, and if it were proved that he was unworthy of consideration in that House, then he was willing to sink to those depths to which anyone beneath the level of a man must sink. But in his own heart he knew that the allegations made against him were false, and he should continue to hold up his head as an honest man.

"To this end, I have given instructions for the issue of writs for libel against The Fredericton Gleaner, The Halifax Herald and The Toronto World, and I have been advised of service in at least one of these cases. It is but a question of hours now as to the other two cases, if, indeed, at this moment service has not yet taken place."

Mr. Hyman's Case.

In reply to the leader of the Opposition the Prime Minister stated that he had received no further communication from the Minister of Public Works, who had started north, but had been obliged to return to California and ordered not to engage in any business. On the House going into committee on the customs duties bill Mr. Schaffner moved that the duty on agricultural implements should be reduced, and the House witnessed the interesting sight of the leader of the Opposition, Mr. Foster, Mr. Sproule and Mr. Taylor voting with the Government against an amendment brought in by a Conservative member. Subsequently the customs duties bill was read a third time and passed.

In accordance with a notice of motion, Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved that from to-morrow there should be morning sessions and an evening session on Wednesdays, Government orders to have precedence, members having still the right to ask questions. The motion was agreed to.

IN CRITICAL STATE.

Speaker St. John's Condition Has Not Improved—Outlook Unfavorable.

Toronto, April 3.—"Mr. St. John's condition has not improved during the day, and the outlook is distinctly unfavorable."

This bulletin was issued by the physicians in attendance on Hon. Speaker St. John at 1 o'clock this morning.

At 3 o'clock this morning the hospital attendance reported that there was no change in the patient's condition. From other sources it was said that it was extremely doubtful if Mr. St. John would survive the night.

The unfavorable reports from the hospital would seem to indicate that there is very little hope for the recovery of the distinguished patient. From the bulletin issued at noon yesterday his friends were led to entertain considerable hope. The bulletin read:

"Mr. St. John passed a fairly good night. His condition this morning is about the same as yesterday. Although still very critical, it is thought his condition is not hopeless."

During yesterday, however, the hoped-for progress did not materialise, and it is doubtful if Mr. St. John's vitality will hold out much longer.

TROUBLE IN PERSIA.

Arrival of Russian and British Troops Creates Consternation.

Teheran, Persia, April 3.—Indian native mounted troops have entered Persian territory for service at the British Consulates in the south.

This news, together with the arrival of Cossacks at Teheran and at the Russian Consulates in the north, a report—as yet unconfirmed—of the appearance of a British man-of-war in the Gulf, and the presence of a Russian transport with troops off the Caspian port of Enzeli, has created great excitement in the Persian capital.

Duncan In Penitentiary.

Kingston, April 3.—The penitentiary's colony of former bankers and loan company men was further added to yesterday afternoon by the arrival of John B. Duncan, formerly manager of the Bank of Commerce at Ayr, to enter upon his term of four years.

Duncan was stylishly dressed and is a decidedly fine looking man, considerably under middle age. He was brought down by Sheriff Charles Huber and Deputy Tracy, both of Berlin.

After dining at an hotel, the trio sat around the lobby for a short time, smoking, and about 2.30 o'clock proceeded in an open carriage to the penitentiary. Duncan was not shackled.

— This Is Earthquake Time.

London, April 3.—Prof. Belar, the seismologist, director of the Laibach Observatory, announces that the general unrest of the earth has been growing during the past three days, and connects the fact with the presence of large sunspots. Comparing the earth shocks during the first quarter of 1906 with those of the corresponding quarter this year, he remarks that the intensity of these recorded in 1907 was less than half the intensity of those of the preceding year. He adds:—"If the disturbances of the equilibrium of the earth's surface are to result in the average compromise we must await the earthquake now due with some anxiety."

Half of Wrecked Ship Saved.

London, April 3.—The White Star Line steamer Suevic, which went ashore near the Lizard on March 17, was cut in two Monday, and her afterpart was severed yesterday morning and towed into port. Her forepart is firmly fixed on the reef.

Killed In Explosion.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 3.—A despatch from La Porte, Ind., says: It is reported that five men have been killed by a powder explosion at Austin. The surrounding country was badly shaken.

Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co. Had Their Work Cut Out.

The operation of loading the big safe from the Bank of Ottawa on to a dray by the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company last night, attracted a large crowd. It was one of the biggest contracts ever undertaken by the company and it took five hours to complete the work. The job was begun at 7 o'clock and it was midnight before the massive safe was loaded on the dray. The safe, which weighed 10,300 pounds was shipped to-day to Cobalt, where it will be used in a branch of the bank there.

Senator Cox States His Position In Canada Life

Vigorously Controverts Report of the Royal Commission on Insurance in the Senate—His Speech Yesterday.

FUNDS USED PROPERLY

All Investments Are Carefully Made —Single Adverse Vote is Considered a Bar—The Ames Loan.

Examiner Special.

Ottawa, April 5th. — In the Senate yesterday Hon. Senator Cox spoke at some considerable length on the report of the Royal Commission of Insurance. Following is a verbatim report of his speech:

Before the orders of the day are called, I desire on a question of privilege, to direct the attention of this Honourable House to certain statements in the report of the Royal Commission on Insurance, recently laid upon the table. With your permission I will read an extract from the report in which reference is made to the Canada Life Assurance Company and to myself, personally, as president of that company. On page 14 it reads as follows:

"The absolute control, real and potential, residing in the President and General Manager, and in which his stock holding and offices secure him, have to a marked extent influenced the investments of the company, which have been made to serve not only the interests of the Canada Life Assurance Company, but also his own interests, and the interests of the other institutions in which he was largely concerned. He says, he has always made the interests of the Canada Life Assurance Company his first and chief concern, but many of the investments made by or on behalf of that company have been made to serve other interests as well, etc."

No Individual Control

I have no disposition to criticize this statement so far as it goes, but the report would certainly have been tempered with a greater degree of justice, if it had gone on to say that while the transactions were advantageous to the other institutions referred to, they were still more advantageous to the Canada Life Assurance Company. The impression is conveyed that these transactions were made because of my presidency or influence in the councils of the Canada Life. It would have been only fair to have said plainly that the securities are all of the highest class, securities that could be disposed of to-day at a price in advance of what was paid for them, securities that could have been disposed of to other clients of the Dominion Securities Corporation at the time at a slightly better profit, and securities quite within the company's power of investment. I wish also to say that every security purchased, and every loan made by the company, is submitted to an honourable and capable Board of Directors, composed of, amongst others, the following gen-

$20 TAKEN FROM HIS CLOTHES

Mr. Ward's Boarders Thought to Have Annexed Money—They Have Disappeared.

WAD OF PAPER LEFT INSTEAD

Mr. S. E. Ward, grocer, at the corner of Aylmer and Murray streets, had his first experience with boarders the other day, and as a result he has sustained the loss of $20. A little while ago Mr. Ward fitted up some rooms for boarders, and on Friday of last week two young men engaged rooms with Mr. Ward. They stated that they were from Tweed, and had secured positions with the Canadian General Electric Company.

They had no trunks with them, but explained that they expected them to arrive at any time.

On Sunday Mr. Ward went out for a walk, leaving $20 in the pockets of his everyday trousers, which were hanging in his room.

On Sunday night the boarders, saying that they wished to see if they could find out what had become of their trunks, left the house, and have not been seen since.

The sequel of the story came on Monday morning when Mr. Ward on donning his other clothes discovered that his $20 was gone, while in its stead was a wad of paper.

The police were notified on Monday but the two youths, whom Mr Ward thinks stole the money, have evidently made good their escape.

False Reports Were Circulated To Society

Regarding Alleged Ill-treatment of a Ward of the Children's Aid Society in Marmora.

MR. GEO. COCHRANE'S VISIT

Mr. George Cochrane was in Belmont and Marmora townships yesterday investigating two cases for the Children's Aid Society. In one case complaint had been made to the Society that a ward of the Society, a little girl who had been with a family north of Cordova Mines for three or four years, was not being treated properly. The person, making the complaint, lives a short distance from the home in which the child was placed, and at the time he laid the complaint he made application for the child. Mr. Cochrane made an investigation of the case yesterday and found that, contrary to representations which had been made to him, the child was being well cared for; was being treated equally as well as the other three children in the home, and was well dressed. After spending an hour in the house he decided to leave the child where she was, as he was convinced that the report sent to the Society was not correct.

The other case was one of alleged ill-treatment by parents, of their own children, and in this case, too, after having made an investigation he decided that there had been some mistake and he left the children where they were.

After hearing the report made by Mr. Cochrane this morning, as to the result of his visits, the officers of the Society concurred in the action taken by him yesterday.

QUESTION NOT TO BE RE-OPENED

Normal School to be Built on High Part of Dixon Park—Conference With Authorities.

DELAY WOULD BE UNWISE

That it would be unwise to re-open Normal School site question, is the outstanding result of the conference between Mayor McWilliams and City Solicitor Hall and the Deputy Ministers of the Public Works and Education Departments, in Toronto yesterday.

Any delay in the matter might result in the building of the school being left over for this year. It is altogether probable then the Normal School will be built on the high part of the park, among the trees, and not in the hollow, as was expected.

The city's representatives were able to get considerable information from the Deputy Ministers, but much of it was of a private nature and could not be divulged. It was learned however that two sites had been laid out by the engineer of the Public Works Department, one in the hollow and the other on the high ground of the park. To put the school on the low ground would involve making the foundations several feet higher than provided for in the plans for which tenders were called and the Government would have to pay for the additional expense for the foundations, which would run into the thousands of dollars. It is not at all likely that the Government will be willing to spend any further money on the school, as they are in the position of having to treat all four schools now being built on an equal footing.

As an alternative to building the school on the high ground, the city's representatives suggested a site across the road on the Fitzgerald property, and also a site to the south of the park, and around the Blackwell property, either to be in addition to the land already deeded to the Government. The authorities would not consider the site on the Fitzgerald property at all, and did not seem favourably impressed with the other location suggested. They were of the opinion that the site among the trees on the higher ground was an admirable situation for the school. To build it there would mean that one third of the beautiful oaks would have to be sacrificed.

It is not likely that the matter will be reopened by the city. The representatives yesterday came away from the conference with the conviction that it would be a decidedly unwise step to take under the circumstances.

A MILLION DOLLAR FIRE IN UNIVERSITY

Engineering Building of McGill Damaged to This Extent by Mysterious Fire This Morning.

Examiner Special.

Montreal, Que., April 5th. — Fire which broke out in the engineering building of McGill University early this morning, damaged the building so badly that its practical reconstruction from the foundations will be necessary. The workmen's mechanical building, immediately adjoining was saved by a fire wall, but sustained considerable damage through fire and water. The loss is estimated at close to a million dollars, which is stated to be pretty well covered by insurance. How the fire originated is a mystery. The burned building was erected thirteen years ago, and was a gift to the university of Sir William Macdonald.

TARIFF HERESY.

In the general elections of 1903, Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition, scuttled his party punt through the country, with the flag of "adequate protection" nailed to the mast, as the motto and slogan of the Conservative party. "Adequate protection" was a beautifully indefinite phrase, which Mr. Borden never defined, and it was only last Tuesday that we got a definition out of him. Mr. Taylor, of Leeds, the Conservative whip, defined "adequate protection" as 100 per cent. duty, if that were needed, to keep out foreign goods; and Mr. Henderson, of Halton, another stalwart Conservative tariff highbinder, advocated a "Chinese wall" as his definition of "adequate protection."

In the House of Commons on Tuesday, Dr. Schaffner, Conservative member for Souris, moved that the duty on agricultural implements be reduced from a revenue tariff rate of 17 1-2 to 10 per cent., and he as well as Mr. Staples, Conservative member for Macdonald; Dr. Walsh, Conservative member for Huntingdon; Mr. Herron, Conservative member for Algoma; Mr. Lake, Conservative member for Qu'Appelle; Dr. Roche, Conservative member for Marquette; Mr. Henderson, Conservative member for Halton, and other members of that party, voted for the reduction of the tariff. Mr. Borden, the father of the "adequate protection" principle, or practice, went back on it to the extent of saying that if he were sure that there was a "combine" among Canadian manufacturers of agricultural implements, he would have voted for the proposed reduction of the duty. He thus admits that a low tariff would destroy combines, an ingenuous admission that a high tariff promotes combines, and makes them possible, probable, and also inevitable. Mr. Borden also commits another heresy. He takes the swaddling clothes off our "infant infant industries" and puts them in "pants." In the same speech in which he admitted that a high tariff favoured combines, he said that the agricultural implements industry might be established on so firm a basis "that 10 per cent. duty would be a fair protection to persons engaged in their manufacture" — thus at last we have Mr. Borden's first adequate definition of "adequate protection"—in regard to agricultural implements.

Thus do the Conservatives go back on their protection principles. True, Mr. Borden does not go quite so far as Hugh John Macdonald did at Brandon, in 1900, when to catch the western vote for the Conservative party, he advocated free agricultural implements, but he is willing to go within 10 per cent of it. Mr. Borden tells the Government that if Canadian manufacturers are keeping up the prices of agricultural implements, the Government should take steps to modify the tariff.

The Liberal Government has so adjusted the tariff generally as to produce the necessary revenue, and afford incidental protection, and now the party of protection wants to withdraw even what they called this iniquitously inadequate incidental protection. The Conservatives may think that they are gaining favour with the farmers, but the farmers are wise enough to see that the proposed reduction would place them at the mercy of an American agricultural machinery combine, with a capital of 120 millions of dollars, which claims to control 90 per cent. of the trade of America, and would control that of Canada as well, if the revenue tariff of 17 1-2 per cent. were reduced to Mr. Borden's 10 per cent. figure. The employees of our local manufacturers of agricultural implements will find difficulty in seeing how they would benefit by the Conservative proposal to reduce the tariff to such an extent as to wipe out Canadian manufacturers, which are doing fairly well under the present low tariff, with the accompanying drawbacks in raw materials as an assistance. The Liberal Government aims, while maintaining a low rate of duties, to avoid making tariff reductions that would work any industry an injury. Though, sometimes, perhaps, this is not done, nothing so fatal to the purchasers, as well as the producers of agricultural implements, as the proposed Conservative reduction to 10 per cent., has been thought of.

PETERBOROUGH'S LOSS

To-day, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Dennistoun cease to become residents of Peterborough. They took train for the West this evening. The occasion merits special reference, for never before has a resident of Peterborough, on leaving the city, been so conspicuously and signally honoured with varying tributes of respect and esteem from so many important and collectively inclusive sources as Mr. Dennistoun. Beginning with his Masonic brethren, the series of presentations, banquets and addresses included those given by the 57th Regiment, the Law Association, St. John's Church and the Yacht Club, and culminated in a citizens' banquet, which is to be, and is, regarded as one of the most enthusiastic and spontaneous tributes of regard ever extended to a departing citizen of Peterborough. And it is to be added that he is eminently worthy of the respect exhibited, for, during his life in Peterborough, he has shown the highest qualities of personal worth and qualities of character in both public and personal capacities, and has most efficiently and satisfactorily discharged all the varied duties appertaining to the highest type of citizenship. His departure is a loss that will be very sensibly felt in all the departments of action that appeal most strongly to a high-minded, patriotic and public-spirited citizen. In the removal of Mrs. Dennistoun, the city also meets a loss that will be deeply felt in the social circles she adorned, and in the church and charitable movements, where her energies were exercised with so much modest zeal and gratifying results. The city of Winnipeg, which is to be the future home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun, will gain corresponding advantages to the loss of Peterborough. In Mr. Dennistoun, the metropolis of the West will acquire a resident who, in genuinely gentlemanly qualities, social and literary culture, legal lore and all the most desirable characteristics of manhood, will add strength to the substantial elements of its citizenship. The Examiner joins with every citizen of every class in deploring the loss of Mr. and Mrs. Dennistoun to Peterborough, and in extending them the most heartfelt wishes for prosperity and happiness in their Western home.

HON. MR. EMMERSON

The Hon. Mr. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals, retires from the Government, so far as unproved charges of personal misconduct are concerned, under a cloud, but, as a Minister, he retires with, not only an undimmed, but with a brilliant record. No suspicion of wrong-doing attaches to the administration of his Department, the great spending Department of the Government. Not only that, but his administration has been conspicuously successful; he has raised the grade of the Intercolonial Railway from the level of deficits to the higher level of surpluses—he has converted a national burden into a national benefit. He has been a most conscientious, careful and intelligent administrator of his trust. He has been industrious in personally informing himself of the conditions with which he had to deal, so that he dealt with the works appertaining to his Department, neither in the dark, nor by deputy. His several visits to the Peterborough district to see for himself the conditions obtaining in regard to the Trent waterway will be readily recalled, and we all remember with gratitude his visits to Peterborough, and the personal interest he took in a work so important to us. Officially, a great deal can be said for Mr. Emmerson's credit; personally, the matters charged against him are sub judice,—comment is contraindicated, and judgment will be suspended by all who are inclined to the practice of British fair play. However, all will join in the hope that a good and useful public career will not be closed by little tattle charges, which the Minister says are utterly unfounded, and whose falsity, it is to be hoped, judicial investigation will promptly demonstrate.

SURPRISE

A PURE HARD SOAP

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Ontario Cabinet Ministers have voted themselves an increase of salary which, in the jargon of the day, places them on easy street. Premier Whitney now, crashes a cheque for $10,000, an increase of $3,000, and the seven other salaried members each one of $6,000 per year. The three members of the Cabinet without portfolio, get only their sessional indemnity, the same as that given to an ordinary back bench member. Hon. Mr. Graham takes the position that if the Ministers are worth anything they are worth the salaries that have been given to them. A proposal was made to give a salary to the leader of the Opposition, but Mr. Graham would not accept a salary if it were voted.

Another stage has been reached in the Thaw murder trial farce. Thaw is declared sane. Naturally, it would be expected that a man in his right mind, who deliberately shot down a human being, should swing for his crime. But the extraordinary position is taken that, if he is sane now, he was insane the time the shooting of White was done. According to this logic, every criminal would go unwhipt of justice. A man could rob, put a torch to a dwelling, club his neighbour to death, and plead temporary insanity and consequent exemption. Life in society would be impossible under such conditions.

EXPRESS TRAIN OF SCOTCH IMMIGRANTS

Passed Through the City This Afternoon —Appeared to be Genial and Contented.

The tide of immigration has hardly reached the swell yet, and a large number of foreigners have passed through the seaboard cities and on to the interior and west. This morning a train load passed through Peterborough on the C.P.R. and again this afternoon another express consisting of five coaches, stopped for a few minutes at the station on the way to Toronto. There was quite a number on the latter train, one or two coaches being filled with Germans and, as a Scotchman said, Mohammedans. The remaining coaches were occupied by Scotchmen, whose general appearance was above the average.

They said they came over on the Cassandra, a Donaldson liner, and reported a rough voyage. A few who took a short walk on the station platform seemed to be in buoyant spirits, and said that thus far they were greatly impressed with the country. It more than equalled their expectations. They were eager for any information, and stated that they wanted as many pointers as they could get before reaching their destination. They were tradesmen and mechanics, and a number of farmers. Their broad Scotch accent instantly denoted their native land, and it was unnecessary for them to say that they embarked at Glasgow.

STEAMER "EMPIRE" HAS LEFT ITS MOORINGS

Sailed up to Young's Point Yesterday for First Time This Season.

The Government steamer Empire made its first voyage of the season yesterday. It left its winter quarters at Lakefield and sailed as far as Young's Point with apparatus for the Government dredge, which is operating at the Point immediately above the lock. The work of constructing a cement pier above the new bridge is progressing rapidly, as well as the cutting away of the bank.

WORKING WOMEN

Their Hard Struggle Made Easier—Interesting Statements by a Young Lady in Quebec and One in Beauport, Que

All women work; some in their homes, some in church, and some in the whirl of society. And in stores, mills and shops tens of thousands are on the never-ceasing treadmill, earning their daily bread.

All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance, and the nature of their duties in many cases, quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, tumors, ulceration, falling and displacements or perhaps irregularity or suppression, causing backache, nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

They especially require an invigorating, sustaining medicine which will strengthen the female organism and enable them to bear easily the fatigues of the day, to sleep well at night, and to rise refreshed and cheerful.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching, she is so tired she can hardly drag about or stand up, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is due to some derangement of the female organism.

Mlle. Alma Robitaille, of 78 rue St. François, Quebec, Que., tells women how to avoid such suffering; she writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Overwork and long hours at the office, together with a neglected cold, brought on a very serious female trouble until finally I was unable to go to work. I then thought of a friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when her health was in the same condition that mine was, and straightway sent out for a bottle. I finished that and took two more before I really began to improve, but after that my recovery was very rapid, and I was soon well and able to go back to work again. I certainly think your medicine for sick women worthy of praise, and am indeed glad to indorse it."

Miss Clara Beaubien of Beauport, Quebec, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For several years I have suffered with female trouble which has been a serious drain on my vitality, sapping my strength and causing severe headaches, bearing-down pains and a general worn-out feeling, until I really had no desire to live. I tried many medicines but did not get permanent relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In two months I was very much better and stronger, and in four months I was well, no more disagreeable discharge, no more pain. So I have every reason to praise the Vegetable Compound, and I consider it without equal for the ills of women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing cure for all these troubles. It strengthens the proper muscles, and displacement with all its horrors will no more crush you.

Backache, dizziness, fainting, bearing-down pains, disordered stomach, moodiness, dislike of friends and society—all symptoms of the one cause—will be quickly dispelled, and it will make you strong and well.

You can tell the story of your sufferings to a woman, and receive helpful advice free of cost. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years she has, under her direction and since her decease, been advising sick women free of charge.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

Sick Headaches and Biliousness

ONLY COME WHEN THE LIVER GETS TORPID AND SLUGGISH—THE CURE IS

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Sickness is to some extent a habit. This is especially true of biliousness and constipation. So long as you neglect treatment or merely use medicines to move the bowels, the old trouble returns.

Isn't it worth while to follow up a treatment that has positively cured these ailments in thousands of cases?

Mrs. Jas. Monteith, Saurin, Simcoe Co., Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for liver complaint, biliousness and terrible sick headaches and have found that they are more effective than any treatment I ever tried. They cleanse the system thoroughly, remove the cause of pains and aches and make you feel fresh and strong again. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are also excellent for stomach troubles."

Such a host of ailments may be directly traced to disorders of the liver that the physician in the great majority of cases prescribes a treatment for the liver the very first thing, so as to eliminate poisons from the system.

On the activity of the liver, to a very large extent, depends the health of the body, and the success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills must be attributed to their prompt, direct and specific action on the liver.

Healthful liver action ensures a good flow of bile to aid the functions of digestion and regulate the bowels. Biliousness, headache, intestinal indigestion, bodily pains, low spirits and ill-temper, as well as a score of other troublesome symptoms of slow, torpid liver action, soon disappear when Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are used.

The benefits obtained by this treatment are not only prompt, but also thorough and lasting. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.—1

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 5.—The upward movement in stocks was resumed today on a large scale, and advances of from two to eight points were recorded. The buying power was from the shorts, then investments, and finally speculative outside circles, of course, actuated by the inside manipulation. The mainspring of the improvement, as we have stated, is the better monetary situation. The market is broadening and realizing is occurring for those who bought unwillingly lower to support.

Thus far reactions are more specific than general, but a recession in the market, as a whole, should take place before Monday's close, according to our calculations, and we would prefer to buy on recessions for turns. The closing was very strong and active. The banks have gained $12,000,000 so far this week, and to-morrow's bank statement promises to be very favourable.

OTHER OPTICIANS ARE PROTESTING

Against Mr. Babcock Being Allowed to Visit Schools and Inspect Eyes of Children.

Some of the opticians of the city are opposed to the Board of Education granting permission to G. N. Babcock to visit the schools and inspect the eyes of the children. Last night a petition was read from Messrs. Wm. Madill, Frank Scheneider, Sanderson & Co., and J. W. Brownett, protesting against the appointment. Dr. McCullough wrote the Board along similar lines.

The matter was referred to the Supervision Committee to report to the Board. Mr. Dumble said that it could not be considered an appointment. Mr. Babcock had simply asked for permission and it had been granted. If any of the others had applied they would have received permission.

Peterborough May Get Electric Smelter Soon

Government to Give a Bounty on Iron Smelted by Electricity From Canadian Ore.

MAY HELP THIS COUNTY

A resolution passed in the House of Commons may have a far-reaching effect on Peterborough, inasmuch as it provides for bounties being paid on iron ore smelted by electric process in Canada. It is a recognized fact that within the county of Peterborough there are large iron ore deposits and, with the establishment of an electric smelter it could be reduced economically. A despatch, referring to the bounty says:—

A resolution presented to the House of Commons by the Finance Minister provides that, with a view to the encouragement of the smelting of Canadian iron by electricity, it is expedient to provide that the Governor-in-Council may authorize the payment out of the consolidated revenue fund of the following bounties on pig iron and steel ingots manufactured in Canada for consumption therein, when such pig iron and steel are the product of Canadian iron ores smelted in Canada by electricity, viz.: On pig iron manufactured from Canadian ore by the process of electricity smelting the calendar years: 1909, $2.10 per ton; 1910, $2.10 per ton; 1911, $1.70 per ton, and 1912, 90 cents per ton. On steel ingots manufactured by electric process direct from Canadian ore, and on steel ingots manufactured by electric process from pig iron smelted in Canada by electricity from Canadian ore during the calendar years: 1909, $1.65 per ton; 1910, $1.65 per ton; 1911, $1.05 per ton, and 1912, 60 cents per ton.

No Contract Let For The Peterborough Section

Only Northern End of the C. P. R. Georgian Bay Line to be Placed Under Construction at Present Time, Says Mr. Leonard.

AN OUTLAY OF $400,000

According to a statement credtied to Mr. J. W. Leonard, the assistant general manager of the C.P.R., the fond hopes of Peterborough people that the new Georgian Bay line was to be constructed at once are not to be realized. The Montreal Herald, of yesterday had the following article in reference to it:—

Mr. J. W. Leonard, assistant general manager of the Canadian Pacific, informed the Herald to-day that it was not true, as had been reported from Toronto, that a contract had been given out for the construction of the whole of the line the company propose building from Victoria Harbour, on Georgian Bay, to Peterborough, representing an expenditure of $3,000,000.

A contract, he said, had been let through the manager of construction at Toronto, Mr. Sullivan, for the building of the northern section from Victoria Harbour to Coldwater, the port at which the Peterborough line would cross the branch from Toronto to Sudbury. The contract has been given out to the Toronto Construction Company. That section, which may involve an outlay of from $400,000 to $500,000, is all the company propose to build at present.

This according to the terms of the agreement, will be laid with 80 lb. steel rails. The material—rails, ties, etc.—will be provided by the railway company, but the construction work will be done by the contractors.

The charter for the construction of this line, which mmay entail an outlay of $4,000,000, was granted to a subsidiary company, the Georgian Bay and Seaboard Railway, whose bonds are guaranteed by the C.P.R. This will be the C.P.R. grain line from Georgian Bay, the project which Sir Thomas Shaughnessy laid before the Transportation Commission two years ago.

CARD OF THANKS

Having disposed of my grocery business, corner George and Antrim streets, to Messrs. E. F. Mason & Co., I desire to thank my many customers and friends for the kind patronage so freely given in the past, but that, owing to impaired health and some other considerations, I have arranged to sever my connections with a business that has had my unceasing care and attention, and that has grown with the growth of the city. I take this means of expressing my thankfulness, as it is impossible to call and do so in person. I also wish to say that the business has been acquired by, and is in, good hands, and I am sure that every care and attention will be given in the future, as I have tried to give in the past. I bespeak for my successors a trial, and a continuation of the patronage so kindly favoured to myself, and feel assured that in larger hands there will be substantial advantages to the customers.

Tenders Accepted

The Collegiate Institute Building Committee reported as follows:—

Your Collegiate Institute Building Committee beg leave to report that as instructed we advertised for tenders for the erection of a Collegiate Institute Building. For the building we received two tenders, for the heating six tenders; for the plumbing three tenders, and for electric wiring two tenders.

Your Committee recommend that the tender of Messrs. Langford and Sheehy for the building, $51,318, be accepted; that the tender of C. J. Duranceau for plumbing, $2,216, be accepted, and that the tender of F. R. J. MacPherson for the wiring, $226.50 be accepted. Regarding tenders for heating the Committee find that they are in excess of what they anticipated, and thought it advisable to give the matter more consideration before awarding the contract.

M. A. MORRISON, Chairman.

The report was adopted without discussion.

North Ward School

The North Ward School Building Committee reported as follows:—

Your North Ward School Building Committee beg leave to report. That as instructed by the Board we advertised again for tenders for the addition of six rooms to the North Ward School. For the building there were four tenders; for heating 5; for plumbing four. We recommend that the following tenders be accepted: For building, W. J. Johnston, $16,950; for heating, C. R. J. Duranceau, $2,235.07; for plumbing, C. R. J. Duranceau, $1,425; for wiring, Alexander and Miller.

These are in every case the lowest tenders.

D. W. DUMBLE, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Other Business

Dr. Morrison moved that the question of the lighting of the Collegiate Institute be referred to the Collegiate Institute Building Committee with power to act, and that the Committee be given authority to have the grounds staked out ready for the contractors. The motion carried.

Architect Belcher addressed the Board concerning the heating system for the North Ward School, stating that the system selected was most satisfactory.

Mr. Robinson brought up the question of having the city council take steps to provide proper approaches for the King Edward School. In doing so he stated that the Board had a fine school there, but at present there was no way of getting across to it, save through the mud. Something should be done at once to provide roads, crossings and sidewalks.

Mr. Robinson moved, seconded by Mr. Pringle, that the council be asked to take immediate action in providing proper approaches to the King Edward School, in the way of properly graded streets, sidewalks and the necessary crossings; that the council be asked to open Aylmer street from Lake street to Romaine street, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the council.—Carried.

Mr. Dumble referred to the fact that the sewer to the King Edward School was useless at the present time, saying that it was filled with quicksand, and the water had run back into the shool, causing dampness, which would not have a good effect on the time. He was of the opinion that the Board should wait upon the council and suggest to them the advisability of doing something to improve this condition of affairs at once.

Mr. Pringle stated that the matter had already been brought to the attention of the council and they had promised to take immediate action.

A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering from loss of strength.

BIRTHDAY PARTY WAS VERY SUCCESSFUL

Adjt. Wiggins' Novel Entertainment Was Appreciated by Members of the Corps Who Attended.

The birthday party held in the Salvation Army Barracks last night under the direction of Adjutant Wiggins, was attended by a fairly large number, considering the inclement weather and other counter attractions. Everyone who was present handed in a little silk bag containing as many cents as the number of years in their ages.

The first part of the evening's entertainment was a programme of music, the band contributing some excellent selections. The synopsis is as follows:

Opening March — Selected — By the Band.

Vocal Solo—"Chicago Slums"—Mark Specialty.

Recitation—"A Letter to God" — Miss Alice Leader.

Instrumental Trio—Messrs. L. Harrow, R. Brown and W. Bowerman.

Band Selection.

Recitation — "Peace" — Miss E. Stevenson.

Cornet Solo — "The Holy City"—Mr. Fred. Gray.

Vocal Solo—Wilfred Bowerman.

Instrumental Selection in E Flat, bass—Mr. Herb. Gray.

After the musical portion was over refreshments were served by the ladies, and the remainder of the evening spent in social intercourse. Everyone expressed enjoyment with the entertainment provided, and thanked Adjutant Wiggins for his efforts in making the affair so great a success.

Mrs Stevenson and Mrs. Carr had charge of the refreshments.

A WARNING

To Thousands of Ladies Who Use Package Dyes.

The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, of Montreal, manufacturers of the world-famed DIAMOND DYES, would specially warn all users of DIAMOND DYES, that they have not the slightest connection with any firm or combination of people who are now manufacturing and selling weak, adulterated and worthless package dyes.

The manufacturers of DIAMOND DYES, for their own interests, and for the welfare and protection of the ladies of Canada, find it necessary to denounce the reports circulated by makers of common and imitation dyes that their products are put up according to the formulae of the DIAMOND DYES. Such claims made by makers of worthless dyes are dishonest and misleading.

To insure complete success in home colouring work, buy only the time-tried and reliable DIAMOND DYES.

This month The Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P.Q., will send free to any address new Diamond Dye Booklet and pretty Souvenir Card for Baby. You should have them.

BAZAAR AND CONCERT SUCCESSFUL

A Large Quantity of Goods Disposed of by the Ladies in Charge at Charlotte Street—Some Beautiful Detorations

FINE MUSICAL PROGRAMME

The expectations of the Ladies' Aid of Charlotte Street Methodist Church were amply realized yesterday afternoon and evening on the occasion of their annual bazaar. The Sunday school room of the church was the scene of the successful event, and it was very artistically decorated with bunting and flowers especially for the occasion. The seven tables over which the ladies had charge were heavily laden at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the commencement of the sale, and at 8 o'clock most of the goods had been disposed of. This was directly due to the efficiency of the three lady clerks who presided at each of the various booths and pointed out the excellent qualities of the hand-made and home-made articles for sale.

The tables all looked pretty with their array of materials for the market and their floral decorations. Perhaps the most conspicuous of them all were the candy, fancy goods and ice cream booths with their Chinese lanterns, lilies and carnations. Beautiful bouquets of the nasturtium adorned the refreshment stands.

Shortly after 8 o'clock an excellent musical and literary programme under the direction of Miss Carry was presented, with Mr. W. Galbraith in the chair.

In a word, the function was entirely a success and reflects credit on Mrs. Hall, the president, and the other officers of the Ladies' Aid Society for their energetic work.

Those in charge of the various tables were:

Candy—Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. Cunningham and Miss Goard.

Fancy Goods—Mrs. Moss, Mrs. George and Mrs. Robertson.

White Aprons — Mrs. Tovey, Mrs. Lightfoot and Mrs. Bell.

Coloured Aprons — Mrs. Stocker, Mrs. Jamieson and Mrs. Rutherford.

Refreshments—Mrs. Rawlings, Mrs. Clegg and Mrs. Palmer.

Kimonas, Etc.—Mrs. Galbraith and Mrs. Minorgan.

Ice Cream—Mrs. Adamson and Miss Coe.

Mrs. Lyle was in charge of the financial affairs, and presided at the door.

During the evening a splendid programme was rendered, short, but of excellent quality, those contributing to it being Misses Maude and Janet Titterson, Miss Rawlings, Miss Carry and Mr. Walter Stocker.

MISCALLED "HAIR TONIC"

Most Hair Preparations Are Merely Scalp Irritants, Of No Value

Many hair preparations are merely scalp irritants, miscalled hair tonics. When hair is brittle, lusterless and begins to fade and fall out, the dandruff germ is getting in its deadly work at the root, sapping the vitality. Since science discovered that dandruff is a germ disease there has been only one preparation put on the market that will actually destroy the dandruff germ, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. It quickly reduces scalp fever, destroys the germ; and the falling hair stops and grows luxuriantly. Ask your druggist for Herpicide. It allays itching instantly and permits the hair to grow.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1 per bottle. The Market Drug Store are special agents.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

The Board of Education in accepting the tender of Messrs Sheehy and Langford, for the building of the new Collegiate Institute, acted wisely, for the tender of this firm was the lowest, and both have had wide experience in building work. Mr. Langford has executed many important contracts in Peterborough, and Mr. Sheehy has had a very extensive and successful experience in large contracts. Government buildings at Deseronto, and large churches in various parts of the country, and has invariably given satisfaction in his contracts.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S NEW SECRETARY

Mr. T. J. Wallace Was Elected Last Night in Succession to Mr. T. A. S. Hay, Who Resigned.

A meeting of the Peterborough Historical Society was held last night in the Y. M. C. A., when there were present: Col. H. C. Rogers, President; T. A. S. Hay, Secretary; Richard Hall, Dr. Burnham, Rev. Canon Davidson, Mr. Elcome and Mr. Hodgson. The principal business of the meeting was the election of a secretary in succession to Mr. T. A. S. Hay, who, by reason of his other duties, was obliged to resign. His resignation was reluctantly accepted, and Mr. T. J. Wallace was elected in succession to Mr. Hay.

Mr. Hodgson addressed the members in reference to a course of lectures on nature study, which he intends to give to the teachers of the city. He asked permission to give some of these lectures in the rooms of the society at the museum, and for the use of some of the specimens with which to illustrate the lectures. The society heartily concurred in the suggestion of Mr. Hodgson, and his request was granted.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,

SENATOR COX STATES HIS POSITION IN CANADA LIFE

tlemen: Mr John Hoskin, K. C., LL. D., president of the Toronto General Trusts Corporation; the Honourable Senator Gibson, President of the Bank of Hamilton; Mr. Byron E. Walker, LL.D., President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; and Mr. J. W. Flavelle, LL.D., President of the National Trust Company, (four of our most successful financial institutions); Mr. Z. A. Lash, K. C., General Counsel for the Canadian Northern Railway, and Mr. Alexander Bruce, K.C., who has been for many years closely associated with all the investments of the company, and who is chairman of the Investment Committee, together with eight other gentlemen of the highest standing in their respective communities. Every investment has first to carry the recommendation of the Treasurer and to meet with the entire approval of the full board, and since I became president of the comapny, in 1899, the rule has been invariably adhered to that upon an objection being raised to any investment, by even one member of the board, it is not accepted.

and an branch in Great Britain, it ance and the co-operation of a directorate of fourteen gentlemen of this class, chosen from the leading business men of this country, whose ability, integrity and independence are beyond question, it does seem difficult to understand how the Commissioners can justify the conclusion they arrived at, of practically writing these men down as mere tools in my hands to vote at my dictation, and thus enable me to manipulate or control the investments of the company.

Investments Legitimate

It will be observed by a perusal of the report of the Commission that the burden of the criticism of the company's investments is based upon the fact that a considerable portion of the securities were purchased from the Dominion Securities Corporation, in which I am largely interested as a shareholder. There has never been any attempt, whatever, to withhold this information from the public or from the Commission; there has never been any suggestion, nor could there be any, that it was illegal for two corporations, having the same president, and in which some of the same shareholders were interested in both companies, to deal with each other, and it has never until recently, so far as I am aware, been suggested that it was improper to do so. Now, that this question has been raised, the only proper way to meet it is to invite the most rigid scrutiny of every transaction that has taken place between the Canada Life and every other corporation in which I am either directly or indirectly interested. From an examination of this kind it will be found in every case, without exception, that the interests of the Canada Life have been fully protected. The Commission had the fullest opportunity to, and did, make a most exhaustive examination. They had access, through their expert accountants, not only to the records of the Canada Life Assurance Company, the Dominion Securities Corporation, and the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, but to my own personal books as well, and the fact that none of the securities purchased by the Canada Life from either of these companies has been criticized, is an evidence that they have found both the quality of the securities and the price paid for them satisfactory, and it would have been only just for the Commissioners to have said so.

No Undue Preference

Some criticism has been made of the amount of securities purchased by the Canada Life Assurance Company, from the Dominion Securities Corporation, but when it is remembered that the Canada Life is the largest purchaser in Canada of investment securities, and the Dominion Securities Corporation are the largest bond dealers in Canada, having agencies throughout Canada, representatives in the United States, With the advantage of the assistwill be readily seen that there is no ground whatever for such criticism. As an indication of the volume of business handled by the Dominion Securities Corporation during the period 1900 to 1905, of the class of corporation bonds in which life insurance companies are authorized to invest, the corporation purchased entire issues to the amount of $9,301,000, and participated in purchase of and had the selling rights on the Canadian market for $38,767,000, or a total of $48,077,000, while corporation issues in Canada handled by other dealers, amounted to only $9,588,000 during the same period. These figures exclude all industrial issues as well as those of Canadian companies with undertakings in foreign countries. It will thus be readily seen that had the Canada Life Assurance Company been restricted from purchasing securities from the Dominion Securities Corporation they would have experienced great difficulty in finding a satisfactory amount of similar investments. I might say further, that the purchases from the Dominion Securities Corporation by the Canada Life during the period mentioned only amounted to slightly over 10 per cent. of the total sales of the former corporation, the other 90 per cent. having been disposed of to other insurance companies, financial institutions and private investors throughout Canada, the United States and Great Britain.

I am having placed in the hands of every member of this Honourable House a detailed list of every security held by the Company, representing its $32,280,542.59 of assets, as at the 31st December, 1906, from which it will be at once seen by any person who will take the trouble to read it through, that the investments of the Company are of the highest class, and the position of the Company, in every respect, most satisfactory.

The following statement has been made in the newspapers and in another place:

"That Senator Cox, being President of the Canada Life Assurance Company, helped his son-in-law, the head of the firm of A. E. Ames & Co., to make false entries in the books of the Canada Life Assurance Company in order that the insurance inspector could not detect that the Canada Life Assurance Company, under the guidance of Senator Cox, was lending the money, the trust funds of the people interested in that insurance, on securities which had been questioned by the Department of Insurance."

No False Entries

This statement is untrue and misleading to the last degree. It has reference to a loan of $389,500.00 to A. E. Ames & Company upon security of 1,800 shares of Metropolitan Bank stock worth $360,000.00, and 1,040 shares of Sao Paulo stock worth $98,800.00, showing a margin of $69,300.00. It is not correct that these securities had, at that time, been questioned by the Insurance Department. The bank stock is admitted to be an authorized investment, and the Company's solicitor advises that Sao Paulo stock is also legal under the Company's charter, and the Company has never been informed that the solicitor's advice has been controverted by the Department of Justice.

It was stated in evidence at page 1060, that at the time this loan was made, in October, 1902, it was agreed that it would be repaid before the end of the year as the Company would probably require the funds. I also quote from the evidence at page 1061, as follows:

"It was not for the sake of getting rid of the securities, because we were quite content to carry those securities at any time. We had other securities of the same kind on our books. It was not with the object of not showing these securities in the Government report at all, because we had others of the same kind."

The transaction could not possibly be concealed from the department, because it clearly appeared in the cash book and ledger of the Company, which are regularly inspected by the officers of the department. The Commissioners very seriously erred in finding that the question of the Company's right to invest in the loan upon Sao Paulo securities had at this time been raised by the department. A more careful review of the correspondence made a part of the record, by the Commissioners, would have prevented this inaccuracy. It is true, that the Superintendent of Insurance had, on the 10th of September, 1902, asked the Department of Justice whether these securities had been legally and properly purchased by insurance companies under the provisions of the Insurance Act, but the decision was not given until January, 1905, over two years after this transaction occurred. The statement, that this loan was called in for the purpose of deceiving the department is, therefore, quite erroneous. No notice of any kind whatever had been given the Company as to the question having been raised, and three loans on Sao Paulo securities were reported in our 1902 returns to the department, so for that reason, apart from the others, how can the motive alleged be attributed to the Company? No false entries were made and no deceit was possible.

I will only ask your indulgence while I refer to one additional subject. On page 13 of the report I read as follows:

"With the standing and reputation which the Company undoubtedly possessed in 1900, it is difficult to arrive at any sound, economic reason, from the standpoint of the policy-holders, for calling up the $875,000.00 capital. It is manifest if the inherent earning power of the additional capital is only 4.67 per cent., its engagement in the concerns of the Canada Life without any real need is a simple method of raising that earning power to 8 per cent., the difference, under whatever name, being unnecessarily taken away from the policy-holders whose accumulations have earned it."

Policyholders Protected

This statement is inaccurate, entirely misleading and inconsistent with the actual facts of the case, which are as follows: In the early history of the Company the Act of Incorporation provided that the profits derived from the business should be divided in the proportion of 25 per cent. to the shareholders and 75 per cent. to the policy-holders. It remained in that way until the year 1879, when the shareholders made application for legislation providing that not more than 10 per cent. of the profits should be allotted to the shareholders, and not less than 90 per cent. to the policy-holders. In order to get this change made, each individual shareholder had to give his consent before Parliament would interfere with his vested rights. The shareholders thus of their own accord voluntarily surrendered to the policy-holders three-fifths of the profits to which they were entitled. The 10 per cent. to which they are still entitled is not increased, decreased, or in any way affected by the amount of paid-up capital, whether it be $125,000.00 as it was, or $1,000,000.00 as it now is. In either case, under agreement, ratified by Act of Parliament in 1879, the shareholders are entitled to one-tenth of the profits.

A shareholders' account has been kept to which has been credited not only the average rate of interest earned for the year on the capital, but also one-tenth of the profits distributed, and it is out of this account that the dividend of 8 per cent. is paid. How then can it be said, that anything has been taken away from the policyholders?

Shareholders' Rights

In view of the foregoing, is it reasonable to ask or expect that the shareholders, after surrendering three-fifths of the profits to which they were entitled, should now surrender the one-tenth of the profits to which they are still entitled? It would be as reasonable for the depositors of the Bank of Montreal to say to the shareholders: "With our $165,000,000.00 of Assets we could get along without your $14,000,000.00 of capital, and in place of getting a fair return as originally agreed upon for our deposits, we will make this a Mutual Bank and take the whole of the earnings."

Shareholders of the Canada Life have for sixty years had their capital, or credit, at the risk of the business, and for many years of that time received no dividends whatever. At times in the history of the Company, those who were unable to hold their stock sold it at seventy and seventy-five cents on the dollar, and now, owing to the careful management and honourable dealings of the Company, that they have created an earning power for their capital one-quarter of which they were originally entitled to and one-tenth of which they are still entitled to, it is not at all likely that they will be so generous as to give that up, nor is it at all likely that the Parliament of this country would confiscate their right to it.

Other Companies

There are insurance companies who only do non-participating business and whose profits go exclusively to the shareholders. There are other companies, purely mutual, whose profits go exclusively to the policyholders. I am insured in some of these companies myself, on both this and the other side of the Atlantic, but I have yet to find one whose profits have been larger than those of the Canada Life, while the latter's Act of Incorporation makes it compulsory upon the directors to give ninety per cent. of the profits to the policyholders. Many English and Scotch companies, so strongly recommended by the Commissioners, and whose plans were adopted and policy followed by the Canada Life at its organization, divide their profits upon the basis of ninety per cent. to the policyholders and ten per cent. to the shareholders, while others retain the forty per cent. allowed by their charters.

The increased and increasing share of public confidence enjoyed by the Canada Life is evidence that the majority of our policyholders prefer the additional security and the continuity management provided by a Company with One Million dollars capital in preference to that of a mutual company, particularly when it is demonstrated by actual experience that they do not get any better results from mutual companies.

Other Inaccuracies

There are other inaccuracies in the Report of the Commission from which erroneous inferences have been and may be drawn, but they are of a less important nature and I will not ask the indulgence of this Honourable House to refer to them now. An opportunity will be afforded to do that when the full Report and the legislation which it recommends is under discussion. In the meantime what I more particularly wish to controvert is the impression that the Royal Commission has sent broadcast throughout this county, that because of my majority holding of the stock of the Canada Life Assurance Company its funds are improperly used by me for my own purposes or for the purpose of other institutions in which I am interested. I want to give this a positive and unqualified denial, in the strongest possible words that I can command, and to reiterate the statement I have already made, that every investment of the Company is made with the approval and concurrence of the full Board of Directors.

Two Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Him.

Imperfect organic action makes bad blood, so, too, bad blood, in turn, makes imperfect action of every bodily organ. If the blood becomes impure, poisoned or contaminated in any way from constipation, biliousness or any other cause, some especially weak organ must soon become diseased thereby, or the whole system may suffer in consequence.

Pimples, boils, blotches, ulcers, festering sores, abscesses, tumors, rashes or some serious and perhaps incurable blood disease may result. There is no medicine on the market to-day to equal the old and well-known remedy, for all cases of bad blood.

Mr. Ernest B. Tupper, Round Hill, N.S., says: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly." Price $1.00 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $5.00.

KILLED BY A LOBSTER

A Chicago chef has just died from blood poisoning following upon a nip from a lobster. Zam-Buk applied immediately after that trivial accident would have saved that man's life! Zam-Buk is just as fatal to poison and disease germs, as these are fatal to us, and a little more so; because, while we sometimes get germs into our system and still live, when those germs get Zam-Buk they give up the ghost without a struggle. One of England's leading analysts has proved this. Write to us for his report. Meanwhile, when you sustain a cut, a burn, a bruise, a scratch, or any injury, just apply Zam-Buk. Two processes right away—cleanses the sore, thus preventing blood poison and suppuration, and commences to heal. Incidentally it takes out soreness. Soreness is not necessary to Nature's healing processes. See free sample offer in adjoining column. All stores and druggists sell at fifty cents a box. Nothing like it.

THE MAGISTRATE IS RIGHT

Magistrate Perry, of Goldfields, B.C., believes in making a good thing known, and we do not blame him either. Writing of Zam-Buk, he says: "After a very fair trial I have proved Zam-Buk eminently satisfactory. In my case it cured a skin rash of five years' standing which no doctor had been able to do any good for. I would certainly encourage any person to keep Zam-Buk in his home." He is quite right. Every home needs it. Is it in your home? If not, why not? All stores and druggists sell at 50 cents a box.

A GENUINE OFFER

Test Zam-Buk at Our Expense

We appreciate the position taken by the man or woman who says to us: "If your preparation is what you claim, you should have no objection to letting us try it before spending money on it." THE LOCAL BOWLERS DID WELL

Frost and Boyd Made the Highest Score of the Day Yesterday—Peterboro' Team May go to Detroit.

The Peterborough bowlers did extremely well in the big C. B. tournament in Toronto yesterday. Messrs. T. Boyd and C. E. Frost rolled up the biggest score of the day in the two-man event beating seventeen other teams, including Erie, Hamilton, London, Ottawa and Toronto pairs. Their score was as follows:

	1	2	3	T'l.
Boyd	202	181	191	574
Frost	168	149	187	504
				1078

This is the third highest score made in the tournament to date. Boyd's score is the highest made so far, ranking above the high score in the individual event but as it was made in the two man competition it cannot count in the individual event.

In this class the locals did not do so well. Boyd rolled 443, and Frost 495.

A despatch says: It is expected that five teams will go to Detroit for the state tournament next week, leaving here on Tuesday night. It is probable that two teams from Hamilton and one from Peterborough will make the trio.

FOOTBALL MEN ARE LEAVING THE CITY

Peterborough Quakers May Have Difficulty in Filling up the Vacancies.

The Peterborough Quaker Football Club may have some difficulty in filling up the vacancies made by those who have left or who are leaving the city. They lost a good man last autumn when Armstrong left and now Billy Boycott, who played on the wing with him, has decided to go to Ottawa, where he he has secured a position in Dey's roller skating rink. Harding who played with the construction team, last fall, was expected to line up with the Quakers this year but from the latest reports he is going to Jersey City. There are also rumours of one or two others of the old team leaving Peterborough so that there will be three or four new men wanted to fill up the ranks. These will be chosen soon from those who are turning out to practice.

ANGLING CLUB SELECTS ITS NEW OFFICERS

Annual Meeting of That Organization Was Held Last Night—Declares in Favour of Protecting Fish.

The ninth annual meeting of the C. G. B. Angling Club was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlours last night. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

It is the intention of the club to call a meeting in two weeks in regard to the advisability of erecting suitable headquarters on some favourable site along the Otonabee River. The anglers are very enthusiastic over the prospects of this season's outings. The wily denizens of the deep will have to keep a sharp lookout. The club are providing a number of life preservers for the use of guests when on outings.

The members desire to thank Mr. Williamson of the Y. M. C. A. for the use of rooms.

Ald. Tovey will keep the boys in good spirits this year. To him has been the honour of telling fish stories, etc. Length, weight, girth of all game will be determined by the O. L. H's decisions must be final in all cases.

The club is in good financial condition, having to their credit in the bank $400.99.

The officers for 1907 are:
Rear Admiral—R. M. Roy.
Commodore—J. G. M. Wilson.
Secretary-Treasurer—R. H. Shepherd.
Captain—J. A. Brown.
Hard—R. E. Layfield.
Guide—J. J. McCabe.
Official Liar—Ald. Geo. Tovey.
Scullion—Leo Dineen.
Cabin Boy—P. L. Allison.

The Executive Committee was elected and is composed as follows; Messrs. A. W. Patterson, J. J. McCabe, R. E. Layfield, J. G. M. Wilson, R. H. Shepherd and J. A. Brown.

Moved by Angler Shepherd, seconded by Angler Layfield, that the initiation fee to be $2.00 for the year 1907, the same covering one year's membership.

Mr. T. Carson was proposed as a member and was duly admitted (to be brandied on first outing).

Angler Dave Carlisle was reinstated on promise of future behaviour, etc.

Moved by R. E. Layfield, seconded by A. Paterson, that members indebted to club shall be struck off membership if account is not settled by the end of the year.—Carried.

Moved by A. Trombley, seconded by R. Shepherd, that a fall meeting be called to wind up the summer's business.—Carried.

The members of the club are in sympathy with the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association. It might also be stated that the members are all members of the above association.

It was moved and seconded that the C. G. B. Angling Club, a branch of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association, request the parent organization in Peterborough to call a meeting and reorganize. This club also wishes to place on record their appreciation of the good work this association has done in other parts of the province, and do not wish Peterborough, the gateway of the most magnificent waters in Ontario, to be careless in this most important work.—Carried.

A resolution was also carried that this club request the Ontario Government to better enforce the fish and game laws in this district, especially during the breeding season.

It was moved and seconded that the Dominion Government Department of Railways and Canals be requested to protect the young fish as much as possible when unwatering or inspecting the canal.—Carried.

CHIPMUNKS WON THE FIRST BASEBALL GAME

The first baseball game of the season was reported to the Examiner to-day, and to the Chipmunks belongs the honour of having won the first game in what will no doubt be a successful season for baseball. On the Central Park, this morning, the Chipmunks defeated the Daisies by a score of 14-11, in a game which, as the score would indicate, was characterized by some heavy hitting. The batteries were: Chipmunks, Lee and Clancy; Daisies, Cresswell and O'Connor.

BASEBALL

Mr. F. D. Emsly, sales manager for the London Concrete Machinery Co., is to be at the National Hotel for three days next week, the 11th, 12th and 13th.

FOOTBALL

Owing to the disagreeable weather there was no football practice last night, but to-night at 6.30, and to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, as many as possible are requested to be on hand in Central Park.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

QUEEN ZEPHRA

The farewell performance of the magnificent spectacle Zephra, was given to a crowded house at the Grand last night, and as usual the audience was greatly enthused over the production. The "Hobo" dance as on the first time made a big hit, and an encore was demanded. During the evening Mr. Booth thanked the audience for the patronage they had given the attraction, and said that the citizens of Peterborough should feel proud of their young people whose work in Zephra had been most commendable.

Mr. Booth left to-day for Belleville where Zephra will be produced in a short time. He will in all probability put on another entertainment here in the fall called Sibylla, which is a spectacle along the same lines as Zephra.

AND FOR LADIES, TOO.

When the Dealer Does Not Have Them Send for a Catalogue.

There are a few stores among the 335 Slater shoe agencies where the Slater women's shoe cannot be bought. In such cases, the lady who desires the incomparable shoe may easily get it by sending direct to the Slater Shoe Company, Montreal, for a catalogue. All sizes and widths are made in a hundred of the best styles.

The same fine workmanship and cultured design is evidenced in the finish of the ladies' shoe as that which has made the name "Slater" a synonym for fine footwear. The Slater shoe for men was first perfected, but the Slater shoe for ladies has been on the market for years, and each year grows wider its circle of admirers. R. Neill, agent, Peterborough.

HECTOR BAKER ARRESTED ACTING SUSPICIOUSLY

He Was Remanded for One Week on the Charge of Vagrancy.

At the police court this morning Hector Baker was arraigned before Magistrate Dumble on the charge of vagrancy. He was arrested last night and a more serious charge is veiled beneath that of being a vag. Police Officer Newhall made the arrest in a dark spot on Hunter street and he states that Baker was in the act of rifling the pockets of a drunk, who was in a helpless condition of intoxication.

The officer surprised him while his hands were still in the man's pockets and Baker said he was searching for a flask.

Magistrate Dumble remanded him for one week when he will appear again. If the police keep on the alert criminal propensities will be quickly stamped out.

DIVISION COURT DOCKET WAS LENGTHY ONE

There Were Nineteen Cases on the List—His Honour Judge Weller Indisposed This Morning.

The Division Court docket to-day was a lengthy one with about 19 cases on the list. Court opened at 11 o'clock instead of 10 o'clock as usual on account of the indisposition of His Honour Judge Weller earlier in the morning. He arrived, however, at eleven o'clock when the cases were begun.

Among the most important was a case in which F. C. Cubitt is the plaintiff and the Atkinson Bros., of Toronto, the defendants. The latter are charged with not sending goods according to sample. Mr. F. D. Kerr is appearing for the plaintiff, and Mr. G. W. Hatton for the defendants.

It is not expected that the whole docket will be disposed of to-day on account of the lateness in beginning and the large number of cases on the list.

FINGERS INJURED IN SAVING A FRIEND

Accident to Percy Saxton at Carpet Factory Yesterday Afternoon.

In attempting to save the feet of a fellow employee from injury, Percy Saxton met with a painful accident at the carpet factory yesterday afternoon. A piece of iron fell from its regular position, and had it not been for Mr. Saxton's alacrity it would have alighted on the other's toes. In catching hold of it with his hands, one of them was sandwiched between the iron and another substance, with the result that his fingers were badly injured.

Although the accident was not of a very serious nature, Mr. Saxton will be unable to continue his work for some time.

KIDNEY DISEASE COMES ON QUIETLY

Perhaps no other organs work harder than the kidneys to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of Kidney Complaint, but do not suspect it. It may have been in the system for some time. There may have been backaches, swelling of the feet and ankles, disturbances of the urinary organs, such as, brick dust deposit in the urine, highly colored scanty or cloudy urine, bladder pains, frequent or supressed urination, burning sensation when urinating, etc.

Do not neglect any of these symptoms, for, if neglected they will eventually lead to Bright's Disease, Dropsy and Diabetes.

On the first sign of anything wrong

Doan's Kidney Pills

SHOULD BE TAKEN.

They go to the seat of trouble, strengthen the kidneys and help them to filter the blood properly and flush off all the impurities which cause kidney trouble. Mr. Thomas Petty, Massey, Ont., writes: "After I arrived in Canada from New Zealand, a couple of years ago, I suffered very much from kidney trouble. I tried several remedies, but they did me no good. Finally my back became so lame I could scarcely work. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking them I felt like a new man.

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

MR. D. KENNEDY GAVE A LECTURE

In the Conservative Club Rooms Last Night on Lives of Jos. Howe and D'Arcy McGee.

DELIGHTED LARGE AUDIENCE

The Conservative Club rooms were once more filled last night on the occasion of a lecture by Mr. Dawson Kennedy on Joseph Howe and Thos. D'Arcy McGee. As on previous evenings, the smoker was much enjoyed and proved to be as successful as any. Prior to the chief event of the evening, a short musical programme was presented, consisting of instrumental and vocal selections. Mr. Walter Stocker contributed a well-rendered song which was greatly appreciated. Mr. Frank Clark delighted the audience with a banjo solo played in his inimitable style. As an encore he sang by request, "The Watermelon Song." Mr. Pratt also contributed a vocal solo, and was recalled. He possesses a good bass voice. Mr. Peter Gardiner read a portion of "Wee MacGregor," which elicited much applause.

The Lecture

Alderman Harry Phelan, who occupied the position of chairman in a most satisfactory manner, next introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Dawson Kennedy. His subject was the lives of D'Arcy McGee and Joseph Howe. Mr. Kennedy himself has heard both of these men speak, and showed that he was thoroughly acquainted with their lives. Joseph Howe received his early training in Nova Scotia, in the journalistic arena. His work during the seven years in which he worked in this sphere stamped him as one of the greatest journalists on this continent. He was arraigned on one occasion for libel, and although no lawyer in Halifax, for various reasons, would defend him, with characteristic energy he prepared his own plea by reading from the law books bearing on libel. He had no means to expend; he had never faced the public in speech, and the aristocratic section was opposed to him. His speech in his own defence has been preserved, and a more magnificent speech to a jury has seldom been equalled in British jurisprudence. He spoke for six hours and a half in a grand court; it was his initial appearance in public, and the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," and the freedom of the press was thus established.

Later Years

He afterwards opposed Sir Colin Campbell, Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, and even asked Queen Victoria to have him removed, and a suitable governor take his place. The result was that his petition was granted, as representative of the people's wishes. The general opinion was that he was opposed to Confederation of the Provinces. However, from a speech delivered by him in Halifax in 1851, it is quite evident that he was among the first to promote Confederation. An extract read from a speech in which he opposed a temperance bill was met with applause.

Thos. D' Arcy McGee

The speaker said that D'Arcy McGee was a character that never was surpassed. He was one of Canada's most finished orators. Like Howe, he distinguished himself in the position of editor of a paper. When a young man in Ireland he was famous because £1,000 was offered by the British authorities for his capture.

An Eloquent Speaker

Mr. Kennedy said that when he heard him years ago he was a great speaker. His eloquence and oratorical abilities won a listener to him irresistibly. He was made a member of the Dominion Government, where he soon became renowned for his great powers of oratory and his patriotism. He was a great champion of Ireland, and his assassination removed one of Canada's greatest men.

Mr. Burnham

At the conclusion of Mr. Kennedy's address Mr. Burnham moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Kennedy. In doing so, he expressed the opinion that it was a good idea to have such lectures on Canadian men, whose lives are of greatest interest to us.

Mr. P. Gardiner seconded the motion.

3c. a day will Cure Rheumatism.

The aim of most "cures" for Rheumatism seems to be to relieve the pain. When they have done that, their usefulness is gone. And the next time you take cold, or your feet get wet, or you over-exert yourself, back comes the pain.

Bu-Ju

The Gentle Kidney Pill

is different. It does relieve the pain, as quickly as the best liniment. And it does MORE. IT REMOVES THE CAUSE of Rheumatism, uric acid in the blood.

Every drop of blood passes through the Kidneys. These organs should filter out impurities. When they are weak, inflamed or diseased, the impurities stay in the blood and are carried to the sensitive nerves. Rheumatism is simply this irritation of the nerves, caused by uric acid and other impurities being deposited upon them—their favorite place being the joints and muscles. Make the Kidneys filter the blood properly, keep the blood pure and rich, and there can be no Rheumatism. Bu-Ju does this.

Buy Bu-Ju on an unconditional guarantee that they will cure you or money refunded. At all druggists, 50c. a large box, or sent on receipt of price.

INSPECTOR BALL IN BRANTFORD

Is in Telephone City Making Investigation of the Garbage System—He Says He Will Remain Until He is Posted.

THE SYSTEM IN THAT CITY

A Brantford despatch says: The fame of the local garbage system has apparently gone throughout the land. Sanitary Inspector Ball, of Peterborough, arrived in the city last evening, and is to-day being shown the workings of the service. He says he is in favour of instituting a similar service in the Electric City, and will stay here until he becomes thoroughly conversant with the system in operation here. Down in Peterborough they have no system to speak of, and the need of one is very obvious. The Council will act on Mr. Ball's recommendations.

The garbage system in Brantford is now general, extending over the entire city, and will be financed out of the general rate of taxation.

Heretofore, the system has been limited to certain sections of the city in its operation, and has been financed by individual payments on the part of the tenants benefited.

The operation will continue to be under the supervision of the Building and Grounds Committee of the City Council, and, according to estimates, will cost $7,600 for this year.

Mr. Hill made the presentation to Mr. Dennistoun on behalf of the Club, and in doing so referred to the great loss the club would sustain in Mr. Dennistoun's departure.

A TRIBUTE

(Air—"The Lass of Gowrie.")

May I have time to sing my song
About our friend, Max Dennistoun,
Who has lived with us here so long
In the town of Peterborough.
We knew Him since a little boy,
His character without alloy;
And now we wish him every joy
When he leaves Peterborough.

There is not one in town, we know,
But what is loth to see him go.
If tears would stop him, they would flow,
In the town of Peterborough.
At church we always saw him there,
At Sunday school he did his share;
His purse is open everywhere,
In the town of Peterborough.

I beg to mention in my song,
The wife of Mr. Dennistoun;
She is as nice as anyone
In the town of Peterborough.
And when we are in cheerful mood,
Shall we forget her qualities good?
We all know her since girlhood,
In the town of Peterborough.

In the Paris Republique Francaise M. Louis Latapie refers to the debate in the Chamber of Deputies, when the Government was called upon to reply to an interpellation on the increase of offences against persons, not only in Paris, but in many other parts of the country. M. Latapie considers it natural that crime should increase when the principle of ownership is attacked by the very members of the Cabinet and when no ideal is held up in the schools of the land.

HAVELOCK HAS A BLAZE

Store of Mr. Geo. Williams Damaged by Flames—Trainmen's At Home Was a Success.

PETERBORO' PEOPLE THERE

Examiner Special.

Havelock, April 3.—The trainmen's "At-Home" on Easter Monday night was a decided success, about 200 being present, including a number from Toronto, Peterborough, Hastings, Norwood and Marmora. The hall was decorated with flags and bunting. Wilson's orchestra from Peterborough supplied the music, and Mr. Archie Moore acted as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Crawford of town catered the supper.

The next event of the season will be the Masonic "At-home," to be held in the town hall Monday night, April 8.

The evangelists who have been holding revival meetings in the schoolhouse at old Havelock, have left, and are now at Preneveau holding meetings in the schoolhouse there. Large crowds gather every night to hear them preach.

The citizens will be pleased to learn that Mrs. (Dr.) Holderoft is much improved in health and will be able to come home in a short time.

The annual meeting of the Daughters of the King will be held Tuesday evening, April 2, when the officers for the ensuing year will be appointed.

The different churches were all decorated for Easter Sunday with Eastern lilies and other pretty flowers. Services were held in each of the churches and special music was rendered by the choirs for the occasion.

Much praise is tendered Miss Maude McKenna, formerly teacher in the Public School here, in the Smith's Falls' paper, at which place she sang at a concert on March 17. She was encored several times, responding in her usual pleasing manner. She was presented with a bouquet by little Miss May Nolan, of Havelock.

A Fire On Monday

Fire broke out in the store of G. A. Williams, on Ottawa street, opposite the station here, Monday about 11 a.m. There were people living over the store who had gone out and left a line of clothes hanging behind the stove pipes. The line broke, and the clothes, falling on the pipes, were burned, the fire making its way to the ceiling. It was at first thought that nothing could save it, but after hard labour with pails of water, the hose was brought from the station and the fire extinguished. Considerable damage was done to the store and contents. Insurance will cover the loss.

A great number were heard to remark at the fire yesterday that it would have been better to secure fire protection than to have been so eager to vote for the park and pleasure ground. Not sorry so soon, surely.

PROUD TO BE CALLED A CANADEAN FIRM

Dominion Cartridge Company One of Those Which Take Pride in This Fact—A Purely Canadian One.

It is pleasant to note the number of Canadian firms who are now proud to own up to the fact that they are Canadian and to brand their product clearly as being made in Canada. The latest addition to the list of notable manufacturers who are adopting this course, is the Dominion Cartridge Company, of Montreal, who are beginning an extensive advertising campaign to acquaint the sportsmen and users of ammunition generally with the merits of their cartridges and ammunition.

The fact that this firm through its correspondents in Great Britain is afforded the use of the trade secrets of the largest manufacturers of smokeless powders in the world, does not detract from the fact that it is a thoroughly Canadian organization, and Canadians can well feel proud of its success. Not only has it been able to hold the Canadian market against all competitors, but it has also succeeded in creating quite a demand for its output in the United States and other countries.

JUDGE DECIDES THAT ITS LAWFUL TO USE PERFUME

Shop Assistant Discharged for Scenting Herself—Wins a Suit Against Her Employer in Berlin.

Examiner Special

Berlin, April 5.—A curious question has been settled in the Berlin courts.

The director of a large shop dismissed his head assistant because he said she used perfumes to such a great extent "that no one could remain in her presence without feeling faint."

The girl brought and action against her employer for wrongful dismissal and claimed an indemnity. When asked by the judge if she used scents, she answered:

"Oh, yes, everybody does: a drop on my handkerchief or a drop on my blouse is all I allow myself. Here is my perfume."

The judge took the bottle, sniffed at it, and passed it on to the gentlemen sitting around him, who also sniffed. As they all declared that they found the perfume agreeable, the judge gave sentence for the plaintiff, saying: "It is permitted to aborigins to use scents, providing they are not offensive to those around her and are not detrimental to business."

The employer, therefore, lost his case, and has had to pay the damages claimed by the girl for the loss of her situation.

Pimples and Blotches—Redness—Boils—Eczema and other inflammations of the skin—mean Impure Blood.

A person with a bad complexion always suffers from poor digestion — non-action of the bowels (or Constipation) and often the kidneys are weak.

The Hound of the Baskervilles

Another Adventure of Sherlock Holmes.

BY A. CONAN DOYLE.

Author of "The Green Flag" and "The Great Boer War"

Copyright (1902) by A. Conan Doyle.

"Hum! Someone seems to be very deeply interested in your movements." Out of the envelope he took a half-sheet of foolscap paper folded into four. This he opened and spread flat upon the table. Across the middle of it a single sentence had been formed by the expedient of pasting printed words upon it. It ran: "As you value your life or your reason keep away from the moor." The word "moor" only was printed in ink.

"Now," said Sir Henry Baskerville, "perhaps you will tell me, Mr. Holmes, what in thunder is the meaning of that, and who it is that takes so much interest in my affairs?"

"What do you make of it, Dr. Mortimer? You must allow that there is nothing supernatural about this, at any rate?"

"No, sir, but it might very well come from someone who was convinced that the business is supernatural."

"What business?" asked Sir Henry, sharply. "It seems to me that all you gentlemen know a great deal more than I do about my own affairs."

"You shall share our knowledge before you leave this room, Sir Henry. I promise you that," said Sherlock Holmes. "We will confine ourselves for the present with you permission to this very interesting document, which must have been put together and posted yesterday evening. Have you yesterday's Times, Watson?"

"It is here in the corner."

"Might I trouble you for it—the inside page, please, with the leading articles?" He glanced swiftly over it, running his eyes up and down the columns. "Capital article this on Free Trade. Permit me to give you an extract from it. 'You may be cajoled into imagining that your own special trade or your own industry will be encouraged by a protective tariff, but it stands to reason that such legislation must in the long run keep away wealth from the country, diminish the value of our imports, and lower the general conditions of life in this island.' What do you think of that, Watson?" cried Holmes, in high glee, rubbing his hands together with satisfaction. "Don't you think that is an admirable sentiment?"

Dr. Mortimer looked at Holmes with an air of professional interest, and Sir Henry Baskerville turned a pair of puzzled dark eyes upon me.

"I don't know much about the tariff and things of that kind," said he; "but it seems to me we've got a bit off the trail so far as that note is concerned."

"On the contrary, I think we are particularly hot upon the trail, Sir Henry. Watson here knows more about my methods than you do, but I fear that even he has not quite grasped the significance of this sentence."

"No, I confess that I see no connection."

"And yet, my dear Watson, there is so very close a connection that the one is extracted out of the other. 'You,' 'your,' 'your,' 'life,' 'reason,' 'value' 'keep away,' 'from the.' Don't you see now whence these words have been taken?"

"By thunder, you're right! Well, it that isn't smart!" cried Sir Henry.

"If any possible doubt remained it is settled by the fact that 'keep away' and 'from the' are cut out in one piece."

"Well, now—so it is!"

"Really, Mr. Holmes, this exceeds anything which I could have imagined," said Dr. Mortimer, gazing at my friend in amazement. "I could understand anyone saying that the words were from a newspaper; but that you should name which, and add that it came from the leading article, is really one of the most remarkable things which I have ever known. How did you do it?"

"I presume, doctor, that you could tell the skull of a negro from that of an Esquimaux?"

"Most certainly."

"But how?"

"Because that is my special hobby. The differences are obvious. The supra-orbital crest, the facial angle, the maxillary curve, the——"

"But this is my special hobby, and the differences are equally obvious. There is as much difference to my eyes between the leaded bourgeois type of a Times article and the slovenly print of an evening halfpenny paper as there could be between your negro and your Esquimaux. The detection of types is one of the most elementary branches of knowledge to the special expert in crime, though I confess that once when I was very young I confused the Leeds Mercury with the Western Morning News. But a Times leader is entirely distinctive, and these words could have been taken from nothing else. As it was done yesterday the strong probability was that we should find the words in yesterday's issue."

"So far as I can follow you, then, Mr. Holmes," said Sir Henry Baskerville, "someone cut out this message with a scissors——"

"Nail-scissors," said Holmes. "You can see that it was a very short-bladed scissors, since the cutter had to take two snips over 'keep away.'"

"That is so. Someone, then, cut out the message with a pair of short-bladed scissors, pasted it with paste——"

"Gum," said Holmes.

"With gum on to the paper. But I want to know why the word 'moor' should have been written?"

"Because he could not find it in print. The others words were all simple and might be found in any issue, but 'moor' would be less common."

"Why, of course, that would explain it. Have you read anything else in this message, Mr. Holmes?"

"There are one or two indications, and yet the utmost pains have been taken to remove all clues. The address, you observe, is printed in rough characters. But the Times is a paper which is seldom found in any hands but those of the highly educated. We may take it, therefore, that the letter was composed by an educated man who wished to pose as an uneducated one, and his effort to conceal his own writing suggests that that writing might be known, or come to be known, by you. Again, you will observe that the words are not gummed on in an accurate line, but that some are much higher than others. 'Life,' for example, is quite out of its proper place. That may point to carelessness or it may point to agitation and hurry upon the part of the cutter. On the whole I incline to the latter view, since the matter was evidently important, and it is unlikely that the composer of such a letter would be careless. If he were in a hurry it opens up the interesting question why he should be in a hurry, since any letter posted up to early morning would reach Sir Henry before he would leave his hotel. Did the composer fear an interruption—and from whom?"

"We are coming now rather into the region of guess work," said Dr. Mortimer.

"Say, rather, into the region where we balance probabilities and choose the most likely. It is the scientific use of the imagination, but we have always some material basis on which to start our speculations. Now, you would call it a guess, no doubt, but I am almost certain that this address has been written in an hotel."

"How in the world can you say that?"

"If you examine it carefully you will see that both the pen and the ink have given the writer trouble. The pen has spluttered twice in a single word, and has run dry three times in a short address, showing that there was very little ink in the bottle. Now, a private pen or ink-bottle is seldom allowed to be in such a state, and the combination of the two must be quite rare. But you know the hotel ink and the hotel pen, where it is rare to get anything else. Yes, I have very little hesitation in saying that could we examine the waste-paper baskets of the hotels round Charing Cross until we found the remains of the mutilated Times leader we could lay our hands straight upon the person who sent this singular message. Hallo! Hallo! What's this?"

He was carefully examining the foolscap, upon which the words were pasted.

"Well?"

"Nothing," said he, throwing it down. "It is a blank half-sheet of paper, without even a watermark upon it. I think we have drawn as much as we can from this curious letter; and now, Sir Henry, has anything else of interest happened to you since you have been in London?"

"Why, no, Mr. Holmes. I think not."

"You have not observed anyone follow or watch you?"

"I seem to have walked right into the thick of a dime novel," said our visitor. "Why in thunder should anyone follow or watch me?"

"We are coming to that. You have nothing else to report to us before we go into this matter?"

"Well, it depends upon what you think worth reporting."

"I think anything out of the ordinary routine of life well worth reporting."

Sir Henry smiled.

"I don't know much of British life yet, for I have spent nearly all my time in the States and in Canada. But I hope that to lose one of your boots is not part of the ordinary routine of life over here."

"You have lost one of your boots?"

"My dear sir," cried Dr. Mortimer, "it is only mislaid. You will find it when you return to the hotel. What is the use of troubling Mr. Holmes with trifles of this kind?"

"Well, he asked me for anything outside the ordinary routine."

"Exactly," said Holmes, "however foolish the incident may seem. You have lost one of your boots, you say?"

"Well, mislaid it, anyhow. I put them both outside my door last night, and there was only one in the morning. I could get no sense out of the chap who cleans them. The worst of it is that I only bought the pair last night in the Strand, and I have never had them on."

"If you have never worn them, why did you put them out to be cleaned?"

"They were tan boots, and had never been varnished. That was why I put them out."

"Then I understand that on your arrival in London yesterday you went out at once and bought a pair of boots?"

"I did a good deal of shopping. Dr. Mortimer here went round with me. You see, if I am to be squire down there I must dress the part, and it may be that I have got a little careless in my ways out West. Among other things I bought these brown boots—gave six dollars for them—and had one stolen before ever I had them on my feet."

I was aware of a bushy black beard and a pair of piercing eyes turned upon us.

"It seems a singularly useless thing to steal," said Sherlock Holmes. "I confess that I share Dr. Mortimer's belief that it will not be long before the missing boot is found."

"And now gentlemen," said the baronet, with decision, "it seems to me that I have spoken quite enough about the little that I know. It is time that you kept your promise and gave me a full account of what we are all driving at."

"Your request is a very reasonable one," Holmes answered. "Dr. Mortimer, I think you could not do better than to tell your story as you told it to us."

Thus encouraged, our scientific friend drew his papers from his pocket, and presented the whole case as he had done upon the morning before. Sir Henry Baskerville listened with the deepest attention, and with an occasional exclamation of surprise.

"Well, I seem to have come into an inheritance with a vengeance," said he, when the long narrative was finished. "Of course, I've heard of the hound ever since I was in the nursery. It's the pet story of the family, though I never thought of taking it seriously before. But as to my uncle's death—well, it all seems boiling up in my head, and I can't get it clear yet. You don't seem quite to have made up your mind whether it's a case for a policeman or a clergyman."

"Precisely."

"And now there's this affair of the letter to me at the hotel. I suppose that fits into its place."

"It seems to show that someone knows more than we do about what goes on upon the moor."

"And also," said Holmes, "that someone is not ill-disposed towards you, since they warn you of danger."

"Or it may be that they wish, for their own purposes, to scare me away."

"Well, of course, that is possible also. I am very much indebted to you, Dr. Mortimer, for introducing me to a problem which presents several interesting alternatives. But the prac-

TO PREVENT BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION

Do not neglect a cold or cough no matter how slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages sooner or later will lead to fatal results.

If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other pectoral remedies.

It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulations.

Miss Belle Campbell, Long River, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I was troubled with bronchitis. A friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. So I procured three bottles but it only took two to cure me."

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents at all dealers.

Unsolicited Testimony.

Here is the unsolicited testimony of Mrs. C. A. Martin, of Granville, N.Y., concerning Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets for Women. We have her consent to publish her letter. It reads as follows:

I feel that I should tell you what wonders Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets have done for me. I had been running down, getting thin in flesh, and losing appetite for the past year, and though doctor's advice was sought and different remedies were used, there seemed to be no improvement. At length a friend who had received great benefit from Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets, advised me to try this remedy. I did so. In less than a week I began to see good effects. My appetite returned, my nerves began to get steady, my aches and pains began to leave me. I commenced to take on flesh, and I felt that I was being rapidly restored to health. At this moment I feel I am a new woman.

We want you to notice that the above letter proves our claims for Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets in two particulars.

First, that they will restore health after other remedies and even physicians have failed. Mrs. Martin had tried both.

Second, that improvement begins at once. Mrs. Martin saw good effects within a week.

If you are suffering from a run-down condition, or any weakness peculiar to your sex, you, too, can be made well and strong by these tablets.

Take them one week and note the improvement in your feelings and general health.

Dr. Hugo's Health Tablets Make Healthy Women.

EXPLOSION AT FIRE.

Thirty Firemen Caught In Crash of Falling Debris.

New York, April 5.—Thirty firemen, among them Chief Croker and Deputy Chief Guerin, were injured by falling debris, and damage estimated at $50,000 was caused by a fire in the five-storey building at 159 Maiden lane yesterday. Only two of the injured men were severely hurt. They are Andrew Swerts, assistant foreman, and David Murphy, a fireman. Both are in a hospital with badly crushed and lacerated bodies. Nearly a hundred firemen were at work on the burning building when an explosion ripped off the roof, tore out the front wall of the building from the fourth storey up, and shook portions of two other walls down into the street. At the sound of the explosion the firemen fled, but thirty of them were caught in the crush of falling debris.

MEN BADLY HURT.

Molten Metal At Dominion Steel Co. Went Over Them.

Sydney, N.S., April 5.—An explosion occurred at the open hearth furnaces of the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. yesterday morning, in which twelve men were injured, of whom many had been so badly hurt as to cause their removal to the hospital.

The door of one of the furnaces could not be opened when the heat was ready to be taken out, in consequence of which the metal exploded scattering molten iron and brick in every direction.

The men were working about, and those nearest the furnace were the more seriously injured. Two of those taken to the hospital may be fatally injured.

IGNORE LABOR BILL.

Striking Coal Miners Will Be Liable to Penalties Provided.

Ottawa, April 5.—The strike in the Nova Scotia coal mines seems to be going on in defiance of the Lemieux bill. The Minister of Labor telegraphed yesterday morning, pointing out that if an investigation was not asked for before a strike, then the parties would be subject to the penalties of the bill.

MR. ST. JOHN NO BETTER.

Hospital Attendants Report His Condition Unchanged.

Toronto, April 5.—The condition of Hon. Speaker St. John at three o'clock this morning was unchanged.

The Speaker is fighting a great battle for life and every hour improves his chances.

Provincial Revenue Expands.

Toronto, April 5.—Succession duties in March received by the Provincial Treasury amounted to $194,327.33. In March, 1906, the total was $35,586.74. The first three months of this year have netted $248,932.74, against $133,230.35 for the same period last year.

The Provincial Secretary's department received in the month of March $32,638. Last year in the same month the receipts were $17,398. For the first quarter of 1907 the revenue amounted to $98,667. For the same quarter in 1906 the amount was $50,104.

The large increase in the number of companies incorporated and the promptitude with which fees were paid by companies making annual returns account for the larger revenue.

TURNED ON THE GAS.

Young Woman Tries to Take Her Own Life.

Toronto, April 5.—Jennie Goldbeck, a young woman of comely appearance, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of attempting to commit suicide. Until recently she has been living with two other girls above a Chinaman's laundry on Church street.

Her companions were married one day last week, and the other on Tuesday to two Chinaman who visited the laundry.

Miss Goldbeck was taken in hand by the Salvation Army, and for the past few days had been living at the army's home at 25 Esther street.

Shortly before noon yesterday one of the attendants missed her, and on investigating found her lying on the bed of a room with the gas jet turned on.

Medical attendance was summoned, and the young woman revived. She was afterwards taken to No. 3 police station.

Small Turnips.

Turnips that are too small to pare and slice economically before cooking may be utilized by boiling whole in their jackets. When done, the skins can be rubbed off with the hand the same as beets. By this method the economical housewife is able to use turnips that otherwise would go to the hogs, and, according to the experience of many who have tried this way, the small turnips are sweeter and have a better flavor when so treated than the larger ones cooked in the usual way.

REFUSED TO ANSWER THE QUESTIONS

Public Accounts Committee Criticised By the Opposition.

MONK'S MOTION DEFEATED

North Atlantic Trading Co. Again—Proposal to Bring Biddoe to Bar of the House—Government Attacked for Keeping Back Facts—Amend Criminal Code—Insurance Report to Be Discussed Tuesday.

Ottawa, April 5.—The House spent yesterday for the most part in a long-drawn-out and practically futile discussion of Mr. Monk's motion that Mr. C. H. Biddoe, accountant of the Interior Depratment, who made an audit of the accounts of the North Atlantic Trading Co. at Hamburg, and who before the Agricultural Committee refused to divulge the names of the agents of the company, be called to the bar of the House and receive instructions of Parliament to answer the questions with respect to expenditures made by the company. The debate of last year was rehashed, and the motion was finally voted down by 99 to 51. Mr. Foster intimated that on Tuesday next he would discuss the report of the Royal Commission on Insurance.

Amendment to Criminal Code.

The Minister of Justice introduced a bill yesterday morning to amend the criminal code, the principal provision of which was to provide for the trying of persons charged with offences in the unorganized portions of Canada, wherever the defendant may be found.

The bill was read a second time, and having passed into the committee stage, progress was reported.

A bill to amend the statute law in its application to the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta received its first reading.

The Minister of Justice also introduced a bill to amend the winding up act, the object of which was to simplify procedure with regard to service of notice.

The Postmaster-General announced that the Government had under consideration proposals to provide for the more liberal compensation of postmasters.

Mr. Biddoe's Refusal to Answer.

In accordance with notice, Mr. Monk (Jacques Cartier) moved that Mr. C. H. Biddoe, accountant of the Immigration Department, having refused to answer certain questions as to the North Atlantic Trading Co. put to him when giving evidence before the Agriculture Committee, should be called to the Bar of the House to receive the instructions of the House. Mr. Monk said that Mr. Biddoe was sent to Europe to investigate the claims of the company, and bound himself to secrecy not to reveal the names of the agent and subagents of the company, and gave a similar answer when asked to give the names of printers to whom $14,000 had been paid for the printing of immigration literature. It seemed to him that it was an elementary principle that the House of Commons was entitled to know how the people's money was spent. The chairman of the committee had refused to call upon Mr. Biddoe to answer these questions and was sustained in the ruling by a majority vote.

Government Alone Responsible.

The Minister of Interior said that the real intention of the motion was to criticize a policy adopted by the Government, and whatever responsibility there was must be assumed by the Government and not by its officer, Mr. Biddoe. They knew that in certain European countries there were strict laws in respect to emigration, and he pointed out in this connection that Mr. Biddoe had acted on a principle affirmed by the House last year. He did not think that Mr. Biddoe should be called upon to answer personally for a policy for which the Government had been responsible for years.

Lord Aylmer's Term.

On motion to go into supply, Col. Hughes asked whether there was any truth in the rumor that Lord Aylmer had resigned his position in the Militia Department.

Mr. Fielding said his understanding was that Lord Aylmer's term of service had expired, but he was not in a position to give any definite statement.

Mr. Oliver stated that if possible the Dominion lands bill would be put through this session.

Marine Estimates.

The House went into committee and resumed consideration of the estimates of the Marine and Fisheries Department. Votes for lighthouses, coast service, scientific institutions and hydrographic surveys, marine hospitals and steamboat inspection, amounting altogether to $3,317,555, were passed.

CASH WAS USELESS.

Now Finds Himself In Jail on Serious Charge.

Owen Sound, Ont., April 5.—Last summer Dr. Parks, of Feversham, while attending the family of W. Patterson, of Collingwood Township, had his suspicions directed to the 13-year-old daughter of the house, whose mind is somewhat unbalanced. Direct questioning elicited a confession that for two years the girl had maintained illicit relations with Hugh Thompson, a neighboring farmer, who is 50 years old.

In November following Dr. Parks took the girl and her parents to the office of Mr. John Birnie, K. C., Town Solicitor of Collingwood, where depositions were made. Mr. Birnie wrote to Thompson, and as a result the latter visited the lawyer's office and made a settlement for $800, paying $600 cash and giving a mortgage on his farm for the balance.

Two hundred dollars of the amount paid Mr. Birnie handed over to Dr. Parks, and the rest he retained, the parents of the girl receiving nothing.

Recently the Attorney-General's office learned of the charge against Thompson, and Provincial Detective Greed went up and arrested him. He appeared before Magistrate Dewson, of Flesherton, yesterday and was committed for trial.

Mr. Birnie, in explanation of his retention of the money, stated that he heard rumors that the Crown was about to take the matter up, and thought it best not to pay over the money to the parents. Dr. Parks claims that the $200 which he received was in payment for professional services to the family, in addition to $160 which he had already received.

SHOT BY ARTILLERY.

Roads of Roumania Are In Terrible State—Strewn With Bodies.

Bucharest, Roumania, April 5.—Tranquility has been restored in most of the revolting districts. Disturbances, however, are reported from the Jalomak district, hitherto quiet; also from the Oltenie district. Troops from Moldavia have arrived in the Mehedinintze department, where the devastation has been widespread. The village of Operishoru has been bombarded.

Rabbi Moses Gaster states that his private advices indicate that the horrors of the Roumanian insurrection far exceed the accounts given in the press despatches. The newspaper correspondents, he says, have not been allowed to go out and see for themselves, but have been forced to put up with the official accounts. "I have just received a letter," said Rabbi Gaster, "from a person who witnessed a conflict between the peasants and the troops in one of the Wallachian townships. He writes me that the roads were covered with the corpses of peasants shot down by the soldiers by means of artillery as well as with rifles. The condition of portions of Wallachia must be terrible. The cheerful optimism of the authorities does not count much to me."

Sir Wilfrid at Montreal.

Montreal, April 5.—The Ministerial special reached here last evening from Ottawa at 6.30 and five minutes later the special left for St. John, N. B.

On board were Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Frederick and Lady Borden, Hon. L. P. and Madame Brodeur and their attendants.

The train left earlier than was expected, hence a great many people who intended to greet the Prime Minister failed to reach the depot.

Sir Wilfrid, although thin, seemed hale and hearty, and there was no sign of anxiety on his face.

Influx of Immigrants.

St. John, N. B., April 5.—The C. P. R. steamer Montezuma, in command of Captain Birschman, arrived in port Wednesday with 2,161 passengers. This is the largest number of passengers ever landed here from one steamer, and it is also a record from the fact that there was not a single case of sickness during the voyage.

The passengers were all steerage, the larger portion being Galicians and Italians, with a sprinkling of Germans, Hollanders and Belgians. All but 78 are going to the Canadian west.

The Donaldson liner Cassandra, the big new boat of the Donaldson fleet, also reached port yesterday morning from Glasgow with 785 passengers.

TREATMENT OF HORSES CRITICIZED

Public opinion is making itself known as being in opposition to the treatment which some of the horses in the city are subjected to. Many of the old steeds which have slaved all their lives for their owners, only to be disposed of for paltry sums to persons who ill treat and ill feed them, should be looked after. There are several cases which the Humane Society could do worse than investigate. Horses — lame, feeble and half fed — are being driven every day around the city that would pursue a load of hay for miles if they were only given their freedom.

Many of these are owned by men too fond of spending their money in questionable ways instead of purchasing hay and oats for their outworn steeds. They compel them to perform work which they are unfit to do, and often allow them to go for days limping along the hard roads without shoes.

These are only a few of the many ways in which owners of ill-fed horses ill-treat them, and should be sufficient to cause a crusade against such conduct by those with the authority to do so.

The above condition of affairs is being commented on by many citizens who are believers in the Golden Rule which requires that we should "do unto others as we would that they should do to us."

SCORED ANOTHER WONDERFUL VICTORY

One More Added to the Long List of Cures Effected by Psychine.

This young lady, who lives in Brownsville, near Woodstock, Ont., tells her own story in a few effective words of how she obtained deliverance from the terrible grip of weakness and disease.

I have to thank Psychine for my present health. Two years ago I was going into a decline. I could hardly drag myself down the floor. I could not sweep the carpet. If I went for a drive I had to lie down when I came back. If I went for a mile in two on my wheel I was too weak to lift it through the gateway, and last time I came in from having a spin I dropped utterly helpless from fatigue. My father would give me no peace until I procured Psychine, knowing it was excellent for healing or weakness. I must say the results are wonderful, and people remarked my improvement. Instead of a little, pale, hollow cheeked, listless, melancholy girl, I am to-day full of life, ready for a sleigh-ride, a skating match, or an evening party with anyone, and a few months ago I could not struggle to church, 10 rods from my home. I have never had the slightest cause to fear any return of the disease.

ELLA MURIEL WOOD,
Brownsville, Ont.

Thousands of women are using PSYCHINE, because they know from experience that in it they have a safe friend and deliverer. Psychine is a wonderful tonic, purifying the blood, driving out disease germs, gives a ravenous appetite, aids digestion and assimilation of food, and is a positive and absolute cure for disease of throat, chest, lungs, stomach and other organs. It quickly builds up the entire system, making sick people well and weak people strong.

BURNED TO DEATH IN SAN FRANCISCO

Italian Hotel Tragedy In San Francisco

VICTIMS CAUGHT ASLEEP

Building Blazed Like Matchwood—Women Among the Dead — Buried Under Blazing Ruins — Twenty Bodies Recovered—Many More Injured In Leaping From Upper Windows—The Rescues.

San Francisco, April 5.—Twenty men were burned to death and twenty others injured in a fire which destroyed an Italian hotel at Seventeenth and Connecticut streets, in the Potrero district, early yesterday. The injured were of the laboring class, and were asleep in their rooms when the fire started. Before they could be aroused, the flames had spread through the building. The walls fell and the inmates were buried in the ruins, twenty being taken out dead and dying. People from other hotels in the vicinity rushed to the assistance of the buried victims and succeeded in rescuing most of them from the flaming ruins. Automobiles brought into service and the injured rushed to the Potrero Emergency Hospital, where several died while awaiting treatment.

Fire Started In Kitchen.

The fire that destroyed the Geneva Hotel is believed to have started in the kitchen, and had gained great headway before it was discovered. There were over 100 lodgers in the building, which burned like tinder, and most of those who lost their lives were caught while asleep and roasted to death. So rapidly did the fire spread that it was impossible to do much in the way of rescue, and even when the fire apparatus arrived, the blaze was so fierce that the firemen were hardly able to place ladders against the walls. They did, however, manage to save a number of people on the very top storey. In the work of rescue W. A. Cole, a fireman, was thrown from a ladder, and it is believed fatally injured.

Jumped From Windows.

The majority of the injured were hurt in leaping from the upper windows. A number of women are reported to have been in the building, and all of them are believed to have perished.

The exact number of the dead cannot yet be ascertained, but the proprietor of the house is quoted as saying that it is more than twelve.

One of the women who met death is said to be Mrs. Filipo, wife of the proprietor.

An adjoining lodging house, at 118 Kentucky street, also was destroyed. There were forty-five men sleeping in this place, but all of them are believed to have escaped.

The property loss is estimated at $40,000.

Besides the known dead, these are missing: The cook, Mrs. Rosa Bezola, an unknown woman, and a boy of four and a girl of eight.

A Means to an End.

He—Why are you wearing that expensive dress at that dinner tonight? It isn't such a swell affair.

She—I know it, but I don't feel like talking much, and with this gown on I won't be entirely lost sight of.

COBALT LAKE TITLE IS DISCUSSED

Attorney-General's Bill to Declare Purchaser's Claim Valid.

MR. A. G. MACKAY CRITICISES

Bill to Give Vote to Clergymen and Teachers Who Have Moved—Liquor License Act Amendment—To Prevent Sale of Liquor Outside District In Which License Is Held—Bill Withdrawn.

Toronto, April 5.—The sale of Cobalt Lake, the validity of the title, and the rights of the litigants produced a lively discussion in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, when Hon. Mr. Foy introduced a bill respecting Cobalt and Kerr Lakes, to declare that the titles to these properties were absolutely good. Mr. A. G. MacKay characterized the bill as an extraordinary piece of legislation. The Government's course was defended by the Premier and Hon. Mr. Foy.

Mr. MacKay gives notice of the following motion, which is likely to precipitate a warm debate:—"That this House is of the opinion that the administration of all liquor license laws should as far as possible be removed from the realm of party politics. This House, therefore, regrets the introduction by the present Government of what is commonly known as the spoils system in connection with the administration and enforcement of such laws, contrary to the repeatedly expressed and oft-recorded opinions of its members while in Opposition."

Making Titles Good.

Hon. Mr. Foy introduced an act respecting Cobalt and Kerr Lakes. Last session, he said, orders in Council had been passed withdrawing Cobalt and Kerr Lakes from exploration or prospecting, and it was enacted that any persons who might have any claim for prior discoveries should be dealt with by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council as he might see fit. In pursuance of the orders and the confirming of the legislation the Government sold the two lakes, one of them, Cobalt, for $1,085,000, and issued patents. Since then action had been brought against the Cobalt Lake purchasers, with a view to embarrassing them and their title and interfering with their work in mining. "The object of this bill," Mr. Foy continued, "is to declare that the title given by the Crown to these lakes is an absolutely good title." There ought to be no question, he said, when the Crown gets value for a title, that the persons who receive the title ought to be confirmed in it. Persons alleging prior discovery were protected by a clause that their claims should be dealt with as provided in prior enactments, by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Coming Trifle Too Late.

Mr. Graham said that his personal opinion was that when the Government took money from the people they should give them a valid title. However, the question he wanted to ask was whether the Government had guaranteed the title before the sale. He had asked that question before, and the Government, so to speak, had run away from the answer. His own opinion was that the title should have been guaranteed, and the present action of the Government was coming a trifle too late. The purchasers were now left upon the bounty of the Crown, which was a cold thing sometimes.

Mr. Cameron desired to know if the Government had taken any steps before the sale to satisfy themselves as to the validity of the title. The Government did not seem to have taken the proper precautions.

The Premier replied that it might not seem so to the hon. gentleman, but they did all the same.

Hon. Mr. Foy declared that they had examined carefully into all the claims of the litigants and had arrived at the conclusion that they were unfounded.

Mr. MacKay Most Emphatic.

"The Government either gave the purchasers a good title or they did not," declared Mr. MacKay with emphasis. "If they gave them a good title it does not need this act to support it. If they have not a good title and the parties bringing action have rights, then the purchasers should not be given it by special legislation. The duty of the Government is ended when they give a good title. They are not called upon by special legislation afterwards to protect the purchasers from any action that may come up."

Hon. Mr. Foy said that the plaintiffs had never asked for a fiat. He also read the proclamation withdrawing from exploration certain lands, including the beds of Cobalt and Kerr Lakes, and on which the Government's right to sell was largely based.

Hon. Mr. Foy introduced a bill to amend the Ontario election act. Its principal feature is a provision enabling clergymen and teachers to vote, although they have removed, owing to the exigencies of their profession, from the district in which they are registered.

Interesting Point of Law.

Mr. Thompson (Wentworth) moved the second reading of his bill to amend the liquor license act. The act provided that a retail liquor store should not be permitted to have an agent to take orders in another municipality than the one in which he was licensed to sell. There was a case in his constituency, he said, in which the owners of a store had established an agent in an adjoining municipality. In that municipality was a man regularly licensed, who was obliged to meet this competition. The law on this point was not clear, and the act he proposed would make the sale of liquor in this way illegal.

Hon. Mr. Hanna replied that the question of a canvasser selling in a local municipality seemed to be provided against in the present act. Last year an amendment along the same line had been suggested to the department, but on that occasion it applied to the wholesale shops. The Minister went on to demonstrate that the working out of such an act would be to drive the orders to the large centres. The act was one, therefore, that should not pass.

Mr. Thompson cited a case in the town of Dundas, where there was an agent for an establishment in Hamilton. He had a card out soliciting orders for wines.

Hon. Mr. Hanna said the Hamilton man admitted that there was an agency at Dundas, but that it was simply an agency for the buyers. He would hesitate to give an offhand decision as to the law on the point. It was receiving consideration. The bill was withdrawn.

THAW WINS DECISION.

Lunacy Commission Declares He is Perfectly Sane and Rational.

New York, April 5.—Yesterday, the second anniversary of his marriage, Harry K. Thaw was declared sane by the commission appointed to enquire into his mental condition.

After a long delay in the morning, during which counsel, both for the people and for the defence, paced the corridors impatiently, and the defendant's family nervously awaited the result, Justice Fitzgerald mounted the bench a little after two o'clock and announced that he had succeeded in securing a report from the commission in lunacy. He had had two copies made. He handed one to District Attorney Jerome and the other to Mr. Hartridge of counsel for the defence.

Jerome twisted his copy around in his hands and began to address the court, but Hartridge tore his open, and glanced hurriedly through it.

He was so agitated that the three typewritten sheets trembled in his fingers, but suddenly he wheeled, hurried over to Evelyn Nesbit Thaw and whispered:

"Sane."

The other members of the Thaw family had leaned forward to catch the word. They fairly exuded gladness, and a rustle of relief swept over the room.

A messenger was hurried off to take the news to Thaw, who awaited the outcome in the prisoners' pen. He did not seem to be at all surprised, his placid manner bearing out the confidence he has expressed all along.

The attention of the spectators had been absorbed by the little drama being enacted at the table occupied by counsel for the defence. But Jerome, passing up and down before the bench and talking rapidly, or stopping short to shout a vehement protest against a ruling of the court against his plea, suddenly became the central figure in the courtroom.

Divined Its Nature.

He evidently had divined the nature of the report, it being noticed that he carefully prefixed all his remarks with the phrase:

"If the report should be unfavorable to my contention."

The moment the decision was handed down Jerome had leaped to his feet to protest vigorously against its confirmation by the court.

He charged that he had been excluded from the last session of the commission, and demanded access to the minutes and the stenographic notes of what happened at the final mental and physical examination of the defendant.

When Justice Fitzgerald declined to turn the minutes over to him, Jerome announced he would carry the case to the appellate division of the Supreme Court and ask that a writ of prohibition or mandamus be granted to prevent a continuance of the Thaw trial until the higher court had ruled upon the legality of the commission's course.

Justice Fitzgerald reminded Jerome that he had waived the statutory right of attending the last session of the commission by himself suggesting that all the attorneys be excluded from the sitting in question.

He then granted the district attorney an adjournment until Monday morning to prepare his application to the appellate division.

Jerome protested that the time was too short, but Justice Fitzgerald cut him short with the statement that the trial must be concluded forthwith.

Unless Mr. Jerome should obtain a write of prohibition in the meantime, Justice Fitzgerald, it is expected, will announce on Monday morning that he has confirmed the report of the commission, and will order that the trial be continued without further delay.

It was stated authoritatively late last night that Jerome will appeal.

The appeal will be in the nature of an action to obtain a review of the justice's decision, and will be taken in the appellate division of the Supreme Court.

When the report finally fell into the possession of the newspapermen it was seen to be a sweeping victory for Thaw. It confirmed the reports of the excellent showing he made before the commission.

As to Dr. Putzel's leaving the conference yesterday it was explained he did not feel it was necessary for him to remain, while Messrs. McClure and Olney, both of whom are lawyers, were going over the legal phases of the mass of testimony adduced before the commission. Justice Fitzgerald himself announced that the delay had been occasioned by his examination of the testimony.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

An Early Easter Calls For Early Spring Clothes.

BLUE A PROMINENT SHADE.

Mixtures in Two or More Tones of One Color Fashionable—Canvas and Light Voile Attractive Materials—Some New Hats.

This year there will be more call than usual for spring clothes, for the season is an early one and will therefore last longer and be somewhat gayer than is generally the case. When Easter comes late in April, one light-weight spring suit is generally sufficient, for the winter costume can be worn all through Lent, and then the winter breaks almost immediately into warm weather. However, as this year's spring frock must be donned before the 1st of April, it is necessary to have a fairly warm street suit, which is changed later on to a dress of silk, mohair or pongee. For receptions, luncheons, etc., a robe of either silk, voile or some such material is best, while still later a short walking suit of silk, rajah or foulard must be provided.

This year rough finished goods, as serge, cheviot, homespun, etc., will be smarter than the smooth cloth, although there will also be seen a great deal in the early part of spring. Smooth materials will be rather elaborately trimmed, while many of the serge and cheviot costumes are to be severely simple.

Mauve, gray, pistache green and all the different shades of blue are the prominent spring colors, all being about equally popular, and in the spring the brilliant tones and light tints are always welcomed after the long winter months with furs and somber velvets and cloths.

Some dark grays are to be worn, but these have been used to some extent during the winter, so that the light shade will be a change. Mixtures of two or more tones of the one color will also be fashionable, as well as stripes, plaids and checks.

Panama cloth is a good weight for spring and is to be had in any tone desired. It is seen in plain walking suits, as well as in rather elaborate coat and skirt costumes for afternoon. The material is light and yet wears better than either voile or silk and, of course, does not pull, as the voilings are apt to do, although it closely resembles a heavy canvas or voile. Canvas and heavy voile are both attractive for the spring.

Any sort of cloth, or even canvas, is too warm for a waist, so the material had best be matched as nearly as possible in chiffon, chiffon cloth, mar-quisette or silk. For a walking suit a rather plain silk waist with white embroidered linen or batiste collar or cuffs is once again smart, but more expensive than formerly, and it is even possible to get embroidered pongee boleros already made up, and the material can be matched for a skirt or dress. The poke illustrated is one of the newest and most piquant of the season's shapes. Very charming also is the hat, worn well off the face, of cerise straw trimmed with wings and ribbon that exactly match.

A SPRING DANGER.

Many People Weaken Their Systems by Dosing with Purgative Medicines.

A spring medicine is a necessity. Nature demands it as an aid to enriching the blood and carrying off the impurities that have accumulated during the indoor life of the winter months. Thousands of people recognizing the necessity for a spring medicine, dose themselves with harsh griping purgatives. This is a mistake. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that the use of purgative medicines weaken the system and cannot possibly cure disease. In the spring the system needs building up—purgatives weaken. The blood should be made rich, red and pure—purgatives cannot do this. What is needed is a tonic, and the best tonic medical science has yet devised is Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine actually makes new, rich blood, and this new blood strengthens every organ and every part of the body. That is why these Pills banish pimples and unsightly skin eruptions. That is why they cure headaches, backaches, rheumatism, neuralgia and a host of other troubles that come from poor watery blood. That is why the men and women who use Dr. Williams Pink Pills eat well and sleep well and feel active and strong. Miss Mabel Synnott, Lisle, Ont., says:—"I was pale and weak and suffered greatly from headaches, and I found nothing to help me until I began taking Dr. Williams Pink Pills. These have completely restored my health and I bless the day I began taking them.'

But be sure you get the genuine Pills with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around each box—all other so-called pink pills are fraudulent imitations. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Hint Worth Taking.

There is a simple way to save future trouble in finishing the bottom of skirts for young people from tots to half grown girls. It is better than letting out tucks in the usual way when the plain spaces usually come in the wrong place.

With this plan, which may be used whether there are or are not other tucks, the tuck is laid directly over the hem, making practically two hems, which, after being pressed, have the appearance of one.

As in all things, there is a simple and easy way to accomplish it, the way in this case being to turn the lower edge of the goods back and forth in three folds. First turn under the tiny raw edge on the bottom of the skirt, and then turn under the hem two and a half inches deep, which makes the first fold. Double this back on the right side the same distance, creasing the second fold. The three layers of the cloth are then turned back under again, which creases it the third time. This forms a tuck directly over the hem. When ready to stitch, turn the tuck up and stitch twice, putting one row of machining under and one over the middle crease.

When ready to let the dress down, rip out the top stitching, and the hem is ready and undisturbed.

Because a man is busy it does not necessarily follow that he has business.

A silver dollar looks as big as a washtub when you need it and don't know where to find it.

You never get rich on the thing you are going to do.

Being truthful is a virtue in some people and a nuisance in others.

UTILIZING WORNOUT LACE.

By Applying Cut Out Design on New Foundation.

As a rule, embroideries last much longer than the ground they ornament and can sometimes bear several transfers. For the purpose the decorative work is to be placed wholly or partially on some new material, notably on linen. The old work, strengthened, is first applied as it stands in its ragged state on the fresh ground, which is properly stiffened at the back with toile ciree or stout glazed paper. The outlines of the most important motifs are then accentuated and secured by a fine run stitch, overcast afterward with buttonholing. The cutting away of the wornout parts is now attended to, a process for which sharp embroidery scissors are needed and a great deal of care in order not to snip the foundation material while casting off the old parts. To utilise as edgings detached motifs of guipure or embroidery for a collar or various parts of a garment the articles should first be shaped, put together and well fitted. Right over the edges the embroidery is sewn on very finely, and from underneath the surplus stuff is removed in such a way as to leave a kind of selvage made by just rolling the frayed edge with the thumb and keeping it in place with loose herringbone stitches on the wrong side. The worker must be careful to neither draw nor unduly tighten the thread for fear of spoiling the smoothness. As a finishing touch a warm iron is pressed down all over the applied pieces. Should the material be very light, without any dressing, such as veiling or silk muslin, it is a good plan to first line it with paper and sew both together, only pulling away the paper when the joining is complete.

A SPRING MODEL.

Ponsta Suits Are Very Smart For General Wear.

A smart little ponsta suit is this incorporating the new side plaited circular skirt and the correct length for the short coat. The treatment of the skirt is very simple, the grouped plaits being stitched to becoming length and then left to flare modishly. The coat fits rather smoothly and yet does not cut off the figure any. Modishly arranged folds are stitched and placed in well tailored fashion, either side of the double breasted closing ending beneath a simulated girdle.

Jolly Homes.

Don't be afraid of a little fun at home.

Don't shut your house lest the sun should fade your carpets and your hearts lest a hearty laugh shake down some musty old cobwebs there.

If you wish to ruin your sons, let them think that all mirth and social enjoyment must be left on the threshold without when they come home at night. Young people must have fun and relaxation somewhere.

If they do not find it at their own hearthstones, it will be sought at other less profitable places.

Therefore make the homestead delightful with all those little arts which parents so perfectly understand.

Don't repress the buoyant spirits of your children. Half an hour's merriment around the fireside at home blots out the remembrances of many a care and annoyance during the day, and the best safeguard they can take with them into the world is the influence of a bright little domestic sanctum.

Petting the Nervous Child.

Mere nervousness is not at all dangerous to life, but if not properly attended to may lead to serious trouble. A nervous child must be treated with great kindness and tact and her moods and pranks tolerated with patience. She must not be irritated nor teased nor nagged by preaching. She ought to be petted, even at the risk of spoiling her a little. She should be fed well and abundantly and given a tonic.

CRAZE FOR MAHOGANY.

Latest Designs of the Furniture Makers In This Wood.

Mahogany has come back into its own again as a furniture wood, and its popularity was never greater than at the present time. Old mahogany is particularly desirable, but when it is not possible to get antique mahogany furniture copies of old styles make very acceptable substitutes. For the collector, of course, nothing suits but the genuinely old productions. A prominent physician of artistic taste whose hobby is collecting antique furniture is particularly proud of the fact that in his bedroom, furnished entirely in mahogany, not a piece but is 100 years old, one or two even reaching back nearly to the two hundredth year. Some are heir looms, the rest acquired after careful search.

MAGAZINE STAND.

This "feeling" for antique furniture is not so general as the liking for mahogany, for which dealers have reason to be thankful, and so the modern reproductions find a ready sale. A novelty is the cocktail tray, with its gay decoration and inscription. A combination piece of furniture is the cellaret, with a tiny steel safe filling a niche in the center.

In contrast to these specimens of mahogany furniture is the magazine stand of weathered oak.

Domestic Strategy.

The younger man had been complaining that he could not get his wife to mend his clothes.

"I never have any difficulty," answered his companion, "but I never ask my wife to mend anything. I take the garment to her, flourish it round a little and say, 'Where's that rag bag?'

"'What do you want with the rag bag?' asks my wife.

"'I want to throw this shirt away; it's worn out,' I say, with a few more flourishes.

"'Let me see it,' my wife says then.

"Of course I pass it over, and she examines it.

"'Why, I never knew such extravagance!' she exclaims. 'This is a perfectly good shirt. All it needs is'—

"And then she mends it."

Taking It Internally.

As he crept softly upstairs the clock struck 2.

"Where have you been, Alfred?" she asked quietly.

"At the office, taking stock," came the glib reply.

"I thought I smelt it," said his wife. —New York Press.

LEARN DRESSMAKING IN TWO WEEKS

We teach you everything from the plainest Shirt Waist to the most elaborate Toilette that can be found in the fashion books. We show you how to put together not only the lining, but all the outer goods in Coats, Skirts, Waists, Wrappers, Sleeves, Collars, Children's Dresses, etc. Why spend months at a Dressmaking shop where you do nothing but hem, overcast, sew on hooks and eyes and then, after you have served months there, what do you know about cutting? Absolutely nothing. For you will know no more how to cut out a dress at the end of a year than you did the first day you went there. So why spend your time there when we can teach you in two weeks. You can come and try for a week and see for yourself what it's like, as there is nothing to be paid in advance, you certainly would not lose anything by trying.

We have taught over 2,000 this way within the past 6 years in Western Ontario, and all recommend it very highly.

Charge for full course is only $10, to be paid when course is completed, if satisfied, including one of the most perfect-fitting systems in use, which we give free. We guarantee that the waists made by this chart will not draw or pull out of skirt when raising arm.

An evening class will also be taught. In this class we will teach Shirt Waists, Sleeves and Sacques. This course will be $4.00, and hours from 7 to 9.

We will teach in Peterboro from April 8th to April 20th—Hours for Day Class 9 to 5. All wishing to learn be sure to see us at the Oriental Hotel, on Saturday, April 6th, between 10 and 5 o'clock. This is positively the last class we will teach at Peterboro this year.

CITY'S PRIVATE BILL IS APPROVED

Committee on Thursday Decided to Report it to the Legislature.

The City's private bill has at last passed the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature, and will now be reported to that body. Yesterday three representatives of the city were present at the meeting of the committee and the bill, after considerable discussion, passed the committee.

One clause, that referring to the Coates Company, was withdrawn, at the request of the representatives of the city, and in this request, of course, the committee concurred.

Considerable discussion took place on the clause referring to the incorporation of the Water Commission, and that in connection with the proposed legislation taxing the property in front of which water mains pass. It was finally decided that this clause should come into effect when it had been voted on and apposed by a majority of the municipal electors, the vote to be taken at the discretion of the City Council. The city was represented by the Mayor, the City Solicitor and Mr. W. H. Moore.

CRYING BABIES.

Babies do not cry for the fun of it, nor is it always because they are hungry, as so many young mothers think. Nine times out of ten babies' cry indicates that the little stomach is out of order. Mothers will find instant relief for their suffering little ones in Baby's Own Tablets. A few doses will cure the most obstinate case of constipation, indigestion or vomiting, and a tablet given now and then to the well child will keep it well. Mrs. Mary Pollock, Gawza, Ont., says: "Baby's Own Tablets have been a great benefit to my baby. They have made him happy, peaceful and contented, when before he used to cry all the time. I have more comfort with him since giving him the Tablets than I ever had before. He now sits and plays and laughs while I do my work. What greater praise can I give Baby's Own Tablets." ENGLAND

There has been a great recrudescence of revival excitement in the Llangollen district regarding a revelation that is stated to have been been made to a Denbighshire county councillor as to the result of the election. In the Llangollen district where there was a keen fight between the Liberals and the Tories. Speaking at a Liberal demonstration held after the declaration of the poll recently, County Councillor Robert Ellis stated that on the previous night, after being greatly perturbed all day as to what the result of the contest would be, he saw in a vision in his sleep the figures recorded for each candidate shine forth. In each case they proved to be within a few votes of the numbers afterwards declared at the polls, and the aggregate of votes recorded as shown in his dream was right. He showed the numbers and stated the manner in which he obtained them to the Liberal candidate several hours before the declaration of the polls, and on the faith of them a local tradesman posted the result of the election at three in the afternoon the official declaration not being made until six hours later.

An amazing story of systematic depredations by boy burglars was told at Willesden recently, when three boys, aged respectively, 18, 14 and 12, all residing at Cricklewood, were charged with breaking into houses and rifling slot gas meters. Many robberies led to a careful watch, and it was found that the the lads had made headquarters of an unoccupied house in Cricklewood, where they had a well stocked larder and plenty of fuel for fires. When arrested the boys had in their possession two large naval jack knives, a spike for opening gas-meters, a specially filed knife for removing putty from windows, 22 latch keys and a skeleton, a pair of pliers, and other house breaking implements. It was stated that the prisoners had supplied themselves with milk taken from doorsteps in the early morning, and as their takings from gas-meters averaged two pounds a week they lived well. When charged they admitted breaking into ten houses.

At an inquest held the other day at Acton, on a recruiting sergeant named William Farrington; death was said to have been the result of puffing out the chest. The deceased was a man of fine physique and had always enjoyed the best of health. One morning however he alarmed his wife by getting out of bed and saying that he "could not get his breath." A doctor was summoned but the man died before his arrival. The coroner said that death was due to syncope brought about by the condition of the heart which was double the normal size, and weighed 20 ounces. "I was not surprised to find this knowing that Farrington was an old soldier and accustomed to puff out his chest," the doctor said. To this pernicious practice in the British army his death was due. It is not done in any other country and medical men generally are agreed on its bad effects, and that it should be stopped."

Startling stories of intemperance amongst the English factory girls were told at the Wesleyan Mission at Birmingham recently. Sister Alice described how drink clubs existed in hundreds of factories, the main object being to save a penny or two pence a week for "fun." At Christmas, birthdays, and other holidays some girls would drink until they could drink no more. She had known others who were held down on the floor while drink was poured into their mouths. Sometimes they drank with men but this was exceptional. The terrible monotony of work helped to drive the girls to drink for the excitement, she said. One clergyman declared that large numbers of young girls not yet out of their teens may be seen sitting at night in public houses drinking and joining in song. On a recent Sunday night he visited thirty public houses in Nottingham, and in one place counted fifty girls in their teens.

SCOTLAND

The Tay Ferries steamer was recently the scene of an exciting incident, into which the police are making inquiries. Amongst passengers from Newport were two labourers belonging to Dundee, and when the steamer was about 30 yards from the shore those on board the vessel were startled to observe one of the men disappear over the side. Whether the man fell into the water or deliberately jumped overboard, in terms of a wager, as is stated, has not yet been made clear. He immediately struck out for the shore, but it was seen that he was to have some difficulty in landing. His companion thereupon jumped from the steamer, and succeeded in reaching the man in the water, who showed signs of exhaustion. A lifebuoy was thrown to them, and ultimately the men were assisted to the pier. One of them had to be treated at the Royal Infirmary.

A tragic love story, which has culminated in a young bride being sent to prison for two months for vitriol throwing has been told in the Glasgow courts. Susan Crawford and John Soulliar were sweethearts, and a marriage was arranged, but it fell through for lack of funds. Then there arose a misunderstanding between the couple, and the girl having read that the way to bring a recalcitrant lover to reason was to frighten him with vitriol, bought some acid and threw it at the man. She was arrested, but the young man's love for her was unbroken. A week or so before her trial he married her. The judge sentenced the weeping girl to two months imprisonment.

A remarkable incident occurred in a Glasgow music hall recently during the progress of a sketch in which several well known professional footballers appear. A man occupying one of the boxes became so enthusiastic that whilst leaning far forward he suddenly overbalanced himself and fell over the edge of the box into the stalls below, a distance of twelve feet. His startled cry immediately drew the attention of the audience from the stage, and for a time the most intense excitement prevailed. The man was found to be practically unhurt however, his fall having been broken by his leading upon the head of a man who was sitting in one of the stalls.

A gruesome discovery was made, recently, at Fairfield street, Glasgow. Mary Matheson or McDonald, aged 50, lived in one of the houses there, but was understood to have removed a month since. The other morning, however, a caretaker entered the place and was horrified to see the woman's head sticking out of a flock bed. The face was battered, and the woman must have been dead for some weeks. A heavy wooden stick and saw besmeared with blood were found in the house. There were also signs of a severe struggle having taken place. The house was a single apartment, and contained only the bed, with its terrible secret.

It has been definitely decided to erect a new theatre of varieties in the central district of Dundee. A well known music hall syndicate is controlling the scheme. It has been estimated that the cost of erecting and equipping the building will amount to between 20,000 and 30,000 pounds, and that it will probably be ready for occupation before Christmas of the present year. The new theatre will provide accommodation for between 2,000 and 3,000 people, and the standard of the entertainment will, it is stated, be on a level with the leading music halls in Edinburgh and Glasgow.

The Craigneuth district of Wishaw, Lanarkshire, was recently the scene of a terrible tragedy. A miner of forty while under the influence of liquor, it is alleged, deliberately set fire to his wife's clothes. She was immediately enveloped in flames, and before they were extinguished by the neighbours she sustained injuries from which she expired.

RELAND

Boycotting in Ireland has been responsible for many strange incidents, but few with more remarkable features than that which led to the appearance at the Leitrim Assizes recently, of several men who were charged with being concerned in an illegal assembly at Drumkerrin on July 7 last. From the statement of the crown prosecutor, it appeared that a man named Brady had become unpopular with his neighbours, and so strong was the feeling against the family that, though there were two shops in the vicinity, it was not possible for them to get the necessaries of life. When the need of food became pressing, Brady's two boys, accompanied by two policemen, started one morning in a donkey and cart for Dromahair, 20 miles away, to look for provisions. On the way, the party met one of the accused, and he sent round the word to organize and assemble. The consequence was that when, after getting some flour-meal and other things, the Bradys reached Drumkerrin, on the homeward journey, the found about 600 people gathered there. They were set upon by the crowd, and, despite the energy of seven policemen, all their goods were scattered about and destroyed, and it was with some difficulty that the boys were kept from being seriously injured.

Mr. Justice Kenna, in opening the Assizes for County Leitrim, recently, said there was an increase in the number of cases represented by the crime of intimidating threatening letters and notices. The county inspector had informed him that one district was in a very lawless condition and that there were three families represented by 12 people who were wholly boycotted, and received police protection, and besides, there were two other families who received partial police protection. He also told me," added his lordship, "that one family exists in such a state of continual danger that there are three policemen quartered in their houses. To such an extent has the spirit of lawlessness developed that in one of the districts to which I have referred the postmen have twice been set upon, and letters forcibly taken from them."

A report reached Cork the other day of an alleged dynamite outrage at a place called Faha, nine miles west of Cork. A man named Achilles Wood and his family have been living on an evicted farm for the past 15 years, and are under police protection. In the early morning a loud explosion was heard which aroused the inmates, and it was found that a portion of the gable end of the house was blown away. At daylight the police found a portion of a burnt fuse, and the appearance of the debris indicated the use of dynamite. Twelve months ago a corn-sowing machine belonging to a man occupying an adjoining evicted farm was blown to pieces with dynamite in a similar manner.

During the course of a mission service by the Capuchin Fathers at St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church at Kingstown, the other night, a youth, who put his head through the communion rails and could not extricate it, alarmed the congregation by his cries. A priest called a doctor from the congregation, but he was unable to render assistance, and it was only when two cross-bars were used to widen the rails that the boy's head was extricated. The boy, who was in a state of collapse, was removed to the hospital.

The death of Mr. Donald Sullivan, the Nationalist member for South Westmeath, from heart failure, was announced in London recently. The late Mr. Sullivan, who was in his 69th year, had represented South Westmeath since 1885. He was a brother of the late A. M. Sullivan, whose eloquent speeches were familiar to the House of Commons in the late '70's and early '80's, and who was distinguished as a temperance advocate. Mr. T. D. Sullivan, the poet of the Land League, and former member for West Donegal, is another brother, while T. M. Healy, M.P., is his nephew.

A lively scene occurred in Mid-Cork recently, when the sheriff visited a tenant on the Tollemache estate to seize cattle for non-payment of rent. Anticipating rough treatment, the officer was protected by a force of police, and when the party approached the farm, an attacking crowd of several hundred men appeared on the scene simultaneously with the blowing of a horn. The sheriff's party was greeted with showers of bricks, bottles and stones. The police were unable to seize any cattle.

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY APRIL 6 1907

---NEW AMUSEMENT PARK IS PROJECTED---

Statement That Peterboro' Radial Railway Company Will, in the Summer of 1908, Operate Park Along River Bank Few Miles From the City.

MANY NEW FEATURES

In the Meantime Jackson Park Will be Improved—A Popular Resort Again This Summer—Some New Amusements Arranged For.

This summer will probably be the last that Jackson Park will be operated by the Peterborough Radial Railway Company as an amusement park. It is understood that this company has an option on a property a few miles from the city, along the routes, and it is said to be the intention to extend the car line to this property, which will be fitted up as an amusement park, following the lines of those which have been operated in the larger Canadian and American cities during the last few years.

The amusement park business is one which has made rapid strides during recent years, and in all the cities of any pretension they have, or are being established. The success of Dominion Park, in Montreal, which, last season, the first in which it was operated, and when it made a good dividend for the shareholders, has encouraged the establishment of other parks operated along similar lines in several Canadian cities.

While it is not thought that there will be any change in the plans of the local company this season, it is considered quite within the range of probability that, with the opening of the summer season of 1908 the line of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company will have been extended to the park property which will likely have been secured prior to that time.

Plans for the operation of the park this year are practically complete, and it is anticipated that, popular as Jackson Park was last season, it will be much more so in that which will open in a few weeks. Amusements new to this section will be introduced by the management this year.

The moving pictures will again be features, while other forms of amusement which will no doubt prove popular will be arranged for. The car service will be improved, too.

---BANCROFT'S CRIMINAL RECORD FOR A WEEK---

George Hearns Charged With Forging A Note

The Complainant Had, However, Authorized Defendant to Sign His Name to a Note for $300.

THE CASE WAS DISMISSED

Examiner Special.

Bancroft, April 5.—Geo. Hearns, of Coe Hill, was before the Magistrate on Monday on a rather serious charge, namely, forgery. The complainant was Benjamin Bird, who alleged that Hearns had forged his name to a note for $300. The evidence went to prove that Bird had authorized Hearns to sign his name to the note, which was, of course irregular, and had subsequently laid the charge thinking that he would be called upon for payment of the note. The case was dismissed.

Hawley Flees From Charge Of Bigamy

Bancroft Man Who Was Wanted to Answer Serious Charges is Now a Fugitive From Justice.

A PERJURY CHARGE, TOO.

Examiner Special.

Bancroft, April 5.—Jas. Hawley is now a fugitive from justice. When he was called on Thursday morning last to answer to the charges of bigamy and perjury, the Crown had no evidence to offer, and the case was enlarged until the following morning at ten o'clock. Hawley, who had already spent considerable time in the lockup, was given his liberty on his own recognizance to appear at the proper time. However, he took advantage of the opportunity and "flew his kite." He will not likely be seen around here for some time.

FIVE-INCH SCISSORS IN WOMAN'S BODY

For Four Years She Had Carried Them—Caused Her Excruciating Pain—X Ray Found Them.

Examiner Special.

Wichita, Kan., April 5.—A pair of five-inch surgeon's scissors were taken from the thigh of Mrs. W. R. White, of Erman, Okla., at the Witchita Hospital to-day. She was operated on for a tumor four years ago and the scissors were left in the abdominal cavity. The scissors worked through her body to the thigh, causing excruciating pain.

They were discovered with the aid of the X-Ray.

BOARD OF EDUCATION WILLING TO GIVE PUBLIC INFORMATION IT NEEDS

Some Matters Which in the Public Should be Withheld Until Proper Time for its Release---An Unwarranted Attack on a Public Body, Acting In the Interests of the City.

The Review last night devoted a good deal of space and a good many words to a rather vicious attack on the School Board over a rather trivial matter—a tempest in a teapot—a verbal "brain storm." The Examiner, at different times, has felt that it had reason to disagree with the course and action of the Board. There have been differences of opinion in regard to school sites and other matters. But to give the Board credit, the Examiner has always found it willing to give information that the ratepayers have a right to know.

There are times, however, when it is not in the interests of the public, to make public certain information. A great deal of harm can be done by giving out information, which the public have a right to possess some time, but not prematurely, to the decided prejudice and injury of the interests involved. The necessity of holding a certain class of information confidential applies in matters of state as well as in civic and private business affairs.

The Review charges the Board with withholding details of tenders for the Collegiate Institute building which were unsuccessful, and inferentially throws doubt upon the statement of the members of the Board that the contract was awarded to the lowest tenderers. If the word of members of the Board in such a matter is not to be accepted they should be replaced by others, in whose truthfulness our contemporary could have confidence. What more than the fact that the lowest tenderer got the contract is the public materially interested in knowing? If the unsuccessful tenderers wish to find out the figures they can easily do so as soon as the contracts are properly signed and executed. There are instances where tenders have been asked for in Peterborough, prices submitted, and the lowest tenderer, whom the public would regard as a responsible contractor, has refused to sign the contract, having, in the meantime, learned from a leaky source the figures of other tenderers. The School Board, in the matter in question, are acting wisely and properly, and with a due regard to the requirements of business prudence and principles. While, in the present case, one cannot see that any great harm might be done by giving out the figures of the several tenders at the proper time, yet withholding them in the meantime should not subject the Board to the imputation of employing underhand methods with the intention of deceiving the people or of employing "star chamber" methods with some dark and sinister object involving a conspiracy against the public. The Examiner does not always pull with the School Board or commend its actions; but it does not believe that it should be viciously attacked with bombastic charges of employing the methods of "the secret cabal, the star chamber, the oligarchy, the bureaucracy," and it might be added, "the family compact," or any other synonyms of this kind to be found in Crabbe or Roget's Thesaurus.

In a few words, the facts are simply these: The committee, appointed to receive and deal with tenders for the Collegiate Institute, met on Saturday evening last, when the contracts were practically awarded to the lowest tenderers, subject to the ratification of the Board. The Building Committee of the North Ward School was called for Thursday evening, and the contracts were again awarded to the lowest tenderers. A Board meeting was called for the same evening, and met, and approved of the action of both committees, and awarded the contracts as by them recommended. The Board sat for from an hour to an hour and a half after the work in committee had been done, and the reporters were as welcome as usual to the Board meeting.

The Review, when it makes an attack on individuals or otherwise, generally gets its facts wrong, and this is another instance of its striking in the dark.

YOUNG ENGLISHMAN IN THIS CITY GOES TWO DAYS WITHOUT A MEAL

Two days without a bite of food delighting his hungering palate and with only two lonely coppers in his pocket a young man applied for work at one of the local foundries a few days ago. He said he was a boiler maker and was told to come prepared for work the following morning. He said he had come out from the Old Country about six years ago and settled here, working in different places. He did not go into details over his various employments, but said he had come to Canada to try his luck.

His manner and bearing were very prepossessing. He said that if he did not soon have something to eat he would forget the taste of food and lose his appetite and thus he would be forced to forego the pleasure of eating. He was directed to a certain hotel in the city where he received a good meal and was somewhat restored in vitality and light heartedness.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE S. A. BAND

Will be Held Soon—It is Hoped That Liberal Allowance Will be Made for Public Concerts.

In a few weeks the bandsmen of the Salvation Army Band will hold their annual meeting for the purpose of re-organization if necessary, but more particularly for discussion of the work during the coming summer. This band has been gradually growing stronger and it is of utmost importance for them that they continue to do so. Last summer they gave a number of public performances in Victoria Park which were greatly appreciated. This summer they should even attempt to do more; they are capable of rendering good music and also owe the citizens a number of concerts and without conflicting with the 57th Regimental Band they should be heard oftener this summer. The Army Band have plenty of talent and can turn out forty strong at any time. There are $150.00 worth of instruments on the way now, besides nearly all the others are comparatively new.

Last year the 57th gave a few Sunday concerts of Sacred music which met with general appreciation and it is to be hoped that they will be continued next summer. If it is not out of place the suggestion might be made that the two bands unite in Sacred music, or at least play on alternate Sundays, of course not conflicting with the afternoon Sunday school services. It is hoped that something will be attempted along such lines as these by both organizations.

Bandmaster J. M. Greene has been successful so far in his connection with the S. A. Band in the capacity of leader and should feel gratified that his efforts have been so fruitful.

TOMMY HOLT MAY BOX TUCKWELL HERE

Another Big Athletic Programme is Being Arranged.

Few plays are so highly recommended as "When the Harvest Days are over," which will be presented at the Grand Opera House, on Thursday, April 11th, under the direction of Mr. Neil Twomey. The story is said to be a very probable one and interesting from start to finish. The comedy is rich and possessed of a a good deal of orginality. Felix Haney, who is starring in this play, is too well known to require any extra words of praise. As Hez Huckins he is said to be doing the best work of what has been a successful career and his singing of Hez Huckins, the village cut up, demands nightly seven and eight encores. Mr Twomey has had the entire scenic production built and painted by recognised artists and has selected a caste which is in keeping with his star.

The New Pastor Of Knox Church

Next Thursday night in Knox Church the ceremony incidental to the induction of the new pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith, will be held. This will be the first induction service to be held in this church, which now branches out into a separate existence, with a pastor of its own. Rev. Mr. Keith, who will, commencing next Thursday, have charge of that congregation, has been heard here and created a most favourable impression, and it is believed that his pastorate will be a successful one. Rev. Mr. Keith has but recently returned from India, where he spent several years organizing the work of the Bible Study Department of the Young Men's Christian Association among the young men of the college. He went out in response to an invitation extended by the International Committee of North America. He is a graduate of McGill University from which institution he received the degree of M.A. He studied theology in Princeton and in the Presbyterian College, Montreal. He received the degree of Bachelor of Divinity in 1904 and was awarded the gold medal for highest standing in the graduating class. He has always taken a keen interest in student life and while in college was elected to prominent positions in the different organizations. He was twice valedictorian and also held the office of President of the Missionary Society and Editor of the College Journal. He has had valuable experience in the mission fields of the church in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, and on several occasions has been approached with a view to becoming assistant in prominent churches. With his excellent training and exceptional experience in both the home and foreign field, Mr. Keith is well fitted for the work to which he is called in Knox church.

CONSTRUCTION WORK IS PROGRESSING

New Transformer Building Being Hurried in Early Stage of Erection.

The work on the new transformer building at the C. G. E. Works is progressing very rapidly. A large gang of carpenters have been exceedingly busy hurrying the work for the cement. The moulds for the side pillars, which are made of cement, have been built up all around and the mixer will be at work again. The roofing has been begun, and a large area has already been covered. Every convenience has been provided for the workers, a wide elevated gangway has been erected, and a wooden tower higher than the building. By this the material is hoisted as it is needed. The skeleton of ironwork is beginning to take on a more pretentious appearance, as the walls and roof are being rapidly constructed. There is a large number of men, labourers, etc., and the place looks like a regular bee-hive.

These examinations are held quarterly but the results will not be made known until the end of the year, when the scholarships will be awarded according to the marks obtained.

The examining board consisted of Messrs. Richard Lees and F. E. Kerr.

SPECTATORS CHEER AS STAKE MARKING THE LOCATION OF INSTITUTE IS DRIVEN

The Collegiate Institute Committee Decided Yesterday on the Exact Location of the Building---Contractors Will Commence Work at Once.

Amid the cheers of the members of the committee present, members of the Board of Education, the contractors and the architects, Dr. M. A. Morrison, chairman of the Collegiate Institute Committee of the Board of Education, yesterday afternoon drove the stake marking the northeast corner of the new Collegiate Institute building on the Central Park grounds.

A special meeting of the committee was held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, for the purpose of locating the site for the building.

The Location.

It was decided that the north side of the building should be 30 feet south of the street line of McDonel street, which would leave a space of 90 feet between the south end of the Collegiate Institute building and the Armoury. The front of the building, which will, of course, face the east, will be 294 feet east of the lane running to the west of the park property.

Now that the location has been definitely decided on, the contractors will, it is expected, commence work at once on the erection of the building.

DR. DRUMMOND, "THE POET OF THE HABITANT," IS DEAD

Very Well Known Literary Character, Physician and Capitalist, Died in Cobalt This Morning---Paralysis the Cause.

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, April 6.—A despatch from Cobalt says that Dr. W. H. Drummond, the noted writer of French-Canadian dialect poems, who was stricken with paralysis there some some days ago, died this morning, never having regained consciousness.

I'm sleepin' las' night w'en I dream a dream
An' a wonderful wan it seem,—
Mos' I'm off on de road I was never see,
Too long an' hard for a man lak me,
Mos' ole he can only wait de call
Le sooner or later de come to all.
—From "The Last Portage," by Dr. W. H. Drummond.

DR. WM. HENRY DRUMMOND, better known as the "Poet of the Habitant" was the son of the late Geo. Drummond, an officer in the Royal Irish Constabulary, by his wife Elizabeth Morris Soden and was born at Currawn House, Co. Leitrim, Ireland, April 13th, 1854. Educated at Mohill, Co. Leitrim, and at Montreal High School, he studied medicine at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, graduating 1884, and was for some years in general practice in Montreal, holding at the same time the chair of Medical Jurisprudnce in the Medical Faculty of Bishop's College. Dr. Drummond had a tendency to literature and likewise took considerable interest in fish culture, and the propagation and preservation of game. He was Vice-President of the Laurentian Club and President of the St. Maurice Club, both being fish and game associations, and was also President of the Montreal Hunt Club. He was best know, however, to the general public by his contributions to dialect poetry, "The Voyageur Gum" and the "Wreck of the Julie Plante," having attained an immense popular popularity all over Canada and in the United States as well, and are now included in every standard publication of American humorous verse. No Canadian poet is more reated than Dr. Drummond. Last night the poem "The Stove Pipe Hole" and "Little Baptiste" recited by Mr. Geo. Lynch were on the programme of the C. G. E. concert. For the Queen's Diamond Jubilee he wrote "The Habitant's Jubilee Ode" and he wrote also for Afiani a song, "Le Grand Seigneur," which was sung by that artist during her last Canadian tour. Dr. Drummond has also written some satirical English verse, which indicates exceptional talent. He had quite recently prepared a new poem of considerable length in the French-Canadian patoid, which his friends pronounce the author's best. He married April 1894, May Isabel, only daughter of Dr. O. C. Harvey, M.D., C. S., of Savanna la Mar, Jamaica, West Indies.

FALL WHEAT AND CLOVER ARE IN BAD CONDITION; SAP, THOUGH RUNS WELL

The past week has been an excellent one from the standpoint of the maple syrup manufacturer, but it has been hard on the fall wheat and clover according to the statements of a Dummer farmer to-day. The hard frost of the past few nights has made the sap run well and many Dummer farmers have seized the opportunity and considerable maple syrup was manufactured.

What has been a gain so far as the maple syrup season is concerned, however, may probably be a severe loss to the farmers with fall wheat and clover on their farms. The frost has nipped both of these crops and many fields throughout the country are turning black. If the weather does not become milder than it has been during the past week, the past week, the Examiner's informant stated that the wheat and clover would be a complete failure. As it was, he stated, many fields unprotected by woods or hills will have to be replanted.

NEW METHOD OF REFORMING HUSBANDS; FEED THEM WELL

Examiner Special.

Chicago, April 5th. — Pure food is to be an important factor in the reform of delinquent husbands, conducted by Municipal Judge McKenzie Cleland of the Maxwell street district.

Instead of sentencing the husband, the wife will be sentenced in the future. Instead of meting out, "Fifty dollars and costs," to be worked out in jail, it will not be unusual to hear a sentence of "Two weeks on ham and eggs, varied by hot biscuit, mashed potatoes and steak."

After several weeks of psychological research, conducted upon practical lines, Judge Cleland has discovered that food served in indifferent styles by more indifferent wives has more to do with sending husbands to the corner saloon for solace than any other one thing.

MATERIAL HAS ARRIVED FOR NEW FURNITURE FACTORY

The first carload of material for the new furniture factory, which will be erected in East City, has arrived, and is now being placed on the ground. Mr. Wm. J. Mein has the contract for the foundation, which will be of concrete construction, and he will commence work immediately on the excavations for the building.

As soon as the foundation is in, work will be rushed on the building itself, which will be of ample proportions for the manufacturing operations to be carried on in it. From the businesslike manner in which the work is being carried on by the capitalists who will establish the industry in Peterborough, it may be assumed that it will develop rapidly into one of the more important of the various manufacturing concerns of the city.

MALIGNANT GOSSIP

In reply to some criticism aimed at ministers of the Gospel because they have refrained from denouncing wickedness in high places, meaning Ottawa, the Rev. Dr. Rose, of Winnipeg, formerly of Ottawa, has written an impressive letter for publication. In the course of it he says:

I must confess that five years' residence in Ottawa taught me one thing, to distrust utterly the gossip which prevails in regard to our public men. To credit what one hears there is to believe in no one's honour, honesty or sobriety. The greater part of what was said I knew to be untrue, and I came, in time, to discredit the rest. To secure the smallest political advantage, the loudest and most unworthy tales against the uprightness and decency of public men are sometimes circulated. No reputation seems wholly safe. The contribution to public righteousness most needed is a sturdy campaign against falsehood and slander, and a plea for the charity which hopeth all things. To accept, and from the well-protected pulpit, to repeat, the unspecified and unsustained charges against men in high places, appears to me to be guilty of "taking up a reproach against one's neighbour."

The tendency of slanderous tongues to assail those who enter public life is not to be excused, but, rather, reprobated, because it is so common. The greater the ability of the man, the higher he attains in position; the greater the force he becomes in politics, the more malignant and industrious the slander. A public man is, by virtue of his prominence, a marked man, and acts that pass unnoticed in others less exalted are, in his case, seized upon and magnified. As Rev. Mr. Rose says, to gain the slightest political advantage, the tongue of slander industriously and venemously wags. Truth, or even an approximation to truth, is not a necessary element in these slanders and scandals. Though some of them may have some slight foundation, they are magnified in passing from mouth to mouth, till "as black as a crow" becomes three black crow." Scandal and gossip are responsible, perhaps, for more unhappiness, heart-burning and social discord, for not one in a hundred is addicted to drink, but the malevolent gossip and scandal monger are legion for abundance.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the holders of the all Canadian lacrosse championship and the holder of that all Canadian popularity emblem known as the Premiership, the Empress of Britain is, the Ottawa Journal thinks, to have a distinguished passenger list.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Prime Minister of Canad, sailed yesterday by Empress of India, for London, where he will be the most conspicuous figure in the Colonial conference. The Examiner wishes Sir Wilfrid a pleasant journey, which he will in some respects hardly get for he is a bad sailor and finds sea sickness much more troublesome than the Opposition at Ottawa. Hon. Mr. Fielding will be a busy man the rest of this session. He will be leader of the House and is Minister of Finance and acting Minister of Railways and Canals. He is always a busy man, but his new accumulation of duties will fill every minute.

CIVIC NEGLECT

A word to the City Fathers. They know that one of the attractions of Peterborough is its parks, which are, perhaps, not fully appreciated, because they cost us nothing. They know that all the parks of the city, with a single exception, are north of Charlotte street. That exception is the little neglected waif of triangular civic lung at the junction of Park, Charlotte and Downie streets.

The aldermen are reminded that this little park, which has been planted about fifteen years, has been systematically neglected by the corporation, and is being sadly neglected now. It has been planted with trees four or five times, and not an hour of attention has been given them. The trees have been destroyed several times, and are in danger of being destroyed again. There would have been no trees there now, had it not been for the public spirit of Mr. J. L. Hughes, who has watched over, and cared for, the park generally, for years, and specially for four or five years. He has had to do this without thanks, or even help, or encouragement, from the city fathers. He has been unable to induce them to give him even a little assistance. He has ceased to take an active working interest in the park, that involves so much work for a man of his years.

The wire fence around the park has been broken down, and the authorities allowed heavy teaming over the park by sewer contractors, and one villain of a teamster drove his heavy wagon over a beautiful, thrifty-growing maple, fifteen feet high, and crushed it to the ground. Mr. Hughes straightened it up, and bandaged it, and it may recover. This is mentioned as a type of the indifference, the disgraceful lack of interest in the park, and public places generally, on the part of the aldermen. Thanks to Mr. Hughes' care and interest, the trees are all growing, and doing well. But there is no enclosure, and boys make it a playground, and boy-like, do their best to destroy the young trees, by swinging on, by twisting, and bending them. One fine, thriving elm, has already been broken this spring, and unless the city looks a little after the park, and protects it, it will be ruined again. It would take very little expense to enclose the park with a wire fence—the posts are there now; and some person should be armed with the necessary authority and appointed to look after it. A few loads of good street scrapings should be placed on the sward to level it, and make it smooth. The trees should be protected, and if this is done, in a few years they will have gained enough strength to be beyond injury from the pranks of mischievous boys.

The little park is situated at a street railway junction, and, when the trees are grown, if provided with seats, will make a pleasant resting place for waiting passengers, also a shady retreat for others, and a genuine beauty spot. The aldermen are entreated, in the name of decency, in the name of public spirit, in the name of their duty to the public, to give a little badly-needed attention to this park; they can well do so, for it has practically cost the city nothing, since it was first licked into a sort of shape.

They should do so because it is their duty; they should do so for the sake of example—to show the people that they take an interest in promoting the beauty of our streets. In doing this they will encourage the citizens in taking a pride in keeping the streets in front of their premises in good order. They have no encouragement to do so now. A citizen places a nice boulevard in front of his premises, grasses it, and keeps it nicely mown. Along comes some pole planter, digs holes in the sward, plants a pole and leaves an unsightly litter of loose stones and rough earth, without the city taking the first step to protect the taxpayer, and preserve the beauty of our streets. Carters and scavengers are allowed on certain streets to pile refuse and litter; limbs blown from trees, loose planks, and scantlings from old walks, are allowed to cumber our streets for months. Pavements are put down, boulevards are injured in the process, and left that way by city workmen. The city should put these boulevards in good shape, and should build them where none exist. The city authorities control the streets, and are responsible for the tidy and attractive condition, or for their filthy and unsightly condition, which latter is the rule, so far as the city is concerned.

If the city would only encourage the citizens by keeping the streets clean and neat, so far as their work is concerned, nine out of ten citizens would do their share, and we should have one of the most attractive cities in the province. It is now the best supplied with well-grown street trees. A bird's eye view of many of our residential streets is a delight, but, in detail, many of them are a disgrace. They are flanked with neglected and defaced boulevards, strewn with unsightly litter, and quite disgraceful in appearance.

Clean linen and well polished boots give dignity to even seedy attire, so well-groomed and tidy streets add beauty to an otherwise unattractive thoroughfare. Will the aldermen set the example, by doing their share, and making a beginning with Park Place, save it from destruction and make it a beauty spot, as it will be, with reasonable care, in a few years. The work needs to be done now.

Let us make Peterborough a city beautiful, as well as a city enterprising and progressive. It is just as disgraceful for the city to have untidy streets and squares, as it would be for a private citizen to have a beautiful residence, surrounded by slovenly and unkempt grounds.

HAND WRITING

Mr. E. C. Scrigley, commercial master at the Collegiate Institute, in an address before the Ontario Educational Association, recently given, says:

The business world demands a rapid, legible, and nicely-formed hand-writing. If the Government established summer schools for the teaching of penmanship, instead of fads, the penmanship of this Province would be 100 per cent. better in one year's time.

Mr. Scrigley is correct in saying that "the world demands rapid, legible and neatly-formed hand-writing." This is quite true, but not as important as it was a few years ago. In the business world, the type-writer largely takes the place of the pen, but that does not remove the desirability of good writing. While it is desirable to have good writing, it is to be remembered that good writing is a gift, that is, the natural aptitude is born, not made. There are some persons born without talent, to draw a straight line, and, in such cases, these persons can never make good writers. But instruction and painstaking can do much to make good writers. It would seem that the prevalence of bad writing is due to the methods of teaching in the Public Schools. It is the practice, before a pupil learns to write, that is, before a style of hand-writing is formed, to put him or her to writing exercises. This involves the pupil writing at the limit of his speed, and, of course, the development of a scratchy, scrawly style of writing, and an opportunity is never given of forming a proper style of writing and developing speed gradually after the style is fairly well formed. We may theorize as much as we like to do upon the solution of the problem of securing good writing, but the only way to do it is to teach writing properly and give pupils an opportunity to learn. A musician is not made by putting a pupil to playing a Beethoven sonata before he has a decent idea of the rudiments or knows how to play the scales; a pupil cannot be made a good writer by putting him at writing at top speed before he knows the rudiment of writing.

WHERE THE SHOE PINCHES.

Price Stamped and Name Branded Shoes Caught in the Rising Cost.

Even the Slater shoe dealer sometimes regrets the fact that the price of each shoe is stamped on the genuine Slater shoe. Prices of leather and materials advanced so during the past year that a man with $10,000 stock of shoes bought before the rise had a stock really worth $12,000. Yet the Slater shoe had to be sold for just what it was marked. The price mark could not be erased nor changed, for the Slater Shoe Company would not permit it.

So that the rise in the cost of leather bears hardest on the price-stamped Slater shoe. The unnamed shoe can be sold for any profit which the dealer can impose, while the Slater shoe must be sold at the prices fixed by the maker. R. Neil, Agent, Peterborough.

A TALENTED ARTIST WHO WAS BORN HERE

Madame Lillian Adams, Who Comes Here on April 11th, is Related in This City.

One of the finest, if not the finest, dramatic entertainments, ever seen in Peterborough, will be given in St. Peter's Hall, on Thursday evening, April 11th, by Mr. Gilbert Shorter, assisted by Madame Lilian Adams, composer and pianiste, and the wonderful little child actress, "Beryl," a daughter of Mrs. Adams. They are being brought here by Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who procured a date from them while in Europe. Mrs. Morrow will have added to the programme several vocal numbers of a high class.

Mrs. Shorter is considered one of the finest in her line in Europe, having appeared before all the royalty of Europe.

They have recently been appearing before American audiences, more especially in New York, where they have received very glowing press notices, one in particular at the Waldorf-Astoria, at which the Baroness Leslie de Bazus and the Countess Spotiswood, Mackin were then Patronesses as well as over one hundred of New York's "400."

Mrs. Adams is the wife of the celebrated baritone, Stanley Adams, and a daughter of Capt. Kennedy, formerly of Peterborough, she having been born here, so she looks forward to a large house.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional remedy. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundations of the disease and give the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. AMERICAN OFFICERS OF HIGH RANK AND OTHERS ENDORSE PE-RU-NA.

Prominent People Recommend the Remedy Pe-ru-na.

Dr. Hartman's World Renowned Catarrh Medicine.

A Remedy for the Grip.

Gen. W. H. Parsons, 925 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes as follows:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip with which I have been affected for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment of this justly celebrated formula.

"I feel a decided change for the better by its use for one week only, especially in toning up the stomach, and a consequent decided effect upon my appetite.

"I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her veteran cavalry in a four-year war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merit of Peruna from a sense of obligation for its wonderful efficacy."

Pe-ru-na a Good Tonic.

Gen. M. C. Butler, of South Carolina, writes from Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I can recommend Peruna for dyspepsia and stomach trouble.

"I have been using your medicine for a short period and I feel very much relieved.

"It is indeed a wonderful medicine, and besides a good tonic."

Colds in the Head and Throat.

Chas. W. Bowman, 1st Lieut. and Adjt. 4th M. S. M. Cav. Vols., writes from Lanham, Md., as follows:

"Though somewhat averse to patent medicines, and still more averse to becoming a professional affidavit man, it seems only a plain duty in the present instance to add my experience to the columns already written concerning the curative powers of Peruna.

"I have been particularly benefited by its use for colds in the head and throat.

"I have been able to fully cure myself of a most severe attack in forty-eight hours by its use according to directions.

"I use it as a preventive whenever threatened with an attack.

"Members of my family also use it for like ailments.

"We are recommending it to our friends."

Recommends Pe-ru-na to the Afflicted.

Brig. Gen. D. T. Kirby, Washington, D. C., writes concerning Peruna, as follows:

"Friends of mine having used your Peruna catarrh cure with good results, I am impressed with its curative qualities, and can recommend it to those who are afflicted."

An Invigorating Tonic.

Rear-Admiral Hichborn, U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., writes:

"After the use of Peruna for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."

For Catarrh of the Stomach.

Gen. W. W. Duffield, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Peruna in my family and have found it a valuable medicine and take pleasure in recommending it to all who suffer from catarrh of the stomach or who require a tonic of prompt efficacy."

Used Pe-ru-na—Satisfied As to its Merits —Recommends it to All Sufferers.

Gen. S. B. Yoder, 208 Md. Ave., N. E., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I desire to say that I have found Peruna to be a wonderful remedy. I only used it for a short time and am thoroughly satisfied as to its merits. I shall gladly recommend it to all sufferers."

DEAFNESS CAUSED BY CATARRH— RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Gen. A. M. Legg, writes from the Savings Bank Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I take pleasure in endorsing the many recommendations I have heard and read of Peruna, because of having had knowledge of the truth of so many of them.

"We always tell our sick and ailing friends of the remedies that we have learned, from experience, were good for us when ailing in the same way, and we do it as a duty we feel that we owe them.

"Why is it any the less our duty to advise all the people we can when we know of a good and comparatively inexpensive remedy that makes many cures, and benefits in almost all cases?

"My own little personal experience of being relieved of deafness, caused by a siege of catarrh, warrants me in advising all the afflicted to just try Peruna."

For Kidney Trouble, Coughs, Colds and Catarrh.

Gen. A. T. Hawley, 1328 25th St., N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Peruna and find it very beneficial for kidney trouble, and especially good for coughs, colds and catarrhal trouble."

Convinced of Pe-ru-na's Merit.

Brig. Gen. J. Floyd King, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I unhesitatingly state that I am convinced Peruna is a medicine which will effect all that is claimed for its use."

Those desirous of obtaining special directions with regard to the use of Peruna should write to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

When Other Remedies Failed Pe-ru-na Proved Efficacious.

Hon. Geo. W. Honey, National Chaplain U. V. U., Ex-Chaplain 4th Wisconsin Cavalry, Ex-Treas. State of Wisconsin and Ex-Q. Master General State of Texas, G. A. R., writes from 1700 First street, N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I cannot too highly recommend your preparation for the relief of catarrhal troubles in their various forms.

"Some members of my own family have used it with most gratifying results.

"When other remedies failed, Peruna proved most efficacious and I cheerfully certify to its curative excellence."

Pe-ru-na, a Standard Treatment For Catarrhal Diseases.

Mr. John C. Nelson, Dayton, Tenn., geologist and mining engineer, while a Captain in the Federal Army during the Civil War, contracted a case of rheumatism. This malady was constant and persistent, inducing the development of other ailments, which also became chronic. After taking a course of Peruna, Capt. Nelson writes:

"Having been painfully afflicted with chronic rheumatism and the adjunctive complications for many years, and after having received many general and special treatments with only temporary relief, I read your scientific treatise on catarrhal diseases.

"At my request you prescribed a special course of the Peruna remedies, which I closely followed, and am happy to report that my rheumatism and complicated ailments are subdued, and I feel young again at the age of 69 years.

"Reason will accept your classification of catarrhal diseases as scientific and true, and the Peruna remedies as a standard treatment for them. I thank you heartily for your skilled and logical advice."

Enjoys Renewed Health and Strength.

James J. Osborn, 638 Wahsatch Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., has filled all the positions in Knight Templars Masonic Order, was a Mason since 1866, Judge of County Court, Clinton, Mo., and also County Collector of Clinton. He writes:

"A sluggish liver which I had been troubled with for two years made life miserable and I was unable to attend to my business half the time. I lacked energy, had headache most of the time, and my food distressed me and did not seem to do me a particle of good.

"Reading of the many cures performed by Peruna, I decided to try a bottle. Before I had taken many doses I felt better.

"I took it as directed for two months when I was a well man."

This firm, to the fore in every other respect, had an Easter window which for taste in arrangement and quality of the adornments reflects great credit upon the proprietor and window decorator. Everyone must have noticed it and minute details are not necessary, suffice to say that Mr. Schneider was very successful in preparing a window which was very beautiful and which also presented an opportunity of displaying their ex-

ONTARIO WHEAT BREAD THE BEST

Home Grown Wheat Makes Good Blend for Flour—Some Interesting Facts for Consumers.

Why do not the farmers of Ontario grow more wheat? Why do not the people of Ontario buy blended flours, containing their own home-grown wheat?

Manitoba wheat flour makes a big, strong loaf, but the bread is coarse, and is neither as inviting in appearance nor pleasing in taste, as that made of a blended flour. When it comes right down to quality, blended flour makes the best bread and pastry in the world. Yet many of our own people are using Manitoba flour not aware of the facts, helping the Manitoba farmer to get richer, and driving the Ontario farmer to raising less profitable crops.

Toronto seems to be about the only place in this province that really knows the worth of blended flour. And it is largely due to the efforts of one man—George Weston, the baker—that this is the case. When Manitoba wheat flour first appeared, it became very popular because it made a big loaf. But the bread was coarse. At that time Weston was running only two ovens. He thought there were enough people in Toronto who would appreciate the difference between quantity and quality, and he determined to bake a real old-time home-made loaf, using a blended flour. When he finished his first baking, he found that the loaf was the regulation weight but smaller than a loaf made of Manitoba flour. Weston carried his bread to various grocers, asked them to offer it to their customers, and if it was not sold that he would take it back. The next day every loaf was gone, and the grocers had orders for twice as much. In a week, he had to start new ovens, and it was not long before he was selling 50,000 loaves a week. This is what blended flour did for one baker. Of course, others, seeing the success of George Weston naturally adopted blended flour. To-day 75 per cent. of the bread baked in Toronto is made of blended flour. There is no doubt but what blended flours—milled of Ontario wheat with some Manitoba—not only make the best bread and pastry, but yield more bread, etc., to the barrel.

By using blended flours, it would create a demand for Ontario wheat, induce farmers to grow more wheat and keep all the money spent for wheat and flour right here in Ontario, thus adding to the value of Ontario farms.

FIRST PAPER ON THE TELESCOPE

Inaugural Meeting of the Astronomical Society Last Night—Interesting Session.

THE ADDRESS WAS ENJOYED

The inaugural meeting of the Peterborough Astronomical Society was held last night in the Y. M. C. A. hall and proved a most interesting and profitable gathering. A large audience was present, indicating a earnest desire to take up the study of astronomy and to delve into its mysteries. The feature of the evening was a paper on "The Telescope," read by Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, to whose efforts the formation of the local society is due and who is working energetically to make the undertaking a success, as from all indications it will be. He has a vast fund of interesting information in all branches of astronomy and his explanations are not too technical to be understood and appreciated. Rev. Dr. Marsh is succeeding in interesting the citizens of Peterborough in astronomy, and the subject is a most interesting one.

Mr. Rich. Lees, County School Inspector, was in the chair last night.

In beginning Rev. Dr. Marsh spoke on the subject of time, telling of the manner in which the official time is regulated and sent out. Siderial time, he said, was simply the rotation of the earth upon its axis. The earth rotated 366 times during the year, not 365 times, as many people supposed, each rotation made a day and night and just how 66 rotations made 65 days was a problem he would probably take up again for the benefit of the society.

Position of Planets

He had been asked, he said, to give some data as to the position of the planets and had made the calculations accordingly. The sun was directly above George street yesterday at 12 12 o'clock, 16 min., 13 sec., and was 51 degrees, 32 minutes above the horizon. The time at which some of the other planets crossed George street yesterday and their position above the horizon was given by Rev. Mr. Marsh as follows:

Mercury, yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, 43 min., 50 sec., and 14 degrees 15 secs. above the horizon.

Venus at 9 o'clock, 48 min., 30 secs., and the elevation was 35 degrees, 39 min.

Mars in the morning at 5 o'clock, 29 min., 8 secs., and 22 degrees 5 min. above the horizon.

Jupiter in the evening at 5 o'clock, 35 min., 8 secs., and at an elevation of 69 degrees, 13 min., 49 secs.

Saturn at 10 o'clock, 50 min., and 40 degrees, 24 min. above the horizon.

Uranus, 6 o'clock in the morning, 14 min., 32 secs., and 22 degrees, 32 min. high.

Neptune at 6 o'clock, 56 min., and at a height of 67 degrees 56 min.

The Telescope

Rev. Dr. Marsh's paper on "The Telescope" was decidedly interesting. He said that the telescope was the most useful instrument employed by astronomers, as all the new inventions, such as cameras and spectroscopes had to be used in connection with the telescope. The speaker told of the invention of the telescope and gave an interesting description of the instrument, showing how great it is in astronomical work. The paper was illustrated by some splendid lime light slides, and was not only instructive but profitable as well.

During the evening Rev. Dr. Marsh pointed out the advantages of belonging to the Astronomical Society. They were not merely members of the local branch but were associated with the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada and thus were able to keep well in touch with the work being supplied with reports from the society.

All indications seem to point to the fact that the Peterborough Astronomical Society will be a great success and with such a scientist as Rev. Dr. Marsh to instruct the members and give them frequent addresses on the work, the society should be a most flourishing and profitable organization.

Severe Form of Asthma

"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my little girl, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. The least exposure of cold would lay her up, and she would nearly suffocate for want of breath. I must say that I found it to be a most satisfactory treatment and it has entirely cured her."—Mrs A. A. VanBuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B.

CARD OF THANKS

Having disposed of my grocery business, corner George and Antrim streets, to Messrs. E. F. Mason & Co., I desire to thank my many customers and friends for the kind patronage so freely given in the past, but that, owing to impaired health and some other considerations, I have arranged to sever my connections with a business that has had my unceasing care and attention, and that has grown with the growth of the city. I take this means of expressing my thankfulness, as it is impossible to call and do so in person. I also wish to say that the business has been acquired by, and is in, good hands, and I am sure that every care and attention will be given in the future, as I have tried to give in the past. I bespeak for my successors a trial, and a continuation of the patronage so kindly favoured to myself, and feel assured that in larger hands there will be substantial advantages to the customers.

GREATEST INFLUX IN THE HISTORY OF CANADA'S WEST

Mr. Gibson, of Real Estate Firm of Wilson and Gibson, Gives Some Interesting Facts--Western Land is Popular Here.

RETURNING TO THE WEST

Western farm lands and Regina city property are considered good investments by the citizens of Peterborough and by the residents of the county, according to the statement of Mr. Gibson, of the real estate firm of Wilson and Gibson, who, for the last few months have conducted a real estate office in this city, dealing exclusively in Regina property and farm lands in the West. Mr. Gibson, in an interview to-day, with the Examiner stated the result of their sales campaign in Peterborough had been highly satisfactory. They had disposed of a considerable quantity of property, the small investor buying city property, while a number of farmers had bought farm lands in Saskatchewan and several of them would locate in the West during the next few months, or in the course of a year.

In a few weeks the office here will be closed. Mr. Wilson has already left for Regina and Mr. Gibson after about three weeks will return to the West, too. In the meantime anyone wishing to obtain any information concerning the west, he will be glad to give it to them. He has a number of Government maps, and anyone who intends to locate in the West will be given every assistance in selecting a location in the most advantageous section.

Mr. Gibson expressed entire satisfaction with the way in which the Peterborough people had taken up the western land proposition, and he was confident that those who had bought land in Regina or farm property in the West would realize well from their investment.

He gave it as his opinion, based on conditions actually existing at the present time that the present year would see the greatest influx into the West in the history of that portion of Canada. As an evidence of this he pointed to the fact that every day at North Portal on the Soo line of the C.P.R. an average of no less than 30 cars of settlers' effects are passed through the Customs into Canada. When it is taken into consideration that this is only over one line and that in all probability every other line has an equal amount and that more are coming in from Ontario it can readily be seen that Mr. Gibson has ample justification for his belief.

Mr. Wilson, of the same firm is now in Regina, and anyone going from the east now will have the advantage of his advice in selecting a location. With the advice which Mr. Gibson will give at this end and the personal contact with Mr. Wilson at the other end it will be seen that those who buy land from this firm are at once placed in an enviable position.

MUTUAL BENEFIT SOCIETY AT-HOME SPLENDID SUCCESS

Grand Opera House Crowded to the Doors---An Excellent Programme Presented---Mr. Frederick Nicholls, General Manager, Gave an Address in Response to Resolution of Appreciation---Society Well Pleased With Efforts of Bringing Together Employer And Employee.

The Grand Opera House last night contained one of the largest audiences in its history on the occasion of the first annual "At home" of the Canadian General Electric Company Mutual Benefit Society. To say that the function was a success is, indeed, expressing it mildly, for the looks of pleasure on the countenances of the big audience as they left the theatre, told plainly that their expectations had been more than realized. The two prominent requisites—a large audience and an excellent programme — necessary to make such an event a brilliant success were not wanting and the first annual at home of the Mutual Benefit Society of the greatest of Peterborough's industries will go down into history as an unqualified success.

Long before the time of commencing the programme, the opera house was so well filled that none but single seats could be found; many were compelled to stand while the concert was in progress and others were turned away. The programme was contributed solely by local talent and it proved to be one of the best musical and literary concerts presented to a Peterborough audience in a long time. Every number was warmly applauded and many encores had to be responded to. The programme was one reflecting credit on not only the contributors, but also the committee who supervised it and have every reason to feel elated over their selection of talent.

A pleasing feature of the event was the presence of Mr. Frederick Nicholls, the General Manager of the Canadian General Electric Works, who in company with Mr. E. G. Patterson, the local manager and a number of Toronto and Peterborough friends, occupied one of the boxes. Mr. Nicholls represents one of the greatest industrial institutions in the Dominion and his presence last night at the at home added honour to the occasion.

An Excellent Programme

It would be a long and difficult task to specialize each of the contributors so that it will be sufficient to state that all were admirably performed. The Canadian General Orchestra and Mandolin Club furnished excellent music. The soloists who took part were Miss L. Hallihan, Mr. Duncan Campbell, Mr. Geo. Lynch, Mr. W. McLaren and Mr. Chas. Delaney. Mr. Geo. Lynch was also heard with delight in Dr. Drummond's well known French-Canadian poem "The Old Stovepipe Hole." The instrumentals were pleasing and of a refined character, while the specialties which included the "Habo" dance and a section of minstrel show, were very popular.

The lime-light views which included pictures of Messrs. F. Nicholls and E. G. Patterson, the C. G. E. and the Canada Foundry Company's buildings were very interesting, especially to many Canadian General employees present. The operator of the machine gave many interesting facts in connection with each picture as it appeared on the canvas.

Mr. Nicholls' Address

During the second part of the programme, Mr. Wm. Hill, of the local works, appeared behind the footlights and moved a resolution extending to Mr. Nicholls the appreciation of the employees of the C. G. E. for his kindness in honouring them with his presence. At the same time he explained the benefits derived from the Mutual Benefit Society and gave some statistics as to its financial standing.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. R. E. Harding, president of the Society, and carried unanimously by the audience.

Mr. Nicholls was given an ovation on rising to reply. He assured the gathering he was pleased to have been present at the first at home of the Society, but was greatly surprised at being called upon to make an address, although it was an agreeable surprise. He was glad to be given an opportunity to thank the audience for the cordial manner in which they had showed their appreciation of this presence.

3600 Employed

He had looked with pleasure on the rapid growth of the Canadian General and was pleased to know that it was now the premier industrial corporation in the whole Dominion of Canada. The company have invested $10,000,000 in their Works, giving employment to over 3,600 persons. Their pay roll alone last year was over $2,000,000. The Peterborough Works, he said, had turned out some of the finest machines in the world, a fact which he felt very proud of. In closing he again thanked the audience for the cordiality of the reception and expressed his delight at being present.

The programme in its entirety was as follows:—

The accompanists during the evening were Miss W. Anderson, Miss McCabe, Miss M. Doherty, Mr. Bennett and Mr. Nicoll.

CANADA LIFE AGENTS' ANNUAL GATHERING

Mr. E. W. Cox, a Member of the Executive, Was at Lindsay Attending the Annual Meeting.

Mr. W. E. Cox, of this city, who is a member of the Executive of the Canada Life Agents' Association was in Lindsay attending the annual meeting of the Association. The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—S E Sells, Toronto, (acclamation.)

1st Vice-President—W R Widdess, Lindsay.

2nd Vice-President—Henry Argue, Millbrook.

Sec.-Treas.—Captain W J Robertson, Port Hope.

The Executive Committee is comprised of the officers of the Association and Mr. W. E. Cox, of Peterborough.

After attending to several matters of detail the meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the President.

The Orillia Packet says:—On Saturday, Chief of Police Reid arrested a man from Peterborough, named Thomas McCarty, for stealing a suit of clothes. McCarty simply went into the room of an employee, got into a suit of clothes he found there, left his own discarded suit in its place, and set off. He was noticed and caught. On Monday, Police Magistrate McCosh sentenced the culprit to three months in the county gaol.

Why Beauty Fades

Real beauty is rare. It belongs to perfect health. Just as soon as the blood gets thin and watery and the nerves become exhausted beauty fades, wrinkles show themselves, the glow of health disappears and beauty curves give place to leanness and wrinkles. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative, is woman's greatest blessing from youth to old age. A few weeks treatment of this remedy will do wonders for any woman who is pale, thin, weak and nervous.

FIRE! FIRE! FIRE!

Scott's Colloseum
432 GEORGE STREET

New Programme for week commencing April 8, 1907.

THE GREAT TORONTO FIRE

Only those who actually saw the great fire in Toronto can adequately appreciate the realism of the moving pictures shown in the Colloseum by Mr. Scott and his assistants. The clang of the fire bells, the rush and hurry, the terror and grandeur of the awful conflagration are marvellously brought out. The rescue work of the firemen, the rush of the crowds, fighting the flames and dynamiting the dangerous walls, are depicted with a realty that is almost incredible.

The continuous performance takes place every afternoon and evening from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and furnishes a refined entertainment for both small and great. Ladies are especially invited to the afternoon performances.

One of Jas. R. Bell's delivery rigs was damaged yesterday as the result of a collision with a wagon at the Aylmer street crossing of the C. P. R. HOTEL-KEEPER FINED $50 AND COSTS

Proprietor of American Hotel Assessed That Sum for Infraction of the Liquor Law.

THE POLICE COURT CASES

There was another case of breaking the liquor law before Magistrate Dumble this morning. Prior to the hearing of this however a few other cases were dealt with.

John Gorman, an old pensioner usually goes on a spree when he receives his pension money. This morning he appeared, as on previous occasions, and the magistrate's disgust was thoroughly aroused at his continual debauch. Gorman pleaded guilty of being found drunk in a public place. He was fined $5, to be paid forthwith, or thirty days in gaol. It meaneth just one month for the old soldier.

The second case was one in which a husband was accused of beating his wife. He said he was drunk when this took place and all he remembered was his arrest by Police Officer Meharry. He was sorry for what he had done and said that he would never repeat it. His Worship gave him some timely advice, and with a warning to appear in court no more, he dismissed the culprit.

A young boy named Adam Davidson, was charged with having thrown stones on Aylmer street. He was fined two dollars on the spot, Mr. Dumble stating that this was the best way of teaching such young lads a lesson.

Liquor Selling Case

Mr. D. Flynn, proprietor of the American Hotel, was charged with having unlawfully sold liquor on March 17th; from the evidence the date was wrong, as it was the following Sunday, the 24th, that the alleged selling occurred.

Mr. Jos. Stewart, license Inspector, was first called.

To Mr. J. Haverson, K.C., who represented Mr. Flynn, witness said that he believed the latter had been trying to keep his house properly, and that the accusation was a surprise to him.

Wm. McCliggott was next called. He was sworn and stated he lived in Douro, four miles from the city. On Sunday, May 24, he met Tom McMurray, Fred McMurry and Garret Spencer in the hotel. Spencer invited him to his room; saw him pay $1 for ale which Mr. Flynn brought from the second flat. There were five bottles. The same evening three bottles of the same kind of liquor were drunk in another yard. Maurice Moher brought the bottles from the American Hotel. Witness said that he saw Moher come out with them. He also said he was prosecuting Mr. Flynn to get even with him.

Garret Spencer was next called to the box. He said that he lived about 13 miles from Peterborough, Smith township. He came to the city on March 23rd, and remained at the American Hotel until Monday away for Sunday use. Sunday morning about 9 o'clock Spencer paid for his breakfast and invited the other men to his room. He asked Mr. Flynn for some of the bottles he had ordered and, the latter brought them to the room. He did not pull the corks; jack-knives were used for the operation, each man for himself.

The proprietor, Mr. Flynn was called. His testimony did not vary very much from that already given. This was his first license as an hotel-keeper and the first allegation made against him. When Spencer asked for some drinkables to be put away he took them away from the wine cellar and placed them in an adjoining room. He delivered them on Sunday when Spencer asked for them. Witness was paid for them on Monday with the rest of the bill.

Chief Kozel asked him if he did not mention two bottles ordered when speaking with the chief in the latter's office? Mr. Flynn replied in the negative.

This was the conclusion of the evidence. Mr. Haverson reviewed the case as heard during the session. He said it was a mean spite that actuated McCliggott; Mr. Flynn's testimony seemed honest and straightforward. Had he tried to polish up a story he could have been more exact and told a better tale for himself. The transaction was quite legal and Mr. Flynn's dealings were with Spencer, a bona fide boarder at the house.

Mr. Dumble said that he thought there had been an infraction of the law. The bottles set apart by Flynn were not really the property of Spencer, and were not set apart by Mr. Flynn to save him from liability. Mr. Flynn's story appeared honest enough and quite satisfied him. However there had been a breach of the law and as such he must find him guilty. He fined him the minimum amount, $50, with costs of $8.35.

TATE OPTICAL CO'Y

G. N. BABCOCK, Eye Specialist

412½ GEORGE STREET, PETERBOROUGH

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONY

The Tate Optical Co., Peterborough:

DEAR SIRS—During the last three or four years (prior to May last) my eyesight had failed to such an extent that I was unable to read or see anything at close range and could get no Glasses that would help me. I tried two different Opticians in Toronto and was told by both that they could do nothing for me, and that my sight would never be better. A statement of my case was sent to Montreal by a Hastings optician and several pairs of Glasses sent me, but with the same result my vision could not be improved. Last May, while looking at a Pair of Glasses you made for Mr. John Fife, Keene, and talking with him he advised me to consult your Mr. Babcock, and I am pleased to say that the Pair of Glasses he made for me have given me entire satisfaction and I can do now what I have not done for years past—read any ordinary print and see distinctly at close range. I feel very grateful, not only for the interest you have taken in my case, but particularly so for the blessing of good eyesight. Thanks to your knowledge and skill.

Yours truly,
(Signed) JOHN CARTER, Sr.,

CLEVER RUSE; COFFIN WAS EMPTY

Trick to Deceive Troops, Used By Insurgent Peasants.

FUNERAL WAS ONLY RUSE

Wanted to Get Near Their Enemies—Marched Up to Muzzles of Government Rifles—Battle of Belaneshti—Desperate Assault on Soldiery—Village Razed by Field Guns—Killed and Wounded.

Bucharest, April 6.—The determined bravery of the insurgent peasantry, in some of the recent fighting, is illustrated by a story of the battle of Belaneshti, near Craiova, published in a local newspaper. The insurgents, who numbered ten thousand, armed with guns, axes, knives and scythes, accompanied by their wives and children, made a desperate attack on a body of Roumanian infantry and artillery. The latter opened fire, killing large numbers of the peasants, who, after an unequal combat, retreated to a village, carrying their dead and dying. Half an hour later a long funeral procession, headed by a priest, issued from the village, a coffin being followed by thousands of weeping peasants. As they approached the troops the commandant ordered the mourners to halt, but the latter pressed on, and were met by a volley, which killed or wounded a number of them. After further fighting the remainder of the peasants fled, leaving the coffin which, when the soldiers examined it, was found to be empty. A few minutes later the peasants again attacked the troops, meeting the same fate. Artillery was then brought into action and the insurgents were summoned to evacuate the village within three hours. The peasants utilized the interval to unite their forces and delivered a fourth desperate assault on the troops, advancing in the face of artillery fire and rifle volleys and getting into hand-to-hand conflicts with the soldiers. The peasants, however, were defeated in the end and the houses of the village were razed to the ground by the fire of the field guns.

Kaulbars to the Frontier.

St. Petersburg, April 6.—Owing to the restlessness among the Russian peasants on the Roumanian frontier, due to the revolt of the Roumanian peasantry, the Government has ordered Gen. Kaulbars, Governor-General of Odessa, to send a strong detachment of infantry and artillery to the frontier and to take energetic measures for the restoration of order.

QUEEN GOES TO FRANCE.

Dowager Empress and Royal Party Under Careful Guard.

London, April 6.—Queen Alexandra, the Dowager Empress of Russia, and Princess Victoria, left London for the Continent yesterday. The Queen and her sister separated at Calais, the former and Princess Victoria proceeding to Toulon, where they will join King Edward, preparatory to the meeting between the latter and King Alfonso at Cartagena. The Dowager Empress will go to Biarrits.

The same extraordinary precautions were taken for the safety of the Dowager Empress as marked her arrival in England. No one was admitted to the railroad station except on written authorization and the railroad from here to Dover was closely patrolled. A number of Russians who have arrived in England since the advent of the Dowager Empress have been kept under close surveillance since their landing.

GIRL'S FATAL MISTAKE.

Child Died Twenty Minutes After Visiting Drug Store.

Chatham, Ont., April 6.—The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kavanagh, Tilbury, died in 20 minutes, after swallowing several strong tablets that she had purchased for her mother at a drug store. The child was sent for the tablets, but swallowed some of them on her way home.

Aeroplane Smashed.

Paris, April 6.—Santos-Dumont made an effort yesterday with his aeroplane to win the Deutch Archdeacon prize. The aeroplane rose two mitres (two yards) and had covered 50 mitres (53 yards), when the wind proved too violent, and the apparatus fell and was smashed. Santos-Dumont was not hurt.

To win the prize the machine must cover a closed circuit of nearly two-thirds of a mile in circumference.

GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case.

There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young.

From early morn till late at night they have been on the go year after year, attending to the household duties. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, weakness, dizziness, sleeplessness and many other troubles follow. What a woman wants is something to build up the system and for this purpose you cannot equal

BUILDING GUTTED IN AN HOUR

McGill Engineering Building Totally Destroyed By Fire.

FIREMEN HAD NO CHANCE

Fire Burned Itself Out—Only Walls Left Standing—Students Lose Valuable Outfits—Heat Was Intense—Loss Estimated $600,000—Insurance Totals $420,000 — Built Thirteen Years Ago.

Montreal, Que., April 6.—About four o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the Macdonald Engineering building of McGill University, and, in less than an hour this magnificent structure was gutted. The damage is estimated at $600,000 and is partly covered by insurance. No explanation is as yet forthcoming as to the origin of the fire.

About 4.30 a young man noticed the flames and rang the fire alarm, others in neighboring streets remarked the reflection in the sky, and notified the authorities. Firemen were on the scene in a moment, but it was evident from the outset that there was very slight chance of saving the building.

Already the flames had got hold of the roof and were leaping skyward, casting a light that turned early morning into day.

Heat Was Intense.

The heat was intense. The windows in the neighboring chemistry building were cracked and great waves of smoke rolled in all directions.

Means were immediately taken to prevent the spreading of the flames, in fact little else remained to be done. Before five o'clock the clanging of bells and galloping of steeds had collected a crowd round the building. Students came rushing up by hundreds. The campus and roofs around were crowded. So great was the heat that some standing on the steps of the medical building had to come down.

Tower Falls With Crash.

The stone annex that stretches back to University street was saved. Shortly after five o'clock the tower fell with a crash. The wooden roof quickly followed suit, and a few moments later two explosions occurred caused by contact of fire with chemicals. By six o'clock the flames began to subside. The fire had almost burned itself out. As the smoke cleared away one could see that the roof had gone near the northwest, and there was a huge gap in the stone wall and the remaining masonry tottered. Inside the place is just a mass of brick and smouldering timber. As late as half-past nine stonework continued to fall.

Scientific Instruments Lost.

The building was supposed to be constructed of semi-fire proof material and was equipped with hose. With the possible exception of the heavier instruments on the first floor the scientific equipment is entirely lost. The students number about 400 and examinations were in progress. The examination papers were destroyed.

The full amount of insurance carried on the building and contents is $420,000, which is estimated at between 75 and 80 per cent. of the loss.

Only the walls are standing. The fire was never under control till it died out.

The students had their outfits in their lockers, so each student loses from $50 to $200.

FLAMES MAKE HAVOC.

Gananoque Inn One of Canada's Best Known Hotel Destroyed by Fire.

Gananoque, April 6.—The Gananoque Inn, one of the best known summer hotels in Canada, was almost completely destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Mr. Walsh and family had a narrow escape, all the occupants being asleep at the time. They lost everything.

Fire broke out in the second storey of the main building, and before the firemen had arrived had gained tremendous headway. The building and furniture were valued at $90,000, and the loss is almost total, being covered only by partial insurance.

The flames were discovered by the daughter of Mr. Andress, who lives opposite, and had the warning not been sounded as soon as it was, there would in all probability have been a number of fatalities.

The Gananoque Inn was a particularly well built summer hotel, being of solid brick, and having a fire wall between the main wing and new north wing.

The main wing walls collapsed soon after the fire broke out.

Millionaire's Yacht Burned.

Brockville, April 6.—The handsome side-wheel yacht owned by E. P. Wilbur of South Bethlehem, Pa., a steel millionaire, was damaged by fire to the extent of $5,000 at her winter quarters up the river.

Dead Pilot at Boat's Wheel.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 6.—George W. Conant was found dead in the pilot house of the packet Lorena, near East Liverpool, Ohio, yesterday.

Without a guiding hand, the big packet, filled with passengers, who were peacefully sleeping, wandered through the dense fog and was running at high speed into a rock studded pool when Captain Richardson stopped the craft.

Conant evidently exhausted his last strength trying vainly to reach the signal rope.

Speaker St. John's Condition.

Toronto, April 6.—Very little change was reported in the condition of Speaker St. John at the General Hospital last night.

The physicians in attendance would not say how long this state of semi-weakness would continue, but considered that the condition of the patient was very encouraging, and are hoping to give out a favorable bulletin today or Sunday.

Snowstorm in Montreal.

Montreal, April 6.—Montreal awoke yesterday to find themselves in the midst of a snowstorm. The beautiful was promptly transformed into slush.

HARRY ESCAPES THE MAD HOUSE

Thaw Trial to Proceed Again On Monday.

WILL IT BE DEATH CHAIR

Jerome Decides Not to Appeal—Many Witnesses Still Under Subpoena—Delmas May Speak for Two Days in Defence—Jury Will Be Asked to Convict Thaw of Murder in the First Degree.

New York, April 6.—The trial of Harry K. Thaw will proceed on Monday, when Delphin M. Delmas, leading counsel for the defence, will begin his summing up to the jury.

District Attorney Jerome decided late yesterday not to appeal to the appellate division of the Court of Appeals for a write of prohibition or mandamus to halt the trial.

Mr. Jerome may argue briefly on Monday morning against the confirmation of the report of the lunacy commission, which declared Thaw to be sane, but he is aware that Justice Fitzgerald's disposition is to confirm the report, which was unanimous.

The district attorney has many witnesses still under subpoena, but it is said he will press the trial forward to an early verdict, or what is regarded as more likely, a disagreement of the jury.

Immediately after the adjournment, Mr. Jerome set about seeking precedents upon which to base his appeal to the higher court. He was at his office again early yesterday, and then went to the appellate division building.

Instead of applying for a stay of trial he sought counsel among his judicial friends, and, it is said, to have been upon their advice that he re-considered his determination to press the matter.

It was stipulated some weeks ago that each side should have one day for summing up. It was learned last night, however, that Mr. Delmas may speak for two entire days.

District Attorney Jerome has said that his summing up will not require more than three or four hours. He will ask the jury to convict Thaw of murder in the first degree.

It is thought that a verdict will be reached on Thursday.

WOMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Steamer Destroyed By Fire—Sixty-Five Were Rescued.

Debbs Ferry, N.Y., April 6.—The steamer City of Troy of the Citizens' Line was burned to the water's edge here last night. All the passengers, some sixty-five in number, were landed safely. The steamer was destroyed with its cargo of freight and thirteen horses. Edwin Gould's dock, to which the City of Troy tied up, when it was found impossible to control the flames, was also destroyed.

The City of Troy left for New York at 6 o'clock last night, bound up the river for Albany and Troy. The fire was discovered at about 8 o'clock, when she was about eight miles below Debbs Ferry. It broke out in the bold amidships, and rapidly gained headway. The crew fought the flames for some time before the boat was turned shorewards, but when it was seen they could not control them the captain turned his boat for Debbs Ferry. When she tied up at the Gould dock, the fire had gained such headway that little attempt was made to extinguish it, and every effort was bent toward landing the passengers successfully. When it was thought that everyone had been landed safely, it was discovered that a woman passenger was asleep in her berth, and two Debbs Ferry firemen, Alfred Smith and Robert Wilson, rushed into the burning boat and carried the woman safely ashore.

RESCUED JUST IN TIME.

London Man Caught in Belt—Machine Bursts In Laundry.

London, Ont., April 6.—William Elliot, employed on the construction of the Greene-Swift warehouse, was caught in a belting yesterday and narrowly escaped death. He failed to notice the belt, which caught his clothing, and he was almost drawn in, when he managed to brace himself until the machinery was stopped. His shirt was torn from his back and his right arm and shoulder injured.

An extractor machine in the Forest City Laundry burst yesterday while going at a speed of 1,500 revolutions per minute and pieces of the machine flew all over the room, in which over a dozen employes were working. Fortunately no one was hurt. The room was filled with blinding steam, causing considerable confusion.

BURIED UNDER SAND.

Father and Son Working In Well When Cribwork Collapsed.

Ardea, Man., April 6.—A fatal accident occurred yesterday, in which Alf. Reilly lost his life by being smothered by sand in a well. Reilly and his son have been engaged most of the winter boring wells in town, and while they were working at the parsonage both he and his son were down in a well about twenty feet fixing the cribbing, when the lower portion of the crib dropped, leaving a space of about three feet between the lower and upper portions, and through this opening the sand caved in, burying the father about four feet over his head. His son was miraculously saved with his head only above the sand, his father having evidently hoisted him up as high as possible.

Scalded On His Engine.

Brockville, Ont., April 6.—The body reached here yesterday of Michael Bennet, of Westport, who lost his life as the result of an accident on the New York Central Railway at Richville. He was employed as locomotive fireman on a freight train, which collided with another, head-on. Bennet was thrown against the boiler, and the escaping steam from the broken gauge glass scalded him in a terrible manner. He was 21 years of age, and unmarried.

GAME AND FISH LAW.

Changes In Respect to Deer Hunting —Automatic Gun Must Go.

Toronto, April 6.—The Government's bill respecting "game, fur-bearing animals and fisheries of Ontario," introduced by Hon. Dr. Reaume, was the subject of discussion throughout almost the entire session of the Legislature yesterday, the longest Friday session since the House opened. Great interest has been manifested in the measure, as was amply proven by the wide range of the discussion. It had been intended to take up Hon. Dr. Pyne's bill to amend the public schools act, but shortly after six o'clock, with the game bill still unfinished, the House adjourned until Monday afternoon. The discussion and voting were on non-political lines, and on a number of occasions Cabinet Ministers voted against one another, as did also members of the Opposition.

Game and Fish Law.

The House went into committee on Hon. Dr. Reaume's bill respecting game, fur-bearing animals and fisheries of Ontario.

Mr. Graham asked if anything had been done in respect to a reported extension of the area held exclusively by the Tadenac Game Club in Freeman township.

The Premier answered that the extension had not been granted. The matter would stand until the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines returned. The former Government had granted the club a very large area on both sides of Tadenac Bay as well as the bay.

Mr. Graham understood it was not the policy of the Government to give such grants or extensions.

The Premier remarked that that was about right.

The Shooting of Deer.

Mr. MacKay urged that the deer season should be, as in the present act, Nov. 1 to 15. Georgian Bay district hunters often found themselves ice-bound by Nov. 15, and had difficulty in getting back to their homes. The amended clause was adopted.

Mr. Tudhope moved an amendment to the clause regarding the number of deer which may be shot, that in the case of both single hunters and hunting parties the number should be limited to one for each man, and not two, as at present. This was defeated by a vote of fifteen to eleven.

Automatic Gun.

On the sections prohibiting the use of the automatic gun there was some discussion as to whether it should go into effect at once or at a date to be fixed, as there were many such guns in the possession of private parties, and some in stock in the stores, and these would be a loss. Mr. Calder moved that the clause be struck out, but this was lost. Mr. McNaught moved that the clause do not go into effect for five years, and this was also defeated. Mr. Gamey then moved that the operation of the clause be deferred for two years, and once more the amendment was beaten. Thereupon Mr. Tudhope, with the remark that those having such guns should have a chance "to unload them," moved that the prohibition be delayed one year. This, the final amendment to the clause, was also defeated, the vote being sixteen to eighteen, and the clause was adopted.

Competent Overseers Wanted.

Mr. Graham was not impressed with the provisions for overseeing included in the bill. The policy for some years had been wrong, and he wanted to know if the Government proposed to adhere to it. The law could not be enforced by hiring a number of young fellows at $50 each. They simply regarded it as a sort of honorarium for party services, and the work was not looked after. He advocated competent overseers, paid sufficiently well to devote their whole time to the work. What was the policy of the Government on this question?

Would Improve the System.

Hon. Dr. Reaume said it was the policy of the Government to endeavor to improve the system of protection. They could not do away altogether with local men to issue licenses, etc., in the various districts. They proposed to have a warden over each district, and men from headquarters would see that the wardens did not neglect their duties.

Liability of Municipalities.

Hon. Mr. Hanna moved the first reading of his bill to amend the municipal act, which contained the clauses discussed in the Municipal Committee. Taking up some of the clauses of the bill respecting liability of municipalities for damages due to neglect, Mr. Hanna said that the committee had not been unanimous by any means. The reported clauses had been carried in some cases by a bare majority of the committee. The Minister defended the clause which provides that express notice must be given to a municipality respecting dangerous conditions of walks or highways before the municipality shall be open for suits for damages.

A second bill was also introduced by Mr. Hanna amending the assessment act, which embodies the recommendations dealt with during the past several weeks in the Municipal Committee.

Mr. Studholme gives notice of the introduction of a bill to regulate the hours of labor of cab drivers and others.

CITY BASEBALL AND LACROSSE TEAMS--ATTENTION!

The Examiner is prepared to publish scores by innings together with the batteries of all amateur baseball games, and scores by quarters with the line up of all lacrosse matches, played by the Peterborough teams in this city or elsewhere, the approaching season. No matter of how little importance the game may be, if the score is authentic, it will be printed by the Examiner.

Scores must be sent in on the day on which the games are played. They may be mailed to the Sporting Editor, or left in the main office, thus assuring their publication the following day. Be sure that the scores are absolutely correct; with names properly spelled, and figures clean and correctly totalled.

Secretaries of all leagues and clubs are requested to send to the Sporting Editor the names of the members of their teams, schedules of games, and such items of interest that they deem worthy of publication. Communications may be sent as often as desired, and will receive prompt attention.

THE LACROSSE CLUB'S PROSPECTS

Probability of Minstrel Show Being Given in Near Future—Will Issue Season Tickets.

A meeting of the Peterborough La' crosse Club executive was held last night at the National Hotel, when some important matters were discussed.

For the purpose of raising funds for the club it was decided to put on a minstrel show in the Grand Opera House for two nights. The project will be gotten under way at once and should prove a great success. There is all kinds of talent for a first class entertainment of this kind in Peterborough, and the public may depend upon being given a great treat. The date has not yet been decided upon, as it will require some little time to prepare the performance.

The executive also decided to have printed 500 tickets, which will be sold at $1 each, and will make the holder a member of the lacrosse club. It is hoped that the tickets will sell quickly when they are placed before the public, Lacrosse is going to boom in Peterborough this year as never before if energetic work on the part of the club can accomplish it, but in order to assure the success of the club the finances must be placed on a good footing early in the season. The public should respond readily to the appeal for help and they will be rewarded by the great brand of lacrosse that will be dished out on Riverside Park this season. If they want to see sport in Peterborough as dead as it were last year, all they have to do is to pass up these tickets when they come their way.

Arrangements are being made to secure a first class coach for the club and with the material that is at hand, there will be no trouble in placing a team on the field that will give all the intermediate C. L. A. teams a hard canter for the honours.

"DUBBIE" SHEA IN THE CITY ON A VISIT

"Dubbie" Shea, who played shortstop for Peterborough Midland League ball team two years ago, when they reached the finals with Cobourg, is in the city on a short visit and is busy renewing old acquaintances "Dubbie" was one of the most popular men on the team the season he played here. He is in Brantford this year and will likely play in the city league there again. He is counted the best catcher in the Telephone City.

The Doctor Said Nervous Prostration

BUT AFTER WEEKS OF EFFORT HE COULD NOT HELP ME, AND I WAS CURED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Sleeplessness, failure of appetite and digestion, and then nervous collapse. This is the story told in this letter. But there is also new hope for similar sufferers in the cure described.

Mrs. Alf. Stevens, Burgessville, Oxford, county, Ont., writes:—

"Two years ago last November I was run down, and did not know was wrong. I could not sleep or eat, and at last my nervous system gave way entirely, and I had to go to bed. The doctor told me I had nervous prostration, and, though he doctored me for some weeks, I did not get any better.

"I then began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the time I had used six boxes I was completely cured. People remarked how well I looked, and I said, 'Yes, and I feel well, that is the best of it, and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food did it.'

"Twenty years ago," said Dr. Weir Mitchell, the great American authority on disease of the nerves, "the treatment of diseases was the highest medical ideal. Now the highest ideal is prevention of disease."

In the front ranks of preventives must be placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food because it works on the principle of increasing the quantity of rich blood and nerve force in the body and thereby keeping vitality at the high water mark.

This is the only way in which nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia, paralysis and many less dreaded diseases can be prevented or cured, and cure of such ailments when once they are thoroughly established means long weeks and months of persistent treatment.

The old saying that "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is nowhere so applicable as in diseases of the nerves, and there never was so effective a preventive as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This is being proven every day in thousands of cases. 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

THE CRICKET CLUB MEETING POSTPONED

Will be Held on Tuesday Night When Important Matters Will be Discussed.

The meeting of the cricket club announced for last night was not held, and it was decided, in view of the fact that a number of the members were out of the city, to hold a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night next.

BASEBALL

The Executive Committee of the Midland League met at the American Hotel Port Hope, Thursday night, President Jex, of Cobourg, occupying the chair. The rules of 1906 were adopted with a few amendments.

A marked cheque for $25 payable to the president and treasurer must be forwarded to the secretary ensor before 15th May, to be given to the team suffering from a default of a game.

All players must be resident of a town thirty days before a game, same to take effect after May 15th.

The admission fee to the league was fixed at $5.00 and the umpires will receive $5.00 and hotel expenses.

Teams have the privilege of agreeing upon an umpire, but they must inform the president three days previous to the game and he notifies the official.

The protest fee was fixed at $10, protests to be entered three days after the protested game and the protested team has three days to enter a defence.

The Peterborough baseball team will have a valuable man in Whitcroft, now that he has returned to the fold. "Whitty" plays bag No. 2 to a nicety and is useful with the willow, besides being a good "jollier."—Lindsay Post.

Peterborough will play independent ball this summer. They have organized their senior team and have elected a good bunch of officers. It would look like old times to see Lindsay and Peterborough again struggle for victory on the diamond, but at present the chances of Lindsay having a senior team look slim.—Lindsay Post.

The Peterborough baseball team had its first practice of the season this afternoon at Central Park. A big squad of players were out and the practice was a lively one.

LACROSSE

The season tickets for the Peterborough Shamrock Lacrosse Club are out and are being rapidly disposed of. The tickets sell at $1 each and admit the holder to all games under the auspices of the club. The Shamrocks will have a fast junior C. L. A. team this year and should be well patronized by the public. Help to start them out right by buying a ticket when they are shown to you.

ATHLETICS

It is probable that another athletic smoker, such as was put on in the old opera house two weeks ago, will be held in a short time. Billy Breen is endeavouring to arrange a bout between Timmie Holt and Tuckwell, the two boxers who had such a great battle in the Canadian championships. Holt, who belongs to the East Side A. C. of Toronto, got the decision over Tuckwell of the British United, but the latter's friends claim that the decision was wrong. The two men are very anxious to settle their differences and the bout would be a crackerjack.

Dunn, the great Y. M. C. A. wrestler of Toronto, the champion of Canada, in his class and who has never been thrown, may be seen in action against Harry Burridge, the local boy who threw George Gauthier twice in eight minutes at the last smoker.

BASKETBALL

A game of basketball was played at the Y.M.C.A. last night which was as exciting as any seen there this season. The teams were captained by Messrs. R. and E. Best, the former winning by 43 points to 31. Mr. John Laing refereed satisfactorily.

The committee in charge of the basketball banquet did not meet last night owing to the absence of a couple of the members.

BOWLING

Tommy Boyd and C. H. Frost, the Peterborough bowlers in the C. B. A. tournament, returned from Toronto yesterday. The team is still third in the doubles and Mr. Boyd's score of 574 is the highest yet made in the tournament. He stands to win a valuable trophy if the score is not beaten to-

AN OPPORTUNITY ONE SHOULDN'T MISS

Mrs. Morrow Bringing Well Known Artists to Give Entertainment in Peterborough Next Week.

The American and Canadian public may be interested in knowing that Mr. Gilbert Shorter, now visiting these shores for the first time, has been a prominent personage in the highest class of entertainment in London, where he has succeeded to the mantle of the late Clifford Harrison, who received the Royal Command eight times. Of excellent appearance, a thorough student, a natural speaker with the inborn dramatic instinct, Mr. Shorter has been received in London from royalty downwards, as an artiste of the highest calibre, and his interpretations of the best poetry and purest humour, constitute the most refined entertainment, and this has been recognized by the entire British and the American press.

He is musically assisted by Madame Lillian Adams, pianiste and composer, who has had the honour on a royal presentation. She is the wife of Mr. Stanley Adams, who, it will be remembered, toured the country last season with an English concert company. Madame Adams is a Canadian by birth, her extraordinary ability as a pianist and composer of the remarkable musical settings to Mr. Shorter's dramatic impressionist readings, has gained her a high name in London.

Mr. Shorter will be assisted in his sketches by the gifted and interesting child, Little Beryl, who has shared in this London success.

These artists will be heard in Peterborough, on Thursday, April 11, in St. Peter's Hall, under the management of Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who has gone to considerable expense in securing them, with a view of giving the Peterborough public a musical treat. Pupils of Mrs. Morrow, Miss McKenna of St. Catharines, Miss Mollie Young, Mrs. (Dr.) Archer, and Mr. John King, bass, will contribute to the programme.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR

All Come From Dandruff, Which Is Caused By A Germ

Split hair, hard hair, lusterless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a measly little microbe that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into dandruff scales and sapping the vitality of the hair at the roots, causing the several diseased conditions of the hair till it finally falls out. Modern science has discovered a remedy to destroy the dandruff microbe, which is combined in Newbro's Herpicide, the delightful hair dressing. Allays itching instantly and makes hair as soft as silk. Take no substitute, nothing just as good. Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1 per bottle. BE CONSERVATIVE: IS THE ADVICE

Amalgamated Copper the Leader in an Active Market—Some of the Features.

J. R. Heintz Special

New York, April 6.—At the opening to-day prices were generally firm and slightly higher than last night, with the exception of C.P.R., which opened off 1 1-4. Amal. Copper was in heavy demand from the start, and was rushed up over two points at the short interest being run in, and Union and Southern Pacific were also strong features, with heavy trading at advancing figures. The buying generally came from the shorts and outside speculative investments, while teh selling was very professional and showed both profit-taking and evening up over the end of the week. London was a fairly good buyer, taking some large amounts of Amal. Copper.

The strength was continued up to the appearance of the bank statement, which was as favourable as had been expected, but after its appearance some heavy selling of C.P.R. from foreign sources broke that issue down three points and caused good recessions elsewhere, the market coming back in most instances to below last night's closing figures, and showing little rally at the close.

The market has had a good rally, mostly at the expense of a large shortage, which now seems to have pretty well covered. The money market eased off so quickly this week as to arouse suspicions that it may be artificial. Whether the gain will be held or not remains to be seen. At any rate, we would not buy except on good breaks, and then for but a turn. Be conservative.

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

PACIFIC PROVINCE ABUNDANTLY RICH IN NATURAL RESOURCES

BRITISH COLUMBIA, THE LARGEST OF THE DOMINION'S PROVINCES

In Area it Has 395,610 Square Miles, With Every Natural Resource Possessed by Any Other Province in Canada.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS

Trade of British Columbia Largest in World Per Head of Population —Residents Sanguine as to its Future.

THE traveller whose knowledge of British Columbia is gained from a trip through the province by railway and steamboat departs after having spent many delightful hours in Nature's picture gallery, in which she has collected her most precious treasures in bewildering profusion. He has quite failed to catch the details of her mighty work and carries away with him the impression that the principal asset of the country is its scenery.

Here and there since crossing the Rockies he has seen cultivated patches, stretches of bench and bottom lands which might be utilized for farming and ranching, but the mountains dominated all else and he can only vaguely surmise as to the agricultural possibilities of the valleys separating the numerous ranges. He is therefore prepared to accept the statement that British Columbia is "a sea of mountains," in which mining and lumbering must furnish the only occupations for its population. The creation of this false impression is not far to seek. The Canadian Pacific Railway, seeking the shortest path to the Pacific, let no barrier of nature, however formidable, stand in its way, but pushed its main line through regions the most unpromising, from an economical point of view. Thus the traveler catches the merest glimpses of the rich agricultural valleys which intersect the mountain ranges from north to south, and which are capable of supplying a population of many millions with all the products of farm, ranch, orchard and dairy.

To form a just estimate of the extent and importance of the agricultural areas of British Columbia one must make many excursions to the north and south of the main lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway—over its branches and steamboat connections—and even then, if he trusts to what he may see from the car window or the deck of a lake steamer, his knowledge will be far from complete. In the Shuswap and Okanagan Valleys, for instance, for every acre of arable land within sight of the railway or lake, there are thousands hidden away behind the beautiful grass covered hills which border the highway of travel, and the same may be said of Kootenay, Boundary, Arrow Lake, Similkameen and other districts. The agricultural capabilities of the many sections of Southern British Columbia are, as a matter of fact, only beginning to be realized.

Sailing Fleet in Victoria, B. C., Harbor.

British Columbia's Area

It will, no doubt, be a surprise to many persons in Eastern Canada to learn that British Columbia is the largest of the provinces, its area being variously estimated at from 372,630 to 396,610 square miles.

The province is traversed from south to north by four principal ranges of mountains—the Rocky and the Selkirk on the east, and the Coast and Island ranges on the west. The Rocky Mountain range preserves its continuity, but the Selkirks are broken up into the Purcell, the Selkirk, the Gold and the Cariboo mountains. Between these ranges and the Rockies lies a valley of remarkable length and regularity, extending from the international boundary line, along the western base of Rockies northerly 70 miles. West of these ranges extends a vast plateau or table land with an average elevation of 2,000 feet above sea level, but so worn away and eroded by water courses that in many parts it presents the appearance of a succession of mountains. In echoes it spreads out into the wide plains and rolling ground, dotted with low hills, which constitute the areas of farming and pasture lands. This interior plateau is bounded on the west by the Cascade or Coast range, and on the north by a cross range which gradually merges into the Arctic slope. It is of this great interior plateau that Professor Macoun says: "The whole of British Columbia, south of 52 degrees and east of the Coast Range, is a grazing country up to 3,500 feet and a farming country up to 2,500 feet, where irrigation is possible."

Climate

Varied climatic conditions prevail in British Columbia. The Japanese current and the moisture-laden winds from the Pacific exercise a moderating influence upon the climate of the coast and provide a copious rainfall. The westerly winds are arrested in their passage east by the Coast Range, thus creating what is known as the "dry belt" east of these mountains, but the higher currents of air carry the moisture to the loftier peaks of the Selkirks, causing the heavy snowfall which distinguishes that range from its eastern neighbour, the Rockies. Thus a series of alternate moist and dry belts are formed. The climate of British Columbia as a whole, presents all the conditions which are met with in European countries lying within the temperate zone, the cradle of the greatest nations of the world, and is, therefore, a climate well adapted to the development of the human race under the most favourable conditions. As a consequence of the purity of its air, its freedom from malaria, and the almost total absence of extremes of heat and cold, British Columbia may be regarded as a vast sanitarium. People coming here from the east invariably improve in health. Insomnia and nervous affections find alleviation, the old and infirm are granted a renewed lease of life, and children thrive as in few other parts of the world.

The climate of Vancouver Island, and the coast generally, corresponds very closely with that of England; the summers are warm with much bright sunshine, and severe frost scarcely ever occurs in winter. On the mainland similar conditions prevail till the higher levels are reached, when the winters are cooler. At Agassiz, on the Lower Fraser, the average mean temperature is in January, 23 degrees and of July 64 degrees; the lowest temperature on record at this point is 13 degrees, and the highest 97 degrees. There are no summer frosts, and the annual rainfall is 67 inches, 95 per cent. of which falls during the autumn and winter.

Resources

With the exception of nickel (which has not yet been discovered in quantity) all that the other provinces of Canada boast of possessing in the way of raw material is here in abundance. British Columbia's coal measures are sufficient to supply the world for centuries; it possesses the greatest compact of merchantable timber in North America; the mines have produced $175,000,000 and may be said to be only in the early stages of development; the fisheries produce an annual average value of $7,500,000, and, apart from salmon fishing, their importance is only beginning to be realized; there are immense deposits of magnetite and hematite iron of the finest quality which still remain undeveloped; the agricultural and fruit lands, cattle ranges and dairies, produced approximately $7,000,000 in 1903, and less than one-tenth of the available land is settled upon, much less cultivated.

Trade And Transportation

The trade of British Columbia is the largest in the world per head of population. What may it become in the future when the resources of the province are generally realized and actively developed? In 1904 the imports amounted to $12,079,068, and the exports totaled $16,536,328. In 1905 the imports were $15,715,579 and the exports $22,917,578, or a total increase in the trade of the province of ten million dollars in two years.

The prevailing prosperity of British Columbia is due in no small measure to the progressive policy of the C. P. R. Co., which has in so many instances anticipated local requirements by extending branch lines to isolated mining camps and timber districts where development was being retarded for lack of transportation facilities. These branches are being steadily extended into new territory, the most notable being the Nicola, Kamloops and Similkameen Railway from Spence's bridge southeastward. This important line is now operated as far as Nicola, giving access to new coal mines, recently opened, and to an extensive territory rich in coal, copper, gold and silver, as well as agricultural, grazing and timber lands.

Besides operating passenger and freight steamers on the Kootenay, Arrow and Okanagan lakes the Canadian Pacific Railway maintains a large fleet of ocean going and coasting craft, many of the ships being models of their class.

Mining

British Columbia can justly claim to be the leading mineral producing province of Canada, producing about 36 per cent. of the total mineral output of the Dominion, in spite of the fact that present conditions prevent the profitable mining of many minerals, such as iron ores, gypsum and mica, which will in a few years largely swell the output.

The production of the precious metals, gold, silver, copper and lead, amounted to $16,140,444 in 1905, or 58 per cent. of the Dominion total of $27,731,763, the latter including $8,337,300 placer gold from the Yukon Territory.

Coal and coke amounted to $5,511,861 out of a Dominion total of $16,450,036.

The total mineral production recorded for the province to the end of 1906 is nearly $275,000,000.

A notable feature is the steadiness with which the production has increased from year to year as the following table will indicate:

1890	$ 2,603,303.00
1895	5,648,042.00
1900	16,344,751.00
1904	18,977,359.00
1905	22,461,335.00
1906 (est)	25,139,575.00

Labour And Wages

The demand for labour, especially skilled labour, far exceeds the supply. Men are in demand for work in and around mines, smelters and railways, to say nothing of agricultural and other industries. Miners get from $3.50 per day up, sometimes making much more on account of bonuses or working on contract. Shovellers, etc., get from $2.50 to $3.00 per day, blacksmiths, carpenters, etc., get from $3.50 to $4.50 per day and up. Underground work is limited by law to eight hours. Board usually costs about $4.00 per day.

Lumbering

Next to her great treasury of minerals, the most readily available, if not the most important, of British Columbia's natural resources is her immense timber reserve. This province may now be said to possess the greatest compact area of merchantable timber in North America. The total forest area of Canada is estimated at 1,067,600,000 square acres (exceeding that of the United States and Europe combined), and of this British Columbia has 182,750,000 acres. This immense extent of forest and woodland is not, of course, all of present commercial value as much of it is covered with small trees only fit for fuel and domestic purposes, which would not be considered "timber" by the loggers, who choose only the largest and best trees. As far north as Alaska the coast is heavily timbered, the forest line following the indentations of the shore and the river valleys, and fringing the mountain side. The Douglas fir, the most widely distributed and valuable tree found on the Pacific Coast, grows as far north as 51 deg., where it is supplanted by the cypress, or yellow cedar, red cedar, hemlock and spruce. The fir is very widely distributed, being found from the coast to the Rocky Mountains. On the coast it attains immense proportions, sometimes towering to a height of 300 feet with a base circumference of 30 to 60 feet. The best average trees are 160 feet clear of limbs and five to six feet in diameter. The fir is the staple of commerce, prized for its durability and strength.

Fisheries

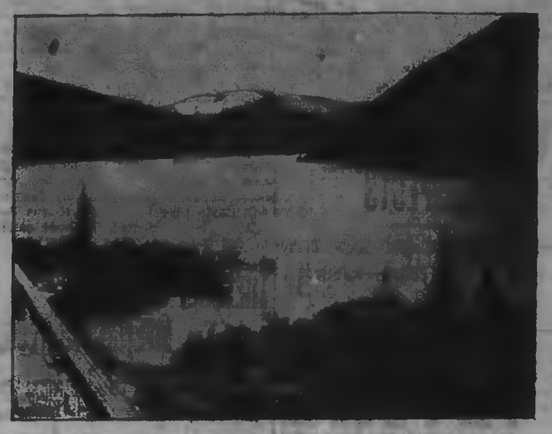
The coast of British Columbia, embracing all the sea front which lies between the 49th and the 55th parallels of north latitude, presents an ideal field for the prosecution of a great fishing industry in all its branches. The coast is indented by innumerable bays, sounds, inlets and other arms of the sea, so that the actual shore line extends 7,000 miles, while thousands of islands shelter the inshore waters from the fury of ocean storms. This vast maze of water is alive with all kinds of fish, from the mighty whale to the tiny sardine, but until very recently commercial fishing has been practically confined to the taking of salmon. The fertility of the soil, the wealth of the mines, and the quality and quantity of the timber have all served to divert attention from the fisheries, and it is but lately that their importance has begun to be recognized. The salmon swarming in myriads to the mouths of the rivers during the spawning season, forced men to appreciate their value, and as they proved an easy prey, salmon canning was established as one of the greatest industries of the province.

The last report of the Department of Marine and Fisheries says: "For the first time in the history of our record has Nova Scotia been superseded as the banner fish producing province of Canada. Although it shows an increase of nearly one million dollars over the yield of 1904, yet the Pacific Province heads the list by $1,000,000. The total yield of Canadian fisheries for 1905 amounted to $29,500,000, of which British Columbia contributed $9,850,316, or over 33 per cent. of the whole. Of this grand total of nearly ten million dollars $8,230,718 was derived from salmon, halibut $445,000, herring $243,000, and the balance was made up from cod, oolachans, smelts, trout, shad, sturgeon, and other fish, clams, oysters, mussels, crabs, shrimps, prawns, etc. The value of the seal catch was $334,900, and of fish and whale oil and guano $92,700. The capital invested in the fisheries aggregated $9,158,000 and the numbers of persons employed was 18,230. While the fisheries of the Atlantic coast have reached almost the maximum of development those of the Pacific have been seriously attacked only in one branch—salmon—so that it is reasonable to look forward to a time, not far distant, when the yield of the western waters will far surpass that of all the Atlantic provinces combined.

Farming

Contrary to the general impression, the agricultural and pastoral lands of British Columbia are not restricted to a small proportion of the total acreage, for Professor Macoun, after personal investigation on the ground says: "The whole of British Columbia, south of 52 degrees and east of the Coast Range is a grazing country up to 3,500 feet, and a farming country up to 2,500 feet, where irrigation is possible." This is a most important statement and its truth is being confirmed by the practical experience of settlers who have established themselves in the country. Within the boundaries thus roughly defined by Professor Macoun the capability of the soil are practically unlimited. All of it that is not too elevated to serve only for grazing purposes will produce all the ordinary vegetables and roots, much of it will grow cereals to perfection, while everywhere the hardier varieties of fruits can be successfully cultivated. As far north as 6 degrees it has been practically demonstrated that apples will flourish, while in the southern belt the more delicate fruits, peaches, grapes, apricots, etc., are an assured crop. Roughly estimated, the extent of these fertile lands may be set down at one million acres, but this figure will probably be found far below the actual quantity capable of cultivation when the country has been thoroughly explored. The anticipation of such a result is justified from the fact that at several points in the mountains even in the most unpromising looking localities, where clearing and cultivation have been attempted it has proved successful. In several instances, also, bench land, pronounced only fit for pasturage by "old timers," has been broken and cropped with very satisfactory results. The agricultural lands just mentioned are located as follows:

	Acres.
Okanagan	250,000
North and South Thompson Valleys	75,000
Nicola, Similkameen, and Kettle River Valleys	350,000
Lillooet and Cariboo	300,000
East and West Kootenay	175,000



Jack O'Clubs Lake, Cariboo, B. C.

Irrigation

A very considerable percentage of the agricultural lands of the interior districts requires irrigation in order to insure crops. Generally speaking, there is abundant water within reach, but there are sections where the height of the land above water level or distance from the sources of supply stands in the way of individual attempts at irrigation, but the work may be accomplished by co-operation and with the expenditure of capital. The supplying of water to these higher plateaux is, however, a matter for future consideration, as there is sufficient land capable of irrigation at comparatively small cost to meet the requirements for some years to come.

Ranching

Cattle-raising on a large scale was once one of the chief industries of the province, and many of the large ranches are still making money, but the tendency of late has been for smaller herds and the improvement of the stock. The efforts of the British Columbia Stockbreeders' Association have proved successful in this direction. The association imports and sells to its members every year a certain number of young pure-bred stock, purchased in Eastern Canada by a special agent, who visits the principal stock markets in the interests of the farmers. At a sale held by the association at New Westminster, in March, 1906, the following prices were realized: Shorthorns, $65 to $152; Holsteins, $ 50 to $100; other breeds, $76 to $100; Suffolk stallion, $800; Clydesdale stallion, $595; Shropshire ram, $30; ewes, $16.

Fruit Growing

The fruit industry of British Columbia is in its infancy, but the results so far secured are convincing as to its future importance. The actual extent of fruit growing land has not yet been ascertained, but by a conservative estimate at least one million acres south of the 52nd degree will produce all the fruits of the temperate zone. The recognized fruit districts include the Southern part of Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands, Lower Fraser River Valley, Thompson River Valley, Shuswap Lake, Okanagan, Spallumcheen, Osoyoos, Similkameen, Upper Columbia Valley, Kootenay Lake, Arrow Lake, Lower Columbia River and Grand Forks, which are all suited to the best grade of fruits, and which contain extensive areas of fruit lands. Other good fruit districts are: West Coast of Vancouver Island, West Coast of Mainland, (where patches of fruit lands are found at the heads of the numerous inlets), Lower Fraser Valley, Nicola, Grand Prairie and many other localities.

Victoria Harbor Company's Mill, Chemainus, B. C.

British Columbia fruit is preferred above all others in the markets of the Middle West, where it commands profitable prices. In 1904 a small exhibit sent to England was awarded the gold medal of the Royal Horticultural Society, and in 1905, a car lot, exhibited in London, won the first prize from all competitors, while no less than fourteen medals were awarded the individual exhibits which made up the collection. Again, in 1906, a collection of British Columbia apples won the gold medals of the Royal Horticultural Societies of England and Scotland, while ten silver and bronze medals were awarded to individual British Columbia fruit growers.

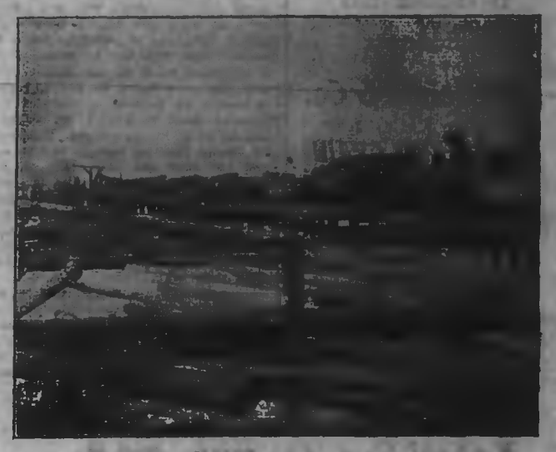
It is now an established fact that apples of excellent quality will grow as far north as Hazelton, on the Skeena River, between 55 degrees and 56 degrees north. In 1891 the total orchard area of the province was 6,00 acres. In ten years it only increased 1,000 acres, but from 1901 to 1906 it grew to 29,000 acres, and another 30,000 acres were added in 1906.

Ten years British Columbia did not produce enough fruit to supply her own population. The following table of fruit shipments is interesting in showing the steady growth of the industry.

1902	1,986 tons
1903	3,544 tons	553 tons
1904	3,925 tons	481 tons
1905	4,827 tons	1,822 tons

Complete figures for 1906 are not yet available, but those at hand indicate that the increase for the year was proportionately as large as that of former years. The express shipments aggregated 1,363 tons, while the freight shipments over the Pacific Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway alone amounted to 2,500 tons. These shipments by no means represent the whole fruit crop, the greater part of which is consumed locally.

The actual experience of many fruit growers is highly satisfactory to them and a temptation to every man who desires to make money pleasantly to set up in the business. In Okanagan there are instances of $500 to $600 gross profit per acre. At Kelowna nine tons of pears and ten tons of prunes per acre are not uncommon. Near Nelson 14 acres produced 2,000 cases of strawberries and 94 tons of roots, netting the owner $100 per acre. This land was formerly a cedar swamp. At Lytton today averaging four pounds to the bunch, were grown in the open. On the Coldstream Ranch, near Vernon, twenty acres produced $10,000 worth of Northern Spy apples. At Penchland one acre and a half gave a return of $700 in peaches. Tomatoes to the value of $1,500 per acre were grown on Okanagan Lake. A cherry tree at Penticton produced 900 pounds of fruit, another at Agassis 1,000 pounds. Near Victoria six and a quarter tons of strawberries were gathered off one and a half acre and sold at ten cents per pound.



A Logging Railway.

Education

The province affords excellent educational opportunities. The school system is free and non-sectarian, and is equally as efficient as that of any other province in the Dominion. The expenditure for educational purposes amounts to $400,000 annually. The government builds a school houses, makes a grant for incidental expenses, and pays a teacher in every district where twenty children between the ages of six and sixteen can be brought together.

Social Conditions

The population of British Columbia, widely scattered and composed of many nationalities, is singularly peaceful and law-abiding. Life and property are better protected and individual rights more respected in the isolated mining communities than in some of the great centres of civilization. The province, though new as compared with older countries, enjoys all the necessaries and many of the luxuries and conveniences of modern life. There are few towns which are not provided with waterworks, electric lights and telephones. The hotels are usually clean and comfortable, and the stores are well stocked with every possible requirement. There is little individual poverty. A general prosperity is the prevailing condition throughout the country, for none need be idle or penniless who is able and willing to work. The larger towns are well supplied with libraries, by which the rural districts are furnished free with literature of the best description.

Advice to Immigrants

There is no country within the British Empire which offers more inducements to men of energy and industry than British Columbia. To the practical farmer, miner, lumberman, fisherman, horticulturist and dairyman it offers a comfortable living and ultimate independence, if he begins right, perseveres and takes advantage of his opportunities. The skilled mechanic has also a good chance to establish himself and the labourer will scarcely fail to find employment. The man without a trade, a clerk, the accountant and the semi-professional, is warned, however, that his chances for employment are by no means good. Much depends upon the individual, for where many fail one may secure a position and win success, but men in search of employment in offices or warehouses, and who are unable or unwilling to turn their hands to any kind of manual labour in an emergency, would do well to stay away from British Columbia, unless they have sufficient means to support themselves for six months or a year while seeking a situation.

Pollution Of Creek Must Be Stopped Within Month

"Nothing But An Open Sewer," Says Sanitary Inspector---Board of Health Took up the Matter To-day---Police Thanked for Services---No Adulteration in Milk Samples Sent.

The pollution of the creek was the principal matter discussed at the meeting of the Board of Health this morning, and the decision arrived at was that this condition of affairs should be terminated. Sanitary Inspector Ball characterized the creek as an open sewer, and read a report of the inspection he has made of the creek, from Smith street to the bay. A resolution was passed to the effect that the parties should be notified to desist from polluting the creek, and those who do not obey the command within a month from to-day will be prosecuted.

There doesn't seem to be anything wrong with Peterborough's milk supply. The standard of butter fat in milk is 3.50 per cent., and of the seven samples last sent to the Provincial Bacteriologist, only one fell below the standard with 3.25 per cent., while one was as high as six per cent. None of the samples showed any indication of adulteration.

There were present this morning, Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; R. Parker, George Sahneider, the Mayor, R. Neill, Dr. McNulty, Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., and Sanitary Inspector Geo. Ball.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Resolution Of Thanks

The following resolution was carried:

"That this Board express to Geo. O. Rossel, Chief Constable, who has acted as Sanitary Inspector for many years, and to the constables who have been his assistants, its appreciation of the capable manner in which they have enforced the sanitary laws in Peterborough and carried out the directions of the Board. Their efficient supervision has improved the sanitary conditions, and their intelligent co-operation has been of great assistance to the Board in its work and as the growth of the city and of their police duties has rendered necessary the separation of the work and the appointment of a Sanitary Inspector, this Board wishes to convey to them and place on record its appreciation of their zeal and faithfulness.

Pollution Of Creek

Sanitary Inspector Geo. Ball gave a report on the condition of the creek from Spalding's Bay to Smith street. He stated that he had found a number of closets along the creek which emptied or drained into it. In fact, he had come to the conclusion that the creek was nothing but an open sewer. In his opinion, most of the parties using the creek could connect with the sewer.

A discussion as to the best method of stopping the conditions followed. Mr. Neill thought that a by-law should be passed compelling all people using the creek to connect with a sewer where one is adjacent to their property, and where there is not a sewer they should be compelled to remove the closets away from the creek.

A motion was passed instructing the Sanitary Inspector to order all persons polluting the creek to desist from doing so, and to prosecute all parties who have not complied with this notice within a month from this date.

Spitting On Streets

The Sanitary Inspector referred to the cleanliness of the streets in Brantford, and spoke of the good effect of the signs which were posted up everywhere forbidding spitting on the streets.

It transpired that there is at present no bylaw to prohibit spitting on the sidewalks, and it was therefore decided, motion, to ask the Council to pass a bylaw prohibiting spitting on sidewalks, in street cars, etc.

Milk Inspection

Dr. Bingham, M. H. O., read a report from Dr. Amyot, Provincial Bacteriologist, on the last supplies of milk sent to him. The samples ranged from 3.25 to 6 per cent., and contained no adulteration whatever.

The Board will meet again next Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTIST HEARD DOCTRINE DISCUSSED

Mr. R. J. Todd Present When Ministerial Association Listened to Paper on Christian Science.

RELIGION IN THE SCHOOLS

The regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association for April was held this morning with the following members present: Rev. Canon Davidson, J. G. Lewis, J. R. Webb, A. H. Brace, J. G. Potter, A. Bright, Dr. Orothers, and Mr. R. J. Todd, who was granted permission to be present as a visitor.

The Secretary communicated the reply from the Secretary of the School Board re visitations of schools. It was felt that a half hour of the school day weekly devoted to religious instruction by the ministers of the city would result in a great good morally and spiritually to the children.

Rev. Canon Davidson presented a carefully thought out paper on "Religion and Christian Science."

He declared his belief that through man's fall of spirit by the fall the human body has suffered and the way opened for disease and pain.

Jesus Christ, the Great physician clearly made the healing of the body secondary to and commonly a means to Spiritual healing or help. No doubt faith and prayer are honoured of good, but these plainly have limits, and means are plainly required and honoured of God. In the use of means God is not robbed of the honour.

Scripture and experience alike support the use of means as well as prayer.

A lively and most harmonious discussion followed, in which many pointed questions were put to Mr. Todd by which a better understanding was reached with reference to the practical working of this science. The prevailing impression was that this science too exclusively emphasizes and carries to an extreme an important truth, which has long been taught by the Christian Church.

Visitors to the hospital and Home are Revs. A. H. Brace, Canon Davidson, Dr. Torrance and J. G. Potter.

Votes of thanks were tendered to Rev. Canon Davidson for his paper, and Mr. Todd for information given.

FROST'S

Mr. Justice Riddell Was Presented With Address

On Occasion of His First Appearnce as Member of the Bench in Peterborough---Serving on a Jury One of the Highest Privileges, He Stated---A Number of Grand Jury Did Not Appear.

The Spring Assizes opened at the County Court House this afternoon at 1 o'clock with Mr. Justice Riddell presiding. The chief feature of the opening was the presentation to Mr. Riddel of an address by the local Law Association in honour of his first appearance as member of the bench in Peterborough. The address was made verbally by Mr. A. P. Pousette, on behalf of the members of the bar and was replied to by Justice Riddell.

The members of the bar present were Messrs. A. P. Pousette, D. O'Connel, J. W. Bennet, A. E. Dixon, Geo. Edmison, F. D. Kerr, Jno. Green, G. Gordon and W. Goodwill.

Some Absentees

When the names of those selected for the Grand Jury were called, a number were not present to respond. Mr. Justice Riddell in referring to the matter charged Crown Council Pousette to make a thorough investigation of why there were absentees and if possible to bring them before him before the court closed. If this was not possible he was charged to discover why they were absent and if no satisfactory excuse could be advanced to take action against them.

Serving on the Grand or Petit Jury, he said, was looked upon as one of the highest privileges a man might have and there should be more interest taken in the matter.

A Wild Deer Captured Alive At Young's Point

Suddenly Appeared on the Street of the Village—Was Chased by Hounds From its Northern Haunts—Attempted to Swim Clear Lake But Was Caught.

HOW TIED IN THE STABLE

Examiner Special.

Young's Point, April 8. — Chased from its native haunts among the tall timbers of the northern woods and almost exhausted from fright and fatigue, a wild deer made its appearance on one of the back streets of the village on Thursday of last week and caused a great deal of excitement. The poor animal almost frightened into submission by the baying of the hounds bore no resemblance to the proud antlered monarch of the northern forests of the past.

It was first seen on the street to the rear of Mr. Robt. Pammet's residence and later on was chased by the dogs through the woods and up to Clear Lake where it took to the water for safety. After struggling in the lake for some time it was captured by Messrs. Fred and Dick Fitzgerald who heard the hounds and had come to the rescue.

A rope was tied about its horns and while one of the boys held it, the other paddled the canoe and prize to shore. They tied it in the stable where it is visited by many every day and it is considered the greatest curiosity around the Point at the present time.

Placed Ashes In Manger; Fire Resulted This Morning

A Narrow Escape for the Stables of the South Beach Hotel, Young's Point.

OLDEST BUILDING BURNED

Mr. W. E. Brooks, of the South Beach Hotel, Young's Point, was in the city to-day, and reported a fire which occurred this morning under peculiar circumstances. It appears that Mrs. Hill, who lives next to the South Beach Hotel, has been placing the ashes taken from the stove in the manger of an old stable which stands within a few feet from the hotel stable. This morning smoke was seen issuing from this building and a search was instituted to discover the cause. It was finally rewarded but not until the stable had been practically pulled down, and the fire extinguished. The residents of that vicinity are thanking their lucky stars that the fire occurred in the daytime, instead of at night, since had the latter been the case the results would have been serious indeed. It is believed that the fire had been smouldering for some days before it broke out. The burned building was the oldest stable in Young's Point, and was looked upon as a landmark. It was owned by Mr. W. J. Young, of Peterborough.

BAD WRECK ON GRAND TRUNK AT HUNTSVILLE; 1 DEAD

Examiner Special.

Huntsville, April 8.—A collision occurred a few miles north of here this morning about 5.30 o'clock, between the North Bay express and a freight, in which one man, Brakeman Nelson Richardson, of the freight, was killed, and two others, Conductor Wellington and Brakeman Meyers, both of the freight, were injured. No passengers were hurt. The injured men are in the General Hospital here.

SUMMER VISITOR'S LOSS WAS SERIOUS

Friends of Mr. Herman M. Stoltz, proprietor of the Jamestown, N.Y., Journal, and an annual summer visitor to the city, will regret to learn that his newspaper office, along with a number of other buildings, in Jamestown, was partially destroyed by fire.

A GREAT SPRING MEDICINE

Every Housekeeper cleans and brightens up the house in Spring-time. The house has been closed up all Winter and when Spring comes it is time to open the doors and clean the house.

The same with the human system. During the winter heavy foods are eaten, the rooms of the home are kept warm and when Spring comes the system is in a condition where a good Spring Medicine for cleaning out, toning up and renewing the system, is demanded.

Our Stomach and Liver Tonic is just the right Spring Medicine. It is one of those good old-fashioned remedies which cannot harm anyone, but which greatly benefits those who take it.

Take our advice and give this medicine a good, thorough trial, especially if you are inclined to be weak and suffering from loss of strength.

THE WAYS OF JUSTICE

The people of the United States claim that they are much more enterprising and rapid than their British forebears. They are certainly "faster," and with greater enterprise or bustle in regard to commercial matters. But when it comes to the administration of justice, a funeral procession is a dizzy progress compared to the leaden feet of the law in the United States. A London paper, commenting upon the slow progress of law procedure in the United States, points out that it is now three and a quarter years since the burning of the Iroquois Theatre in Chicago, when five hundred and seventy-six lives were lost, and yet the result has not been announced of the proceedings in the courts against the management. After the tragedy the plans of the theatre, even those in the keeping of the Chicago corporation, mysteriously disappeared. New plans had to be made, and for this and other reasons the case has dragged along all this time. In the meantime, it is also pointed out, there have been other and more notorious instances of the law's delays on this so-called hustling continent. It is safe to say that in almost every case at law, or in every investigation by a commission, an unreasonably long delay works in the direction of defeating justice.

We have only to mention the notorious Thaw trial, in which more time was consumed in selecting a jury than it takes under British law, procedure, either in the Old Country or in Canada, to select a jury, try the criminal, convict him, if guilty, and execute his sentence. Collier's Weekly calls attention to a celebrated murder trial in England. One William E. Whitely, a prominent citizen, was murdered by his son. Colliers says, in comment:

The elements of drama existed in the crime by which he was removed. The murderer declared himself to be Mr. Whiteley's son; he could not possibly gain anything by his act; and insanity, caused by unwritten law, was pleaded for him. It took part of one morning to select the jury. The trial occupied the afternoon. The sentence was given before night, and all within two months of the moment when the pistol was discharged. Before the Court's charge, the lawyer for the defense made a plea for mercy. The prosecutor did not oppose it. The jury in nine minutes returned a verdict of wilful murder, and Lord Alverstone at once pronounced the sentence of death, which the offender will meet within a month. We do not say that the legal view of insanity is what it ought to be. We do say, however, that the way English judges administer the law, fills us with envy and admiration.

Look, by way of contrast, to a typical United States murder trial. The melodourous Thaw trial has been dragging on for months, and the petty squabbling of counsel, the unreasonable and unintelligible delays, the obstructive methods and the sensational air that has beclouded what should be a solemn function of justice combine to give the whole affair an appearance of a travesty and burlesque of judicial proceeding. It is no wonder that the better class of American journals are clamouring for a reform of criminal codes and practice, and asking that the insanity issue be taken from the jury. In some criminal cases in Canada there has been complaint of delay, but there would be something very like popular revolt if any Canadian court proceeding, approaching the Thaw farce-comedy by the sun's distance from the earth, should be perpetrated.

SIR WILFRID'S "JOB" AND THE KING'S

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in going to England to attend the Colonial Conference, shows a great deal of physical courage, for his visit involves a great deal of physical suffering. Apropos the Montreal Witness says that Sir Wilfrid is of the same age as the King, who has denied himself to us because no longer able to endure the tremendous strain of a royal progress. Yet the strain upon Sir Wilfrid will be many times greater. The King is as much at home on sea as he is at Sandringham or Windsor. To Sir Wilfrid it is an ordeal which he remembers for years, and which can hardly fail to leave a permanent effect. And not only the sea, but the dinner table has a terror for him. To the King, progresses have the familiarity of routine. From Sir Wilfrid, a new oration of Imperial import is called for at every dinner. The King is constantly having his little holidays. Sir Wilfrid never has any except when in extremities. His whole life for the past twenty years has been one of extreme and unceasing strain, being never out of the limelight or away from the most harassing problems, both great and mean. Sir Wilfrid will carry with him not only the pride, but the sympathy, of his countrymen.

PRESERVE THE TREE GROWTH

A correspondent writes Saturday Night a glowing description of the scenic beauties of Algonquin Park, one of the great Ontario Forest Reserves. The correspondent denies that the Park is being denuded of tree growth, and asserts that only the pine is removed, leaving the hardwood cedar, spruce, balsam, etc. It would be pleasant to think that this is so, but in reply to this statement, "Mack," of the "Front Page," writes:

Already in Algonquin Park one may see many beautiful lakes robbed of their beauty through lumbering operations, the waters having been backed up, drowning the margins, and bringing the lakes with bleak, dead trees. It is not, however, what has happened to the park, but what existing conditions make possible, that occasions disquiet. Men licensed to cut trees in the park will find it more and more profitable each year to send axemen in. The suggestion, therefore, is that the Ontario Government should make of the place a real public park, a real public property, by buying out existing timber-cutting rights, and taking over complete and undisputed management of the whole place, and every lake, stream, tree and shrub upon it. This would not mean that the region need be wholly idle, for the state could, scientifically, farm the timber up there—taking off a crop of trees ripe for cutting, but always with the object of preserving the forests in full vigour. Forestry is to become an important study, and the sooner we tackle it in earnest, the better. Here, in the virgin wilderness, where so many streams take their rise, and where extensive areas will reproduce pine if given a chance—here a splendid beginning could be made.

"Mack" is right. We in Ontario need not only a protective, but a productive forestry policy. There are waste areas on almost every one of the hundreds of thousands of farms in the Province, where hundreds of millions of trees could be planted; and, if planted now, would, with the coming of the next generation, be worth millions of dollars in cold cash value, and both by their climatic and protective influence would be worth many millions more. Hon. G. P. Graham, leader of the Liberal Opposition, has shown real statesmanship in making, as a main plank of his platform of policy, the adoption of an aggressive system of forestry. The present Government has shown a retrogressive attitude by removing Dr. Judson, the only representative of forestry interests connected with any department of the Provincial administration. As to the existing Forest Reserves, improve them by making of them Forest Preserves. It is not a rash venture of opinion to suggest that one year's tree growth in that million acres of park agreements, at current prices for woods, a value greater than the products of our mines for a year, many times repeated.

BRANTFORD IS A VERY CLEAN CITY

Sanitary Inspector Ball's Opinion of the Telephone City.

"With the exception of Paris, France, Brantford is the cleanest city I have ever seen," said Sanitary Inspector George Ball to the Examiner this morning. Mr. Ball returned on Saturday night from the Telephone City, where he spent last week in studying the sanitary conditions of the city, and especially the garbage system. The local official is enthusiastic over the cleanliness of the western city, which, he says, is a treat to visit.

Speaking of the garbage system of Brantford, the Sanitary Inspector stated that it is superior to that in vogue in Toronto. In the latter city the garbage cans are often allowed to remain on the boulevard in front of the houses, but there in none of this in Brantford. There the cans are kept in the rear of the residences and the city's carts go into the premises every day to collect the garbage. The city now uses three carts, and intends to put on two more.

Another thing noticed by the inspector during his visit was the fact that there is no spitting upon the sidewalks. Signs, notifying the passersby that it is illegal to do so, are posted up everywhere, and do a lot of good.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions in regard to her private ills, even when those questions are asked by her family physician, and many continue to suffer rather than to submit to examinations which so many physicians propose in order to intelligently treat the disease; and this is the reason why so many physicians fail to cure female disease.
